THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Struggling to Keep Awake When Sleep Meant Destruction.

"Yes, we operators sometimes have strange experiences," said the young-looking, white-haired telegrapher, replying to an interrogatory of the Call representative. "By all odds the most thrilling incident that ever came within my own experience," he continued musingly,
"occurred one night about twelve years ago.
I was then a young operator on the Northern Pacific railroad, at a small station in eastern Minnesota called Kimberley. I was doing night work—from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.—and being of a social disposition, used to sleep only when there was nothing of interest going on. Kimberley was quite a resort for picnic, being situated on the edge of one of those beautiful lakes for which Minnesota is famed, and on the day referred to I had been out with a party of young folks, and by night was thoroughly tired out. There was no possible escape from work, though, and I had to report for duty as usual.
Well, I struggled along until about 3 o'clock, when I was aroused from a light doze by the ticking of my instrument. I dragged myself over to where it stood and received the following dispatch:

"To operator Kimberley: Hold all westbound trains. Bridge No. 6 is washed away." Bridge No. 6 was several miles west of my station, and spanned a small stream in which logs were floated down from the pines. I had heard that day of a big 'jam' near there, and now realized that it had broken and swept the logs away. The section men had reported it to the next station west of me, and my order was the result. Still, I was in that somnolent state when nothing seems of immediate importance, and after mechanically lighting my signal lantern, laid down again on the table from which I had risen, neglecting to hang the lantern out. I don't know how long I had slept, when I was suddenly conscious that a train was nearing the station, and that it was accompanied by a heavy load. The train was running after the way my brain whirled as I sank back exhausted after each effort. I felt the train draw nearer and nearer. It was like the approach of fate. If it passed I was safe, but if it stopped and again I was urged, with the same result. I could not awake. It must have been but a few moments, yet I endured what seemed hours of torment. I felt the jar and rattle of the train as it sped by the station, and the jumped to my feet, seized the lantern, which was still burning beside my chair, and dashed out through the open window. The rear coach was just passing the west end of the platform, I screamed and waved my arms, and the departing train. The noise and speed mocked me. Recollecting myself, I swung my lantern across the track—the usual signal of danger.
There was no one in sight. Just as the train seemed about to clear the bridge, I saw the rear platform. A moment later I have heard what I have always considered the most welcome sound that ever reached my ears—a shrill from the engine and the rattle of the brakes. As I realized that the train was saved a reaction overcame me and I fell on the track unconscious.

"It was six weeks before I recovered from the brain fever which followed. Fortunately the trainmen were old friends of mine, and the true cause of my illness never reached headquarters.
Upon recovering I resigned my position at Kimberley and came west, being haunted by the fact that I had not resumed work in that place. Since then I have had many remarkable experiences, but none which produced so startling or lasting impression upon me. The boys often laugh at my story, but I know that me to be scarcely 30 years of age, little imagining what caused it."—San Francisco Call.

A FATAL BLOW

An Old Man Dies in Toronto from the Effects of a Blow on the Head.

John Fairbanks, an old man, was seriously wounded on the head in Toronto on Saturday evening, Feb. 28th, while trying to eject Martin Malone from a house on Lavie's lane, off Jarvis street. Fairbanks was struck on the head with a two pound weight, his skull being fractured. He was taken to the hospital on Monday where he remained unconscious until his death on Friday about noon. Malone was arrested, and was charged at the police court on Monday with felonious assault. He was remanded pending a result of the injuries to his victim.
The assault took place in the same house where Alkins, the artist, fatally shot the man Hackett about a year ago. An inquest will be held—

IN A CRITICAL CONDITION.

LONDON, March 9.—It is reported Sir Peter Lushington's latest despatch has indicated that matters are in a very critical condition. The Russians are determined upon a forward policy. A motion is feared. The New York Herald (Gazette), referring to the statement in the English Parliament, says Pund has met in Afghan territory. It asserts that if Russia advances south of Pundich she will require her own boundary.

DYNAMITERS DISPUTING.

LONDON, March 9.—A split has occurred in the ranks of the Irish republicans over dynamiters. The fact is now being reported by Michael Finneran and O'Donnovan Rossa. The trouble is owing to a dispute about money.

WHY HE RETIRED.

The Great "Prophet" Favored Assassination by Jealous Enemies.

By Telegraph to the Review.

KORT, March 10.—Natives report that the Mahdi left Khartoum because he fears that he will be assassinated by some of the many enemies who are jealous of his success.

MURDER IN IRELAND.
NEWRY, March 9.—Last night marauders visited the house of John Turley and saw him a terrible blow on the face. His wife interfered and was killed. Turley is in a critical condition. The crime is probably avenged.

THE CAROLINAS.
MADRID, March 9.—The Spanish Governor of the P. M. I. L. Islands has been ordered to annex the Carolo Islands.

THE "SICK MAN" EXCITED.
CONSTANTINOPLE, March 9.—A great commotion has been produced in the Turkish Court by a political article published recently in the British Parliament, and Prince Bismarck's speech of the facts respecting Germany's Egyptian policy. It is thought Turkey will make great efforts to secure the alliance with England.

DISTRESS AMONG THE REBELS.
KORT, March 9.—A messenger from Korti, five weeks is relay against the authority of the Mahdi's uncle. There is great distress and famine among the rebels. The Mahdi has gone to Abydos with a hundred and thirty men and some Khartoum.

A FORWARD MOVEMENT.
SUAKIM, March 9.—A forward movement is expected on Monday to form a camp five miles distant from the British force.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY.
LONDON, March 9.—In the House of Commons this evening Lord Granville and Malmesbury read a letter from Kori Omdan the commander the revolted army. The letter is in German, and is signed Karl Graavi. It says he has good reason to suppose that the friction in past. The reading of the was received with cheer.

 One of the most daring escapes that has occurred for some time took place on Thursday annuity of sixty thousand dollars from the native, but desiring to be relieved of the task of governing it, handed the territory over to England. Mr. H. with British consul, acting under orders from Earl Granville, secured Victoria to the British Empire in July, 1884.

ENCAMPED AT ZURAHAD.

But Wednesday by Detective Fehay, they having learned that the train was at Chicago, Illinois, he remembered that the young man, who was stopping at the Windsor hotel in Ogdenburg, last week, rubbed his fellow guests of nearly all their valuables and disappeared in the night. He was convinced that the man who was arrested was the same person, when he was convinced that he had to take the man to a real or real disposing of a considerable portion of a his body. Detective Fehay, who was accompanied with, soon accomplished his arrest, and T. C. Cook, proprietor of the hotel in Ogdenburg, was the first to see the man, following the thief to this city. The prisoner started for Ogdenburg by the Grand Trunk on Thursday morning, his guardians being the two former partners. From the particular description of the man, he would appear that the Clarke was a desperate character, and he lived to assume any risk in order to secure his liberty. The train had nearly reached Prescott when he asked to be excused for one moment and stepped into the street, claiming that he had been arrested. The trainmen were startled to hear a crack of a gun, and realizing that they had been outwitted, hastened down the train to discover their man missing. When the train was brought to a standstill in the form of Clarke was perceived several scores of men, armed with revolvers, and the men and attorneys were soon in fast pursuit, but were unable to overtake their man, who by this time had reached the friendly shelter of heavy under-troveries has been attempted at Zernbad, on Persian territory.

RUSSIAN MOVEMENTS.

LONDON, March 9.—Lords adduce evidence to show that there is no doubt that Russia is rapidly concentrating troops in central Asia.

REVIEWED THE TROOP.

KORT, March 9.—General W. de la Haye reviewed the Nile expeditionary force, including the troops of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd, 34th, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, 42nd, 43rd, 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, 59th, 60th, 61st, 62nd, 63rd, 64th, 65th, 66th, 67th, 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th, 76th, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd, 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th, 89th, 90th, 91st, 92nd, 93rd, 94th, 95th, 96th, 97th, 98th, 99th, 100th, 101st, 102nd, 103rd, 104th, 105th, 106th, 107th, 108th, 109th, 110th, 111th, 112th, 113th, 114th, 115th, 116th, 117th, 118th, 119th, 120th, 121st, 122nd, 123rd, 124th, 125th, 126th, 127th, 128th, 129th, 130th, 131st, 132nd, 133rd, 134th, 135th, 136th, 137th, 138th, 139th, 140th, 141st, 142nd, 143rd, 144th, 145th, 146th, 147th, 148th, 149th, 150th, 151st, 152nd, 153rd, 154th, 155th, 156th, 157th, 158th, 159th, 160th, 161st, 162nd, 163rd, 164th, 165th, 166th, 167th, 168th, 169th, 170th, 171st, 172nd, 173rd, 174th, 175th, 176th, 177th, 178th, 179th, 180th, 181st, 182nd, 183rd, 184th, 185th, 186th, 187th, 188th, 189th, 190th, 191st, 192nd, 193rd, 194th, 195th, 196th, 197th, 198th, 199th, 200th, 201st, 202nd, 203rd, 204th, 205th, 206th, 207th, 208th, 209th, 210th, 211th, 212th, 213th, 214th, 215th, 216th, 217th, 218th, 219th, 220th, 221st, 222nd, 223rd, 224th, 225th, 226th, 227th, 228th, 229th, 230th, 231st, 232nd, 233rd, 234th, 235th, 236th, 237th, 238th, 239th, 240th, 241st, 242nd, 243rd, 244th, 245th, 246th, 247th, 248th, 249th, 250th, 251st, 252nd, 253rd, 254th, 255th, 256th, 257th, 258th, 259th, 260th, 261st, 262nd, 263rd, 264th, 265th, 266th, 267th, 268th, 269th, 270th, 271st, 272nd, 273rd, 274th, 275th, 276th, 277th, 278th, 279th, 280th, 281st, 282nd, 283rd, 284th, 285th, 286th, 287th, 288th, 289th, 290th, 291st, 292nd, 293rd, 294th, 295th, 296th, 297th, 298th, 299th, 300th, 301st, 302nd, 303rd, 304th, 305th, 306th, 307th, 308th, 309th, 310th, 311th, 312th, 313th, 314th, 315th, 316th, 317th, 318th, 319th, 320th, 321st, 322nd, 323rd, 324th, 325th, 326th, 327th, 328th, 329th, 330th, 331st, 332nd, 333rd, 334th, 335th, 336th, 337th, 338th, 339th, 340th, 341st, 342nd, 343rd, 344th, 345th, 346th, 347th, 348th, 349th, 350th, 351st, 352nd, 353rd, 354th, 355th, 356th, 357th, 358th, 359th, 360th, 361st, 362nd, 363rd, 364th, 365th, 366th, 367th, 368th, 369th, 370th, 371st, 372nd, 373rd, 374th, 375th, 376th, 377th, 378th, 379th, 380th, 381st, 382nd, 383rd, 384th, 385th, 386th, 387th, 388th, 389th, 390th, 391st, 392nd, 393rd, 394th, 395th, 396th, 397th, 398th, 399th, 400th, 401st, 402nd, 403rd, 404th, 405th, 406th, 407th, 408th, 409th, 410th, 411th, 412th, 413th, 414th, 415th, 416th, 417th, 418th, 419th, 420th, 421st, 422nd, 423rd, 424th, 425th, 426th, 427th, 428th, 429th, 430th, 431st, 432nd, 433rd, 434th, 435th, 436th, 437th, 438th, 439th, 440th, 441st, 442nd, 443rd, 444th, 445th, 446th, 447th, 448th, 449th, 450th, 451st, 452nd, 453rd, 454th, 455th, 456th, 457th, 458th, 459th, 460th, 461st, 462nd, 463rd, 464th, 465th, 466th, 467th, 468th, 469th, 470th, 471st, 472nd, 473rd, 474th, 475th, 476th, 477th, 478th, 479th, 480th, 481st, 482nd, 483rd, 484th, 485th, 486th, 487th, 488th, 489th, 490th, 491st, 492nd, 493rd, 494th, 495th, 496th, 497th, 498th, 499th, 500th, 501st, 502nd, 503rd, 504th, 505th, 506th, 507th, 508th, 509th, 510th, 511th, 512th, 513th, 514th, 515th, 516th, 517th, 518th, 519th, 520th, 521st, 522nd, 523rd, 524th, 525th, 526th, 527th, 528th, 529th, 530th, 531st, 532nd, 533rd, 534th, 535th, 536th, 537th, 538th, 539th, 540th, 541st, 542nd, 543rd, 544th, 545th, 546th, 547th, 548th, 549th, 550th, 551st, 552nd, 553rd, 554th, 555th, 556th, 557th, 558th, 559th, 560th, 561st, 562nd, 563rd, 564th, 565th, 566th, 567th, 568th, 569th, 570th, 571st, 572nd, 573rd, 574th, 575th, 576th, 577th, 578th, 579th, 580th, 581st, 582nd, 583rd, 584th, 585th, 586th, 587th, 588th, 589th, 590th, 591st, 592nd, 593rd, 594th, 595th, 596th, 597th, 598th, 599th, 600th, 601st, 602nd, 603rd, 604th, 605th, 606th, 607th, 608th, 609th, 610th, 611th, 612th, 613th, 614th, 615th, 616th, 617th, 618th, 619th, 620th, 621st, 622nd, 623rd, 624th, 625th, 626th, 627th, 628th, 629th, 630th, 631st, 632nd, 633rd, 634th, 635th, 636th, 637th, 638th, 639th, 640th, 641st, 642nd, 643rd, 644th, 645th, 646th, 647th, 648th, 649th, 650th, 651st, 652nd, 653rd, 654th, 655th, 656th, 657th, 658th, 659th, 660th, 661st, 662nd, 663rd, 664th, 665th, 666th, 667th, 668th, 669th, 670th, 671st, 672nd, 673rd, 674th, 675th, 676th, 677th, 678th, 679th, 680th, 681st, 682nd, 68

Detective Fabry states that he was fully aware of the character of the man they had to take, and before the trials started suggested the advisability of providing handcuffs. His guardsmen, however, declined with the unfortunate result that one of the worst hotel thieves in the country is again at large. —Montreal Star.

A BURNING LEGEND.

ST. CATHARINES, March 7.—About 8:30 this morning a most painful accident occurred at the Welland Water Works. Mr. A. Corbin, one of the grinders, was twirling up a grindstone that was set a few days ago, assisted by Mr. T. Moser. The stone was running at an unusual speed for one under the process of preparation, Bying back, cracking the pulley in two and carrying blood with it and during him against a bundle of scythes. The pulley, with part of the wheel, flew down to the floor, the poor man received innumerable bruises over his body from the scythes, none of his arms being so badly lacerated that it will probably have to be amputated, and one of his legs so seriously cut about the middle that the doctor thought it worse than a break. He is about 30 or 35 years of age, and has a wife and family. Craker only got a scalp wound and will be all right in a few days.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 1885.

THE VOYAGERS.

The term voyagers, which was little heard in this part of the country a year ago, is now a household word. The word literally means a traveller, and was applied to the men employed by the fur companies in transporting goods by the rivers and across the land to and from the remote stations in the northwest. The word has been used among the French Canadians to designate rivermen, or men engaged by the lumbermen to drive their logs down the streams, but it was not made use of in this part of the country, at any rate not generally. But when the British Government decided to engage Canadians to take part in the expedition for the relief of Gen. Gordon, especially with a view to securing the services of men accustomed to river work, the term was applied to all those who made a part of the Canadian contingent, and thus it has become well known, not only in all parts of Canada, but throughout the world.

That all the men who went from Canada and arrived in the hazardous undertaking of ascending the Nile were not rivermen or voyageurs in the common acceptance of the term is well known. Many of them had never been engaged in lumbering operations either in the woods or on the water. This fact has been stated by some on which to base the statement that the Canadians were not successful in their work in Egypt, and that they disappointed those who engaged them. But it must be remembered that many Canadians who have never been engaged by lumbermen understand thoroughly the management of boats, and understand just how to navigate difficult streams in small craft, and the best way to either ascend or "run" a rapid. This knowledge fitted them for the work they were called upon to do in Egypt, and what some of them lacked in practical training was made up by Canadian courage, endurance and aptitude. That they did their work well, and reflected credit on themselves as well as their country, is proven by the statements of the officers in command of the expedition. One or two English papers did publish statements which stated differently, but no officer in command of the men or connected with the expedition said aught but in commendation of the men. The most conclusive proof that they did their work well, and that their assistance was valuable, is furnished by the re-engagement of a large number of them, and the offer to retain the services of all. Lord Wolsey wrote from Korti on January 17th to a gentleman in Montreal and said:—

"Most of the Canadian voyageurs leave us at once to return to Canada. Only about 70 have re-engaged, although we offered them very high terms to do so. They have been very useful, and I am very sorry for many reasons that so few have decided to stay and see this business through."

They did their work well, and their services were appreciated by those who were in the best position to know their value.

It might have been better, viewing the matter entirely from a loyal point of view, if all the men had remained with the English army while their services were required, but they did that which they agreed to do, and did it to the entire satisfaction of the general in command. They rendered valuable assistance to the British army and the Empire in an undertaking that will be ever remembered, and that will occupy a place in history, and it is right that their action should be noticed. They gave an exhibition of courage and skill that will commend the Canadian people for these qualities. They were Canadians taking part in a war in which the Empire was engaged; they were assisting the Mother Country in a struggle with a treacherous but courageous foe; they risked their lives to do their duty when they arrived on the scene of action; their assistance will ever be remembered by the English Government, and the work they did will be recorded in history, and it was right that on their return they should be received in such a manner as to convince them that while they were away they were remembered and their career was closely watched by those at home. It is therefore a matter for regret that the circumstances attending their arrival in Peterborough, namely, their entrance into town on Sunday, precluded any demonstration, as had they arrived on Saturday night their reception would have been of such a character as would have made their return a memorable to them as their voyage and their experiences in the distant country.

At the same time we will not forget that Canadians are still in Egypt, and that they are still rendering assistance to the British army in that country. We will hope for their safety, and watch anxiously for their safe return to their Canadian homes.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Agricultural College and Experimental Farm—The Necessity for an Inquiry into the Management—School Lands—Orillia Asylum.

FRIDAY, March 6.—Mr. Wood introduced a bill to provide for the better observance of the Lord's Day.

SCHOOL LANDS.

Mr. A. M. Ross, in reply to Mr. How, said it would not be well to pay the interest on the school land improvement fund to the municipalities until the question as to simple and compound interest was settled.

THE ASYLUM AT ORILLIA.

Mr. HARDY, in reply to Mr. Meredith, said that the Maria farm had been inspected, but that the selection of a site for the new asylum buildings at Orillia had been left over till spring.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Mr. CARRISBROCK moved that a select committee of seven members be appointed to enquire into the working of the Ontario Agricultural College and Farm, especially with regard to the financial management thereof, with power to send for papers, records, and with power to report from time to time. In moving the motion, he said he had no desire to attack the college, believing it to be an institution that they ought to have in the Province, and one which, if managed in a proper manner would be capable of doing a great deal of good for the most important interest of the Province. He questioned whether the full benefit was derived from the expenditure on the Experimental Farm. It had been thought that in 1880 the institution would be self-supporting outside of salaries and cost of experiments, but since 1880 the cost increased till now it was nearly 100 per cent more than in that year. While the attendance had been decreasing, the cost per pupil increased steadily, till there was a difference between 1880 and 1883 in this respect of 135 per cent. The expenditure and receipts of the Farm from 1880 were as follows:—

	Expenditure.	Receipts.
1881	12,000	6,437
1882	15,004	6,021
1883	24,312	7,112

That made a total expenditure in five years of $89,220, and a revenue of about $33,000, or a gross deficiency of $56,000, or over $12,000 per annum for the experimental farm. A portion of the institution. A sale of stock had taken place in December, 1883, and the decline in the value of the stock should be taken into account. Student labor, which cost between $3,000 and $4,000 a year, was not included in these figures. In 1883 the cost of the Farm was $48,400, of which $12,634 was for salaries, so that $35,766 was paid for experiments, besides the decrease in live stock, interest on capital, and expenditure on capital account, yet the land experimented on was only 24 acres. He re-emphasized regarding similar institutions in the United States, showing that, in comparison with them, the institution in Ontario made a poor showing so far as financial management was concerned. At length the charges for dry labour were extraordinary and their cost of maintenance enormous. The students should be taught how to manage men, as well as how to work. He pointed out things in the live stock and breeding experiments that needed investigation, and referred to discrepancies in published returns and in a statement furnished by the commissioner. He quoted many figures, which gave evidence of much mismanagement, showing that the expenditure in all the branches of the institution was out of proportion to the results. There was a variance between Prof. Mills and Prof. Brown as to the best principle to adopt in managing the college. These things, he urged, made it the duty of the House, in the interest of the institution, to grant a committee to investigate the matter. It could not possibly do harm if it could not fail to do good.

Mr. A. M. Ross said that Mr. Carrisbrock had drawn different conclusions from the operations at the farm from those which Prof. Brown had arrived at. The Province could not expect a profit from educational institutions, and the value of the experiments could not be estimated in dollars and cents. He stated that the United States institutions were insignificant compared with the one in Ontario, and that Mr. Carrisbrock had omitted items of expenditure in these places. He argued that the Ontario college was managed with economy. He moved in amendment:—

"That the Standing Committee on Public Accounts has ample power and authority to enquire into the management and administration of the Agricultural College and Farm."

Mr. DAYDEN moved that the following words be added to the amendment:—"And this House leave to that committee any enquiry into the management of the college and farm that they may deem necessary."

Mr. BRONKH called attention to the fact that the Public Accounts Committee had not time to make the investigation. It was evident that the Government, while wishing to appear as if willing for an investigation into the management of the Farm, really want to avoid it.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Blandy, Wilcox, Waters, Clacey, Bishop, McClelland, Preston and Avery.

Mr. MERRITT said that the motion had been met in an evasive manner. While forced to admit that the expenditure had been greater than it should have been, the Minister refused a committee to investigate the matter. To send the matter to the Public Accounts Committee would only be a farce.

Mr. G. W. Ross contended that the motion was an attack on the college.

Mr. WOOD showed that it was not an attack on the college, but a reasonable request for an investigation into the management.

Mr. CARRISBROCK replied to the objections urged against the motion.

The amendment to the amendment was carried by 23 to 22.

The House then adjourned.

Afghanistan.

The Afghan fortress of Pandjeh, which has been brought into such unexpected prominence by the Anglo-Russian complications in Central Asia, is situated on a broad plateau about 11 miles south of the north-west frontier of Afghanistan, of which Col. Alikhanoff's recent appearance before the town was an indisputable violation. The place forms a kind of outpost to the local market town of Mawratshah, or Merrood, which lies about 15 miles south of it, higher up the Marghat. This river, flowing north-westward from the Ghazni mountains to the oasis of Merv (180 miles north of Herat), is the most direct approach to the latter place from the side of Russian Turkestan, and hence the importance of Pandjeh, which completely commands this approach from its position on the left bank of the stream. Like most Central Asian fortresses, both the stronghold itself and the zone which arm it show manifest traces of neglect, but it is still capable, if well garrisoned, of offering a stout resistance to any assailant unprovided with siege artillery.—N. DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

FRIDAY, March 6.—The debate on the budget was resumed by Mr. White (Cardwell). He said that if both parties concurred the debate might well stand where it was. The speech of the Finance Minister was able and exhaustive and embodied as able a statement of the financial and industrial condition of the country as could well be embodied in a speech of the kind. In striking contrast to this was the speech of Sir Richard Cartwright, who had made statements so extravagant as to put him out of count at once. He referred to Sir Richard's contention that the population of Ontario had decreased, describing his figures, and pointing out that the Liberal Government of Ontario claimed an increase in the population. He also showed that the wages were higher than in 1876, and justified the increased expenditure, at the same time pointing to the fact that the expenditure in Ontario had increased much more rapidly in proportion. He contended that the recent loan was comparatively the best that Canada had yet made, and quoted facts proving the increased prosperity of the country. Although the expenditures regarding the settlement of the North-West last year had not been realized, the falling off in the United States had been as great, and it had been related by statements of the Opposition and by the Finance Minister. He referred to the satisfactory position of the railway in the North-West, compared with those in Dakota, and related statements made by Mr. Blake at Toronto.

Mr. FARMACER (Brant) charged the Government with extravagant expenditure, and described the country as being in a bad condition. He contended that the National Policy had not been a success, and attacked the Government's policy regarding the North-West.

Mr. TORRAN moved the adjournment of the debate.

MONTREAL NEWS.

(From Saturday's Witness.)

THE CAUBERWAGAS AT HOME.—The remainder of the Cauburwaga voyage arrived at 7.30 this morning, all perfectly sober and a credit to the country. They are well pleased with their trip and treatment.

AS HARD LABOUR FOR BRANT.—In the St. George's Home at present there are an Englishman, his wife and two children, whose condition exemplifies the hardships which have to be endured by those who without friends or money are tempted by shipping agencies to come to this country. This man, at home, was a commercial traveller; he now shovels snow—barged out by the Home to citizens for that purpose. He came out a few months ago; failed to find employment, and had to seek the shelter of the Home. His wife and one of his children took ill. Both were removed to the General Hospital. The child died. The wife recovered, and is at present in the Home; but her two other children are down with sickness. The man is well educated and of gentlemanly address.

HOW THE COUNTRY MERCHANTS ARE MEETING THEIR ENGAGEMENT.—Our reporter yesterday visited a number of our principal banks and wholesale houses to discover, if possible, how the notes and other paper coming due on the 4th of March were being met. But one instance was reported at the banks that this amount coming due was smaller than it had been at this time last year, and that it had been met both to their satisfaction and that of the whole-saler. The improvement over the fourth of February was very great, and things were considered to look brighter in consequence. At one bank, however, the amount was stated to have been larger than last year, and while all paper had been taken up, the remittances from country dealers was considered to be less than last year. Several wholesale dry goods merchants stated that remittances were much better than last year or last month, but the amount was also smaller. The fourth of March is a special day in the history of the fourth of April, when the greater part of the retail six months' paper falls due.

SPEAK GENTLY TO THE ERRING.

MORRIS HENRY BY LATHAM.
To the Editor of the Review.

Speak gently to the erring. How few ever think of doing that. Human nature has very little sympathy for anyone, much less for those who need it most. How many there are to whom words of kindness would bring consolation and hope, and who would be encouraged to abandon their evil ways and learn to do well. But those words of kindness seldom come, and instead thereof comes scolding and threatening and punishment, often in excess of the wrong done. And young and old suffer alike. I will remember the case of a little orphan boy, not nine years old, who came before the Court many years ago, for simply taking a minkat skin, and the Judge sentenced the poor little fellow to a long term of years in the Kingston penitentiary. And I heard afterwards that this poor boy used to be afraid, when night came, to be shut up in his cell, and was often heard crying from fear. The Judge who sentenced him has long since gone to his long home and no doubt begged for that money which he would not show to that little boy. It was his first offense, he had no one to care for him, and it is any wonder that he erred? Had he been properly and kindly dealt with he might have become a useful member of society. Speak gently to the erring. Some years ago two mothers of large families in a certain town preferred before the Court charges against a young orphan girl who had been in their employ, for obtaining in each case, goods in their names from a store, to use, amount in each case less than two dollars. Those mothers never thought of giving money or advice, never thought of helping the impoverished and the needy, but they perked the cases with all the ardor in their nature, apparently only too desirous of punishing this poor girl. One of them succeeded in obtaining a sentence of one month's imprisonment as a sentence to her conscience, but the other failed, the jury of good honest old farmers, declaring that they would starve before they would convict. I heard, after the girl's term of imprisonment was over, that she was seen walking up and down past the house of her counsel, who, with out fee or reward, tried so hard to protect and save her, instead, no doubt, to black him for his kindness, but she did not succeed in seeing him. How much better, and how much more Christian like would it have been for those mothers, to have extended the hand of sympathy and friendship to this poor girl, and, in doing so, to remember that they each had children, and that the day might come when they might want the aid of friendship and good counsel also. Speak gently to the erring. Encourage them, help them lead them out from the rugged and dangerous way and send them onward rejoicing. There are always plenty of cases of helplessness and error and want presenting themselves to our notice, yet how few ever stop to speak words of comfort or give the help which would bring down blessings to those who give and thus be rewarded. A young girl was once brought before the Judge of a great city for some trifling complaint. It was her first offense. She was timid and nervous and knew not what to do. Without consideration or compassion the Judge sentenced her to a term of imprisonment, which meant a confinement with old offenders and thieves, and after she was taken from the court room, and after she was after off within the walls of the prison, her screams and cries could be heard by those left behind. Oh, speak gently to the erring! A father and mother had an only child, a son grown to man's estate. He was thoughtful and wild, and gave his parents a great deal of trouble. At length the father drove him from his door and refused to give the son a penny worth of take him to a foreign land, where he would try and do better. One night the father was awakened by the noise of some one trying to force an entrance through the window, and the father stood on one side of the door with his drawn sword, ready to repel the attempt. Presently a hand was pushed through the opening, and the father, with one blow, cut it off and it lay upon the floor. After that all was quiet. The next day the parents discovered, to their horror, that it was the head of their son. The father at once went to the hotel where the son was stopping, and walked to the door and asked to be let in. While standing there he heard the report of a pistol within, and looking open the door he found his son dead. His hand was gone. It afterwards appeared that his object in forcing an entrance into his father's house was to get money enough to take him away from the place of his old home, so that he would be seen by no more. The father then realized the great wrong he had done and was sorry, and, too late, wished he had done better. Wished he had spoken gently to his erring son instead of turning him from his door. The last remains of the erring son were put in the ground, and every night after the father and mother, now broken down with remorse and grief, might be seen, with bowed heads, wandering over the road to the churchyard where the remains of their son were laid. They forgot his faults and thought only of the time when, a little boy, he played around their home. Speak gently to the erring. A little orphan boy wandered into the country, and one day he entered a farm house and asked to be given employment. The wife said the husband was at his work in the field. She gave him some food and told him to wait the return of her husband. While waiting a stranger appeared and warned her against the poor boy, saying that he was a bad sort of fellow. The poor little fellow began to cry. He told the woman that his father and mother were dead, and he had nowhere to go, and he begged that he might be allowed to remain. The mother had lost her only son a short time before, and her mother's heart opened to the pleading of the orphan boy, and she resolved to keep him, and be a mother to him as long as he was good. When the father came in she told him what she wished to do, and being a kindly man he assented. The poor, abandoned, destitute boy lived with them until he grew up to be a man, and long afterwards, and he proved himself to be the mainstay of the kind people who had thus taken him in. Speak gently to the erring.

Kindly, speak kindly to the erring brother. His early life was different from mine. I remember a drunken father, or a reckless mother. Let him to grow a wild uncultured vine. Consider that but know of all the bitter sorrow he has endured since first he saw the light. Let him to look into the dark abyss of a sorrow. As he has outlived those, would that see always right.

Help him, Oh, help him to forget the anguish of all the past, though the dark agony, let him to look into the dark abyss of a sorrow. To the bright dawn of an endless day.

Then art but flesh, and death must be thy portion. Wealth cannot buy a lot in Heaven's domain, say, then thou fed the hungry, clothed the orphan, then, brother, then, 'twas given thee not in vain.

Thank God the people are not all selfish and bad! There are still many bright examples of goodness and kindness, and experience shows how the most hardened is accessible to those who show them sympathy and kindness. Human nature is not all dark and forbidding, and sometimes the words of a little child will reach the hearts of those who have lost the heart of the most abandoned, and will turn them to better ways. No one is so bad but he may be brought to try to do better. Only let him see that you are in earnest in your approach to him, and the battle is half won. Two or three instances will suffice to show this. The British army in India was a soldier so violent and bad that he was given up as lost and was abandoned by the whole army. He was often sent to prison for his offenses, and no one ever thought of working him while he was in prison to better. One day a stranger entered his cell and began talking to him, but with little success. He persevered, however, and gradually drew his thoughts to his childhood days and to his father's face. The soldier began to listen, and finally asked the stranger why he came there and why he took an interest in him. The stranger talked on, and he asked him about his father and mother, and asked him if he had forgotten the time when his mother took him in a her dress and spoke words of soothing and comfort to him. He asked him about his father's face. His kind words had the desired effect. The soldier began to cry, and told the stranger about his mother and his old home far away amidst the hills of Scotland, and said he wished he had never left it. He then and there promised the stranger that from that day forth he would abandon his evil ways and live a life of truth and sobriety. And he kept his promise and became an exemplary and good man. Again, in one of the prisons of the Western States was a man who was so unruly and unmanageable that he was often condemned to punishment. One day the Warden was taking him to the triangle, where he was to receive many stripes. On the way the Warden asked him why he would not do better, and he expressed sympathy for his miserable condition, and told him how sorry he felt to be obliged to punish him, and how he wished he would do better. The man's heart was touched, and he began crying, and he told the Warden how differently he felt now, and that, come what would, he was resolved to do better and lead a new life. The Warden forgave him his punishment, and expressed his joy and his confidence in the man's promise. The man became completely changed and from that time forth was an example of justice and obedience to all around him. Such are the results of kind words, spoken in season and with a willing and sincere heart. Such the results of showing that mercy to others which we would wish to be shown to ourselves. How many there are who, when they pray, ask to be forgiven their trespasses as they forgive those who trespass against them. And yet how few do so. Men like not to do to others as they would like others to do to them. They prefer to exercise authority and oppress and punish, and they look upon the misery and sin and wretchedness of others with repugnance and contempt. They thank God that they are not like other people and yet they expect forgiveness and mercy. They have no pity and they do not try to save.

WINTER CURING.
First, be sure and churn your cream not less than twice a week in winter, three times in summer. Put some sour milk in the cream-pot the first day, and keep the cream below sixty degrees. When ready to churn raise the temperature to about sixty-five and churn in a warm room. So soon as the butter begins to come (and keep looking under the lid of the churn so as not to be fooled on this point), stop the work when the butter forms in granules. Now have some water warmed to about sixty-five degrees; be sure about the temperatures; draw off the buttermilk and wash the butter thoroughly in the churn. After it is taken out and spread on the butter worker, and while still in the granular form, salt it much stronger than you would after it was worked. For the water in it will carry off much of the salt. Now work the butter until it is quite dry and set it away for two hours in a room where it will not get hard; mind that. Butter that once gets hard can never be re-worked without spoiling the grains. At the expiration of the two hours re-work the butter until the mottled appearance has departed, and not one stroke longer. The less working you can do, and secure a clean, smooth appearance, the better. Pack or mold immediately, and then let it go just as hard as you please. There may be plenty of other ways to make good butter, but the above is a simple plan, and, in our experience, the best. We never had any more trouble getting the butter to come in winter than in summer, and if the temperatures are correct, we do not believe anybody else will. This matter of temperature is not only a much more important matter than most dairymen believe, but it requires much more care to get them right than most men are willing to take. They would far rather be careless, and then lay the blame to the cows or the cold weather. Stir the cream and the thermometer with just as much care as though you were taking an observation at sea.—American Dairyman.

A Desert Soldier.
The Khamsia wind, the foe the English troops in the Sudan have now to fight, is vividly described by McCoom in his work on Egypt. It comes, he says, from the far south, or more exactly, south-south-east, and after traversing the burning sands of Africa at a time when the sun's rays fall almost perpendicularly, it reaches Egypt laden with all the hot vapors of the desert. On its approach the sky ordinarily blue and cloudless, becomes black and heavy; the sun darkens into a dim, whitish-coloured disk, and what is at first but a slight haze becomes rapidly impregnated with a black, hot and dry as from an oven, which drives every green thing—warps and cracks wood, renders breathing difficult, and is generally harmful to both vegetable and animal life. It lasts only from 24 to 48 hours at a time, during which all outdoor work is suspended and the inhabitants take refuge in their houses and endeavour to shut out the face dust which is driven before the blast, and, according to an Arab saying, is so penetrating that it will enter even an eye through the pores of the shell. On the unsheltered desert these winds have often proved fatal to whole caravans and more than once to entire armies.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Tribune's Washington special says: It is generally conceded the heads of bureaus will have to go. Mr. Lamar has already demanded the resignation of the bureau chiefs in the department of the Interior. Messrs. Vilas and Garfield, it is expected, will follow suit.

We accidentally overheard the following dialogue on the street yesterday:
Q. What did you do for it?
A. I took Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It cured me and it will cure you.
Q. I've heard of it, and by Jove I'll try it.
J. Do so. You'll find it at all the drug stores in town.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

INSURRECTION IN ALBANIA.
SOLONIKA, March 10.—Insurrection has broken out in Albania. All available Turkish troops are being hurried to the scene. A force of Turkish regulars has been defeated by the insurgents near Lyonmet. At Prirend the garrison has been driven into the citadel by the insurgents and is now besieged. The Austrians gents have the telegraph lines communicating with the districts in rebellion.

NO REPLY FROM RUSSIA.

LONDON, March 16.—The Government has not received a definite reply from Russia to its latest overtures for an amicable adjustment of the Afghan dispute.

LONDON, March 10.—Sir Peter Lumsden telegraphs that Afghan scouts report that a small detachment of British troops has been sent to Nihelband, the furthest north-west point on the Heri road, claimed for the Russian frontier. The advance does not complicate the work of delimitation, but endangers a collision with the Afghans.

A DENIAL.

LONDON, March 10.—The report that a large order of ammunition was given to an American from the British War Office is officially denied.

RECOGNITION OF VICTORIA.

LONDON, March 10.—Count von Münster today officially informed Earl Granville that Great Britain recognized Victoria, West Africa, as British territory. The German Government had received no confirmation of the reported hauling down of the British flag there. If the report is confirmed, Germany would make the necessary arrangements.

EDMUND YATES RELEASED.

LONDON, March 10.—Edmund Yates, editor of the World, who was sentenced to four months' imprisonment for allowing Lady Stradbroke to libel Lord Lansdale in his paper, was released from prison this morning, the Home Secretary having pardoned him.

A COLLISION IMMINENT.

LONDON, March 10.—The Times states that the Russians have been ordered to leave Afghan territory, and that a collision is imminent. The Afghans are prepared to withstand the attack, and the British Government has ordered Sir Evelyn Wood to organize a force of 2,000 men. The Americans have refused to send troops to Herat, so that it can be defended by the Afghans.

RUSSIA WILL NOT YIELD.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 10.—The Norve Veske expresses the opinion that the dispute on the Heri road will not be settled by the Russian imprisonment on the part of England, as the Russians

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1885.

FOREST PRESERVATION.

The second forestry report, that for 1884, prepared by Mr. E. W. Phelps at the instance of the Government of Ontario, is at this time interesting as its predecessor, and perhaps will be even more useful. In this instance he deals more extensively with our own Province, giving a plain account of the evils that have resulted from our over clearing, and special information as to the best methods of applying the remedy. After general remarks on the danger of deforesting both in this and other countries, he gives the testimony of a great number of Ontario farmers as to the bad effects in their respective localities. So, too, he gives a body of varied testimony on the reproduction of our forests by means of the second growth. Still more copious and valuable are the descriptions of what has been done by a number of farmers and others in Ontario, in forming wind-breaks, shelter belts and more extensive plantations. To enable others to follow this admirable example, he gives very full information as to the best methods of planting, transplanting and cultivating the kind of trees that are suitable for different localities and circumstances, and allied subjects important for the guidance of those who would preserve or reproduce forests and plantations. The statements from wood manufacturing firms of the kinds of timber used for various purposes, will throw a useful light on the trees to select for planting.

A no less valuable portion of the report is that which deals with our public forests. There is a very interesting description of the "Watered of Eastern Ontario," and some well grounded remarks on the propriety of reserving at least a portion of it in forest. Unfortunately it is now almost too late for this to be done to the full extent that would have been advisable. This, however, affords the greater reason for all that is practically possible being done now.

We hope that this report will be extensively read by our farmers, and if it cannot fail to have good results, so practical in it and well adapted to show them the advantage of a wise course in this matter.

We hope too, that the Mowat Administration will learn from the able report of their officer. As the farmer has been too prone to turn valuable trees into cordwood, so too, the successive administrations of Ontario have been too eager to convert our forests into cash. The very statement that Mr. Phelps would reserve forest is now being alienated. As this report shows, Quebec, the Dominion and the United States have all grown more prudent in this matter. The Mowat Administration deserves credit, and has received it from us, for making the excellent appointment of Mr. Phelps to his present position, in which he is doing good work. They should now go a step further and take his advice.

The Climate of British Columbia.
OTTAWA, March 9.—Two weeks ago Mr. A. W. Ross left Victoria, Vancouver Island, to attend Parliament. In conversation with him today he tells me that when he left the grass was high and green, and wild flowers were in bloom everywhere. He counted five varieties of flowers in full bloom in one garden. The farmers were ploughing. Gooseberry bushes were out in leaf. The buds of pear trees were just bursting. Speaking with an Englishman, Mr. Ross says he told him he had no idea that there was such a climate in any part of Canada. It was like the south of England. Indeed he preferred it, as the climate was not so raw as in England in February. Ivy grows on all walls, and there are many, and the hills are green and perfect. Mr. Ross says Vancouver is as perfect a place as any in the world. The ivy climbing the maple tree and the holly growing at the roots. The last winter was one of the severest experienced for twenty years, yet the temperature in any part of the winter was ten above zero. The snow lasted for about two weeks. Mr. Ross considers the island and the mainland near the coast the best region for apples, pears, plums, and cherries he had ever seen. He saw plums weighing six and eight ounces last autumn. In the interior among the valleys grass, peaches, and watermelons attain perfection on a fine soil. The harder varieties of fruit are better than those grown in California.—West Coast.

The Illinois Bankrupt.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 9.—During the first sixty days of the session ending on Saturday the expense of the Illinois General Assembly amounted to $104,000. There is to show for this expense the passage of a bill appropriating $1,000 for each guest expense of the session, and $50,000 for the improvement of the Illinois display at New Orleans, with the incidental disbursements for the attempt to elect a successor in Senator Logan. The last pay roll includes $500 daily for the services of janitors.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

THE VOYAGEUR.

The Canadian voyageurs accomplished the work they undertook to do in a manner which called forth hearty expressions of approval from the General commanding the Nile expedition and from all the critics. Without their assistance the ascent of the Nile would have been a much more tedious and costly affair—costly not only in money, but in lives. The voyageurs have reflected great credit upon their country.—Montreal Star.

FARM IMPLEMENTS.

In the matter of farm implements for the Northwest the triumph of the N. P. is overwhelming. Before the immigration and colonization committee of the House of Commons, recently, evidence was given by Mr. Oleg, a prominent farmer and stock raiser from Brandon. He said that within the past two years the prices of agricultural implements had greatly diminished, that wagons had fallen from $85 to $45 and $60; binders from $350 to $225 in 1884; and all other farm machinery in like proportion. Score one more for the N. P.—Toronto World (Index).

UNSANCTIONED EXPENDITURE.

Hon. Mr. Mowat, in the debate on new Parliament buildings on Wednesday night, said "every one knows that no expenditure can be made unless the House sanctions it." There was last year an expenditure of $300,000 over and above what the House sanctioned in the estimates. After the money is gone, the House has to sanction it, or seem to disregard the honor of the Province. So it would be with the erection of Parliament buildings. There is nothing more certain than that the expenditure for such purposes would largely exceed the appropriation. The first vote would be but the thin edge of the wedge.—Fort Hope Times.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

The Province of Ontario is yearly spending more than the income. The surplus accumulated by the Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald has been dissipated; a public debt has been contracted; the expenditures have tripled within a dozen years, and are increasing at a rapid rate, while the income in some items is decreasing. How long will it be before revolt must be had to direct taxation?—Ottawa Packet.

PETTY JEALOUSY.

A contemporary wonders what could have been Mr. Mowat's motive in throwing over the bill introduced by Mr. Meredith, providing for compensation to witnesses for certain injuries. Well, Mr. Mowat stated his object during the discussion, which was that the master might be further encouraged, and that the Government be allowed to introduce it at a future time and make it law. In other words, the Mowats and Fardes used their majority to defeat and postpone a measure which they conceded to have justice in it, simply because it was brought in by Mr. Meredith. If he would allow them to put it in the Statute book as their own handiwork they would be content. But otherwise they will throw obstacles in the way. Meanwhile the workmen are deprived of a rightful piece of legislation in their interest through the petty jealousy of the Mowat Government.—London Free Press.

SOME OF THE PLANKS.

The very sensible motion introduced by Mr. Meredith placed the entire responsibility of the construction of the buildings on the shoulders of the Administration, who were to report the possible cost and other details. The adoption of this motion would partially relieve the Minister, and little jobs for ready contractors or faithful followers could not have been perpetrated. Mr. Mowat and his followers were well aware of this, and the only way out of such a dilemma was to vote the motion down. Thousands of dollars spent upon useless school books, hundreds of thousands squandered on alleged colonization roads, barrels of money sent into such corrupt consciences as London, Algoma and Muskoka, and other branches of expenditure on Parliament buildings, are some of the planks in the Mowat Reform platform.—Star and Herald.

THE C.P.R.

The truth is that the Canadian Pacific has cost less per mile to build than any other road in the world of equivalent and up to the standard. This is something that must take immensely on its dividend paying capacity whenever it gets into full operation. It is most unquestionably for the interest of the people of Canada that it should be put into full operation at the earliest day possible. To withhold assistance now, supposing further assistance to be needed, would be the merest folly. It would be like filling a factory with valuable machinery and then leaving the whole idle for want of coal wherever it is to run steam in the boiler. Such penny wise and pound foolish policy is not the thing for this. Whatever it may be necessary to do, let the government propose it, and the country will most heartily sustain them. We want to see it determined, by trial, how far a road costing only thirty thousand dollars per mile can beat roads costing seventy or a hundred thousand dollars per mile at earning dividends. It seems almost a mathematical certainty that the Canadian Pacific must come out ahead before the world be much older.—Toronto World (Index).

NOT TAXED ON COAL.

The price of coal in Hamilton and Toronto is no more than the price in Buffalo, plus the difference in freight. The advertiser says the people of Detroit are not taxed on their coal; the freight on coal carried to Detroit is no more than that carried to Hamilton or Toronto; the price in Hamilton or Toronto is no higher than in Detroit; hence the people of Hamilton and Toronto are not taxed on their coal.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE GERRYMANDER.

The Ontario Government, finding East Simcoe not so safe as, to them, is desirable, have decided upon gerrymandering the riding, by taking off Tully, and adding it to West Simcoe. This may not be very palatable to Mr. Phelps, unless our Provincial wise men can shift the township to some other constituency before next general election. In any event, we doubt if the people of East Simcoe will tolerate such tactics.—Ottawa Packet.

The Bible Cleveland Record.

The Bible upon which the oath of office was administered to Pre-Most Cleveland is a small pocket companion which was presented to him by his mother in 1857. Its fly leaf contains the words, "Greater Cleveland." From "your affectionate mother." On October 18, 1882, when preparations were making for his assumption of the duties of Governor, he saw the book upon the desk and assumed it with some interest. The first time he saw it it was among the Governor's books in his private office in the Executive Chamber at Albany.

In his life the book has touched five verses—five to ten—of the 11th Psalm.
A good man shall flourish, and lengthen his days; he shall be moved far over; the right ones shall be in everlasting remembrance.
He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord.
He hath dispersed, he hath given to the poor; his righteousness endureth for ever, his horn shall be exalted with honour.
The wicked shall see it, and be grieved; he shall gnash with his teeth, and melt away; the desire of the wicked shall perish.—N. Y. Times.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Fisheries Law—Tariff Changes—International Railway—The License Law—The Boundary Dispute—Exports of Hay.

MONDAY, March 9.—The divorce bill for the relief of Amanda Esther Davis was read a first time and its second reading ordered for Wednesday by a vote of 86 to 61.

THE FISHERIES.

Mr. MITCHELL introduced a bill to enable the Department of Fisheries to grant permits to parties to fish in waters set apart for the propagation of fish.

THE TARIFF.

Mr. BOWELL, in reply to Mr. Blake, said that the Commission had issued a general order requiring the collection of the charged duties on all articles, but that, as soon as the Government's attention had been called to the matter the order was withdrawn, and the increased duty was only collected on articles included in the resolution adopted by the House.

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY.

Mr. J. H. PEPE, in reply to Mr. Blake, said the earnings of the International for January were $159,948, and the expenses $175,160. This left a deficit of $15,000. In the same month last year the deficit was $25,000.

THE LICENSE ACT.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said the Minister of Justice had been instructed to prepare a case in regard to the License question, and to apply to the Colonial Secretary for a reference to the Privy Council.

JAMAICA.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Burke, said there had been correspondence with the Imperial Parliament with respect to trade relations between Canada and the British West Indies.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

Mr. RITCHIE moved for a copy of the short-hand notes of the argument before the Privy Council on the late dispute between the Province of Ontario and Manitoba. He reviewed the history of the question at length, and showed that Mr. Mowat's statement that until 1883 he had not heard of a proposal to refer the question to the Privy Council, was erroneous. He pointed out facts which proved that the Dominion Government had agreed a settlement of the question, and that the Ontario Government was responsible for the delay. Sir John Macdonald endeavored to show that Ontario's rights were respected.

Mr. DAWSON said that the fact that the Indian Territory had been declared by the Imperial Parliament to be beyond the boundaries of both Upper and Lower Canada had been lost sight of. He also pointed out the serious error in the description of the boundaries in the Privy Council decision.

MAY EXPOSURE.

Mr. INNES moved for all correspondence regarding the excessive customs duties paid on hay exported from Canada to the United States.

Mr. CHAPLEAU said that the Government had made representations at Washington regarding the subject. He understood that the claimants would push their claims in the ordinary way in the courts, and if that failed diplomatic action would follow.

Mr. SPENCER said no doubt the claims were well founded. It was amusing to hear members of the Opposition taking it for granted that it was the producers and not the consumer that paid the duty. When discussing tariff matters they took the opposite view.

The House adjourned at 10.45 p.m.

GRAY NO MORE HAIR.

Grayness is the Great Hair Restorer and Reviver, changes gray hair to its natural color gradually and permanently. Not a dye. A marvelous invention. Gray-haired persons, old men and old women made to look young in three weeks. No more gray hair. Also grows hair rapidly and luxuriantly. Send for descriptive leaflet, and testimonials and opinions of eminent chemists and doctors, etc., who recommend it highly. Address: J. H. HENNINGSON, 7 Murray St., New York.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Liquor Law Amendments.—A Court of Claims—Government Business—The Budget Debate.

THE LIQUOR LAWS.
THURSDAY, March 10.—Mr. Jambon, for Mr. Robertson, introduced a bill to amend the Scott Act. Its principal provisions were to do away with the necessity for producing the official Gazette in prosecutions, to allow medical men prescribing liquor to make the quantity, to punish medical men giving a colorable certificate, and to amend the McCarty Act by providing that it should not repeal any clause of the Scott Act.

Mr. Blake hoped that the Government would afford facilities for the consideration of the measure.

Mr. H. LANGRISH said there had been no desire expressed to slaughter the bill. Its title should be amended to show that it affected the McCarty Act as well as the Scott Act.

Mr. Ives suggested that there were other measures as to the liquor laws that should have as favorable consideration.

The Bill was read a first time.

COURT OF CLAIMS.
 Mr. H. LANGRISH introduced a bill to establish a Court of Claims, consisting of a judge and assessors to take the place of the Dominion Board of Arbitration.

Mr. BLAKE asked what necessity had arisen for the bill.

Mr. H. LANGRISH said he would explain on the second reading, and the bill was read a first time.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS.
 Mr. J. MACDONALD moved that Government business should take precedence after routine.

Mr. BLAKE objected to next Thursday being taken up, on account of private business still on the paper.

After some discussion the fact appearing that the Opposition had had full notice, the motion was carried.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.
 Mr. TUPPER resumed the debate on the budget.

He claimed that the financial statement had been a most satisfactory one, and had inspired a general feeling of confidence. He attacked the criticism of Sir R. Cartwright, and claimed that the king of debts was gloomy because blue sky was visible. The criticism of Mr. Tupper was unfounded. For instance, he criticized the expenditure on immigration, though he had supported the expenditure of the Mechanics Administration, which had expended more than twice as much per head with less satisfactory results.

Mr. Tupper had changed his view, for he had formerly advocated protection. This was but following the example of the Reform leaders, who had no settled fiscal policy. The country had prospered under the National Policy, and he gave facts and figures to show the growth of Canadian trade. Any depression there had been was as nothing compared with that existing in England. The Opposition was willing to protect coal in favor of their friends, but would not protect coal for the benefit of Nova Scotia, though the duty had not increased the price of coal. He exposed the fallacy of the Opposition in stating that he had insulted the working men by styling them "the lower orders," and severely condemned such degrading journalism, evidence in itself of a bad cause. He respected the workingmen who had sent him to parliament, and he was carrying out their wishes in supporting the National Policy. He concluded by quoting from an article in the Globe while under the management of the late Hon. Geo. Brown, who commended those who, like modern Reformers attacked their own country for political notices.

Mr. CHAMBLISS related the situation of the country in the gloomy colors which he painted. He said that the Reform heart, carrying even his own record in the recalculation of his statements. Whenever he uttered any especially untruthful calumny of his country, he was greeted with applause by the Opposition. He concluded that the statements would be used by foreign immigration agents to the prejudice of Canada, and maintained that his course was justified by the necessity for warning the people of the evil results of the policy they have followed.

Testimony on Speculation.

If you want to take your own money and put it into lites to fly on the common or into pipes to blow soap-bubbles, you may do so without wronging society especially, unless your helpless children are tumbled into the poor-house to be taken care of by the public, and they probably will be; but you have no right to take the property of others and turn it into lites to fly and soap-bubbles to blow. There is one word that has done more to ruin the growth of the country and State than any other word, and that is the word "borrow." The world is responsible for nearly all the delinquencies, embroilments, and financial troubles of the last four months and of the last year. When an executor takes money out of a large estate to speculate with it he does not perjure it; he only "borrows." When a banker makes an overdraft that he may go into speculation, he does not commit a theft, he only "borrows." When a manager of a large financial institution, through flaming advertisements in some religious paper or gilt-edged certificate, gets country people to put their money into some enterprise, for carrying on an undeveloped thing, he is not fraud, he only "borrows." When a young man having easy access to a drawer, or a confidential clerk having easy access to the books, takes a certain amount of money, and with it he makes a Wall Street excursion, he is going to put it back, he is going to put it back pretty soon, he only "borrows." Why when you are going to do wrong, pronounce so long a word as the word "borrow," a word of six letters, when you can get a short word, a word more descriptive of the reality, a word of only five letters, the word "steal."

A First Requisite.

To awaken sympathy or desire in another the first thing to possess it in large measure ourselves. We cannot communicate what we do not possess, and if our hearts are not alive and warm with the love of the right, if we are not in sympathy with the tried and tempted one, if we cannot form some idea of his condition and of his difficulties, we cannot hope to reach his heart or to create within it a single wish for better things. We may insist on him in the wisdom of all the schools, we may expound to him the principles of good and evil conduct, we may set forth the consequences that follow each, we may exhort and urge; but, so long as we are ourselves not throbbing with desire or quick with sympathy, we cannot reach the springs which alone can actuate him to reform his life.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

HASTINGS

RECOVERING.—We are slowly recovering from the Scott Act campaign, and thoughts arise "too deep for tears," otherwise we would have been glad to have taken part in Peterborough's reception of the quota of voyagers who have returned from the land of the crocodile, Nile, ooze and slime; a land of barren fig trees, brackish waters, pyramids and mummy dust.

HARBINGERS OF SPRING.—Not in the shape of solitary crows winning their lonely flight across the blue etherial, or the sprightly chirping of the chickadee in sheltered nooks; but in the way in which seed-drills and other agricultural implements are trotted out by mankind's optima, our constable; to see how the home-staying farmer fondles, leaves over and talks about its merits and demerits, casting a knowing eye at the gauntlet, as if the spirit of George Stephenson was thumping beneath his ribs; finally concludes to buy, and then whistles for soft wide wheels bring the slow and mud, and the belly of his trusty brig, until "the becalmed sailing ship" form the livery of the major lolling for anything by way of change, which will bring him into port, in the way to impatiently hurry the departure of winter.

A WARMER WINTER.—We are glad we are not the Examiner's correspondent, else that the Star knows nothing of us. We would not relish the roasting, cold as the weather is, which the Star gives to the Examiner's correspondent. The vale of wrath has been meted out, and the body fanned rays of the martial Star have been entered upon the devoted head of the recording secretary. There's blood in his eye and nerve in his wrist; the lightning of the telegraph will overcome the Star's colonial rays and a requiem sung over the faded remains of a too rash editor who dares to cross foils with Ajax.

CHURCH SOCIALS.—People will have some amusement, even if it is Lent. They suddenly discover that the church funds are a low ebb, and "the sad justifying the means," socials come into vogue. We were at one the other night, and found out that we were doing wrong only after one or two cap-sizes, followed by sorrows and hysterical laughter, as if old Nick were galloping after—then we found we were wrong, more particularly when the Rev. Mr. Lynd had been at the social, and left in full of black observations and censorious remarks.

NEEDS CONSIDERED.—Colored converts, too, we have taken in, or vice versa. The elder Hawkins was to the fore, very likely the younger Hawkins was having a good show "way down the Sun-worship river," with the daily dealing of his impassioned heart. To quote from the band hille: They "were much improved in appearance since three years ago." From constant travelling this time of year, though, one is apt to become frosted and tanned.

THINGS TO HAPPEN.—The Literary Society, which has very successfully held its meetings in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall all winter, purpose having, by way of brain food, as a supper. Resolved by the ladies that "The prospect of manhood is a better one than here can secure their tickets the night before for the early morning train."

RAILWAY NOISE.—Mr. J. R. Ward has been appointed local agent of the C.P.R. in this village, which is a great convenience, as travellers from here can secure their tickets the night before for the early morning train.

INDUSTRIAL.—The cabinet business is no longer a monopoly. Since the vote of censure on Gladstone's policy took place the apprentice cabinet in cooperation with the master, Mr. Andrew Lynd has commenced business for himself.

KINSMOUNT.
 From Our Own Correspondent.

A BOKER.—The lady-members of the Methodist congregation, together with the members of the other denominations of this village, gave a grand soiree in Scott's Hall on Friday evening, February the 27th. The delicacies provided by the fair sex were those of the best, and such that would satisfy the most fastidious. The first table was filled at half past six o'clock, the last emptied at 8 o'clock. An entertainment was then given, consisting of recitations, singing and speeches. The Rev. Mr. Welch from Fenelon Falls was present, as were also the ministers of the different denominations in the village. Mr. General, of London, was elected chairman. Using the term in its double sense, we may well say he held the chair very properly. The Kinmount choir proved essential in rendering the singing. Not many villages can boast of such an efficient choir as Kinmount's. Readings were presented by Miss Martin, the Rev. Mr. Soward and Messrs. Rolleston and Martin. An original farce, entitled "The Retail Store," composed and played by Messrs. Morrison and Rolleston, concluded the entertainment. These gentlemen displayed a great degree of dramatic talent in executing the farce. The Rev. Mr. Welch and Messrs. Rolleston and Martin, the audience with two excellent addresses. The proceeds of the tea amounted to $24.

THE ELIAS RIBSON SOCIETY.—This Society has been lately through all difficulties, and now claims a membership of over 90 persons. We wish them all success.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met in Warwick on Feb. 26th, 1885. All the members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Rev. Mr. Rolleston to read and forward an order to Elias Ferguson for fifty dollars, on receiving from Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Buck a sufficient sum of money for any further costs in respect of W. & L. 18, Con. 5. After the Council had checked the Auditor's Report, it was moved by Mr. Kirk and seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the Auditor's report of the Treasurer's accounts of 1884 be received and adopted, and that the clerk cause the abstract to be published and 200 copies of the detail statement. The following orders were granted:—

To Duncan Ferguson for keeping of Alex. Davis, $7.50

To Edward McLean, as Auditor, $5.00

To Ben. James, Jr., as Auditor, $5.00

The Council adjourned to meet in Warwick on March 26th, 1885.

BAFFERTY!

Blue Cotton, Unbleached Cotton,
Yellow Cotton, & Factory Cotton
Are everywhere, all meeting the same thing.
Only the other day I received some six bales of the
NOW CELEBRATED

Lybster Cottons and Sheetings

Which for WEAK and easy BLEACHING are unparalleled.

These Cottons were bought before any advance in the price, and will be sold at the lowest possible market, at prices ranging from 5c. to 10c. A. I. It is almost unnecessary to make any remarks regarding LYBSTER SHEETINGS, these goods have been before the public for the past twenty years, and are pronounced second to none in the market. I was assured on the best authority that ever these the Lybster Sheetings were made not one single complaint had been made regarding the dye used in making these goods.
Lybster Cotton Yarns now in stock. Ask to be shown the above goods at OLD PRICES.
Opening up a complete stock of New Spring Goods that will more than surprise you and cause you to buy. Inspection invited.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Agitation and Arts.
The annual meeting of the Agricultural and Arts Association was held in Toronto on Tuesday. Mr. John Carnegie, M. P. F., was appointed on the Finance and Printing, and Educational Committee.

Paraph.
Mr. Wm. Telford, the Smith bar, who has been suffering from falling eye sight, and is now threatened with total darkness, has gone to Toronto to consult Dr. J. E. Burnham and to have an operation performed, which his friends in company with himself, hope will be successful.

Second by Mr. J. Smith to-night.
To-night Mr. Smith will lecture in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on "The Feet Reflect the Age." As the subject is a very interesting one there should be a large audience, especially as the admission fee is merely nominal. The lecture will begin at eight o'clock.

Congregational Meeting.
On Wednesday evening a meeting of St.
Paul's church congregation was held, to decide as to the letting of the pews. The attendance was large and Mr. Milville Miller occupied the chair. The business was satisfactorily transacted and prices for the various pews fixed. The church will be opened about May 1st.

"GERTRUDE."

Life and Times of Willie.
Next Tuesday evening March 17th at 8 p.m. sharp, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw will deliver a lecture on the Life and Times of Willie in St.
John's school room. The subject is one of great interest, which is more especially so at the time when the anniversary of the great reformer is being observed.

Snow or Rain.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Increasing northerly drift to easterly winds, light to cloudy weather to-day, followed to-night or to-morrow by snow or rain.

A Coming Entertainment.
We understand that an entertainment will be held in the Opera House on Tuesday, April 14th, when Mrs. Jerley's Wax Works will again be produced. There will also be other entertainment provided, of which particulars will be given in posters in a few days. The entertainment will be under the management of Mr. Wright, of Lakeside, and Mr. Hammond.

Another Sale.
The sale of children's clothes and underwear, which was commenced at Mrs. R. Walright's last evening, will be continued at 7 o'clock this evening and until the goods are disposed of.
The sale will be conducted by Mr. C. Stapleton.
Mrs. Walright has a large and varied stock of these goods, and this sale affords an opportunity to purchase such articles at low prices that should not be neglected. One door south of Mr. Yelland's blacksmith shop.

The Trent Valley Canal.
The deputation, consisting of the Wardens of the different counties and Mayors of the towns along the route of Trent Valley Canal, and members of the Montreal Corn Exchange, waited on Sir John Macdonald, Premier, and the Hon. J.
E. Pope, Acting Minister of Railways and Canals, in reference to the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. The deputation, which included about thirty-five, was received at five o'clock on Wednesday evening in the Premier's apartment in the House of Commons. Mr. A.
P. Fournier, of Peterborough, and the Rev.
Wm. Logan, of Fenelon Falls, addressed the Ministers on the subject. The Premier promised that the work at Burlington and Lindsay would be vigorously prosecuted, and that a further appropriation would be taken into serious consideration by the Government. The deputation representing Peterborough returned this morning.

The Warehouse of Commerce. A wool work, consisting of Slippers, Socks, Brackets, Tea Cups, Bannocks, etc., are offered at greatly reduced prices. J. E. KERR.

New Custom Shop.

A. C. McConnell has again opened up a new custom Boot and Shoe shop in the store opposite the Post Office on George street. It is his intention to make to order a first-class Boot or Shoe on the shortest notice. The work done by him has spoken for itself in the past, and all who favor him with their patronage in the future can rely on getting the best of satisfaction. Give him a call and be convinced.

Free to the Ladies.

There will be given to-morrow an excellent opportunity to the ladies of Peterborough who wish to learn roller skating. The freedom of the rink will be conferred on the ladies and skates will also be furnished free of charge.
To have accustomed to skating, officials assistance will be supplied. The rink will be free to the ladies, both morning afternoon and evening.

Chest-Chat.

—Brighter.
—Two junior rinks went to Lindsay yesterday to play the Lindsay junior curlers.
—They returned this morning having lost the match by three shots.
—"The World" and the "B's" had another curling match last night which resulted in a victory for "The World," the score being 7-17.
—Prince Gortschakoff, the great Russian diplomats, died two years ago to-day.

R. E.

All ye men and women, singers, and all ye men and women who make music on all sorts of musical instruments, such as fiddles, whistles, otherwise called futes, and ye who thump on the new-fangled harpichord called a piano, and ye who toots the large horns are requested to meet ye times and ye ladies at ye Methodist meeting house at early candle light to-morrow. It is important that ye all be there.

LADIES should inspect the elegant assortment of Dress Goods to every Material and Shade at the "Golden Lion." A complete line of Black and Colored Silks, Marcellines, Check Silks, Striped Silks, Cashmerettes, Cloths, Zephyr Ginghams, Organdies, Reversible Plaids, Broaded Muslins, &c.

New Home Society.

The Royal Arcanum is a benevolent order which was established in Boston, Mass., eight years ago. Its objects are the promotion of benevolence, charity and fraternity, the giving of moral and material aid to members, and other objects of a similar nature. On the death of a full rate member the sum of three thousand dollars is paid to his family or those dependent on him. Mr. H. E. W. Campbell, D.R.S., is now interesting himself in the organization of a branch of the order in this town.

Obituary.

The news of the death of the late Mrs. Garvey fell with depressing effect on a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The end came suddenly at one o'clock on Wednesday morning, after a sickness of less than two days. On Monday evening Mrs. Garvey felt somewhat ill.
Medical assistance was summoned, but the sickness, caused by inflammation in the bowels, resulted in death. The deceased leaves a little family of seven, the most of whom are not old enough to comprehend the inevitable loss which they have sustained. Mr. Garvey, who now lies ill, has the sympathy of the community in his sad loss and affliction.

The Late Francis G. Best.

It is with feelings of sincere regret that we chronicle the death of the late Francis Best.
He was a young man of good business qualities, talented, and made a great many warm friends through both town and country by his genial and courteous manner. About two years ago, on a cold night, while assisting in the removal of goods from a burning building, he contracted a severe cold. Inflammation of the bronchial tubes was the result, and notwithstanding the persistent and strenuous efforts to rid himself of the affection by medical aid, it still clung to him. Accompanied by his mother, he tried a change of climate, going to Colorado about nine months ago, and remaining until within a few weeks. But watchful care and climatic change were of no avail. The affection deepened into the dread disease consumption, to which he succumbed on Wednesday morning, at a few minutes after one o'clock. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Another Landmark's Gaze.

Saturday, the 7th day of March, saw one of our oldest landmarks, and one of the most respected residents of the Township of Carleton pass peacefully away. Robert McCann was born in Carleton, Ireland, in the year 1800. In his twentieth year he emigrated to Canada together with a number of pioneers, and settled in the Township of Carleton, which they gave the name it bears. Most of the early settlers who bore with him the trials and hardships of clearing the Canadian forest and opening up the new country, have passed away before him, and at last he follows them at the good ripe age of 85 years, to their last resting place. When the prime of life the deceased took to himself for a wife Isabella McNeil, who also came from the County of Carleton, Ireland. In August, 1868, she passed away, to be followed nearly nineteen years afterwards by her husband. The deceased leaves two daughters and one son out of a family of four, which consisted of two sons and two daughters. He was a man highly esteemed by all those with whom he had any business dealing and by those whom he met in private life. He followed farming as an occupation and with such perseverance, energy and zeal did he prosecute the vocation of his choice that he had long since retired from active labour well to do. But while he enjoyed the blessing of comparative wealth, he did not forget the poor. He gave liberally to those who needed pecuniary aid and in various other ways dispensed charity. In politics, he was a staunch and consistent Conservative.
The deceased was the grandfather of Mr. Robert Fair, of Fair, VanEvery & Co., dry goods merchants of this town.

MR. HAUZMAN'S PARFUMS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In your very kind and flattering review of my little pamphlet, you give the credit of its most appearances to my publishers. If you will be good enough to allow me to make the suggestion, I think it will be but just to say that it is entirely due to the care and diligence of the printers, Messrs. Hills and Moore, Melinda street, Toronto.
I have the honor to be, Sir,
Faithfully yours,
ARNOLD HAUZMAN.

Cloths, Mosaics, &c. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attraction.

Symposium.

The Waterfall, Mich., Record of March 6th gives an account of the marriage on Feb. 25th, at Oshawa, of Mr. W. F. Graham, of Peterborough, and Miss Anna P. Wilkinson. Mr. A.
Ritchie, of Peterborough, was groomsmen, and Miss Estella Steiner, of Niles, was bridesmaid.
The Record gives a description of the handsome way in which the church was decorated, and also of the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. I. Taylor, Presiding Elder of the district, and concludes as follows:—
"The bride was, during her short stay in Colorado, admired and loved by all with whom she came in contact, and all regret her removal.
The groom, though a stranger, impressed the minds of friends and all very favorably, and all join us with one voice in wishing them all joy and happiness in the future. On the 6th, they took the train for Chicago on a tour which will eventually lead them to their future home in Peterborough, Ont. We, their friends, join in wishing their journey through life to be strewn with roses, only enough storm to give the roses sweetness and beauty."

A Sign of Spring.

In passing the store of Mr. Andrew McNeil, Habitment Hall, one cannot help but notice the artistic and beautiful manner in which the windows are dressed. The north window is specially taken up in displaying a magnificent line of gentlemen's spring necessities in multifarious patterns, shapes, qualities and designs. This window is a sight that will attract the attention of all the young men in Peterborough, as a fine selection of that very necessary appendage to a man's dress, could scarcely be wished for. The south window is filled with an excellent stock of spring and summer suitings. There are some decidedly handsome patterns displayed, and many of them are entirely new lines. A man who cannot be contented with the old, but who wishes to keep clean and neat in his attire, will find the large stock now on hand at Habitment Hall, easily could not tell what he wanted. A very large assortment of small wares is constantly kept, and gentlemen in need of furnishings of any description cannot do better than visit Habitment Hall a call. The cut and workmanship, together with the class of goods, is always the best, and great care is bestowed on every article turned out of the establishment.—
A. McNeil, Habitment Hall, George Street.

GRUMLEY will find at the "Golden Lion" full lines of Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, Furnishing, Dress Shirts and Underwear. Tailoring a Specialty, and a first class Outfit at your command.

Gold Medal Ale.

If you want a glass of Labatt's prize medal ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Restaurant. This ale has received two gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

Fare English Ale.

I want a delicious glass of Bare's genuine English Ale (October brewing), the proper place to get it is at Chamberlain's Bodega and Restaurant. All our liquors are guaranteed pure and unadulterated. Orders imported and domestic alike.

FAIR, VANEVERY & Co.'s large selection of Fridge contents everything New in Color and Style. Pansies, Marmos, Chocolates, Plates, Silverware, Seltzer, Florida, Seltzer, Soda
Regimes, &c., all very cheap.

A Pointer to Spedmen Men.

Dinner will be served to business men from 12.30 to 2.30 every day at FAIRWEATHER'S Bodega.

Thin People.
"Wells Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence, Neuralgia, etc.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

NOT WHAT IT PRETENDS TO BE.

One of the contemporary asserts that the "Gerry-mender bill" now before the Legislature "is what it pretends to be, a just equalization of the voting strength of the people." The unit of representation is 21,621, but of the constituencies which are not affected by the bill 35 are above 25,000; 13 above 25,000; 5 above 30,000; 27 below
19,000; 4 below 15,000. Of the constituencies not below 20,000 and 22,000, and which are not affected, 27 are Grit and 12 Conservative. Of those below 20,000, 12 are Grit and 7 Conservative, and of those above 22,000, 15 are Grit and 5 Conservative.—Toronto World.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

The trans-continental highway which will yet be hailed as an important factor in the mobilization of her armies, whether enlisted in England, India, Canada, or Australia. The time will surely come when this railway in the west is but the complement of the canal in the east, to the construction of which Drexell's genius made England a chief contributor.—Toronto World (Indep.)

A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT.

On the face of it it certainly looks as if the Government had deliberately sought to cut the ground from under the feet of several of Mr.
Meredith's supporters. Of course it may be simply a coincidence that the hold of certain Opposition members on their seats is weak, and while the hold of certain Reformers on their seats is strengthened, but it will be hard to make the Conservatives throughout the province believe that it is a coincidence and nothing more.
—Toronto Telegram (Indep.)

A GOOD ENACTMENT.

Already one of Sir Leonard's tariff changes has proved itself no dead letter, but a live enactment, that is going to be enforced. A large consumption of articles, the manufacture of which labor in the United States, was seized the other day in London, being imported into this country contrary to the law which came into effect on Tuesday last, prohibiting the importation of articles so manufactured. Among the things imported were many articles which enter into competition with our own manufactures to the detriment of the workmen of Canada.—Tor-

Drunkennes, or the Liquor Habit, can be cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it, and it is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken the Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. No harmful effects result from its administration. Cures starva-

IT LEADS ALL

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so conclusively proves the efficacy of the medicine and the general public.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a large quantity of Sarsaparilla about you, it will be found in the medicine chest of every household.

SCROFULA AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

For the cure of all blood diseases, it is the most reliable remedy. It has cured many cases of Scrofula, and it will cure yours. It will stop the running of the blood, and remove the stinging oozing of the blood, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

ULCEROUS

"At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with ulcerous running sores on its face and neck. At the same time its eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore. Physicians told me that a powerful alternative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by a adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scrofulous tendencies; and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results. Yours truly, B. F. JOHNSON."

DRIVEN OUT OF FRANCE.

THE FRENCH LEADERS AND DYNAMITERS EXPELLED FROM THE COUNTRY.

Warned Not to Return—The Affair Causes Great Excitement—An Important Discovery—A Hint for America.

By Telegraph to the Review.

PARIS, March 12.—James Stephens and Eugene Davis, chief of the Anglo-French section of the Dynamite; John Morrissey, president of the recent Dynamite Convention, and the journalist Mortimer Lacey, were arrested by the French police and taken to the frontier to-day and warned not to return. Stephens begged permission to be allowed to proceed to America so that he might take a steamer to America, but the authorities refused to grant the request. Mrs. Stephens was also arrested, but was afterwards released. The stand taken by the authorities has caused an immense sensation. It is reported that an important discovery was made during the examination of Davis and Morrissey. Warrants are out for the expulsion of other French leaders.

RUSSIA AND ENGLAND.

An Agreement Arrived at—Neither Party to Advance Further.

LONDON, March 12.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Gladstone announced that an agreement had been arrived at between Russia and England, by which neither the Russians nor the English would advance any further on either side of the frontier.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

FRIDAY, March 12.—Robt. Walsh was again before the court this morning, charged by P. C. Adams with being drunk in a public place. He made another attempt to plead off but was unsuccessful. He was sentenced to one month in goal at hard labor. Robert is possessed of a very glib tongue, and has succeeded in pleading his case so well that on several occasions he has got free of the charges laid against him. Only a few days ago he was up for being drunk, and on condition of his being let go he promised to return home and drink no more. After pronouncing the sentence this morning the Magistrate said that one month in jail would give him ample time to sober up, but if he appeared at the court again and needed more he would send him to the Central Prison for six months.

The Practical End of Socialism.

Ardap's assistant in London, who was in the habit, with his master's cognizance, of attending a workmen's Socialistic meeting, neglected for a week or two to attend the meeting, and the following dialogue took place between master and man. Master—"Well, John, and how is it that you have not kept up your attendance at the Socialistic meetings?" John (rather confidentially)—"Well, sir, I don't think I shall go any more." Master—"But how is that, John?" John—"I have found out, sir, that the socialism is not quite as safe as I thought it was. At the last meeting I attended we calculated how much there would be for every one when everything was divided up, and we found it would only be £105 each, and you know, sir, I have £150 in the bank."—Manchester Times.

Body Found at the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, March 11.—Some boys, while rabbit shooting at the whirpool to-day, came across the body of a man in the whirpool bath, near the Devereux college. The body apparently had been dead three weeks. A revolver was laid by his side, and a bullet had passed through the brain. The body was well dressed in a suit of dark clothes, black silk hat, and cashmere gloves. A silver watch, gold chain, and diamond pins were found on his person. The coroner has the body in charge.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

DEFENCE OF THE FRONTIER.

LONDON, March 12.—The Times says it is probably that some of Gen. Lamden's ideas have already commenced work on the defence of the Afghan frontier. The Government has practically ordered Lamden to organize the Afghan defence. The Times understands that the main body of Lamden's troops has completed the Robert Pass. It is hoped that Lamden's measures will prevent the hordes of India by a coup de main. The Times says, if Russia forces England to hostilities she cannot expect that the war will be confined to Central Asia.

CANADIANS HOMEWARD BOUND.

KOBE, March 12.—The Guards have gone to Doshoda. Forty-six of the Canadian voyageurs, whose terms have expired, started to-day for England.

A REBEL ATTACK.

SOAKING, March 12.—When the attack was made upon the garrison by the Mahdi's men last night, the rebels in answer to a challenge replied "friends." They then advanced into a scrub, overpowered the pickets, and attacked the garrison, but being the men landing from the gunboat, decamped, carrying away their dead and wounded, except the body of their leader, Abdul Karim, who was killed by a standard bearer. Six British Guards were killed and seven wounded. Heavy firing from Osman Digma's force continued this (Thursday) evening. The Sikhs from India and the East Surrey Regiment, mainly composed of Londoners, are returning the fire. A general alarm has been sounded in the British camp.

KASSALA CAPTURED.

LONDON, March 12.—Sir Henry Tyler has received a despatch stating that the Mahdi has captured Kassala.

INDICATIONS OF COMING STRIFE.

LONDON, March 12.—The naval and military positions at Portsmouth Dock Yard have been exchanged between the Queen and Emperor or William. The latter is using his personal influence with the Emperor to preserve peace. Bismarck has made no official representation to Russia.

NO NEW INFORMATION.

LONDON, March 12.—Mr. Gladstone said he was unable to give any information that would substantially improve the information already possessed by the House. He could only assure the House that the Afghan question had the constant and unfailing attention of the Government.

THE CZAR OBUZURATE.

LONDON, March 12.—The Evening News states that remonstrances from the highest quarters have been addressed to the Czar, in the of peace, and have met with such a chilling response that slight hope are entertained that hostilities can be averted.

GETTING READY.

LONDON, March 12.—The Government has ordered untrained soldiers to be put through a complete military course forthwith. Three hundred recruits for the Guards went to Aldershot to-day to receive instructions in the use of the rifle.

MORE FAVORABLE ASPECT.

LONDON, March 12.—The relations between England and Russia are assuming a more favorable aspect. Baron de Stael has been invited to Granville the contents of a despatch from De Stael, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, in which it is stated that Russia is desirous of a speedy and peaceful solution of the existing difficulty. De Stael denies that Russian outposts have been advanced beyond the limits claimed as the frontier. It is reported that Baron de Stael has been invited to Granville that the movement of Russian troops towards Ashabad has not been ordered until the position on the frontier becomes threatening.

A CABINET MEETING.

LONDON, March 12.—The Cabinet met at noon. The unusually early hour at which the Ministers convened attracted attention. Reports quickly spread that the crisis was being considered. Immediately before the Conference the Queen-in-chief to the Queen had a long interview with Gladstone. Among the rumors to which this gave rise was one that the Queen had been advised that the Indian situation was grave and required vigorous and decisive action, and that the Queen had urgently insisted on her Government doing something. This and similar stories attracted a large crowd to Downing-street.

GENTLEMEN will find at the "Golden Lion"

Another Mystery.

LONDON, March 11.—Last night Marshall Figgott mysteriously disappeared from his home in the township of Denbigh and has not been heard from since. He was the possessor of a farm of 50 acres and in fairly good circumstances, and no motive for his disappearance could be found, so that the affair was shrouded in mystery and almost sank into oblivion. But the excitement has now been renewed by the arrival in the vicinity of John Figgott, brother of the missing man, who intends to fully investigate the matter. He believes his brother was murdered and his body cast to the waves. In the latter part of December a body was washed ashore at Long Point, and Mr. Figgott believes it to be the body of his brother. No motive for the murder, if the missing man was murdered, can be assigned beyond the fact that prior to his disappearance he borrowed a considerable sum of money.

We accidentally overheard the following dialogue on the street yesterday.

John Smith: "Why don't you stop that disgusting howling and spitting?"

Sam: "How can I? You know I am a martyr to catarrh."

J. Doan: "I had the disease in its worst form but I am well now."

J. Doan: "What did you do for it?"

J. Doan: "I used Dr. Figgott's Catarrh Remedy. It cured me and it will cure you."

J. Doan: "I've heard of it, and by Jove I'll try it."

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1885.

THE HANSARD QUESTION.

The Hansard in the Legislature on the School Board question, by the additional light thrown upon the subject, served to show more clearly the attitude of the Government. The Government having entered into an agreement with three publishing firms by which the firms were given a monopoly of the Hansard business for ten years, they wished to justify themselves as much as they could against the condemnation of the hands of the people, which they deserved, by having the Hansard printed at the Government's expense. In one particular they had calculated rightly; their supporters voted that they had done right. But that does not settle the question, for the people have yet to be given an opportunity to pronounce their verdict.

Early in the debate one important point was brought out strongly, and that was that the Government had exceeded their authority in making the Province by an agreement for ten years with the three firms before they were authorized to do so by the House. This fact alone makes their conduct in the matter considerable, but it is not the only objectionable feature of the bargain.

The Government acknowledged that the agreement was entered into with three firms in order to give them some compensation for the loss they sustained through the authorization and subsequent cancellation of the other three sets of Hansards. Why were they entitled to compensation? Because the Government had made a mistake, and through their mistake the companies had suffered a loss. The loss had been sustained and had to be borne by someone, but the Government decided that the people should bear it, hence this monopoly was established. It would be amusing, were it not of such serious consequences to the people, to see Governments with such nonchalance quietly acknowledge that they had made a blunder, and then on account of their mistakes the people who were given the position would be at a loss.
We question, however, that the people will accept the position so quietly, and that they will view with a serene placidity as a matter to be quietly passed over by this vote in the House.

The facts and figures produced during the debate showed clearly that the three firms, through being granted a monopoly, would make large profits out of the readers. There is no doubt about it. The books must be purchased, and their sale is assured. They are allowed to sell them at a price which will give them a large margin of profit, and, to further reimburse them one of the pockets of others, the discount to the trade is reduced.

It does not make the transaction look less complicated when it is known that one of the publishers interested in the monopoly is also interested in the Toronto organ of the Government, and that there are many things connected with the matter—such as the large cost of preparing the Hansard, and the small amount of the cost borne by the publishers—which show a corner of blunder, if nothing worse, on the part of the Government. Still, in accepting their own responsibility of the case, the fact still remains, unmitigated and acknowledged, that the Government blundered and that the people of Ontario must pay for it. Will they do it without calling to account the men who imposed this additional burden upon them?

LAKELAND.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE SCOTT ACT.—A large meeting was held on Wednesday night in the P. C. A. Hall on behalf of the Scott Act. In the absence of Mr.
J. C. Sherin, the convener, through sickness,
it was moved, seconded and carried, that Mr.
John Hall be Chairman. He accepted, and filled the vacant duties of that position very efficiently. After the appointment of a Secretary they proceeded to nominate an executive committee for Lakeland, to arrange for the Scott Act in the future, in accordance with a resolution to that effect moved by the Rev. Mr. Johnson, seconded by Mr. J. C.
Chapman. Consequently a committee of 25 men were appointed, and then by request Mr. G.
Galvin, the Rev. Mr. Johnson, and the Secretary, Mr. T. T. Bone, gave short addresses in explanation of the Act. The meeting then adjourned.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

An Extensive Opposition Mobby.—The Humble Debt-North-West Representation—Evidence in Criminal Cases.

Wednesday, March 11.—Several petitions were presented, and a number of questions were answered.

P. R. TIERNEY DUES.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD said the Government claimed $100,000 from the C. P. R. for timber dues, but the amount was in dispute, and nothing had yet been paid.

EXPENSIVE RETURN.

Mr. HENSON moved for a statement of returns granted as to the C. P. R. He complained that too many returns were asked for unnecessarily. Our returns were six times as numerous as in the Imperial Parliament. Mr.
Charlton had recently accused the Government of extravagant expenditure, but to show his own economy he had asked for a return, which consisted of 4,000 pages of foolscap, had cost $800, had not been consulted by the mover and only by one other member. By means of two pages he sent the bulky packages to Mr.
Charlton's desk.

Mr. BLAKE said it could not be known whether a return was a waste of public money until it was examined. The Government should feel no delicacy in refusing to accept of wasting money.

After some further discussion, from which it appeared that three members had looked at the return, two of them at the request of the mover,
Mr. Charlton, the motion was carried.

FIVE PER CENT LOAN.

Sir ROBERT CARTWRIGHT moved for papers as to the redemption of the 5 per cent loan maturing last January. He said provision should have been made for this by a new loan last fall. He criticized the temporary loans and the enlargement of the floating debt, and declared that the credit of Canada would be impaired when the loan that would shortly be necessary was placed upon the market. He also condemned the Government's policy of bank system and prophesied evil generally.

NORTHWEST REPRESENTATION.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) moved the second reading of the bill respecting representation of the Northwest Territories in the House of Commons. He urged that the large population of these districts entitled them to representation, and that their widely different interests made it very desirable for them.

Mr. LAZARUS moved the adjournment of the debate to allow for more time to consider the matter. Mr. Cameron not having explained the measure so fully on the first reading as to prepare them to consider it.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.

Mr. CAMERON's bill to amend the law of evidence in criminal cases, was considered in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. MCCARTHY introduced an amendment setting forth that the defendant shall not be cross-examined as to his past career and character, and that where a defendant declines to present himself as a witness no observation and no deduction unfavorable to the accused should be made.

After a long and animated discussion Mr.
McCarthy's amendment was carried.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Mr. Mansfield deserves great credit for his carefulness with which he is urging the claims of wage workers to consideration at the hands of the Local Legislatures. While the Government are quarrelling with their supporters in reference to new Parliament buildings, and busily engaged in defending their corrupt extravagance on expenditures for colonization roads, the leaders of the Opposition are carefully studying out measures to benefit the condition of the working man.—Welland Free Press.

THE POOR BRAKEMAN.

No calling seems better with more danger and hardship than that of the railway brakeman, especially in winter like that experienced up to the present this winter. The work of coupling is dangerous all the year round, owing to the system in use on most of the railways, which obliges the brakeman to go between the cars.
Just now the ice on the freight cars is full of peril. When the train is running at the rate of twenty miles an hour, with the wind blowing almost a hurricane as it was yesterday, and the road like a sheet of glass, the position of the brakeman is not to be envied.—London Free Press.

THE GERRYMANDER.

As a palpable evidence that the ministry are aware that they are losing ground, the moral effect of the bill will do more to accelerate the process than its provisions can do to arrest it.
It is a rash, foolish and ill-considered move, and will go far to convince the people of the Province that the Government have lost their heads.—Toronto News (Indep.).

WHERE THEIR EYE WAS.

There need be no pretence on the part of the framers of the bill that they had not an eye to the main change. With Government by party and no need not expect anything else in connection with a scheme of redistribution.—Toronto World (Indep.).

SOUTH MICHIGAN.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—The new dwelling house of Wm. Greer, at Wallace's Point, was burned on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock. The fire was caused by a stove pipe running through a ceiling. Although Mr. Greer and his son were both at home and saw it soon after taking fire, having no well to get water from at the house, they could not put the fire out. Nearly everything was saved. The house will be totally lost, as there was no insurance. They had only been living about a month in the house.

KEENE.

THE SCOTT ACT.—A meeting was held in Keene on Wednesday afternoon of supporters of the Scott Act, for the purpose of organizing for the work in the township. The following officers were elected:—President, Mr. Geo. Read; Vice-President, Dr. Macleod; Treasurer, Mr.
Thos. Campbell; Secretary, Mr. Geo. K.
Mark; Committees, Mr. John Kibbey. A committee of five was appointed for each polling division in the township. The officers form an executive.

MILL BURNED.—The saw mill situated on the north shore of Rice Lake, owned by Mr. F.
Birdsall, was destroyed by fire on Sunday night.
The origin of the fire is not known. It will be an inconvenience to the people of that neighbourhood, as well as a loss to Mr. Birdsall.

BELMONT.

NEW SAW MILL.—The new steam saw mill of Messrs. Pease and Co., which is being erected on the south shore of Belmore Lake, about two and a half miles from Hawkeston, will be ready to commence work on about the first of May. Its size is 30 x 60, and its capacity will be 20,000 feet a day. It will turn out lumber, shingles, bill stuff, &c.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Town Council.

The regular meeting of the Town Council will take place on Tuesday evening, March 17th, instead of on the previous Monday evening, as understood by some.

An Acknowledgment.

Mr. George Bush, missionary, desires us to acknowledge the receipt of $16.45 public contributions, towards the Algoma Railway and Lumberman's Gospel and Colportage Mission. He desires also to thank those who contributed.

Notice.

Tomorrow morning in the Market Square there will be sold a lot of A-1 cooking hams, hams, extra quality, etc. All of the above articles are new and in first class order, being the property of Mr. T. W. Borden, who is going into other business. Everything will be sold without reserve.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North and east winds, fair to cloudy weather, with light local falls of snow, stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

Impostation.

The Campbellford Herald calls attention to a man who represented himself to be an agent for the Toronto News, and received subscriptions for that paper, but who was an impostor and pocketed the money. It would be well for people not to give their subscriptions to any person unless they are shown satisfactory evidence that he is an authorized agent.

GERTRUDE.

Remember the Ladies' Aid Society's entertainment in the St. Andrew's School Room on Tuesday evening next, 17th March, commencing at 8 o'clock. A good programme has been filled out, and an enjoyable time may be expected. Tea, &c., will be served during the evening. Additionally the ladies will have an exhibit of useful and fancy articles which may be purchased if desired.

Saturday's Sale.

Don't forget the important sale of heavy fur, including excellent driving harness, catkins, pleasure sleighs, robes, etc., which will be held on the Market Square to-morrow at 10 o'clock. Mr. T. W. Borden has instructed Mr. Stapleton to clear the whole plant off unreservedly, as he is again going into the egg business. This will be a fine chance to secure good articles at a low price.

The 13 Point Game.

The 13 point game, which has been going on between the senior and junior curlers for the President and Vice-President's medals, was concluded Wednesday evening. The final draw took place between Messrs. W. H. Borden, for the seniors, and Jas. Connell, for the juniors. The play was watched by a considerable number of curlers with much interest. The play was well contested, point by point, until each player had made 10. Then the representatives of the juniors, by a false pass, changed the score from 10-10 to 9-12. Mr. Borden won the game by 5 points.

Dufferin Literary Club.

The discussion on the advisability of issuing an irredeemable currency was resumed at the regular meeting of the Dufferin Literary Club on Wednesday evening. Mr. W. O'Brien opened the evening's debate and was followed by Mr. Levi, who made a telling speech against the fiat money system. The discussion was continued by Messrs. A. Stevenson, F. P. Henry and Armstrong. The President, Mr. McLennan, briefly reviewed the debate and decided that the affirmative (the paper money advocates) had proven their case. Those that speak above others, the reg. baby, has at last found a home, as the Club has adopted it.

Some of Peterborough's best local talent will take part in the programme at the Entertainment in St. Andrew's School Room on Tuesday evening next.

When Appear To-morrow.

The report of the Secretary of the Peterborough branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society will appear in to-morrow's issue.

LADIES should inspect the elegant assortment of Dress Goods in every Material and Shade at the "Golden Lion." A complete line of Black and Colored Silks, Merinoes, Cheek Silk, Striped Silks, Cashmere Cloths, Zephyr Ginghams, Organdies, Reversible Flannels, Broadened Madras, &c.

A Warning.

The Ottawa Freeholder says:— "A negro has been noticed in the neighborhood of Peterborough taking possession of the public by showing a paper to which is attached the name of Mr. Thomas Conant, of this place. The paper says the negro tramp in question is a sober, industrious man in need of help. Mr. Conant says he never signed such a paper and that the negro is a fraud, pure and simple. Peterborough papers will do well to copy this item and warn the public against the impostor."

The Early Bird.

It is an old saying that "the early bird catches the worm," and it is equally applicable in every other respect. Although there are no worms for the early birds to catch at the present time, yet the maxim is nevertheless, none the less applicable on this account. Spring, that most delightful of all seasons, is near at hand, and as its approach is heralded by all with almost delight, it will be "a word to the wise in season," to inform the general public that they should set to work now to make preparations for its proper reception. Do it at once—procrastination is unwise at any time. It is essential that the gentlemen of Peterborough should be the first to make a move in this direction. Let housecleaning and all minor home duties be left to the good wife or sister that has nothing else to think about, but you should set promptly and with intelligence. You want to look like a new man in spring—like one who has completely transformed himself. This is absolutely necessary. Well, to carry this out in a proper and becoming manner, call at Habliment Hall, ask A. McNeil to show you some of his latest importations for spring suits, and it is very probable before leaving his establishment you will buy more than a suit of clothes. A. McNEIL, Habliment Hall.

Bachelors.

A curling match between the seniors and juniors will probably take place this evening. On Thursday evening a friendly match was played at the Charlotte Street rink with a risk from the Campbellford Club. The following is the score and the names of the curlers:—

CAMPBELLFORD. PETERBOROUGH.
 J. Walters J. H. Burnham
 J. Dinwoodie E. Walker
 J. Whyte C. McNeil
 E. G. Burt, skip. 4 W. G. Ferguson, skip. 26
 This morning another friendly match was played with the following result:—
 J. Walters H. E. Merrick
 J. Dinwoodie A. Hall
 J. Whyte W. E. Davidson
 E. G. Burt, skip. 18 W. G. Ferguson, skip. 23
 The Campbellford men play very well considering their experience in curling and the facilities at their disposal for practice.

The usual Friday night attraction at the Charlotte street rink will likely bring out a large number of skaters.

We are informed that another consignment of roller skates is shortly expected. It will consist of the newest designs, including the clamp and screw skates. To-day the ladies were admitted free of charge to the roller rink, to afford an opportunity for those who were unaccustomed to roller skating to learn the art. The rink will be free to ladies again to-night.

The Wholesale Trade.

The wholesale trade, is now in its infancy in Peterborough, but we see no reason, with the unparalleled advantages which Peterborough possesses as a distributing point, why we long it should not be a centre for the wholesale trade. The new block on Water street opposite the Ontario Bank, recently erected by Messrs. Dunlop and Stevenson, has, during the week, been occupied by two energetic wholesale firms—Ostrom & Ostrom, dealers in fruit, fish and oysters, and Mr. Wm. McKee, dealer in furniture. Both establishments are commodious and well appointed. In the front of Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom's ware house is a neat show room with a plate glass front and well lighted. Immediately in the rear is the office which is both convenient and easy. Telephone connection is one of the conveniences and other neat and serviceable appointments are also noticeable. In the rear of the office is the shipping room—a roomy place about sixty feet long. The cellars are spacious, and will be, when weather permits, thoroughly lined with cement, so that the storage of fruit may be effected with perfect safety from rotting. Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom will conduct their business on exclusively wholesale principles, and will import for the trade all kinds of Florida and Mediterranean fruit. They will deal also largely in the export of eggs. Mr. McKee's furniture establishment, situated next door, is also a well appointed place. The ware room faces the front, well lighted by the transom windows of rays through a plate glass front. The ware room is large and affords opportunity for a fine display of furniture. At the rear of the ware room a workshop is attached. Mr. McKee will conduct his business as both wholesale and retail.

HOUSE KEEPERS and Hotel-keepers should inspect Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s large stock of Cottons, White and Grey, Plain and Twilled; Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, Crochets in all conceivable patterns, Lace Curtains, Lambrequins, &c., &c. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All Wool, Tapestry, Brussels and Oil Cloth, Mats, &c. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attraction.

The Post and the Age.

On Thursday evening Mr. Barton Esq. delivered a lecture entitled "The Post and the Age," in the lecture hall of the Young Men's Christian Association rooms. The audience, though not large, was entirely in sympathy with the lecturer and his subject. At eight o'clock the Rev. T. Manning, after opening exercises, introduced the lecturer. Mr. Esq. in his preliminary remarks, touched on the national type of the various nations of Europe, which, though belonging to the one great Aryan family, and possessing many hereditary characteristics that showed they sprang from a common origin, yet differed so widely in taste and temperament. These that settled in the cold lands and humid atmosphere of Germany, on the shores of a wild ocean, were moulded by the surroundings into stern, harsh people, prone to excess and blood spilling; those who made their homes in the countries of Romance nations inclined from the first, by the influence of clear bright atmosphere, blue skies, and a laughing sea coast, to social manners, a talent for enjoyment, and a taste for the beautiful; while the insular position of England gave a freedom and manliness to her people. As the characteristics of the people are reflected in their literature it was thus that the English literature possessed that openness, freedom and manliness that no other literature of the world possessed. The lecturer took two periods of English literature to illustrate that the poet was the complete reflection of the forces in operation in his time—the period of Chaucer and the Elizabethan period. He discussed the causes that produced the first great English poet. The forces that had found vent in Chaucer had been gathering for a long time. National unity was gradually taking place, and in his time the new nation was born. The preaching of Wycliffe and his followers, the extension of commerce by the establishment of the Flemings, the new impetus given to agriculture by the rise of the tenant farmer—all, and many others, were potent factors in producing England's first great poet. The chivalric spirit of his time was truly reflected in the knight's tale in the "Canterbury Tales," and all the great forces in operation at the time, it was shown, were embodied in Chaucer's works. Then came a blank. Early English poetry died with Chaucer. The era, who were gradually rising to a state of freedom, were crushed to their former state of servitude, the church, which had heretofore been the champion of the liberties of the people, united with the monarchy in taking away their liberties they had gained. With these causes, and several others that were cited, it was shown that as the people were crushed down so was their literature. The lecturer then passed on to the Elizabethan period. He pointed out the unparalleled fruitfulness of the time, in genius and intellect, and set forth the many and powerful influences that had been long gathering and had at last burst forth. These influences had not only produced the towering Shakespeare, but also "a race of intellectual giants." He maintained that even if Shakespeare were left out, the literature of the Elizabethan period was greater than that of any period of any literature, and these men of genius were only hidden by the superhuman powers of Shakespeare. He then dwelt on Milton, as the last of the Elizabethans, who he spoke of as the highest and most complete type of puritanism. He had reflected this system in its commencement, development and fall, and had crystallized himself in his works more than any other poet that ever lived. At the conclusion a vote of thanks for the able and instructive lecture was moved by Mr. J. H. Long and seconded by Mr. Horner. The vote was passed in the usual way and the thanks of the meeting were presented to the lecturer by the chairman. The meeting closed by the benediction being pronounced by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw.

Beware Girls.

MADRID, March 11.—A riot occurred to-day in consequence of the introduction of machinery for the manufacture of cigars. Five thousand female cigar makers struck, and attempted to smash the machinery and destroy other property. A large force of police was summoned, but the strikers turned upon the officers with stones and other knives, inflicting severe wounds upon a score of the men. The military had to be called out before quiet was secured. A large number of strikers were arrested.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS

LONDON, March 13.—It is reported in Korti that the Mahdi has evacuated Metemneh, fearing an invasion from Abyssinia.

DISARMING THE NATIVES.

CAIRO, March 13.—Gen. Graham has ordered the inhabitants of Sennin to be disarmed. He believes the natives are to be made of the weapons in their possession. Hereafter any uninitiated native found bearing arms will be treated as a rebel.

WAR PREPARATIONS.

LONDON, March 13.—The War Department is making preparations with a view to the possible occurrence of serious trouble in Afghanistan. Orders have been issued to the troops in Egypt, India and Bengal to prepare all kinds of ammunition.

35,000 men, and 11,600 horses. The Admiralty is arranging for a fleet of transports.

BELLOCLOSE RUSSIAN PRESS.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.—The tone of the Russian press is extremely bellicose, and it is firmly declared that Russia intends to have Europe. The Nova Vremya calls the approaching meeting of Lord Dufferin and the American minister a "military demonstration on the Russian frontier." "Russia and England," it says, "will soon make dry land, and the result will be that the influence of the British Empire will be destroyed."

REPELLING THE NIGHT ATTACK.

SCARLE, March 13.—In repelling the rebellion on Wednesday night the outposts fought heroically. Hand to hand encounters were frequent. In one instance five English soldiers bayoneted fifteen rebels. When disabled by wounds they were fired upon and then shot. The rebels, firing as long as they could, were repulsed.

THE EXPELLED AGITATORS.

PARIS, March 13.—The Irish agitators who were expelled from France are on their way to Holland, and are expected to embark at Rotterdam for America. They collected a considerable sum in Belgium, and had received assurances that they might be expelled from the kingdom. Their arrest and deportation was a cruel blow to the cause of the Irish. The Parisian Radicals are furiously indignant.

OSMAN DIGMA'S MOVEMENTS.

LONDON, March 13.—A British despatch says Osman Digma is concentrating a large force at Tamsanih to oppose the advance of Gen. Graham towards Berber. Thousands of well armed Arabs are gathering to assist Osman.

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

LONDON, March 13.—In the Commons this afternoon Mr. Gladstone announced that

Mr. Gladstone replied the agreement was to last as long as there was occasion for it (Lougher). The agreement, he said, provided against a rupture of friendly relations between the two Governments in the event of a collision between the Afghan and Russian outposts.

LONDON, March 12.—The standard says the agreement between England and Russia leaves the outcome of the difficulty untouched. There must have been bad words such as "agreement" was paraded as a diplomatic gain. Many consider the pause in the situation the prelude to a surrender.

RUSSIA AND THE VATICAN.

ROME, March 12.—The Pope has taken a decided attitude against the expulsion of the Catholic Archbishops of Wilna from Russia. A rupture between Russia and the Vatican is imminent.

GORDON MEMORIAL SERVICES.

London, March 12.—Memorial services in honour of Gen. Gordon were held in London to-day at St. Paul's, Westminster Abbey, and many other churches. Immense crowds were present.

CLARE SAVINGS

When even more than its usual efficiency and vitality the Globe attacks the appointment of Mr. H. H. Smith as Dominion Land Commissioner.
Without the slightest foundation it denies the new commissioner and recalls Sir John Macdonald for appointing him. Mr.
Smith made an excellent impression, doing much to gain the good will and respect of the settlers, and to smooth over any difficulties that most necessarily arise in the administration of such matters as the development of a country at a distance from the headquarters of the Government. It may therefore be confidently expected that Mr. Smith will render even greater public service now that he is deservedly promoted to the higher and more responsible position. The Globe calls the appointment one that is insulting to the people of the Northwest.
Its only reason for so describing a selection that will be welcomed by the settlers, is that he is a Conservative and that he has been appointed by a Conservative Administration. In truth it is the Globe that thus insults the majority of the people of Canada, and the statesmen in whom they place their confidence.

When that want of patriotism which leads the Reform leaders to attempt continually to injure the Dominion of Canada by stirring up sectional feelings between the different Provinces, the London Advertiser calls Mr. Thomas White a "foreigner" because he resides in the Province of Quebec. The member for Caldwell, represents an Ontario constituency, he was brought up and spent the greater part of his life in this Province, and is a property owner in the town of Peterborough, where his family resided and where he spent his youth and early manhood.
So that even in the Advertiser's narrow-minded view of such matters he is thoroughly justified in concerning himself in the affairs of Ontario.
But even if he were a native of Quebec, the Advertiser by calling him a foreigner would only display its own traitorous antipathy to our Dominion.

We are threatened by the leading Reform journal with a rebellion in the Northwest, somehow connected with a supposed collapse of Sir John Macdonald's railway and land policy.
On the same day Mr. Charlton, one of the leading members of the Reform leaders, urged the claims of the Northwest territory on account of their large population. We heard nothing of a large population flocking into the Northwest while Mr. Blake and his friends were in power. It was reserved for the railway and land policy of the Conservative Administration to produce such satisfactory results.

MIRACULOUS.

KATE MORRIS, the accomplice of the Paris
dynamiter, has left that city for America.
She complained that although funds had been appropriated for her she was left destitute.

The steamship State of Nebraska, which

It is stated that the German expedition to Western Africa is a failure, and that the collection scheme has been definitely abandoned.

A SURVIVOR of Lake Ontario made on Wednesday from Oswego showed the ice to be solid in every direction as far as the slave could reach, except to the north of the harbour, where open water could be seen at a distance of seventeen miles.

A REMARKABLE STORY of a woman comes from Montreal. It is alleged that a woman including in violent proximity at Avenue Vale about twelve years ago, was afflicted with paralysis and resorted to the spot where he stood, allegedly to remove him up to the present time being unable. He is also unable to take food.

One Exception to the Rule.

"The more you fill a barrel the more it will weigh," said the teacher.
"Please explain, is there any exception for the rule?" asked an orphan.
"None whatever. Everything you put in a barrel adds weight to it."

"I know an exception," broke in Bobby Sharp.
"What?"
"Well, ma'am, the more holes you put in a barrel the lighter it gets."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Beg Tax—The Health Laws—The Annual Budget—The Education Repartment and the School Laws.

THURSDAY, March 14.—Mr. Hardy introduced a bill to remove doubts as to the construction of certain sections of the election law Act of last session, and to amend Dr. Dowling.

DOGS AND SHEEP.
Mr. A. M. Ross introduced a bill to amend the Act imposing a tax in dogs for the protection of sheep.

BOARDS OF HEALTH.
Mr. A. M. Ross introduced a bill to make further provision regarding the public health.

Mr. MERRITT called attention to the great power of the local Boards of Health.

Mr. Ross explained some provisions of the bill.

MISREPRESENTATION.
Mr. MERRITT called attention to the fact that his enquiry regarding payments to Mr.
Mills had been misrepresented in the Globe.

ADVANCED.
Several bills were advanced a stage, including
Mr. Meredith's bill respecting wages.

THE BAIT.
Mr. FRANK moved the second reading of the bill confining the money placed in the hands of the Speaker, by McKim and others.

Mr. MERRITT said that certain parties had in good faith brought suit claiming this money, and it appeared unreasonable to place them in the position which this bill did.

Mr. MERRITT said that one of the plaintiffs had been told previously to entering the suit that the legislature would be introduced.

EDUCATION.
Mr. A. W. Ross moved the second reading of the bill respecting the Education Department.

Mr. MERRITT objected to the Department "covering expenditure without the sanction of the House." The bill discriminated unduly in favor of Toronto University.

Mr. Ross agreed to explain the privileges given to the Provincial University when in Commission.

THE SCHOOL LAW.
The bill to amend the school laws was considered in Committee. An amendment to strike out the clause requiring assessors in cities, towns and villages to enter the names of all children between the age of seven and thirteen was voted down. Discussions ensued on the clause and the House remained in Committee till midnight.

FIFTH COURTESY.
How the Redskin Belle Makes Her Debut and How Her Lover Wins Her.

Sarah Wineson, a Pinta girl, gave the following interesting information to a reporter of the San Francisco Call:—

When a girl reaches womanhood and her desire to indicate to the tribe that their daughter has reached the marriageable period she makes her debut, as you may in English but the Pinta girl comes out in an entirely different way from that adopted by her white sister. Just before she reaches womanhood her grandmother has special charge of her. She teaches her in domestic duties and explains to her the nature and importance of the wife's relation. The girl then goes with two older female relatives for a tattoo, which is a small wigwag, where she remains with them for 25 days. During this time she performs work which is supposed to be strengthening. It consists chiefly of piling wood. Every five days her relatives take her to the river to bathe, and at the end of the time she gives her clothing to her attendants and returns to the family lodge.

A lovely Indian girl is as much sought after in her circle as a great beauty is in a London drawing-room. But oh, how different the two kinds of courtship are! We have no parties in the wigwags to which young folks go and get acquainted and court. The young men and girls have no theatre to attend, and no long walks home after play is over. They never ride on together, nor strolling through the woods along the river bank. They never idle together in the cane on the water, plucking lilies and flowers.

Although they seem to enjoy much liberty to roam and wander, yet they are kept as closely prisoners. You may suppose that the girls and young men would steal out of their lodges of moonlight nights, and have clandestine meetings and woo in that way, but they never dare to do it. Indeed, they never speak together. But still a girl very soon knows when a young man is interested in her. He tries to catch her attention by his horseplay, or his skill with the bow, or his athletic accomplishments. He rides by her at a furious speed and returns again and again. In this way he attracts her attention and informs her, although he does not speak a word, that he loves her and would like to marry her.

But this does not comprise all of his courtship.
At night, when the Indians have retired to their wigwags and are sleeping, the young man rises from his bed of leaves and skins and goes to the lodge occupied by the girl he loves. He enters silently and sits down beside her couch.
A lodge is circular in shape, and at night when the inmates go to bed, they heap brushwood and logs on the fire in the centre of the tent and then lie down with their feet toward the fire and their heads toward the outside and sleeping on the wigwag. The Indians sleep on skins and are covered when sleeping with skins.

As the young man enters the lodge he can see by the firelight when the young girl is sleeping and he goes directly to her side, often creeping over other sleepers, and sits down by her head.
It is customary for the young girl to sleep near her grandmother, who is expected to sleep lightly after the girl has made her debut. As soon as she sees the young man enter she wakes the girl who rises and goes to where her mother is sleeping and lies down beside her. As soon as she does this the young man rises and goes out as silently as he came in. Not a word is spoken.
He does not touch the girl while he is sitting by her as she sleeps. Her grandmother does not speak a word of encouragement to him, neither does her mother indicate that he is a welcome visitor. The next night he comes again and takes up his position beside the girl, and keeps this up for a long time.

During all the time he is courting in this way,
he is treated as an obnoxious stranger by the girl's relatives. The girl does not like him, she tells her grandmother, and when the young man comes again at night, that good old lady rises from her bed, takes a handful of hot ashes from the fire and throws them in his face. That's the manner in which he is treated in his attentions and continues to come again and again, the whole family unite in heaping indignities upon him, but the girl is never a party to this. Her brothers and sisters and father and mother throw ashes upon him, pour water over his head, and when he comes again and drive him from the lodge.
Sometimes an Indian parasite, in spite of such assaults, and goes again and again to the lodge where the girl is sleeping. Sometimes this parasite wins her heart, but not often. If the girl likes him and is willing to marry him, then she tells her grandmother, who informs the girl's father.

FROM ALL OVER.

Mr. PARNELL has issued a manifesto advising the municipalities to observe a respectful silence regarding the visit to Ireland of the Prince of Wales.

A fine constitution may be broken and raised by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constipation. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills to correct this evil, and restore the system to natural, regular, and healthy action.

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true Murray & Lamm's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Lamm & Kemp, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of trouble rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which though pale and faint, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no Florida Water is genuine that does not have this test mark.

Blea Cotton, Unbleached Cotton, Yellow Cotton, & Factory Cotton

Are everywhere, but none the same thing. Only the other day I received some six bales of the NOW CELEBRATED

Which for WEAR and easy BLEACHING are unsurpassed.

These Cottons were bought before any advance in the price, and will be sold at the lowest possible margin, at prices ranging from 5c. to 10c. A. I. It is almost unnecessary to make any remarks regarding LYBSTER SHIRTINGS, these goods have been before the public for the past twenty years, and are pronounced second to none in the market. I was assured on the best authority that ever since the Lybster Shirts were made not one single complaint had been heard regarding the dye used in making these goods.

Lybster Cotton Turns out in stock. Ask to be shown the above goods at OLD PRICES.

Opening up a complete stock of New Spring Goods that will more than surprise you and cause you to buy. Inspection invited.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Curling Match.

The Keene curling club having accepted the challenge sent by the Boyce curling club, a match will be played on Tuesday afternoon next. The match will take place in the Charlotte street rink, with two risks each.

The Market.

The market was fairly well attended this morning. Fowl was scarce, and what was offered at a high price. Turkeys sold at $1.00 to $1.40; chickens at 60 to 70 cents per pair, and other kinds of fowl were scarcely represented. The supply of beef and pork was equal to the demand, quotations of the prices of which we give in another column.

Men's Meeting To-night.

Mr. W. C. Hartley, now of Chicago and formerly connected with the Y.M.C.A. of this city, will take part in the Y.M.C.A. Meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Rooms to-night. Young men are cordially invited to attend. If any are prevented by illness from attending on Saturday night, they will be welcomed at the meeting on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock.

GERTRUDE.

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY'S entertainment at the St. Andrew's School Room on Tuesday evening last, 17th March, commencing at 8 o'clock. A good programme has been filled out, and an excellent time may be expected. Tea, &c., will be served after the evening. Additionally the ladies will have an exhibit of useful and fancy articles which may be purchased at a low price.

For Embroideries, Linen and Cotton Trimmings—a complete stock just received at TURNBULL'S.

A Lecture.

On the evening of Thursday, March 19th, the Rev. A. H. Murray will deliver at the Baptist Church, Murray street, a lecture entitled "Models from Life for Life." All those who have heard the reverend gentleman know him to be exact in his choice of words, a clear and deep thinker, and a man capable of expressing thought in an entertaining and interesting way. From the title the reader can at once see that it will be a lecture that all, both old and young, should attend. The lecture will commence at 8 o'clock.

Handsome Pianos.

Mr. E. J. Hartley, dealer in musical instruments, has on exhibition at his warehouse, three handsome pianos which were made by Heintzman & Co., King street, Toronto, viz.:—One cabinet grand upright and two square grands. The pianos are very handsome, being encased in rosewood. Mr. Hartley has also on exhibition several medals which were won by pianos of this celebrated make for the past nine years in all the leading exhibitions in the world. Mr. Hartley informs us that the terms of sale for these three beautiful pianos are now almost closed.

Personal.

The Lindsay Post has the following observations in a recent business change in Peterborough:

"The many friends of Mr. John Corkery of Peterborough will be pleased to learn of the advancement of that gentleman. He has been for years filling an important position in the large dry goods establishment of Messrs. Thomas Dolan & Co., as head book-keeper and minister of finance, to use a parliamentary expression. As at that time age Mr. Corkery became a partner in the firm and has acquired an interest in the business. Mr. Corkery has always been an esteemed employee and thoroughly deserves his advancement. Mr. Corkery is a popular man in public life as well, having for several years in succession been elected a member of the separate school board. The Post wishes to express its sympathy to the dry goods and clothing firm of T. Dolan & Co."

Some of the best local talent will take part in the performance at the Entertainment at St. Andrew's School Room on Sunday next.

UPPER CANADA BIBLE SOCIETY.

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Branch is held on Thursday Evening.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held on Thursday evening at the Baptist Church, Murray street.

In the absence of Mr. Nicholls, the President, through sickness, Dr. Fife was called to the chair. The attendance was not so large as might have been wished.

After devotional exercises the annual report of the committee was read by the secretary, Mr. J. H. Stratton, as follows:—

Your committee regrets to have to report:—That during the year just ended very little progress has been made. This may be accounted for in part from the fact that the special friends of the Society were so engaged in business, church building, etc., that they could not devote that time to the work of the Society which it deserves and requires, if success is to be secured.

Use of the great difficulties your committee has to contend with is the difficulty of procuring collectors. For three years the members of the committee canvassed the town, and were successful. During 1883 and 1884 the members were not able to spare the time from their business, and have not therefore raised as large sums as the preceding years. This year a collector was appointed by the President, who is to receive a percentage, but up to last week no progress had been reported. Your Treasurer's report will enable you to understand the financial aspect of the case. While doing so little at home, we dare not draw comparisons with the work of the parent society, or even with other portions of this Province. We trust, however, that better times are approaching, when men will not be so engrossed in business that the Bible Society shall be neglected. The Bible and its promises are the only sources of spiritual progress and consolation, the true source of our civilization, and the only hope for civilizing and Christianizing the nations.

Your committee in retiring, according to the usual custom, beg leave to recommend that the following gentlemen be the officers and committee for the current year:—

President—Dr. R. Bell.
Vice-President—All Ministers of the Gospel.
Secretary—Joshua Collins.
Treasurer—J. H. Roper.

Committee—Dr. Fife, John Lookhart, J. W. Flavell, John Eshelby, R. Kinnear, W. W. Johnston, John Larnage, R. Tully, John McClelland, W. A. Morrow, Geo. A. Cox, W. Cummins, John Walton, J. Stratton, S. Curtis, W. C. Nicholls.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. H. STRATTON,
Secy. of Com.

The following financial statement was also read:—

Peterborough, March 12, 1885.

The Rev. Mr. Murray then addressed the meeting. He referred to the abundant proofs of the authenticity of the Bible. Experience only confirmed its statements. Great research had only brought to light what was written in the Bible, and the many excavations which had taken place in the ruins of the temples of ancient Thebes and Chaldea unfolded further proofs that what the Bible said was true. The more research was done the more abundant the proofs would be that the Bible was the Word of God.

The Rev. I. Tovey dwelt chiefly on the influence which the Bible exerted on mankind. The Bible Societies were potent and essentially important auxiliaries to the welfare of the church, and all Christian churches should maintain them. They placed the Book of books within the reach of the poor, and the results were incalculable. The Religious Tract Society had circulated 300,000,000 copies of the Bible and had caused it to be translated into 300 languages and dialects. The cause was a worthy one and should receive the support of all Christian people.

During the evening the choir of the church sang some choice music.

After the usual vote of thanks the benediction was pronounced and the meeting dispersed.

Prompt Settlement.

We notice in both the Free Press of London and the London Advertiser, a card of thanks for the wonderfully prompt manner in which the Ontario Mutual Life Insurance Company settled a claim of $8,000 on the life of the late James Watson, of that city. Only 13 days elapsed from the day of death to the date of the card of thanks. Such prompt business tact and principle, as shown by the settlement, cannot fail to commend itself to the thoughtful insurance public. We would recommend the intending insurer to consult J. O. Alder, the Ontario agent here, before insuring elsewhere.

LADIES should inspect the elegant assortment of Dress Goods in every Material and Shade at the "Golden Lion." A complete line of Black and Colored Silks, Merveilleux, Check Silks, Stripes Silks, Cashmere Cloths, Zephyr Gingham, Organza, Reversible Plaid, Broadened Muslins, &c.

The Early Bird.

It is an old saying that "the early bird catches the worm," and it is equally applicable in every other respect. Although there are no worms or the early birds to catch at the present time, yet the maxim is nevertheless, none the less unprofitable on this account. Spring, that most delightful of all seasons, is near at hand, and as its approach is heralded by all with sincere delight, it will be "a word to the wise in season," to inform the general public that they should set to work now to make preparations for its proper reception. Do it at once—procrastination is unwise at any time. It is essential that the gentlemen of Peterborough should be the first to make a move in this direction. Let housecleaning and all minor home duties be left to the good wife or sister that has nothing else to think about, but you should act promptly and with intelligence. You want to look like a new man in spring—like one who has completely transformed himself. This is absolutely necessary. Well, to carry this out in a proper and becoming manner, call at Habillment Hall, ask A. McNeil to show you some of his latest importations for spring suits, and it is very probable before leaving his establishment you will buy more than a suit of clothes. A. McNeil, Habillment Hall.

How Success is Won.

To succeed in business it is absolutely essential in the first place to have a complete and solid stock, then to advertise what you have for sale, and lastly to have competent and efficient salesmen to show the goods when a customer asks for them. These principles Messrs. Salisbury & Bro., of Salisbury, have carried out to the letter. In 1883, when two years ago, Mr. E. J. Salisbury established his bookstore on George street, and under the present management, an admirable one, he has built up. Last summer Mr. Salisbury entered into partnership with his brother and has since assumed the management of the business. Under his management the trade of the firm has still further increased. Perhaps a large amount of this success is due to the exceptionally neat way in which the store is kept, the tasteful management of the goods, and the ability with which they are shown without any needless trouble to either rich or poor. The place now shows signs of Spring, the painter and paper hanger have already paid their visits, and leave behind them evidences of their skillful handiwork.

After the Fire.

For the past two days valuers have been busily employed in ascertaining the exact damage which resulted from the fire at Mr. D. Bell's furniture warehouse. Thanks to the coolness which was shown by those who helped to remove the stock the damage is much less than one would naturally think. The damage to stock is nearly all confined to the third flat, where the fire was situated and to which it was confined by the well managed efforts of the firemen. The stock in the first and second flats sustained very slight damage, none of the smashing and slashing which usually takes place at fire, having occurred. This affords a good example as to how much damage to stock in its removal from a burning building may be averted by the exercising of self possession and coolness. We are pleased to learn from Mr. Bellegem that his loss is completely covered by insurance, and that in a few days his fine furniture establishment will assume its natural business-like appearance.

DEATH BY SUICIDE.

A Woman Sixty Years of Age Hanged Herself in a Cow-Enclosure.

On Saturday the inhabitants of the township of South Monaghan, living near the head of Rice Lake, were set in a commotion on hearing the news of the death of Mrs. Robert Poe, who lived with her husband and one son on lot 14 of the first concession of the township.

At about one o'clock on Friday afternoon Mr. Poe went to the cow-house and there discovered his wife, who is about sixty years of age, hanging in the noose of a rope, which was fastened to a beam, near which a ladder was placed.

There is scarcely any doubt but that she ascended the ladder, placed the rope around her neck, and then stepped off into eternity.

The cause of this most unnatural act on the part of the late Mrs. Poe, is said to be due to family troubles.

A VERY TRUE YARN.

An Extraordinary Story from the Wonderful City of Chicago.

Chicago, March 15.—A physician here recently discovered in the house of a patient an ancient testament, which an excellent Greek authority pronounced to be of much earlier date than any of the testaments written in the apostolic age (copies of which are in ill preservation in some European capitals). Its covers are of rotten and decayed wood, its leaves of parchment, worn and stained, written with ink of different colors, which in many places is entirely faded. It is believed to be the first written report of Christ's sermons and to be a copy of the original letters of St. Paul to the churches. St. Paul addresses them as "My child Titus" and Timothy as "My child Timothy." It is said that companions with the present edition show the translators have made some very plain things difficult to understand, and that the Lord's prayer has lost much of its force and beauty by being wrongly and unaccountably translated.

MALABAR MYSTERY.

The Body Cast up by the Waves is not that of the Missing Pigeon.

St. Thomas, March 14.—Government Detective Murray and Mr. John Pigot this morning returned from Long Point, where they had been investigating enquiries as to the identity of the body washed ashore there about the 10th December. Pigot thought the body might be the body of his brother, who disappeared from his home, on the first concession of Malabar, on November 17th, 1884. When the body was washed ashore it was greatly decomposed, and every vestige of clothing, except a small patch on the knee and a piece of the coat lining on the shoulder, had been washed away by the action of the waves. Most of the whistles and portions of the hair had also disappeared. The body was washed to a spot around the waist and the legs. It was at first thought to be the body of young Whiteman, of Port Barwell, who was drowned off Port Colborne, but upon this being proven not to be the case, Mr. Pigot came to the conclusion that it was the body of his brother, and that he had been murdered. The result of the visit of Detective Murray to Long Point was to establish the fact that the body could not have been that of Pigot, as it failed to correspond in the least particular with the description of the missing man. The mystery is consequently shrouded in the same gloom as before, and when the veil will be lifted time alone can tell. Although there are certain suspicious circumstances in connection with the case, people who knew Pigot are of the opinion that he voluntarily absented himself—for what reason as best known to himself.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Mexican Minister to Guatemala has been ordered to withdraw to San Salvador, President Barrios having declared his intention to carry out the confederation scheme.

Hotel Burned.
St. Mary's, Ont., March 15.—The National Hotel, the best house in town, was burned down to-day and all its contents destroyed. Wm. Dennis was the proprietor. A team of horses valued at $700 perished. Total loss $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

Testing Dynamite Shells.
WASHINGTON, March 15.—Another successful experiment with dynamite projectiles was made to-day with a six inch gun under the auspices of the Senate military committee. A cavity thirty feet in diameter was opened to the target of solid rock of a distant of 1000 yards and a pit six feet deep was excavated. Fragments of the rock were hurled half a mile. Experiments with eight inch shells will follow. Large numbers of foreign legations witnessed the work. The military and naval experts present expressed the opinion that the shells fired to-day would have seriously racked the strongest fortifications.

Victims and Spoils.
New York, March 15.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says Hendrick's and Voorhes called upon the President and urged him promptly put Republicans out of office and appoint Democrats. The President told them he intended to carry out the propositions he had made in his letter on the Civil Service, and his declaration as his inaugural on the same subject. The World's Washington despatch says Secretary Bayard yesterday sent a message through his department telling his clerks that they need not be disturbed about their places. There would be no removals except for neglect of duty.

A Wealthy Community.
The people in and about Minden appear to be rolling in wealth. The Echo says:—"From some cause or other there is a surprising and very inconceivable scarcity of bank bills of the lower denominations. The number of five and ten dollar bills in circulation is much greater than usual, and even twenties are seen occasionally. These large notes are preferred for single pounds of sugar, single quarts of molasses, three-cent postage stamps and three month subscriptions, and in changing them our merchants, etc., have given away all their small change. It is to be hoped that some benevolent creature will undertake himself by bringing several thousand dollars in one and two dollar notes into the country."

The Two Handed Nightingale.
Once more the familiar outline of the "Two Handed Nightingale," Miss or Misses—Millie Christine, may be seen on the street boardings. But it is some twelve years ago since this lady held her last London levee. She is now over thirty—let us be discreet for once—and has travelled far and wide, accumulating the substantial fortune of which she is now the possessor, for a frank of nature (of high rank) makes an income about as large as the Prime Minister's. The Misses Christine prefer single blessedness, on the principle, we presume, that two is company and three are none. Letter-writing absorbs much of her time, but she also finds leisure for the cultivation of music. There is also drumming to do, and reading is a favorite occupation. The Nightingale is now on her farewell tour. The new generation will be glad to be presented before she sinks into the commonplace oblivion of the everyday mortal.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Fortune in England.
The wife of Deacon Sidney S. Brown, of Gowanda, N. Y., has brought him good fortune, as she has been acknowledged by the Court of Queen's Bench as the heiress to the Lawrence-Townley estate in England, valued at $100,000, her part being $40,000,000. Lord Townley, says a despatch from Buffalo, before the opening of the present century, was the parent of a wealthy daughter, Mary, who was discovered for engaging herself to John Lawrence, a man of good family, but poor. They came to America, and were married by a Springfield, Mass., clergyman. Lord Townley died, and his family were extinct, save the daughter, and for half a century the property was held by law. Colonel James Jacques, at the close of the war, went to Springfield, and there discovered the record of the Townley-Lawrence marriage. Knowing of the estate in England, he traced the heir to Gowanda, and there found Mrs. Brown, who was a daughter of Judge Wilder. Colonel Jacques was sent to England, where he obtained a decree that his claim was valid, and last week, by giving two members of the House of Lords an interest, they procured a transfer of the proceeds of the estate to the United States Treasury. Colonel Jacques claims that the money will be transferred within a month or two. He gets one third for his trouble.—Boston Traveller.

SHANGHAI, March 15.—The French are bombarding Chinhai. One of the forts has been destroyed.

AUSTRIA AND BOSSNIA.
BERLIN, March 15.—It is believed Prince Bismarck supports the annexation of Bosnia by Austria, and that Italy's consent has been obtained upon condition that Austria and Germany will allow Italy to occupy Tripoli.

EXTRADITION BILL.
LONDON, March 15.—Sir William Harcourt has prepared an extradition bill, which authorizes the Government to amend all the British treaties for the purpose of securing the surrender of persons charged with murder, manslaughter, or conspiracy to murder a ruler, sovereign, or member of a royal family, and also persons charged with the illicit manufacture or storage of explosives.

A TRAITOR.
ALEXANDRIA, March 15.—Zabeha Pasha, whom Gen. Gordon implicitly trusted and wished to make Governor of Khartoum, has been arrested on a charge of being implicated in treasonable conspiracies against the Khedive. His residence was searched and many documents proving that Zabeha was in a secret league with the Mahdi were found. The Khedive has been confined aboard a British frigate, which is under sailing orders. He will be imprisoned on the Island of Cyprus.

THE GORDON MEMORIAL.
LONDON, March 15.—The Gordon memorial committee met yesterday, the Prince of Wales presiding. It was decided that the memorial should be a great hospital and convalescent home, to be erected at Port Said, and to be open to the service of all nations. The Khedive has granted a site for the memorial.

NEGOTIATIONS.
SAKIM, March 15.—Gen. Ewart has arrived. Work on the Sakim and Berber railway has begun. Osman Digma has offered to give money and stop his night attacks if the British return the body of his standard bearer. The British last night was the heaviest and most continuous the British have been subjected to here.

INDIAN TROOPS.
CALCUTTA, March 15.—The Government has decided for this year the discharge of soldiers eligible for the reserve force, and also transfer from the army in India to the reserve force. The Calcutta Government is about to send a battery of mountain guns, and a battery of heavy artillery, and 5,000 rounds of ammunition for each, as a gift to the Government of Afghanistan.

HOSTILITIES REPORTED.
CALCUTTA, March 15.—It is reported as actual hostilities have occurred between the Sikhs and the Afghans. The Government is restless.

STILL ANGRY.
LONDON, March 14.—Notwithstanding the loyalty of Australia in sending volunteers to aid England in the Sudan, the angry feeling towards the Colonial Department for allowing the annexation by Germany of the German islands is still rankling. The colonial discontent will take definite shape when the legislature assembles, and in the meantime the papers are pretty outspoken in their discontent. An extract indicates the popular current, it may be mentioned that both the Melbourne Age and the Adelaide Advertiser opposed the sending of Australian contingents to serve in the Sudan. Why, it is asked, should the colonies care for the Mother Country, when the Mother Country pays no regard to the desire of the colonies?

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

We have published in full the speech of the Member for West Peterborough, in moving for a Committee of Enquiry into the Agricultural College, both because it is a subject of great importance to the Province, and also because our member has been deliberately misrepresented in regard to his action in this matter.

It will be seen that Mr. Carnegie was not making an attack upon the College, nor considering to have it abolished, as has been falsely represented. Neither was he making a political assault upon the Government. With the great interest he takes in agricultural matters, and his conviction of the great benefit to be derived from a well-managed Agricultural College, it was only natural that he should wish to see that institution rendered as efficacious as possible. There is the fact staring us in the face that the expenditure upon the College has been enormous, and that the results have been disappointing and very far from compensating for the outlay. The cause of scientific farming is likely to be retarded rather than advanced if our farmers understand that the pecuniary results at a model farm have been unsatisfactory. It is evident that there is something wrong, but it is impossible with our present knowledge whether the defect is in the system or in the administration, or if the latter, who is at fault. The best friends of the College must feel that there is room for improvement. It seems to be just the case where an enquiry is demanded, and would probably be most useful.
The Mowat Administration, however, with that bureaucratic tyranny for which they are so notorious, absolutely refused to have the needed enquiry, for it was a mere dishonest subterfuge to send the matter to the Public Accounts Committee, which through Ministerial obstacles has not yet been able to investigate the accounts of 1883.

We believe, however, that the action of the member for West Peterborough has not been wasted, but will be of benefit alike to the Province and the Agricultural College. As much light has been thrown upon the subject as can be supplied from outside, and public interest has been generally excited, so that we may hope that efforts will be made to secure an improvement, and render the College as beneficial to the agricultural interest and the Province at large as it should be.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD was under a statutory obligation to give Ontario six additional members, and Mr. Mowat assailed him bitterly because he had to redistribute a number of seats.
Mr. Mowat thought it right to add one new member, that Algoma might be fully represented, and to make this small change he has interfered with the other constituencies at least as much as Sir John did. Sir John's redistribution was forced upon him. Mr.
Mowat's was voluntary, and was adopted solely to obtain a dishonest party advantage.

THERE are more Conservative voters in Toronto than there are Reform voters in several counties returning three Reform members. Yet Mr. Mowat provides as far as he can by his iniquitous gerrymandering bill that the Conservative representation of Toronto shall only count one on a division, while the Reform representation of a Reform county shall count three on a division.

TERMINAL TRENDS

A New York Nationalist Journal Threatening the Dominion.

New York, March 12.—A prominent Irish organ publishes an editorial to-day warning Canadians against efforts of aid to England. The article concludes as follows:—
"Let the brawling name who wish to manifest their loyalty pay their passage to England and offer themselves as sacrifices in England's holy war upon the Soudan Nationalists individually if they will. Not a single regiment or a dollar of money must leave Canadian shores to assist England. This is the platform the real friends of Canada will stand upon and defend. A departure from it means the horrors of war brought directly to her door, and not one word of sympathy will be heard on this side of the line for her."

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE

A Woman Implicitly Trusted by Merchants Alleged to Have Stopped

About eight or nine years ago there arrived in Montreal from Scotland a respectable looking woman of about thirty years of age, who took up her abode on Lagache street with her family of daughters and began earning a livelihood as a nurse. She soon obtained the confidence of some of the wealthiest and most respectable families in Montreal, many of whom took great interest in her welfare. In addition to nursing she added to her income by selling jewellery, costly furs and bric-a-brac on commission. She at once gained the confidence of prominent jewellers, furriers and other merchants who for many years past have been in the habit of entrusting her with large parcels of goods which she disposed of at good figures and up to within a few days ago invariably actually and straightforwardly in all her transactions, returning the money, and received a handsome commission for her services. On Wednesday last Mrs. Harris, the name of the lady in question, then repaired to two well-known jewellery establishments on St. James street, one on McGill street, and one on Notre Dame street, where she obtained jewellery to the value of upwards of $500, including gold watches and chains, diamonds, rings and brooches. She also procured a sea-kin's watch worth about $400 from a furrier on Notre Dame street, stating that the husband of a lady whom she was nursing was desirous of presenting his wife with some handsome present as soon as she was convalescent. The articles were freely given, as all the merchants had the most unbounded confidence in her integrity. Forty-eight hours passing without her reporting, the interested parties becoming anxious proceeded to hunt her up. Her room on Lagache street was visited without success, and her two daughters, who are both very respectably married were also seen, but were unable to give any information regarding her whereabouts. The case was then entrusted to Detective Kallist, who reported that she had stopped with a married man who resided at Cook St. Antoine and who leaves behind a wife and two children, and that they were last seen boarding a train together for the United States. Kallist has followed with the object of discovering and bringing back the erring pair.
The amount of the swindle, so far as has been ascertained, is in the neighborhood of $2,000.
The woman is described as being rather prepossessing and is of ladylike appearance. She is well known to all the leading physicians, who speak of her capabilities as a nurse in the highest terms. Her daughter and her son-in-law are in terrible distress over the unfortunate affair and state that if the amount taken is not too large, they will endeavor to repay it.
Circumstances describing the lady and the appropriated property have been sent to all the chiefs of police of the leading American cities.
—Montreal Star.

OMISSION

ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn that Mrs. Jas.
English met with a painful accident on Friday.
It seems that she was going to bed when she took a weak turn and fell against one of the bed posts breaking three of her ribs. As the old lady is well advanced in years the injury is all the more severe. —Herald.

LINDSAY.

A CURIOSITY.—Capt. Ross of this town has a fine simile of the paper note (2s. 6d.) issued by Gordon in Khartoum. It is quite a curiosity.
TO OPPOSE THE SCOTTS ACT.—On Friday night a preliminary meeting was held in the formerly used as a Masonic hall of those interested in opposing the passage of the Scotts act in the county of Victoria. The meeting was very well attended and those present proceeded to form themselves into the "County of Victoria Association for the Protection of Commercial Industries." Mr. Thomas Beall was elected president and other officers will be appointed at a future meeting. A general committee to direct the work of opposing the Scotts act was appointed, to report at a meeting held on Tuesday evening of this week. A public mass meeting will be called shortly, at which speakers will urge the justice of claims for compensation and bring forward arguments against the passage of the Scotts act. —Post.

CONQUEST.

FIREMEN'S TOURNAMENT.—The fire department are arranging a firemen's tournament and demonstration for a gala day here on the Queen's birthday, Monday, May 24. Invitations have been sent to the brigades of Brantford, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Deseronto, London, Stratford, Guelph, Hamilton, Toronto, Riverside, Parkdale, Uxbridge, Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Millbrook, Lindsay, Peterborough, Campbellford, Stirling, Franklin, Trenton, Belleville, Napanee, Kinc-pin, Brockville and numerous other places in the provinc. It is anticipated to make this the largest firemen's tournament yet held in Eastern Canada. The programme will be composed of a monster procession of the local brigades and the visiting companies with their bands and apparatus. Prizes will be offered for the best real, hook and ladder, and horse race, also a large and well arranged series of new, comic, and exciting athletic sports.

BOBAYGEON.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Saturday evening Mrs.
Joe White, who was aged about 77 years, was staying with her daughter Mrs. Geo. White, of South Verdun. The old lady was apparently in good health, as usual, and was assisting to wash the dishes after tea. Suddenly she said she did not feel well, and sat down, and almost immediately expired. The cause is supposed to have been heart disease.

KILLED.—Mr. Hiram Ventron, aged 19, son of Mr. Benjamin Ventron, who was a resident of Bobaygeon for a number of years, met with his death on Friday. He was working in one of Mr. Hiram's stables, near Appleton. On Friday he was chopping, when a falling tree struck a dead pine, and a heavy limb fell upon his head and he dropped dead.

HOME AGAIN.—W. H. Anderson, foreman of the Peterborough contingent of Nile voyageurs, returned home on Sunday evening. He is looking stout and hearty, and has been in the best of health and spirits since the day he left.
Since heading at Halifax, he caught a cold or rather has been extremely hoarse, but as most of the party have been affected in the same way, it is presumed the change of climate may have something to do with it. He enjoyed the trip immensely, and for the work, he had less to do than he would have in bringing down a "drive" from the woods. He received a hearty welcome from his numerous friends, who were glad to see him safely home. —Independent.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

Niagara Falls Railway and Seaway.—The School Laws—Committee of Supply—Agricultural Society Grants.

FRIDAY, March 13.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

NIAGARA FALLS.

Mr. MENNITHY said that as the Private Bills Committee had reported the preamble of the Niagara Falls railway bill, the Government should give an intimation of whether they had abandoned the idea of helping the State of New York to preserve the scenery about the Falls.

Mr. MOWAT said the project had not been abandoned.

Mr. MORRIS hoped that the Government would not charter a railway to run through the district.

Mr. MOWAT said the railway would be a considerable distance away.

THE SCHOOL LAW.

The House went into Committee in the School Law bill. The clause respecting the teachers' superannuation fund caused considerable discussion, and the Government was charged with breaking faith with the teachers by the proposal.
The Committee sat until the six o'clock recess,
and then rose and reported.

SUPPLY.

The House went into Committee of Supply.
On the item for Electoral Division Societies.

Mr. CARMICHAEL said that there should be a revision of the system of these grants. As it was a small constituency received much as a large one. There was a feeling that there were too many exhibitions, and it might be provided that a township should not be held within a certain radius of where the County show was held. No doubt the question was surrounded with difficulties.

Mr. A. M. ROSS defended the present system and said he believed that township shows were necessary.

Mr. WOOD said that township shows did not do much good in old settled districts.

Mr. MENNITHY drew attention to the rapid increase of the expenditure on the Bureau of Statistics and Forestry.

Other items were criticised, and at 10.30 the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

SPONSOR BY THE MEMBER FOR WEST
PETERBOROUGH IN THE LEGISLATURE

There is another thing to which I would like to call the attention of the Commission. The revenue credited to the college in the public accounts for 1883 was altogether $14,654. The amount received for tuition, board, etc., is said to be $7,242 which, taken from the other, leaves $7,412 as the farm revenue—what I have been treating it. The amount contained in the statement furnished to me to-day is $7,730, a discrepancy of $318. Now, either the revenue from stock is not correct, or the amount stated in the accounts as cash receipts for that year is not correct. They will not fit together. If you add the amount given me to-day to the amount claimed by the college proper it will be found to be $426 more than is credited in the public accounts. Then I would like to call the attention of the Commission to another matter. The stock sales by the last accounts are $3,326. If you add that amount to the whole amount of the stock sales in 1883, $7,730, you will find that it does not make up by nearly $1,000 the amount of the sale as reported in the college reports for 1883 which was $11,748. There is a shortage well on between $600 and $1,000. Then the sale of cattle to Goodfellow, is given in this statement as $3,327, while Prof. Brown gives it in his report of 1884 as $3,233. At the Xmas fair stock sale the amount given in the statement as $812, while a reference to the report of that sale, published in the Globe at the time makes the amount $643. In other respects the Globe report tallies exactly with the college report. I think these are discrepancies which the Commission should look into, and obtain satisfactory explanations. I have merely referred to this latter discrepancy because I was on the subject, and to afford an opportunity of enquiring into it. There are some other curious facts in connection with and that is the department about which the Institute particularly prides itself. I find, that, according to the catalogue of 1883's sale, 94 ewes only seem to have been sold. I have already referred to dogs, but it will not be out of place to point out that while we began the year with 950 wethers on hand, that while during the year we paid $25 to a person whose name is remarkably like that of the college chaplain, during the year, and paid $111 more for dogs to import, the Farm inventory of December last shows none on hand, while the receipts from this outlay of $194 have been $3.50.

Barley seed facts as these demand investigation at the hands of a committee of this House.

THE COLLEGE ITEMS.

Now Mr. Johnston told us to expect that by 1880 parents would at least pay for the board of their sons at the College. I think that ought to be the case and I thought that was the rule and to make the College still more self-supporting the Committee last year raised the tuition fees. In 1884 the fees amounted to $4,700 as against $3,092 in 1883. How far are the students paying for their board or the college? In 1883 the college receipts were, cash on account of board $4,100 and labor $4,000 which makes $8,100 as revenue of the College for 1883 for board. Now, we find the expenditure in 1883 for meat $4,157 and groceries $4,232, or these two items of expenditure alone exceeded the receipts for board. Then there were other expenses: Farm and garden, $1,678; bread, $1,055; fruit and fish, $338, or, in addition to the two former items, a total for five items of $11,580, or more than the entire revenue, $11,200. Other charges against the boarding brought the figures up to $20,603. I find that while Michigan has been discharging the boarding system, we have been going into it more. We actually bought a cooking range which they threw out. They have adopted the club system, which is under the control of the students in a large measure. They are made to supply their own furniture, cooking utensils, and so on. This system is stated to be giving every satisfaction. I think it would be much better if, instead of picking up discarded articles, we had waited a year or two longer and watched how things progressed at the Michigan Institution. I think there is a much better system, and it would relieve the Geolp College of all cost on this head, which as matters at present stand is a very heavy item.

THE LAST REPORT.

I wish now to direct attention for a few moments to the report of the Geolp College for 1884, just brought down. There are reasons why the expenses of the institution for the year 1884 should be less than in 1883. A large sale of stock took place in September, 1883, and the new stock purchased this year did not arrive at the institution until September, 1884. So there was not this expensive stock to feed for nearly a year and we should, therefore, look for a smaller expenditure. But, as already shown it has not been smaller but increasing. As to the cost of the college itself, the increased fees and the slight decrease in attendance would naturally lead us to look for, if anything, a decreased expenditure there also, but when we come to examine the figures we will find that there has been an increase. What are the facts?

EXPENDITURE IN 1884.

Agrie. and Arts.....	$28,328 79
Maintenance (a new acct).....	5,927 00
Total.....	$34,255 79
Revenue.....	2,716 45
Net cost.....	$31,539 34

EXPENDITURE IN 1883.

Maintenance.....	$23,843 45
Revenue.....	7,261 00
Net cost.....	$16,582 45

Here, then, notwithstanding the reasons against it, there was an actual increase of $533 in this department. Then the same thing as to cost of board goes on, so that if the students are expected to pay their board, and not the contrary, some explanation is required, as it is obvious we are paying a very considerable portion of their board, besides paying a price for their labor which is more than the revenue from their work. I think it worthy of comment, although a simple item, that having a farm and garden, there yet was $114 paid for potatoes, and I think it rather liberal that 3,400 gallons of milk should be credited at 13 cents a gallon, which is more than could be had anywhere else, and that the milking cost $120.

THE FARM EXPENDITURE.

Then with regard to the farm, the expenditure in 1884 was as follows:—

Expenses.....	$21,738 57
Cattle for fattening purposes.....	5,149 99
Cows, sheep, pigs, horses and dogs.....	2,073 20
Total.....	$28,961 76
Same expenditure in 1883.....	24,923 00
Increase.....	$3,438 76

Then we have besides—

Stock imported.....	$7,170
Under capital account.....	5,463
Making a grand total.....	$12,633
With a revenue of.....	6,380
Shortage.....	$6,253
Shortage college labor.....	4,238

Making a total expenditure of $20,910 upon this institution in 1884, notwithstanding that it had been ten years in operation, and a promise had been given that after 1880 it would have been self-sustaining, except in two particular points mentioned.

Now let us glance at the day labor. The labor account, as I have said, is growing from year to year. For 1884 it was as follows:—

Student labour charged to farm.....	$18,374
Various items.....	2,710
Total.....	$21,084

Charged to College.....	$2,288 97
Charged to maintenance.....	574 70
Total.....	$2,863 67

This is the grand total paid out for day labor in 1884. Then it appears that a room fitted up for an experimental dairy cost $1,427. Hon. A. M. Ross—The hon. gentleman is mistaken. The cost of that will be found under general expenditure.

Mr. Johnston—Then to what does this item of $1,427, represent, apply?

Hon. A. M. Ross—For fittings of the regular dairy.

Mr. Johnston—Then in reality the dairy, for which $2,500 was appropriated, cost $4,000. Hon. A. M. Ross—Yes.

Mr. Johnston—Then the dairy cost very much more than the estimate, and I hope before we act upon the suggestion of Prof. Brown or retained in his present report, that we should get the milk of 500 cows, from which he promises a profit of $2,500, we will consider the matter very carefully. I think we had better leave it alone and only go so far as is absolutely necessary for educational purposes.

CATTLE REMEDIES.

Now, sir, as to the cattle breeding arrangements. We are charged this year in the Public Accounts for feeding cattle $3,146, and for cattle food $4,744, or $7,890 altogether, against which there was a revenue of $4,406, leaving a deficit of $3,484 on our purchases of cattle and food during the year, while the value of the 80 cattle and 50 sheep on hand at the beginning of the year exceeded that on hand at its close. Then, sir, these accounts reveal some extraordinary things, with reference to some other matters. We are charged, under repairs and maintenance head, with $2,565 for lumber used there last year, and for carpentering—notwithstanding that we have a mechanical superintendent who is supposed to be teaching the students how to put up buildings—$1,938. We have had there a further charge of $1,235, or a total of $3,803 for what, sir? I am reticent as to know where all this lumber, carpentering and hardware, besides students' labour, went. Then we have the account on our recent visit that was new was an addition to the hall shed and a lean-to cattle shed 80 feet long. The rest must have been sunk in repairs, so that these three items cost the country over $4,400 during 1884. (Hear, hear.)

Then we have some other heavy items charged to this Experimental Farm—$195 for stoves in 1883 and $650 in 1884, or $844 for stoves in the two years, and, unfortunately I think one of the stoves was purchased from the farm foreman.

Then we have furniture $185, carpets $60. For the Experimental Farm, harness, blankets, etc. $618 in two years, hardware $1,630 and in 1883, $761, or altogether of these items in only two years $2,391.

Then we have the following in addition: Travelling and cab hire, $519.13; printing, $749.18; subscriptions to papers, and advertisements, $357.09; telegrams, $60.28, (nearly one half the revenue of that year); fuel, $228.51; postage and freight, $56.41; and other small expenses, $4.55; making $1,226.15, or a total of $3,701, with the revenue, outside of the stock sale of 1883, only $103.24. (Hear, hear.)

Hon. gentlemen will tell us that we should not have a committee to look into these things. Taking it in the aggregate we have a college expenditure as follows:—College salaries, $10,920.30; wages of officers and servants, $2,385.77; expenses, $181,16.33—a total of $24,322.74, with a revenue of $2,716.45. Then we have the farm expenditure of $28,444.60 with a revenue of $6,253.23, and besides we have, importation of stock, $27,170.17; repairs and maintenance, $3,927; public buildings, $16,415.75, making a grand total of $107,301.61, with a total revenue of $17,009.88, leaving the net expenditure for 1884, $90,291.73. So that practically the total cost of this institution, apart from the importation of stock and emergency, was nearly $90,000, with a deficit of nearly $90,000.

I said I would say something with regard to cattle bred by this institution. We were informed in the report for 1883 "That having now got over the preliminary work of establishing herds and acclimating breeds, we are devoting considerable attention to the making of grades for milk and beef respectively." If they are really attempting to establish for this Province, because that's what it must mean, the proceeding is to be condemned. I suppose the only notable successful work of establishing a breed was that of Shortborns. It is a work of years and years before you can establish a permanent quality and claim a pedigree. This work therefore should be stopped at once, as it is unnecessary and very doubtful whether we could establish a new and distinct breed. They then placed on record what the Farm had on hand for feeding purposes:—Three Hereford grade steers, three Aberdeen Angus poll and three Shorthorn steers for all of which the exact days of birth are given. This is called the great "breeding contest" and was the report for 1884. I find one of them was come to the Christmas sale it is a strange thing that these animals have disappeared altogether from the list and some new ones brought in. No less than four disappeared but in the report for 1884 I find one of them is restored. They start out with nine head of cattle which is reduced to seven at Christmas. There were actually sold eight, and where the other one went to does not appear. I find in the public accounts that "White Prince," short-horn, was purchased from Mr. Rennie at the beginning of 1884 for $100, and after keeping him up to Christmas he realized $130, no very profitable transaction for the country. If these contests or experiments were to be of any value they should be put through, and we should have a record of what is accomplished. But we had another flourish of trumpets in this report of 1883 in regard to what could be done now that the stock had been sold, in the following words:—"We had a grand opportunity this year to arrange an extensive and varied series of feeding experiments with cattle and sheep, and we took advantage of it. The dairy out by the public sale gave stable room for fifty head of cattle, and we had 100 sheep. We had no difficulty in knowing what to feed with, the difficulty consisted in obtaining an even lot of animals, for we had but ten of our own breeding. I am glad to be able to say it is not how a difficult thing to find well balanced store steers for general feeding, but when an individual quality is breeding, age, size, quality, condition, disposition and general stamp is made a system in selecting, the task is not a small one indeed. But Waterloo and Wellington counties were equal to the occasion, so that by the 1st October all were on hand for preparing the feed. In order thoroughly to place every animal on an equal footing by management provided to actual experimental feeding, they were allowed the range of the pastures two weeks, succeeded by two weeks on hay, roots, and bran in the stall. Now, the statement handed to me there is not one of these sheep mentioned above. A grain feeding card accompanied this report, from which I find, after deducting the cost of feeding the 24 head of cattle experimented with, that it leaves these 24 sheep, or $51.56 each, after feeding them from 3rd Nov., 1883, to 14th June, 1884, yet we put before the public that we were going to have a profit of $700, whereas that is all we are getting for the steers we put up. But that is only the beginning of the test, and we get in the advance report and in the last report a series of tables to show what these cattle have been doing. There is a mystifying change. We have eight tables headed "results per head during 150 days"—not 224 days, as in the case of the 24 head—with 21 animals—not 24 as in the other cases. Take these circumstances and let anyone make head or tail out of these figures. But if, instead of taking 51 head they would take 24 it could be worked out all through. But why does he not carry it out for 224 days as well as the other case? Has he dropped out of this report one set of steers that did not come up to the mark, or what is the reason? Surely the thing should have been carried out straight through and not changed in this misleading way. I do not think that is the way to do valuable work, still less to make that work valuable to the farmers of this country. (Hear, hear.)

And lastly, Mr. Speaker, I desire to call the attention of the Commission to the variance of opinion shown between the principal and Prof. Brown in the last report as to the best upon which the institution should be managed. Mr. Mills says on page 35:—"We search about for a way to do the purpose; but we have no chemical laboratory. I asked for one in 1879, and have repeated the request every year since—but all in vain. May I, then, in the year of grace 1885, once more present a request to the Government and Legislature of Ontario for a well equipped chemical laboratory at the Ontario Agricultural College? $12,000 will give us what we require."

On pages 141 and 142 Mr. Brown says:—"This bill our school is destined to fill is possibly less than what we have already on the card, for experience year by year has shown that we are offering more than is actually required by the country. In the first place, the farmer's son, and all others aiming at farming, have said very distinctly that they came to an Agricultural College to learn agriculture—direct practical and scientific agriculture, and nothing else. As yet the world's experience has failed to show that the practical farmer needs more than a familiar acquaintance with the Principles of the sciences that affect his business. It is an old exploded notion that a farmer should be a practical Chemist and Botanist."

This is what Prof. Mills and Prof. Brown are not at one as to the particular work which should be given prominence to. As to which of them is correct I offer no opinion now. But it is obvious that in view of the large expenditures asked in the report of 1884 for various purposes, this difference of opinion should be settled before any action is taken with regard to them, and the work of the committee which I am asking would undoubtedly aid this House in coming to a proper conclusion.

Now, Mr. Speaker, it does seem to me that all these things make it the duty of this House to grant the committee for which my motion asks. It can do no harm to the Agricultural College; it can do good. A committee can ascertain what is wrong, where the mistakes are, and recommend a remedy, or at least something which will bring the institution more into line with what are the best interests of agriculture in this Province. It is our duty to make it beyond question whether the combined aid of science with practical agriculture is working well, or the best advantage, all things considered, and whether it is making farming more profitable. (Hear, hear.) I hope that the committee will be given an efficient committee, such as can be furnished by a House like this, containing so many farmers, and that its investigations will result for the advantage and betterment of the true interests of agriculture in Ontario. (Cheers.)

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MARCH 17, 1885.

VOTING DOWN OUR JUDGES.

MR. HARDY has doubly disgraced himself.
He has introduced a bill to seat Dr. Dowling for South Renfrew, in spite of his personal corruption, thereby voting the decision of the judiciary, and contumacious the law. And in committing this outrage he told a deliberate falsity in stating that his bill followed the preference of Sir Charles Tupper's case. He knows that Sir Charles was not seated by legislation, as in fact he had not forfeited his seat, but that the not simply prevented him from being harassed by lawsuits by vindictive political opponents or by blackmailers, on the technical quibble that he had been appointed to a position of honor, though his commission expiratory provided that he should not receive that position.

Sir Charles was not, like Dr. Dowling, guilty of personal corruption, nor did he commit perjury to hide his guilt. There is a wide difference between the case of Sir Charles Tupper and Dr. Dowling, and this was well known to Mr. Hardy when he mendaciously classed them together.

As to this iniquitous bill, Mr. Hardy has made himself personally responsible for it by introducing it. Possibly, however, Attorney-General Mowat drew it and had not the pluck, as was the case last session, to conduct his own attack upon the judiciary. Possibly, too, his colleagues did not entrust him this time with the management of this dirty work, when he so haunted it last time as to call forth the judicial opinion that the disgraceful clause in favor of Dr. Dowling was drawn by someone who was ignorant of our existing election law.

Look at it from what side you will, such legislation is a disgrace to our Province.

FACTIOUS REFORM.

The leading Reform journal has an editorial more than a column long, dwelling in a very triumphant manner upon the great expansion of Canada, its growth, improvement, and large increase of population. To sum up it is meant that no Province or State of America has such a record. Yet the Cartwright, Mills, Charlton, etc., of the Reform party are on every possible occasion producing their bogus statistics to prove that our population has fallen off and that our farm property has decreased in value.

To understand this barefaced contradiction, it must be remembered that the Globe and Treasury Room, who take the same view of Provincial affairs, are endeavoring to provide an excuse for the enormous increase in our prevailing expenditure. The Reform politicians have mentioned as on the other hand endeavoring to persuade the people that our fiscal policy has diminished the value of property, and has driven our population to seek refuge under a far higher tariff.

That they should use contradictory falsehoods to attain their object at the moment is no concern of these gentry.

ANOTHER SLANDER REVEALED.

THERE has been a recent exemplification of the diabolical use that would have been made by the enemies of the C. P. R. and of the Dominion, if Mr. Edgar's crafty motion for return of the temporary trestle work north of Lake Superior, if it had not been negatived. The Globe recently published the falsehood that one of these trestle bridges had given way under a train, causing a terrible smash, and showing the filthy nature of the structure, and presumably of the rest of the trestle work on the line.

Now that the true account has come to hand, it appears that owing to a broken wheel, six cars were derailed on the trestle and much damage had been done to the platform. But instead of the trestle work giving away it stood firm under this terribly severe trial, thus affording the strongest proof of the substantial nature of the structure.

With such villainous and unscrupulous enemies it is surprising if the C. P. R. finds difficulties placed in its way in raising upon its securities, or that the country has to give further assistance than was originally contemplated.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A MENDACIOUS EXCUSE.

He (Sir John Macdonald) succeeded in his endeavor, but Mr. Mowat has shown him that in so far as concerns his own Province, it is possible to "have" the Conservatives, and thus checkmate the apostle of Ottawa centralization.
—Montreal Times (Reform).

THE C. P. R. NECESSARY.

One thing is certain: the work must be finished, and it cannot be finished without the Government assuming additional responsibility in one form or another. —Monetary Times.

GLORYING IN INIQUITY.

Sir John Macdonald's garrulous Ontario in order to politically destroy "the little tyrant," as he termed him, and the latter has shown that he can beat Sir John at his own game with lots of points to spare. —Montreal Times (Reform).

A GLORIOUS COMMONWEALTH.

No more splendid prize can be dreamt of by a statesman, than the preservation of the British Empire in its present unity and completeness, when the colonies have attained to the full growth of manhood. Such a Commonwealth, founded upon a common love of liberty and of order, a common hatred of war and of oppression, a common ancestry, and a common literature, would be the noblest creation of man which the world has ever seen, and might be made the instrument for colonizing in the Golden Age of Futura. —London (Eng.) Mercury.

GOOD EVIDENCE.

If the law, which went into effect in Ontario last Thursday, prohibiting the importation into the Province of articles manufactured by prison labour in the United States, is as rigidly enforced as are most of the Canadian laws, it will result in materially lessening the output of such products in this country. Ontario will then do for the skilled labour of the United States what the various states have almost wholly failed to do. There need be no apprehension that, by being crowded out of the Canadian market, prison contractors will over-crowd the home markets with their wares.
They have already gone as far in that direction as it is safe to go, and the only alternative left them is to reduce their production. —Detroit Journal.

SIR C. TUPPER APPRECIATED.

Mr. Gouche then proposed the toast of "the Association of Chambers of Commerce," and in doing so congratulated the company upon having the opportunity of listening to the eloquent speech of the representative of the great dependency of Canada, and remarked that great cheering, that the British House of Commons would be enriched if Sir Charles were a member of that assemblage. —London (England) Times.

AN ABLE MINISTER.

Sir Leonard Tilley is a Minister of Finance such as Canada has not had for a long time.
He is at home in everything; he is provided with indestructible statistics on all subjects which touch on his specialty; no objection finds him at fault; no interruption by the Opposition interrupts his powerful and logical arguments. —Le Courrier de Canada.

A HINT FOR MR. BLAKE.

A great deal—something too much, indeed—was said last night about the principles of the Liberal party, the "indivisible principles," as the Home Secretary, with his fatal love of inflated phrases, called them. An opinion of sound Liberal practice is worth a ton of principles, which anybody can produce in any required quantity for himself. Our statements at the present day are very much like the French workmen who, when asked to consider the best way of raising wages or extending the influence of trade unions, about "Vive l'humanité!" We know all about the indivisible principles; we all agree about them, Wilson and Tupper alike; and what we want is somebody who can let talk alone and act. —London (Eng.) Times.

TORONTO CONSERVATIVES ORGANOIZED.

This, to our mind, is a novel method of granting minority representation, viz., by curtailing the rights of the people. If three candidates are in the field the election should have the right to vote, to vote for or against them all if they see fit. Electors should possess as many votes as there are candidates in their constituencies, and they should be permitted to distribute those votes as they see fit by giving one to each candidate, or confining them all to one man. This is the plan advocated by Edward Blake, and it is the common sense idea of minority representation, since it also includes cumulative voting, without which there cannot be any fair system. Why did they not do this last time? Why did they not extend the system over the entire Province, Mr. Fraser said the constituencies would be too large to canvass. This is no valid objection. In many of the Western States the constituencies extend over a large area, and we never heard that objected to.
Both parties could select their candidates (and sometimes do now), some months before an election. This would give them ample time to canvass their large constituencies and remove this objection. —Waterford Star (Reform).

A Convict's Secret Revealed by Death.

About a year ago a young man made his appearance in Gradytown, one of the suburbs of this city. He was of pleasant address, industrious, mindful of his own affairs, and sometimes made friends who thought highly of him.
Among others he made the acquaintance of a young lady of respectable family, whom he subsequently married. The couple at once settled down to housekeeping with prospects which seemed bright enough for ordinary people.
About a month ago the husband was stricken down with disease which baffled the skill of the doctors, and on Friday night he died. Several male friends of the family prepared the body for burial. A short time after the funeral the wife found a shackle such as is used in a penitentiary. The chain had been broken off at the first link, and the poor man was unable to move the metal ring, which after death was to give the clue to his identity. The young man found his secret too great for concealment. Calling his wife to the side of the corpse they asked her for an explanation, but she could give none. She had never seen the shackle before, and even more mystified than the man who made the discovery. A policeman was called in and recognized the dead man as Jacob Harper, a notorious desperado, who had escaped from the penitentiary, and for whose capture a large reward was offered. The wife, then for the first time made aware that the dead man was the body of a convict, fainted, and the greatest excitement followed. On being restored to consciousness her relatives gathered round her to hear what she had to say, but she refused their advice, stating that as her husband had done his duty by her, she would see him buried with such honors as she could give him.
—Atlanta, Ga., Dispatch.

It Won't Pay.

"If that you, doctor?"
"Yes, who is it?"
"Mrs. Mercey. Oh, doctor, what shall I do for baby? He has swallowed a dime."
"Well, you surely don't want to spend two dollars to get a dime, do you?" and the telephone ceased to work. —Newman Independent.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

Railway Program under the Present Administration—The Budget Debate—Reform Representation of Canada—Sometimes of the R. F.—Who Pays the Coal Duty?

FRIDAY, March 12.—Several petitions were presented in regard to the Scott Act.

AN EXPLANATION.

Mr. McLELLAN said an examination of the engineer's return showed that he was right in saying that the rails were not laid on the Pembina branch till after the Mackenzie Administration resigned. The official report which had been raised upon the contrary was made up to the December following.

Mr. MACKENZIE said his impression had been different.

Mr. LUTHER said the road was open earlier.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.

Mr. FORSTER resumed the debate on the budget, attacking the false statements of the Reform leaders. He utterly denied the existence of a clamour for annexation, as asserted by Sir R.
Cartwright and other Opposition members, or that there was less union among the people of Canada. The C. P. R. was represented by these gentlemen as a great money-making, but gave better freight rates than the great trans-continental lines in the States, and had enabled the settlers to get their wheat to market. To show the fallacy of the comparison as to taxation, he quoted the statistics of the duties and taxes on the several States of the Union. —Mr. Forster declared that the Reformers pretended to be in favour of reciprocity, but they were not likely to get it by giving up every inducement without obtaining anything in return. It was alleged that our high taxation was driving our people to the States, but he showed in detail that the Federal, State and municipal taxation there was far heavier than the taxes in Canada. His own Province, New Brunswick, had progressed
and prospered under the tariff of the C. P. R.
Those who were raising discontented cries
there and in Nova Scotia were Reformers who were hounding for office.

Mr. FORSTER declined to accept this as the opinion of the party. No such promises were contained in the Conservative platform, and had been made by any member of the Ministry. —The Reformers pretended to be in favour of reciprocity, but they were not likely
to get it by giving up every inducement without obtaining anything in return. It was alleged that our high taxation was driving our people to the States, but he showed in detail that the Federal, State and municipal taxation there was far heavier than the taxes in Canada. His own Province, New Brunswick, had progressed
and prospered under the tariff of the C. P. R.
Those who were raising discontented cries
there and in Nova Scotia were Reformers who
were hounding for office.

Mr. DAVENPORT defended the Reformers from the charge of advocating annexation, by claiming that some Conservatives had done so, at some time long past. He narrated the usual Reform exaggerations as to the supposed exodus, and declared that New Brunswick was dissatisfied.
He repeated the falsehoods about Conservative policy to make the country rich by act of Parliament. He lavished praise upon the United States at the expense of Canada.

Mr. WOODWORTH maintained that our tariff was the work of statesmen, who had so framed it as to encourage our industries and benefit our workmen. Consequently the Opposition could not shake the confidence of the people in the Government's fiscal policy. Their tariff had been improved till it was the most perfect that could be framed. The duty on coal had been most liberally attacked, but it had not raised the price. Coal was cheaper at Brockville than at Westport, and far cheaper at Toronto than at Chicago. It might seem strange that coal was cheaper at Boston than in the Pennsylvania coal fields. The explanation was that the coal owners placed on their coal the price it would bear in any locality, without regard to freight or duty, and thus the amount of our duty was not added to the price.

Mr. KING declared the manufacturing industries of St. John, N.B., were in a bad state, and blamed the N. E. for it. He made an appeal on behalf of the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. BROWN moved the adjournment of the debate.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1886.

A GRAY FOR WEALTH.

A Tale of Experience. Lessons that all that glitter is not gold.

The lavish show of wealth in the windows of a broker's store on King street Toronto proved a great temptation for a tall, ungainly looking individual on Monday afternoon. His attention was attracted by the rolls of bills and bank notes, bags of gold coins and bars of silver in the window of Forbes & Co., 30 King street east. He looked at the wealth covetously, and a desire to possess some of it entered his soul. The most tempting thing in the window was a bowl filled with gold coins. The stranger stood looking at this for some time, waiting his opportunity to break the window and snatch it. There were few passers by. When he thought a favorable time had arrived he raised his knee and knuckled it against the plate glass, making a large hole. He then thrust his arm through the opening and grabbed the bowl of gold coins. Before any of the passers-by could interfere he had got possession of the bowl and was making off with the supposed wealth. He was careful not to look back, and placed his hand on top of the bowl to keep them from falling out when he discovered, much to his disgust, that they were only imitation. The bowl was made of India rubber, and the top part of it, shaped to imitate coins, was glued over. The thief threw the bowl aside and dashed up the Globe lane to Adelaide street. He made his escape, but he did not take any of the wealth with him. The big and other coins in the window were real and amounted to over $1,000. The only description that could be got of the man was that he was tall, wore a gray coat and looked as if he were fresh from rural districts. He was apparently acquainted with the deceptions of the city. The detective were notified, but as yet are not on the track.—Mail.

Lord Harrington Moved.

There was, writes a member of Parliament, a historic and unprecedented incident in the House of Commons the other night. The Marquis of Harrington, in reading out the telegram announcing the death of Gen. Stewart, paused awkwardly several times, and in the end his voice became so husky that he could not be heard. The Marquis of Harrington has now been nearly thirty years in the House of Commons, and this is the first instance on which his marvellous stolidity has given way. Everybody will think the better of him that on this occasion nature has custom held.—Full Mail Gazette.

A Horse on the Tight-Rope.

A horse in an exhibition, in a London circus, that walks a rope at an elevation of twenty feet above the stage. He does it very calmly exhibiting no fear. A strong net is suspended beneath and he occasionally slips and falls into it. He takes it coolly, waits until the attendants release him, turns and ascends the steep stairs leading to his rope, and goes it again with the utmost composure. At the termination of his performance he walks around in a ring, puts his feet upon the rim, and receives the enthusiastic petting of the ladies with evident pleasure.

It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

Bedgins.

Spanish Wines, Port and Sherries drawn from the wood, at the Parlor Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

Revolution Ended.

New York, March 17.—The rebels have retired from the city of Panama, and the revolution there has ended.

"I Love Her Better than Life."

Well, then, why don't you do something to bring back the roses to her cheeks and the light to her eyes? Don't you see she is suffering from nervous debility, the result of female weakness? A bottle of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will bring back those pale cheeks and send new life through that wasting form. If you love her, take heed.

TO AVOID A CONFLICT.

LONDON, March 17.—Mr. Gladstone, in the House of Commons, this afternoon, read a despatch from Sir Edward Thornton, saying that M. De Giers, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, had stated that the Russian troops would not advance from the position now occupied by them, provided the Afghans did not advance, or unless some extraordinary reason be given such as disturbances in Peshawar. Stringent orders had been sent to the Russian Commander to use every possible means to avoid a conflict or incitement to a conflict.

THE AUSTRALIAN NAVY.

LONDON, March 17.—The Earl of Northbrook in the House of Lords last evening said the Admiralty had freely given advice and assistance to Australia for the formation of a colonial navy.

THE RED MAN READY.

LONDON, March 17.—In an address in this city last night a chief of the Ojibway Indians, of the British North America branch of the Chippewas, stated that if called upon his people were ready to rise immediately and march at a day's notice for the defence of the British Empire.

A ROYAL FREEMASON.

LONDON, March 17.—Prince Albert Victor is to be initiated into Freemasonry to-day. The Prince of Wales, as Master of the Royal Alpha Lodge, will perform the ceremony. He initiated his brother, the Duke of Connaught, into the order. Prince Albert Victor will be the twentieth member of the royal family who has joined the craft since 1737, when the eldest son of George II. was initiated.

A HEAVY LOSS.

SUAKIM, March 17.—A dhow filled with ammunition for the British forces ran aground near here yesterday, and before a gunboat could be sent to protect the wreck, the natives had succeeded in getting the entire cargo ashore.

GOVERNOR OF THE SOUDAN.

LONDON, March 17.—The British officials at Cairo are urging the Government to appoint Lord Wolseley Governor-General of the Soudan with a view of impressing upon the natives the fact that England does not intend to abandon the country until she has secured a stable government for it. They state that such a step will weaken the resources of the Arab and alienate many tribes. Mr. Gladstone opposes the creation of such an office for any Englishman, on the ground that it would be constructed as a pledge by England to prolong the occupation of Egypt, which the Government does not contemplate.

DYNAMITE IN LIVERPOOL.

LONDON, March 17.—A quantity of dynamite has been found concealed in the Irish quarters of Liverpool. Officials have gone to investigate.

MISSING STEAMERS.

LONDON, March 17.—The British steamers Humber from New York, February 15th, for London; Rector from Baltimore, February 15th, for London; and the German steamer Vorestan from Portland, February 11th, for Hamburg, have not yet arrived. Insurance companies are anxious about their safety.

OCEAN MAIL SERVICE.

LONDON, March 17.—As a result of the agitation for the establishment of a fast mail service between England and the United States the Government has decided to provide £25,000 for such service.

A GOVERNOR ATTACKED.

MADRID, March 17.—The Governor of the Spanish island of Albufera, bearing a flag of truce, and accompanied by other Spanish officials, landed on the coast of Morocco in the purpose of holding a conference with the chiefs of several of the tribes which occupy lands in vicinity of Cape Morro. During the paleysing the Spanish party were attacked by the natives, and the Governor, several of the officials and many sailors were wounded. The party barely succeeded in reaching their boats. The people of Madrid are loud in their demand for vengeance.

GERMANY AS MEDIATOR.

PARIS, March 17.—The Media reports that Germany will mediate between France and China.

RIOTS AT PORTADOWN.

DUBLIN, March 17.—A body of nationalist rioters wrecked the houses of obnoxious persons at Portadown to-day. Bands of Orangemen paraded the streets and great excitement prevailed.

NOT AT HERAT.

TEHRAN, March 17.—It is said that Sir Peter Lumsden is not at Herat, but is still encamped at Guran.

THE SOVEREIGNS.

St. PETERSBURG, March 17.—It is rumored that letters have passed direct between Queen Victoria and the Czar.

RUSSIANS IN ASIA.

St. PETERSBURG, March 17.—It is announced that the total number of Russian troops in Asiatic Russia is 30,000, and they are scattered over a wide area.

SHE MEANT BUSINESS.

VIENNA, March 17.—It is reported from Berlin that Baron Bleichroeder is negotiating for a new Russian loan. Baron Bleichroeder is Prince Bismarck's confidential adviser on financial affairs, and his appearance in the market as a fiscal agent of Russia would indicate that war with England was seriously intended by Russia.

A BARGAIN.

LONDON, March 17.—In the House of Commons last night when the Government called for the vote on Civil Service Supply, Mr. Parnell arose and arrested the vote by demanding that the Government keep their promise to introduce a bill for a triennial redistribution of the Irish members last August. The announcement took the House by surprise. It was the first authoritative announcement that a bargain had been made by the Government with the Nationalists during the franchise and redistribution contests last summer. A long debate ensued as to whether the alleged pledge had been given. Mr. Parnell declared that not only had such a pledge been given, but that the Government had also guaranteed that the promised measure would be managed in the Commons, so as to be non-contentious. He refused to allow the vote on Civil Service supply to proceed until the Government had redeemed its pledge. Mr. Bannerman, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said the Government had not the least recollection of what had transpired last August as that indicated by Mr. Parnell, but as it appeared that the Nationalist members were sincere, and possessed strong convictions that such a pledge had really been given, the Government felt it bound to defer to the Parnellites understanding, and would act upon the supposition that the Parnellites were right. Parnell accepted the statement as satisfactory, and allowed the vote to proceed.

THE TARIFF.

The discussion of the National policy question has been extended. As we have frequently pointed out, there are no free-traders in Canada, and it is impracticable altogether to ignore the fiscal policy of an adjoining nation containing a population twelve times as large as our own.—Montreal Journal of Commerce.

THE MOWAT CABINET.

The "harmony" which prevails in Mr. Mowat's Cabinet is anything but satisfactory. A few days ago in the presence of a number of members, Mr. Mowat stated that in future no changes would be made in the Education Department without the approval of Messrs. Gibson and Harcourt. On this Mr. Ross told the Premier that if he were not a poor man, he would at once resign. Being a "poor man," however, prevented the nominal Minister of Education from disrupting the Cabinet, which is hanging together by no other tie than the love of loam.—Berlin News.

THE GLOBE AND THE N.P.

Saturday's efforts (of the Globe) crown all for its magnanimity and its devotion to the noble study of botany. A whole page is devoted to explaining, in so plain a manner as to be easily understood, the growth of the national party and its organic form. For a journal which has expressed an aversion to this plant in terms the reverse of mild, this great exertion of value is to be desired. A grateful last appeal, and a proud city will no doubt lose no time in making the editor an honorary member of the Horticultural gardens committee, thus rendering himself more famous than ever throughout the entire globe.—Toronto World (Indy).

OUTRAGE ON THE PUBLIC.

The railway committee of the Ontario legislature has given sanction to the passage of a bill which, if it should pass the legislature, gives to a private company control of about five miles of the frontage of the Niagara river. It is a most shameful thing that the grand natural wonder, celebrated the world over, should be handed over to a ring of speculators for private gain, when it should be held free to all as a public park.—St. Catharines Journal.

VERY PLAIN.

In the present quarrelsome there are certainly some cases, which though bearing the essence of an equalization of numbers, have too plain an intention of political advantage.—Edmonton Independent.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1885.

Mr. MOWAT said his colleagues have now found out that legislation is necessary for them to know what was the decision of the Appeal Court in the East Simcoe case, though they have that decision before them and should act upon it. This new dodge is only another device to leave East Simcoe unrepresented for the session. They know that it would return a Conservative unless once more purchased by the Reformers, and they think there is a risk in trying that course again.

The villainous slander published by the Globe that Mr. John Macdonald refused, at Montreal, to meet a deputation of workmen out of employment, asking for assistance, has been exploited by an authoritative denial in the House of Commons. Sir John denied that any deputation of Montreal workmen had asked him for an interview. Mr. Curran, M. P. for Montreal, not only corroborated this statement, but also explained that there had been no meeting of representative workmen in Montreal. At the meeting, falsely described as such, the principal movers were a good bird, and the Globe slanderer in that city, who invented the slandering.

Mr. FRASER is proceeding with his bill to amend the Province's bribery money which Mr. McKim placed in the hands of the Speaker. His "trap" having been successful,
Mr. Fraser naturally wishes to save the bait.
Besides it is very probable that the money belongs rightfully to the Provincial treasury.
It seems likely that Lynch, the friend of the Ontario Administration, is one of the same gang, other members of which were imported to corrupt wholesale the elections of Lennox, and their funds may have come from the same quarter, a messenger about the Ontario public buildings.

GLOBE STOCK AND READERS

The Globe, in very coarse language, denies that there was any truth in the report current some little time ago that the Globe was about to be transferred to the C. P. R. The rumor was that certain gentlemen interested in the C.
P. R. were in negotiation with Mr. Nelson, one of the largest owners of the Globe, for the purchase of stock sufficient to secure them the control. It must be remembered that since then the Mowat Administration has purchased Mr. Nelson at the price of a third share in a monopoly, enabling him to levy an impost on all the public school children of Ontario. It may be that a part of the consideration for this purchase money was that Mr. Nelson should consent not to transfer his interest in the Globe stock. There must have been some corrupt inducements for this corrupt purchase.

A YEAR'S DELAY.

The motion of Mr. Meredith for the appointment of an Auditor-General for Ontario was carried in the House, but instead of making a speedy nomination, the Little Premier promised to bring in a bill in accordance with the resolution next session. Why not this session? It is probable that there are a few old things to settle up and get safely out of the way before a properly authorized Auditor should get his eagle eyes upon them. There are the Colonization Road accounts, for example, which Hon. Mr.
Parker said were kept by "peculiar methods." No doubt if all the items connected therewith were to be overhauled, and all the other telegrams, together with what they imply, were daily investigated, a pretty tale would be laid bare. Mr. Mowat chooses the more cautious way. He begs for a whole year's delay in this matter, as he takes a year or eighteen months to produce such Parliamentary returns as are inconvenient to bring down within a reasonable time. It is better, he thinks, in such cases, to wait until curiosity has somewhat cooled, trusting to some conspiracy or other godsend to direct attention from the subject in hand.
When it is some extravagant and uncalled for expenditure that is on the cards, the cry of the Mowats and Parkers is invariably, "Hurry the matter along!" On the other hand, when it is to enquire how such expenditure has been conducted, they say, "Delay! delay! Nothing like as much delay, seemingly, as a candid investigation of their 'peculiar methods.'"—London

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

Globe Standard—Home-made Entries—The Ontario Boundary—Steamers to France—The War in Egypt—Return of Railway Passengers—Who Would Gain?

MONDAY, March 16.—Some private bills were advanced a stage.

"GLOBE" SLANDERS.
Mr. SPENCER called attention to the falsehood of the Globe that he had been subsidized by timber limits granted to him in the Northwest.
He had no interest in any timber or land there, except a few village lots which he had bought at auction. He had put in applications for some constituents at their request, the majority of them being Reformers.

GRAND TRUNK SHAREHOLDERS.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Peter Mitchell, said he could not yet bring down a return of the Grand Trunk shareholders, and he could not name the date for doing so, as the railway authorities had to send to England, and laborious copying was involved.

ROMESTRATH.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in answer to Mr.
Blake, said that the homesteads entered within the C. P. R. belt to the end of last year amounted to 11,866.

NOVA SCOTIA SUBSIDY.
Sir L. TILLEY said the claim of Nova Scotia to an increased subsidy was being considered and a decision would be formed in a day or two.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in answer to Mr.
Blake, said he had communicated with the Government of Manitoba, which desired Imperial legislation on the boundary question, and the matter would be dealt with without delay.

STEAMERS TO FRANCE.
Sir L. TILLEY said a bonus of $30,000 had been granted to the Halifax Steamship Co. for a line of steamers between Canada and France, to begin running in May.

THE WAR IN EGYPT.
Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said that the Government had made no offer to send a regiment to the Sudan at the expense of Canada, but individuals had offered their services.

ONTARIO RAILWAY SUBSIDIES.
Mr. COOK moved for papers as to the claim for a refund of municipal taxes to railways, since assumed by the Dominion. He said the amalgamation of the Hamilton and Northwestern with the Northern, had raised freight, and so with other railways. As the Dominion had assumed these lines it should refund the subsidies which he estimated at nearly $13,000,000. He made a sectional appeal to the Ontario members to press for equal justice with Quebec.

Mr. McCALLUM said this was a very hot subject, and the Reformers to make political capital.
His effect would be that municipalities which had not obtained railway accommodation would be taxed to give grants to those that had.
It was alleged that there was a precedent in the grant of a sum of money to Quebec for a road forming a continuation of the C.P.R., but a far larger sum had been spent in Ontario in subsidizing the Canada Central, and the road from Grandview to Colborne, and building the C. P. R. through the Province to Manitoba.
The Reformers wanted to use this railway question as they had in Ontario, where they had sunk the Province in debt and mortgaged it for twenty years for railway subsidies always given in the party interest. It was about the same roads were taken from the people of Ontario, for they were still there, and seeing the people better than ever.

Mr. MILLER said his property had been taken away, and the Province must be compensated.
Mr. McCALLUM said the first railway assumed by the Dominion was the Canada Southern by the MacKenzie Administration in 1874.

Mr. MACKENZIE said because it crossed the Provincial boundary.
Mr. O'BRIEN said the amalgamation of the Hamilton and Northwestern with the Northern was due to the Reform Government of Ontario.
The people of Simcoe county had benefited by the legislation of the last year, which had given them better railway facilities. It was a most political agitation—a cry of a sectional character, and therefore would be frowned down.

Mr. FLEMING supported the claim for compensation unless the Act were repealed.
Mr. WHITE (Cardwell) showed in detail how the amalgamation of the Northern and Hamilton and Northwestern was the work of the Reform legislation of Ontario. The Wellington, Grey and Bruce had been bought, not as a local road but especially as attached to the Great Western and so a part of a through route. The Midland amalgamation, destroying competition, and its absorption by the Grand Trunk, was also the work of the Mowat Administration. Quebec had received a grant towards building a part of the C.P.R., but the municipalities which had voted the line nearly a million, had not been recompensed. He pointed out how the assumption of the lines by the Dominion had been for the benefit of the farmers and others.

Mr. CANNY asked the Minister, and urged compensation, which he said was not a political question.
Mr. WALLACE (York) described how his constituents had been misled by the action of the Dominion, which had enabled it to force several railways to join in building one sub-way, refused till then. If the municipal grants were returned Ontario would have to pay the other Provinces far more than she would have had to pay. Mr. McMILLAN hoped the Government would not carry out its threat of giving back the roads. If they would not afford to return the whole of the grants, they should return a share of them. There was a precedent in the return to Pembroke of its grant to the Canada Central.

Mr. WHITE (Renfrew) said the provinces and municipalities had been in the habit of aiding the Dominion roads, so the claim on account of the assumption by the Dominion was ill-founded.
The large expenditure on the C. P. R. within Ontario justified the smaller grant to Quebec.
The consequent opening of north-western Ontario had been of the greatest benefit to the Province. The Pembroke grant had been returned, because the bringing of the Canada Central through that town had enabled the late Government, as Mr. MacKenzie admitted, to save the construction of 20 miles of road at a cost of $400,000. The people were too intelligent to be deluded by this political cry and appeal to sectionalism.

Mr. SPENCER argued that the alleged injury by loss of competition had been caused by Provincial, not Dominion, action. He urged that the railway service was better since the assumption.

Mr. LITTLE said the question was not whether the railways were better worked now, but whether the Dominion should contribute roads built with Provincial assistance. Mr. Mowat had been attacked, but he had supported Provincial rights.

Mr. DUNBAR condemned the movement as an attempt to excite jealousy among the Provinces.

Mr. DAWSON opposed the demand for a return of the bonuses, and Messrs. Armstrong, Wilson, Allen, Fairbank, and Trow supported it.

Mr. COOK replied to the arguments against the demand, and denied that the movement had a political character.

Mr. FORD said the agitation was not uncharacteristic for few persons were averse to receiving money. But the Ontario members made a mistake in pressing the claim. There were only 17 roads in Canada which had not united themselves with one of the trunk lines, and which had been assumed by the Dominion. Of these only two were in Ontario, and fifteen in the other Provinces. Were the Ontario members ready to vote for large sums to return the grants in other Provinces than in their own?
That was their position they should declare it, so that the country might understand their meaning.

The motion was carried.

AFGHANISTAN TROUBLE

A Russian View of the Cause of It—Mistake on Both Sides.

Mrs. Novikov, writing to the Pall Mall
Gazette, says:—I have just had a most interesting conversation with one who is of the highest authority on all matters relating to the foreign policy of our empire. He was very pleased with the fairness and justice of your brief note on Mr. Goschen's reference to the negotiations about the north-west frontier of Afghanistan, and I asked him to tell me quite frankly the verities about our alleged advance on Herat.

"The question," he replied, "is as simple as possible. We do not want Herat and we cannot get it.
If we seized it it would bring us immediately into conflict not only with the Afghans, but also with Persia, not to speak of England."

"But," I rejoined, "have we not already made a forward movement which we thought unnecessary?"
"Yes," he answered, "but do you not know how that came to pass? Unfortunately, Sir F. P. Russell, who was with him two or three young fellows, like Mr. Stephen, who speak Russian, and imagine that they serve their cause, or the cause of England, by inciting the Afghans to occupy positions far in advance of their own frontier. The Afghans, acting under the instigation of these young Englishmen, occupied a position at Peshawar, a territory which had never been under Afghan rule, either in the time of Sher Ali or of Dost Mohammed, and which all the travellers, as they are very few, who have visited that region, described as belonging to the Khanate of Khiva. Our military people, hearing and seeing everywhere evidences of English hostility and English intrigues, immediately responded to the Afghan advance by a further advance on their own account, and they went further than was either prudent or useful.
Thus a mistake has been made on both sides; but the initiative has been taken by the English, or by those among them who resemble the Afghans forward to go where no Afghans had ever been before—into the midst of a purely Turcoman population, within the dominions formerly belonging to the Khan of Khiva."

"There the English were wrong," he continued. "But nearly everybody here made a mistake in fancying that they were also wrong in sending so great an escort with Sir Peter Lumsden. People fancy that he brought it with the sole desire to outflank the Russian Commissioner, and so to gain more prestige among the

A LECTURE ON Models from Life for Life

WILL BE DELIVERED BY THE REV. A. H. MUNRO

in the MURRAY STREET BAPTIST CHURCH, at EIGHT O'CLOCK P.M., on THURSDAY, MARCH 19th.

1st 11 TICKETS, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS; 50c

The Babies.

Who does not love the Babies? Everybody, of course. The City Fathers too are blamed for being extra fond of them about election times, and people insulted that our own members of Parliament go all over the country kissing them. Some rumour will insist that both the Scotch Act supporters and anti take there turn in admiring the little darlings.

OPENED OUT

Which are WEAR and easy BLEACHING are un-pareed.

These Cottons were bought before any advance in the price, and will be sold at the lowest possible margin, at prices ranging from 8c. O. K. to 10c. A. I. It is almost unnecessary to make any remarks regarding LYBSTER SHIRTINGS, these goods have been before the public for the past twenty years, and are produced second to none in the market. I was assured on the best authority that ever since the Lybster Shirtings were made not one single complaint had been heard regarding the dye used in making these goods.
Lybster Cottons Yarns now in stock. Ask to be

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for
the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North-west and north winds, fair cold weather.

Mr. Munro's Lecture.

Taken for the lecture that the Rev. Mr.
Munro is to deliver this evening at the Murray Street Baptist Church, and can be obtained at the stores of Messrs. James Alexander, Davis, McLeod and Ormond & Walsh.

The Roller Skating.

To those who visit the roller skating rink during the morning, skates will be furnished free without any further charge than the price of admission, to afford better opportunities for learning the art. During the whole of next week early spectators will be admitted to the rink free.
Saturday mornings have been reserved for children, when they will be admitted and provided with skates for 10 cents.

People's Tea Store.

Messrs. Hawley Bros. have opened out in the Stewart House block what will no doubt prove to be a benefit to the town, namely, a wholesale and retail tea house. All kinds of tea and coffee will be kept in stock and those desiring to obtain a first-class article at reasonable prices may rely on getting it at the People's Tea Store.
The place is neat and well conducted and no doubt Messrs. Hawley will receive a fair share of public patronage.

C. F. R. Ticket Agency.

Our readers will have observed the advertisement of Mr. Alex. Elliott, of this town ticket agency for the C. F. R. The company have made a good choice of their agent, who is always both energetic in pushing business and obliging to those who have dealings with him. The fact that the C. F. R. advertises the time-table in our columns will also have been noticed, and this attention to the convenience of passengers will, no doubt, prove remunerative by attracting the travelling public to their line. Mr.
Alex. Elliott, as agent also for the Dominion Express Company, will, we are sure, build up a satisfactory business for the company.

Evangelistic Services.
In response to a call from the pastor of St.
Paul's Church, the Rev. E. F. Torrance, the Rev. Mr. McTear, of Lindsay, preached an evangelistic sermon in St. Paul's Church Sunday School Room on Wednesday evening. Mr.
Wm. Gilbert also addressed the meeting. At the close Mr. G. B. Spruill led in prayer. This is the first of a series of evangelistic meetings which it is intended to hold in connection with St. Paul's Church. Although the meeting on Wednesday evening was not largely attended, yet it is to be hoped that an interest will be awakened among the people in this most important duty of life. Another meeting will be held at the same place this evening.

POLICE COURT.

PALAN PRINTER.

THURSDAY, March 19.—Elizabeth Baptie charged John Purcell and Thos. McGinty with having obtained goods, in the shape of oysters, from her under false pretences. It appeared from the evidence that these two young men, in company with others, entered the confectionery store of the informant's husband and oysters were ordered. When the time came to settle for the refreshments a dispute arose as to which should foot the bill, and the matter ended in non-payment altogether. As no evidence was given against McGinty he was discharged. An agreement was effected between Purcell and the complainant. Mr. J. O'Meara appeared for the defendants.

Informal Meeting.

An informal meeting between the Wardens of the Counties of Peterborough and Northumberland, and several Reeves from each County, was held at Faucher's Hotel on Wednesday afternoon. Several matters regarding the two counties were discussed, including the repairing of the Wallace Point bridge. Mr. J. E. Belcher, County Engineer, was also present.
Nothing of importance resulted from the meeting.

GEORGE A. MORRISON

Accident to a Fireman.

James Linnan, who lives at 24 Dorset street, Toronto, a fireman on the Midland railway, had one of his legs cut off while making a trip from Peterborough to Toronto on a mixed train on Tuesday at one of the stations. He was taken to Toronto that night and removed to his home, whither medical aid was summoned and his painful wounds dressed.

THE ACCIDENT AGENT.

Loved and Hated.

The course of "love" never did run smooth.
For instance, he kissed devoutly the hand that passed him the autograph album and wrote therein:—"I write my name upon this virgin page. Would that I could inscribe it upon the purer scroll of your heart in that invisible ink which shall only appear as the thing upon which it is written is warmed at the fires of a love which takes no note of time." That was a year ago. They are married now. She asked him the other day for his autograph in the shape of a cheque, a goodly sized one at that, to liquidate her millinery bill. He grasps a larger sized book than the autograph album and threatened to throw it at her if she would be so inconsiderate as to ask the money he had been carefully scraping together to pay A. McNeil, habilitment Hall, for his wedding suit. "She did it," the proprietor of Habilitment Hall wishes there were a hundred thousand of such considerate "gentlemen," as far as he is concerned.

The Sensation.

Night follows night, and still the numbers which attend the teeth extracting exhibitions given by the members of the East India Medical and Surgical Association are unabated. Last night the hall was filled to its utmost capacity, and crowds were refused admittance. The evening's proceedings began as usual—a lecture on the human system, and the most common and destructive diseases that attack it. These followed the teeth extracting exhibition which lasted fifteen minutes. When it was announced that the time had arrived the ante-room was soon crowded with people. Among those who had teeth drawn were some of our leading officials, and each expressed entire satisfaction at the manner in which the usually disagreeable and painful operation was performed. Some of them did not even feel the removal of the tooth.
During the fifteen minutes about twenty-five or thirty were served in quick succession, and the stage was cluttered over with teeth of every description. After a slight breathing spell the surgeon operator, Dr. Rowson, stepped forward and humorously informed the audience that he was neither a giant nor a steam engine, and that fifteen minutes of such work was quite sufficient for anyone to undertake. He would be happy, however, to serve those who needed teeth extracted on the coming evening if the numbers that presented themselves were not too large.
He also announced that he and his colleagues would remain in Peterborough for three weeks longer.

Mormon Missionary Work.

FORT KNOX, Mont., March 18.—The Mormons are engaged in active missionary work throughout Montana. Last year 4,000 Mormons came into Idaho and Montana, and all have taken up government land.

Death from Frigate.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The American barque John Cassie sprang a leak while at the dock to-night. Capt. Coyle, wife and two children were aroused by the sound of water.
The captain and his eldest child rushed on deck.
Mrs. Coyle with an infant died from fright and exhaustion.

Miserable Joe George in Missouri.

MARSHALL, Mo., March 18.—Immense damages has been done by an ice gorge overflow in Waverly, Mo. A party left home in shifts with provisions to relieve the distressed found Mrs. Judge Thomas on a hill, where she had been two days and nights without food. They also rescued the Van Meter family from the second story of their house, where they had been two days without food. A dozen persons and many cattle have been drowned.

A Terrible Blizzard.

MARQUETTE, Mich., March 18.—A terrible blizzard is prevailing. Since Sunday no trains have arrived or departed. The snowdrifts are eight feet deep. It is reported several choppers have been frozen to death in the woods at Grand Marquette. The cold is so intense that it barely permits of travel. There are immense drifts near St. Ignace, and for two days passengers on a blocked train have been suffering for want of food, but help has been sent.

Something to Know.

The most beautiful atmosphere in a sitting room is obtained by having a blazing fire on the hearth and an open door, and the same at night, for a chamber is far more healthful than to sleep in a cold, closed room. A small warm room, with even a small air hole, is more healthful than a very large, close cold room.
Cold air is not necessarily a pure air, and no person can be well long who is not in the open air more or less every day.

An Expressive Language.

"The Chinese have got a very expressive language," said Tom Benton, of Houston, one morning after breakfast.
"What is there expressive about it?" asked his mother-in-law, who is an incoherent talker.
"T. is the word 'Ken,' for instance."

"What does Ken mean?"
"It means several things. In the first place it means a female mouth. Another meaning of Ken is a gate. In short, anything that is overlooking opening and shutting is called Ken."

Blaine Pays His Respects to Cleveland.

At 5 o'clock on Friday night, after the tide of travel to the White House had ceased, a white haired, white-bearded gentleman in a close buttoned overcoat, who walked with a springy step and carried a furled umbrella, stepped on the White House porch. The door was opened by the polite attendant, who gazed in astonishment for a second and then exclaimed, "Mr.
Blaine!" Mr. Blaine it was. He had come by appointment to pay his respects to President Cleveland. The attendants all along the line bowed and smiled and nodded to one another.
Mr. Blaine stopped at the head of the stairs to remove his overcoat and then passed into the Cabinet room, where Col. Lusk met him and escorted him to the library, where Mr. Cleveland was awaiting him. The greeting between Mr.
Cleveland and his guest was very cordial, and after a few minutes pleasant chat Mr. Blaine shook the President's hand warmly and retired.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier that can be used. It invariably expels all blood poisons from the system, enriches and renews the blood, and restores its vitalizing power.
It is the best known remedy for Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworms, Itchiness, Sores, Bolls, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin, as also for all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood, such as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General
Debility, and Scrofulous Catarrhs.

Her Mistress Feeding Two Strong.
BRIEFING, Ont., March 19.—Albert Weaver and Melissa Rank have been committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter. Weaver drove Miss Rank to a house where she left her child on the doorstep, and it was found frozen to death. The doctor testified at first, but at the sight of the child the jury broke up, and the coroner on the open coffin, killed her dead infant again and again, while her cries were pitiful to hear. She said she was not able to get up while she was in the house, and that she was so weak she would leave it at Collins's where he would have a good home; that he drove her up there, and acting upon his machine he left it as he liked it. He said: "Reckless" stopped and looked back to see if anyone came out for it; that she saw a door open and someone came out, and she supposed the chief was back. He then started on his way for the light was at Nelson Cavanaugh's house, which is in a line with Clelland's stable. Weaver admitted driving the girl.

"Enough on that."

"Enough on that" came hiccups, coughing-rings-rings; better said hiccup, dressed fish, chain-bell.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Wheat.
At one o'clock to-day wheat was quoted in the Chicago market at 74 cents per bushel.

Funerals.
Mr. A. Van Hugel, Mayor of Port Hope, and Mrs. Hugel, registered at the Oriental Hotel this morning.

EASTER CARDS cheap at HALLIBURY'S.

Old Folk's Concert.
An affair will be given at the hall, on Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the old folk's home, and are being brought on rapidly.

Lacrosse.
A special meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be held at the hall, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Pending business will be discussed before the club for consideration. All members are expected to be present.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly west and north, generally fair weather, not much change in temperature.

Religiosity.
We take the following from the Educational Weekly of March 18th.

"We hope next week to commence a series of lectures upon Scott's 'Lady of the Lake' by Mr. Barron Keble, of the Peterborough C. O. G. I. Institute. From Mr. Keble's well known deep seated love for English literature, and the deep and wide knowledge of this grand subject which his high and original talents have enabled him to attain, this will be a pleasing information to our readers."

The Market.
On account of the extremely cold weather, no doubt, the attendance at the market was rather thin this morning. Commodities susceptible to frost, such as potatoes and apples, were very scarce. A considerable quantity of meat, particularly beef, was offered for sale. Pork was almost impossible to find, and the few chickens and turkeys offered were very cold. Butter sold at 22 cents per pound, and eggs at 17 and 18 cents per dozen.

Prompt Settlements.
Mr. Alex. Elliott, who suffered from the effects of a knee sprain produced by a fall while getting into a buggy, and who has recently recovered, received yesterday a cheque for $50 from the Ontario's Accident Insurance Company, of Montreal, through their agent here, Mr. Chas. Cameron. Mr. Elliott had an accident policy for the sum of $50 per week, and being ill for nearly five weeks, he received the amount due to the last cent. The speaks well for both the Company and their agent.

A New Appliance.
Electric light is being employed in an entirely new form by the members of the East India Medical and Surgical Association. Last night Dr. Cameron appeared on the stage at Dr. Cameron's Opera House with a brilliant and dazzling apparatus on his forehead, the strength of which light cast, when he turned towards the audience, a powerful glow over to the rear of the hall. This was an incandescent light supplied with electricity from a battery which was placed under the table. The incandescent wire led up the doctor's back, over his head, reaching the incandescent globe, the incandescent wire conducted the solid heat to the incandescent globe. The lamp itself is constructed to inspect, from its subtlety of construction. The conductors are very delicate, and the thin glass globes of the best manufacture of glass will stand the intensity of the heat produced. The adaptation of this method of supplying light for the extraction of teeth was found to be complete success. Fully thirty teeth were extracted during the allotted fifteen minutes, to the entire satisfaction of each subject. Each night the hall is filled with spectators to witness these novel exhibitions.

FAIR, VANEVERY & Co. have imported a most complete assortment of Mourning Goods, ranging from the new Crepe Epingle, Jet Cashmere, French Silk Crapes, &c., to the more artistic Black Crapes Bonnets, Caps, &c., in their millinery department.

THE SNOW BLOCKADE.

Sentiment, Delays Caused by the Heaviest Storm and Blowing.

The drifts caused by the recent storm, and wind were the most serious that the railway trains have encountered this winter in this section of the country.

The Ontario and Quebec line suffered less this during other storms this winter, but the Grand Trunk branches, which have up to this time happily escaped the usual blockades, were drifted up so badly as to cause much inconvenience during Friday and Friday night.

THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

The mail train due here from Montreal and Ottawa at 6.45 p. m. was fifty minutes late on Friday evening. The mail train going east, due at 8.07 p. m., did not reach here until about half past ten o'clock. The 11.11 p. m. express from Toronto and intermediate stations was one hour late.

GRAND TRUNK, MIDLAND DIVISION.

Heretofore during the winter very little inconvenience has been felt on the Grand Trunk lines from drifting, but nearly every train coming in on Friday night and afternoon was delayed. The noon train due at 11.55 was forty-five minutes late. The mail train leaving Port Hope at 4.45 p. m., and due here at 6.15, did not reach here until nearly five o'clock this morning, having got stuck in a new bank near Fraserville. A special train was despatched from this town to take it to Toronto at 8.24 p. m. The express train from Toronto due at 8.50 was about an hour and a half late.

GRAND JUNCTION BRANCH.

The mail train from Belleville, leaving that city at 7.00 a. m., and due here at 10.30, was one hour and ten minutes late on Friday forenoon. The evening train, due at 7.55 o'clock, did not reach its destination until 9.35 o'clock. The morning train from Belleville had not left there at 12 o'clock to-day.

THE LAMBERT BRANCH.

The noon train to Lakeside was cancelled on Friday. To-day it left at the usual time, 12.30 o'clock.

By noon to-day the lines are pretty well cleared, and all the trains are making fairly good time.

TO THE LADIES.

During the whole of next week no charge whatever will be made to lady spectators at the roller rink. The ladies are invited by the manager to come and visit the rink, see those indulging in the undulating and beautiful pastime. Special seating accommodations will be provided. The band will be in attendance two nights next week. See Monday's REVIEW for the announcement.

Athletic Association.

The committee appointed at the preliminary meeting held last Monday to draw up a constitution for the proposed Athletic Association, met last night. They will meet again on Monday next to finish their work. The meeting to consider the constitution and proceed with the formation of the Association, will be held on Thursday evening next, at half past seven, at the Grand Central Hotel. All who take an interest in athletics are invited to attend.

Look for New Dress Goods, New Trimmings, New Shades, Latest Styles in Making and cheap prices at TURNBULL'S.

The Coming Event.

As will be seen by the large posters the events which will take place at the Charlotte street rink next Wednesday evening, promise to be interesting and exciting. The principal event will be a five mile skating contest between Mr. Percy Myrie, of this town, and Mr. C. H. Striven, of Detroit. A novelty in the shape of a snow shoe race on ice, a boy's race, a young ladies' race and a fast race will tend to lift a programme well worth being seen carried out. See large posters for the prices offered.

Sensational.

The winter's almost past, the time is coming fast, that brings the genial sunshine bright and clear, clear, clear, and paragraphing pay, will shortly put away the suitable jobs until another year, year, year. The coal man and the plumber, all through the coming winter, will be allowed to take a well earned rest, rest, rest, and springing from his tent, the ice-cream man will boom in new and handsome garments gaily dressed, dressed, dressed. The piano, sandwich, tea, excitement will renew, and when on its make up will desert, cant, cant, declaring it is made of better than was bread, but from the hardest kind of adamant, meat, meat, meat. Then, both in prose and verse, the jobbers will rehearse the tale about the lovers who till lake, lake, lake, sit on the steep and open, or, 'neath the silver moon, together swing upon the garden gate, gate, gate. But this is merely done for the purpose of fun, intended as a little harmless chaff, chaff, chaff—no malice in the play—to drive dull care away, and make the melancholy people laugh, laugh, laugh. As spring does come so does, all men will want new clothes, as every gentleman does know, know, know; and therefore this advice, if you want to look nice, to Halliburton Hall you should go, go, go. A. McNeill's (Halliburton Hall) is well supplied with all kinds of gents' furnishings.

POLICE COURT.

D. & D.

SATURDAY, March 21.—Henry Overman was charged by P. C. Phipps with having been drunk and disorderly in a public place. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 or ten days in jail.

Wholesale Clearance of Lace Curtains.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. have received a large consignment of beautiful Lace Curtains, from 6 to 8 yards, bought at a great discount, and will be sold accordingly.

A Good Chance to Learn.

To those who visit the roller skating rink during the morning, skaters will be furnished free without any further charge than the price of admission, to afford better opportunities for learning the art. During the whole of next week lady spectators will be admitted to the rink free. Saturday mornings have been reserved for children, when they will be admitted and provided with skates for 10 cents.

The Skating Rink.

A skating rink has been recently established at the skating rink, which would do the season on Saturday evening. In an interview with one of the Directors he explained the reasons for the rink, and stated that although the rink was new, it was from the Water Company and the rink was to allow them the use of a hydrant, and that they could put a good flood on this evening. You may safely promise your random good ice for Monday evening.

Satin Curious Note to Green and Coloured (the latest) now offering at TURNBULL'S.

Those petite models in the windows of the "Golden Lion" represent one of the styles of dress being made by Miss Johnson from Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s elegant assortment of Dress Goods, comprising every material and shade. Their Grand Exhibit of French costumes (with drawings to match), Black and Colored Silk, Marcelline, Check Silks, Stripes Silks, Cashmere Cloths, Zephyr Ginghams, Organza, Reversible Flasks, Broadens, Muslins, &c., surpasses everything for Variety, Quality and Cheapness.

GENTLEMEN will find at the "Golden Lion" full lines of Scotch Tweeds, Worsters, Furnishings, Dress Shirts and Underwear. Tolerating a singularity, and a first class Outer at your command.

Child-Char.

—St. Benedict's Day.

—A large number of skaters were at the Charlotte Street Rink last night.

—The Fire Brigade Band were there and made things cheery.

—Mr. Percy Myrie was at the ice rink this morning having a preparatory five mile spin.

—The result of the coming race will be watched with interest.

—It is probable that three or four risks from the Whisky Curling Club will play with the home risks on Monday or Tuesday next.

—The ice will be prepared with glory even under the canopy of "Ready."

—The Old Folks Concert promises to be a complete success. The program is largely attended, and "Father Hapless Miller" is singing his material with his well known craft in that line.

—Make a note of the fact that Henry LeBren, of the City Clothing Store, has already received his new spring styles of Tweeds and Cloths, so that gentlemen who require an early spring outfit at light overcoat, can have their orders filled at once, and be prepared for the fine weather when it comes.

HOUSE-KEEPERS and Hotel-keepers should inspect Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s large stock of Cottons, Whites and Grey, Plain and Twilled; Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, Crochets in all conceivable patterns, Lace Curtains, Lambrequins, &c., &c. Their Outfit Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Unbleached, All Wool, Tapestry, Branglo and Oil Cloth, Mats, &c. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attractions.

A full range of Ladies' Fur-trimmed Hats and Bonnets, all prices—just received at TURNBULL'S.

KILLED on the G.T.R.

WOODBURY, March 18.—This afternoon a native of Denmark, aged about 40, fell off the tender of a freight train at the Grand Trunk crossing, where he had concealed himself. Both legs were shattered below the knee, and he died in a state of collapse from which he never recovered. His name is unknown, but the following address was found in his bundle: Mrs. Elvina, No. 308 Forty-sixth street, New York.

A distinguished "General"

Some—a Board School; one of Her Majesty's inspectors examining a class in history at the examination. "Give me the names of some of the most distinguished English Generals during the Revolutionary Period." Hands out all around, but one impulsive little fellow, unable to control himself, bawled out, "General Fudge." "General Fudge?" queried the inspector. "Oh, indeed; and what was he specially distinguished for?" "Fudge, sir, when the South Sea Bubble burst he stood head of the whole nation."

Beautiful Spring!

Beautiful Spring will surely come, and with it the discovery of many wants, to clothe, adorn, decorate, grace, garish, and beautify the person. The question will naturally be asked you, where can I get the best value for my money and the most suitable goods. We certainly do not mock modesty in answering AT ALEXANDER'S. His goods are marked at the smallest possible living margin of profit.

His Spring Stock is now complete, and will consist of the NEWEST GOODS that can be got.

Particular mention must be made of his NEW SPRING DRESS GOODS

Which consists of Panama Cloths, Ottoman Foulis, Fine Vellings and Persian Corsets, the last line will be sold at its yard and are well worth the price. His prices are perfect bargains, and must be seen to be appreciated.

A share of your patronage respectfully solicited.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

TUESDAY, MARCH 24, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Wholesale.

At one o'clock today cash wheat was quoted in the Chicago market at 74 cents per bushel.

"The Little Boatman"

Will appear at the Town Hall, Ashburnham, on Thursday, April 2nd, at 8 p.m. Come and see her.

Town Council Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock in pursuance to a motion of adjournment passed last night.

The Assassins.

Messrs. McGee and McAlister, the assassins, have made their rounds in Nos. 1, 3 and 4 yards. They are now busy playing the pencil and paper No. 2 ward.

Personal.

We are pleased to see that Mr. John Garvey has so far recovered from his recent severe and painful illness that he is able to take a walk in the fresh air. We hope soon to see him at his place of business in perfect health.

Band at the Market.

Band at the Market. The Fair Brigade Band will be in attendance at the roller rink to-night. Another entertainment of shaks has been arranged so that all may be accommodated. Admission—gentlemen 15 cents; ladies and children 10 cents.

Athletic Sports.

The anticipated in athletic sports should not fail to attend the meeting of the combined local associations, to be held at the Grand Central Hotel at eight o'clock to-morrow evening. The report of the Committee entrusted with the framing of the constitution will be considered and the election of officers will take place. There should be a full attendance to give the new constitution a good start.

Old Folks.

Old folks are still all ye talk. Ye be choir boys in good practice last night. The old folk look like the ghosts of our departed ancestors revisiting ye in the light of ye moon. A plan of ye songbook and ye choir is now at McAlister's Sun's shop and store. See to it that ye get a ticket and be at once. Everyone should have a programme with ye words and ye may better follow the singer.

Remnants of stock of Sobel Bage, Stetson and Vail's will be sold at cost price in order to clear them off. J. ESKIN.

Gleaners.

Yesterday afternoon a man riding on Charlotte street informed the secretary of the Board of Health that a horse, kept in a stable near to him, was affected with the glanders. The secretary, in company with P. C. Adams and Dr. Beatty, veterinary surgeon, at once proceeded to examine the case. The doctor, while not positive that glanders was present, ordered that the animal be kept separate from all others. He will inspect again in a day or two, in case that the dreaded disease shows any further symptoms the animal will be at once shot.

The Ben Marche leads them all for Best Tea and Coffee. See Our 50 cent Tea and Our 80 cent Tea. Best Value in Canada.

A Melbourne Legal Case.

The Mail furnishes the following report of an important legal case delivered at Toronto on Saturday:

"CHAMBERLAIN LEAD AND EMERSON OR V. DUNN." Judgment on appeal from Ferguson, J., in the case of the plaintiff to restrain the defendant, the Township of Dunn, from levying an assessment on the ground of its being fraudulently made. The defendant demurred on the ground that the plaintiff had no right to sue. The plaintiff's counsel, Mr. Halliwell, the defendant's counsel, Mr. McCarthy, Q.C., and Hudspey, Q.C., were present.

Rathmastic.

A special meeting of the Peterborough Leagues Club was held at the Little Windsor Hotel on Monday evening. The attendance was large, consisting of nearly all the old sturdy grays of the club's warfare and numerous aspiring young blades. The business before the meeting was the arranging for a grand evening social to be held on Easter Monday. A committee was appointed to secure a suitable hall and energetic means will be taken at once to ensure the success of the event. It was decided to hold the annual meeting on April 1st. During the evening much enthusiasm was displayed and the interest in the national game seemed in no way to have flagged or frozen during the long winter nights. After recounting numerous incidents from several hard fought fields, well won victories, and honourable defeats, the members of the "broom" dispersed.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. have imported a most complete assortment of Mourning Goods, ranging from the new Cape Epingle, Jet Cashmere, French Silk Crapes, &c., to the more artistic Black Cape Bonnets, Caps, &c., in their millinery department.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

THURSDAY, March 23.—M. Hicky was charged with having been drunk and disorderly. A plea of guilty was made to the charge, and a fine of $3 or ten days in jail was imposed. The fine was paid.

Rev. Mr. Munro's Bible Class.

This class for young men will meet as usual this evening at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms. There should be a large attendance, notwithstanding the stormy weather.

W. M. C. Lectures.

The lecture announced for the 24th by Dr. Pison is withdrawn for unavoidable reasons. The final lecture of the course is to be given by Rev. T. Manning B. A., on Thursday, April 2nd. His subject will be "The Crucifixion."

No Skating this Evening.

As there are several holes in the skating rink not sufficiently covered by the frost, there will be no skating this evening. The rink will be opened to-morrow, when, no doubt, the ice will be in fine condition.

Wiggins' Storm.

Wiggins' storm has now passed by. Five pounds of tea now had better buy. Then go to H. VanEvery's, without delay. For your own sake, move away.

Remnants of the people's Tea.

Remnants of the people's Tea. The People's Tea Store, 100 King Street, East.

Colder to-night.

The weather probabilities for this district this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and gales from the south-west, veering to the north-west and north, mostly cloudy milder to-day, with a few light snow falls, colder again to-night and to-morrow.

Whitby vs. Peterborough.

Five rinks from the Whitby Curling Club arrived this forenoon over the Grand Trunk Railway, and were escorted to the Charlotte street rink by members of the home club. Dinner was served in the rink dining room, after which play was commenced. As we go to press the match continues. Representative rinks from the Lindsay Curling Club will play the Whitby rink this evening.

The Coming Event.

Those chosen to act in official capacities at the coming five mile race between Messrs. Percy Miles and C. Shrieves, which will take place at the ice rink on Wednesday evening, are as follows:—Judge, Messrs. A. White, C. A. Waller and W. E. Haskins; Referee, Mr. H. LeBrun; Timer, Mr. J. A. McIntyre; Scorers, Messrs. J. Waller, and Geo. Lemay. The contest will doubtless be a keen one and an exciting contest may be expected.

Those petite models in the windows of the "Golden Lion"

Those petite models in the windows of the "Golden Lion" represent one of the styles of dress being made by Miss Johnson from Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s elegant assortment of Dress Goods, comprising every material and shade. Their Grand Exhibit of French costumes (with trimmings to match), Black and Colored Silk, Marcelline, Chok Silk, Stripe Silk, Cashmere Cloth, Zephyr Gingham, Madras, Reversible Plaids, Broadens, Muslins, &c., surpasses everything for Variety, Quality and Cheapness.

Orthodox March weather.

—Fanny B. is again out of her stable, and is being brought into trim by a thorough trainer.

—Will there be another contest between her and Indian Billy at the opening of the Driving Park.

—The billiard ones will come up before the Police Court to-morrow morning.

—Longfellow, America's great poet, died three years ago to-day.

—And Elizabeth, the greatest English queen, passed away just ten hundred and eighty-two years ago to-day.

Failures Every Day. The Ben Marche is buying their Goods at from 40 to 65 cents on the first cost and then can sell Goods cheaper than many merchants can buy, and make a fair profit. Hence the Ben Marche is the place for Goods at Low Prices to suit the hard times.

The Coming Sporting Events.

The races which will take place at the Charlotte street rink to-morrow evening promise to be the most interesting of any held here for a long time. The entries for each event are numerous, and twenty in all, made up as follows:—First race, 8 entries; Show race, 8 entries; Boy's race, 8 entries; Ladies' race, 8 entries. The matched race between Messrs. Percy Miles and C. Shrieves will doubtless be hotly contested. Both have good records, being the winners of several medals offered in various competitions, and each one daily getting into the best trim. Mr. Shrieves practices daily on the Little Lake, while our local champion inclines to long walks. An excellent evening's sport may be expected, and no doubt the rink will be packed. Look out for the novel parade by the City Band to-morrow afternoon. They will also be in attendance during the evening. The ice will be in excellent condition. See the prices in the window of J. McOlelland's jewellery store to-morrow.

A FINE variety of Easter Cards, cheap. J. ESKIN.

Sensational.

The winter's almost past, the time is coming fast, that brings the genial sunshine bright and clear, clear, clear, and paragraphers gay, will shortly put away the mellowish jokes until another year, year, year. The coal man and the plumber, all through the coming summer, will be allowed to take a well earned rest, rest, rest, and, springing from his tomb, the ice cream jokers will boom in new and handsome garments gaily dressed, dressed, dressed. The picnic, sandwich, tea, existence will renew, and jokers on its wake up will decent, cant, cant, declaring it is made of neither ham nor bread, but from the hardest kind of adamant, meat, meat. Then, both in prose and verse, the jokers will rehearse the tale about the stowp and spoon, or, "touch the silver moon, together swing upon the garden gate, gate, gate. But this is merely done for the purposes of fun, intended as a little harmless chaff, chaff, chaff, no malice in the play—to drive dull care away, and make the melancholy person laugh, laugh, laugh. As spring does come so does, all men will want new clothes, and every gentleman does know, know, know, and therefore this advice, if you want to look like a Habliment Hall you should go, go, go. A. McNeill's (Habliment Hall) is well supplied with all kinds of gents' furnishings.

Ladies, go to the Ben Marche for your Boots. A choice lot to select from, and a Beautiful Mirror or Chromo Given away with every Pair.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

THE SITUATION IN GREECE.

LONDON, March 23.—Firmly, the Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, admitted yesterday that the Anglo-Russian crisis was grave. He, however, entertained hopes that the diplomatic efforts may succeed in warding off a crisis.

LOOKING FOR NEUTRALITY.

VARNA, March 23.—Rouss and the Porte are negotiating for a neutrality treaty in the event of war between England and Russia.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN AGREEMENT.

LONDON, March 23.—In the House of Commons Lord Fitzmaurice, replying to a question put by Sir Henry Wolff, said the Anglo-Russian agreement with regard to the Russo-Afghan frontier was not recorded in a formal document. Wolff then asked, "Does the question of peace or war depend upon the virtual assurance of Russia?" To this Fitzmaurice did not reply, who upon the Conservatives cheered loudly.

BRITISH AND ARAB LOSSES.

SUALEH, March 23.—Gen. McNeill is well entrenched in a seven-mile square south west of Suakin. Provisions and water have been sent him. The rebels are quiet. The British loss during Sunday's fight was five officers and 51 privates killed, and 170 men wounded. It is estimated that the Arabs lost 1,500 men. Every Arab who got inside the square was killed. A number of heavy guns have been landed and will be at once sent to the front.

CONSPIRACY IN SPAIN.

MADRID, March 23.—Col. Bertrán, commander of a cavalry regiment at Bertrán, has been arrested on a charge of conspiring to restore the Republic in Spain. A corporal and two privates who were arrested on similar charges at Gerona have been convicted. The trial of the conspirators is a private and confidential one, and is being conducted with great secrecy. A large number of troops have been sent to Gerona, where a Republican coup is feared.

A TOOL OF THE DYNAMITERS.

CORR, March 23.—Patrick Leary, who was concerned in the attempt to blow up the Mill street barracks with dynamite, was to-day sentenced to a year's imprisonment. The Court said Leary was only a tool of the dynamite plotters and would therefore make the sentence light.

CHINESE LOSSES.

PAKIN, March 23.—Gen. De Lisle telegraphs Chinese losses at Tuyenquah on the 22nd and 23rd were enormous. Among the killed was the chief of the Black Flag.

IN DIRE EXTREMITY.

HONG KONG, March 23.—The French are unable to make a forward movement from Lungau. The country is devastated. There is the greatest difficulty in obtaining supplies. The Chinese are unable to leave the French. It is reported that the French lost 900 men at Tuyenquah.

A PROBABLE BATTLE.

SUALEH, March 23.—A general advance towards Tuyenquah will be made to-night by Gen. Graham. McNeill's army may be shifted on account of the intolerable effects of the rapid decomposition of the steam launch. Hostilities are increasing in numbers. The battle is very opening. 250 sick and wounded men for England to-day. Official accounts place the losses of the Arabs in yesterday's fight at 1,500. Osman Digma has 25,000 men at Tuyenquah. It is expected that Graham will give Osman battle to-morrow. It will be a pitched battle and probably greater and more decisive than yesterday's.

THE ADVANCE BEGUN.

SUALEH, March 23.—Gen. Graham began this evening to move his whole force from Suakin towards Tuyenquah. Gen. McNeill's troops left the scene of yesterday's battle and advanced a mile towards Tuyenquah, where they constructed another trench. The enemy is making no opposition. It was found necessary to transport over the battlefield owing to the stretch from the bodies of the enemy's dead and the carcasses of the camels and horses. At daybreak to-morrow Gen. Graham will resume the advance.

Woman's Misadventure.

"It is no plain as the nose on your face, and there's no excuse for your overlooking it," exclaimed the husband whose wife had forgotten to reduce the size of a button hole in his shirt collar.

"But, dear, how can I help overlooking the nose on my face?" was the patient and pleading answer that set him wild.—Peterborough Chronicle.

Railway Accident.

The express which left Toronto on Saturday night for Ottawa and Montreal met with an accident near Perth about four o'clock on Sunday morning. The train was running at a high rate, fortunately with no worse result than the slight injury of three men.

Ladies, you will find the Best and Cheapest Line of Corsets ever offered in Peterborough at the Ben Marche. Call and see the Health Corset.

STRENGTH FOR TO-DAY.

Strength for to-day is all that we need. As there will never be a to-morrow. For to-morrow will never be another to-day. With its measure of joy and sorrow.

Strength for to-day in house and home. So practice forbearance sweetly. To control kind words and loving deeds. Still trusting in God completely.

Strength for to-day—what a precious boon. For the earnest soul who labors. For the willing hands that minister. To the needy friends of neighbor.

The trial of the alleged conspiracy case has been adjourned to the 30th March.

The British steamship Rhinoceros was sunk in a collision with the steamer Ironclad City in a British channel on Saturday. Her crew was rescued in the time.

At Montreal a Mrs. Waldron is suing Mrs. Evers for her own divorce, for $200 damages for libel. A large number of witnesses have given evidence testifying to the defendant applying odious terms to her mother.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

New Public Buildings—Land Transfer.—The Education Department—High Schools—Law—Municipalities—Public Health—Sanitary—Bill of Rights—Protection of Crime—Administration of Justice.

MONDAY, March 22.—The bill for the protection of sheep was amended in Committee to allow appeals to the Division Court.

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.—The bill regarding the erection of new Parliament buildings was read a third time.

MORNING SESSION.—Mr. Mowat moved that on and after Wednesday a morning session be held, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

LAND TRANSFER.—The bill to simplify the transfer of land received several amendments in Committee, which were concurred in.

THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.—The House again went into Committee on the Education Department bill.

Mr. Ross proposed an amendment that regulations be brought down to the House, in its session, or otherwise within ten days of the opening of the next session.

Mr. McRae moved that the House should pronounce on the regulations before they were enforced, especially in regard to the distribution of the High School grants.

Mr. Ross thought the proposed amendment was sufficient.

Mr. McRae said that if the regulations were not acted upon during the recess the House would have more freedom in dealing with them.

Mr. Fraser said it would not do to have the Ministers' hands tied in that way for nine months.

Mr. Cameron pointed out that it was the regulations regarding the legislative grant that were referred to. These should not be changed in the middle of the year, as each school should know at the beginning of the year what it could count on receiving.

Mr. Ross said these regulations were made at the beginning of the year.

Mr. Cameron pointed out, as a strong reason why these regulations should be submitted to the House before being acted upon, that last year the Minister brought down regulations which he had to withdraw after they were discussed.

The amendment was passed and the committee rose.

HIGH SCHOOL LAW.—Verbal amendments were made in the High School bill in committee, and it was then read a third time.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.—The House went into committee on the Public Health Act.

Mr. A. M. Ross explained some proposed modifications in the bill.

Mr. Meredith said that, before assenting to the bill, the House should be shown that the municipalities had neglected their duties.

Mr. Ross said that one half the municipalities had not appointed Medical Health Officers. He referred to a possible cholera epidemic this year.

Mr. Meredith objected to the Minister trying to frighten the House into adopting a wrong principle.

The clause passed.

Mr. Meredith thought that the Provincial Board should not be given power to require municipalities to appoint sanitary police.

Mr. Fraser said that, as an invasion of cholera was probable this year, the powers might be conferred for a year at least.

Mr. Meredith moved that the following clause be added:—No determination or order of a local or Provincial Board of Health for the removal or abatement of any nuisance shall be enforced except by order of the Court of Justice where such nuisance involve a loss or destruction of property of the value of $500 and upwards, and upon any application to the court the order of the Local or Provincial Board of Health shall not be evidence that the matter complained of was or is a nuisance.

Mr. A. M. Ross said that the Government would consider the clause and the committee rose.

EMPLOYMENT OF FARMHOUSES.—The bill authorizing the employment of prisoners outside the goal was considered in committee.

SAW MILLS ON THE OTTAWA.—Mr. Mowat moved the second reading of the bill respecting saw mills on the Ottawa. Its object was to prevent the stoppage of saw mills by injunction in certain cases by allowing mill owners to throw sawdust and refuse in the stream.

Mr. Meredith objected to the permission given the Government to extend the term of the injunction against depositing refuse in the stream.

Mr. Young said the sawdust killed the fish and obstructed navigation.

Mr. Mowat said that it was not practicable to deal with the matter through the Courts.

After further discussion the bill was read a second time.

CRIME DETECTION.—Mr. Mowat moved the second reading of the bill to promote the detection of crime. It provided that the Warden of the Penitentiary should engage the services of constables when not covered by the ordinary tariff.

LAW ADMINISTRATION.—The bill for further improving the administration of the law was considered in committee.

Clauses were added providing that the number of judges in the Court of Appeal should be reduced to four, and that an additional judge be appointed to the Chancery Division.

The committee reported the bill with some amendments.

WARNING TO GRUMBLERS.—Recollections of the Year Nineteen Hundred and Five to Death.

"The sun is crossing the line to-day," remarked the oldest inhabitant to a five-cent reporter of this town.

"And everybody is complaining of the cold that has been so long continued, and still shows little sign of abatement. They should be thankful that it is so warm."

How would the grumblers like a repetition of 1816 in that year, as in Britain wheat sold for 10s a quarter. The year has always been known as the year "without a summer," and it will earn the title.

A New Sleeping Car.—A much needed improvement in the way of convenience for immigrants going west is a new sleeping car, designed especially for immigrant travel, and now attracting a good deal of attention at the Grand Trunk depot.

The car, which is newly finished and decorated and the arrangements for water, light and heat are very perfect. The seats are so contrived that they may be turned into berths at night, while the arrangement is after the fashion of the Pullman cars, but bare, the immigrants being supposed to provide clothing, etc.

The Grand Trunk company intend to build several of these cars in time for the opening of the immigration season.

"Beach on Corn."—Ask for Wells "Beach on Corn." It cures corns, blisters, and all such eruptions on the feet.

HARBOR.

From Our Own Correspondent.

REASONABLE.—The old saying that "speech is silver and silence is gold," would have made my fortune if I could have collected my pay as a silent correspondent. March came in like a lamb, and the fearful cold weather of this week shows that it is going out like a lion; the thermometer ranging from 5° to 15° below zero, once at 30° and once at 20°. How is that for spring? A very heavy gale of wind on Sunday, 15th, with surges of snow made a bad day of it; but it was not Wiggins' storm.

SCARLET FEVER.—We are getting over another scourge of scarlet fever in our village. It took away the youngest daughter of G. W. Blocker, a bright little girl six years old, and a great favorite with every one. Small pox at Hungerford and Campbellford gave us a scare, but the danger is considered over.

ACTIVE.—Scott Act advocates are actively canvassing and meeting with good success.

NEW WOOLLEN MILL.—Mr. Pearce's woollen factory is still progressing, and the water power is already doing a part of its work. A planer has been put into the mill and the lumber for the floors has been very nearly all planed and a good part of the flooring laid.

A TOWN FOR ST. PAUL'S.—The ladies aid society for procuring funds to build a tower on St. Paul's Church have nearly enough funds on hand to build it. To complete arrangements a vestry meeting was held on Thursday, March 12th, a building committee appointed and the site of the tower finally decided on.

FOODS SCARCITY.—Hay and straw are very scarce and cattle are likely to have a lean time of it in the spring.

THROUGH THE ICE.—A team belonging to Mr. Gordon McWilliam broke through the ice and got a cold "dip." Everything was saved, but two boys were badly scared.

HASTINGS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FRIENDLY ADVICE.—One day last week some parties with more of the devil of cruelty in them than generally falls to depraved mortals, sought revenge on their neighbours by going into an hotel shed in Warkworth and hitting the horses, throats, and from that going up to Banta's mill and repeating their diabolical acts. They also dropped the same on a valuable cow and another horse. The pig of it all is that there is no trace of the miscreant whose cowardly nature, fearing to face the object of his hate, watches his opportunity of revenge by venting his spite on mute and defenceless animals. It is the hope of every right thinking person hearing of such acts that the perpetrator may be caught, when a long rope and short shrift would be only too good for him.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Morrison, the ever obliging and popular Deputy Postmaster, has after a long illness been once more able to resume his post. We understand that the gentleman in question has ably filled the position for nearly 30 years, during which time he has faithfully and efficiently discharged his duties. May he be long spared to do so in the wish of a host of friends.

LATE TRAVEL.—Our Grand Junction road must be unusually difficult to keep clear after storm, or there is not a large enough force of section hands to do the work. Last Saturday afternoon to Peterborough and West went all night on the road, and on Monday the delay and inconvenience was quite as bad.

SCARCITY OF FEED.—The long and unusually severe winter, combined with a poor hay crop in this section, has caused a shortage of feed, making it hard on stock of all kinds. Hay is from $15 to $18 per ton. Several loads of pressed hay were taken from the front the other day.

FROM ALL OVER.—The Grand Trunk railway has made its contracts for the supply of coal for the current year.

NATIONAL PILLS are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

The political novel which was completed by Col. Burnaby before his death is now ready for publication.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. She recovered after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

It is stated Italy and France will propose the prorogation of the Monetary Conference for eight years.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Haysard's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

QUITS AN EPIDEMIC OF MILDEN DEATHS from heart disease has occurred recently in the city of Montreal.

A DOUBLE PURPOSE.—The popular remedy, Haysard's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally, for rheumatism, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and disease of an inflammatory nature.

JOHN DALY, formerly a Home Rule member of Parliament for Cork, has become a bankrupt, with liabilities amounting to $100,000.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of Haysard's Pectoral Balm, the best throat and lung balm known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

MR. GEORGE GUILLET, the late member, has been unanimously selected to contest West Northumberland in the Liberal-Conservative interest.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These acquirements give the possessor a pleasant expression, a fair complexion, and the rays of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

MR. J. H. SMART, reeve-elect of Kingsville, Kent, has been nominated as a candidate for the position of reeve for the year 1886.

THE STEAMSHIP WIELAND, from New York for Hamilton on Thursday last, returned to New York on Monday, having had a hole five feet square knocked in her hull in collision with a barque during a gale.

SEVERELY ILL.—A person suffering with pain and heat of the head, and of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

A CONFERENCE of members of Parliament was held in London on Monday, at which it was proposed to organize a society having for its object the abolition of human slavery in all parts of the world.

THE FRUITS of freshly-milled flowers is agreeable to everyone, and so it is with the delightful fragrance of Murray & Larnach's Florida Water. None reject it, none dislike it. From the tropics to the frigid zone, it is the universal favorite on the head, in the bath, and in the balm.

TWO DETECTIVES who were sent to the United States to work up testimony against Cummins and Burton, the London dynamitards, have returned to London, and it is said they have important information against the prisoners.

TAKES AYER'S Sarsaparilla in the spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore the healthy tone and vigor of the whole physical mechanism.

Too Good for a Clerk.—Dry-goods Merchant—"So sir, you think you could learn to become a salesman?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, suppose you were waiting on that man and his wife over at the lace counter. What would you do first?"

"I should hold up the best piece of lace in the stock, and ask the man if he didn't think it becoming to his daughter's style of beauty."

"Well, what then?"

"Oh, nothing. The woman would take care of the rest of it."

"Young man, I don't want you for a clerk. I want you for a partner."—Chicago News.

The Marshall Pigot Mystery.

St. Thomas, March 23.—Havlock Smith of Graveland was arrested here yesterday at the instance of John Pigot as accessory to the murder of Marshall Pigot. He was committed to jail. Smith is a young and wealthy farmer, and was the last man seen in Pigot's company. He claims that he advanced $500 on a promissory note. Detective Murray, of Toronto, has been working up the case. Pigot's wife died some months ago, and on Thursday took an overdose of chloral and, by foul play means, to deprive him of fifty acres of land which he owned. A short time previous to his disappearance a trial hearing his signature, payable to his brother, William Pigot, was presented by one Smith, who claims to have loaned $1,200 to Marshall. Smith's reason for having the note drawn in favor of William Pigot, was to prevent his (Smith's) relatives from knowing he had advanced any money to Marshall. It was soon after discovered that Marshall was missing.

Recovered from the Grave.—FREETOWN, C. March 23.—Benjamin Foreth, aged 16, apparently died last Thursday. When the body was opened at noon on Saturday morning it was found to be alive. The body was removed and the boy returned to consciousness after several hours work. He will probably recover.

U. S. Foreign Ministers.—The nominations of Edwin J. Phelps, of Vermont, Robert M. La Follette, of Maryland, and George H. Pendleton, of Ohio, for Ministers to Great Britain, France, and Germany respectively were sent to the Senate on Monday by President Cleveland, and confirmed.

Prof. Low's Magic Scalp Soap is highly recommended for all humors and skin diseases. FREEMAN'S WORM POWDER is agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children or adults.

WHY WILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give you immediate relief. Price 10 cts. to 50 cts. and $1.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1885.

Personal.
For the past four weeks Mr. Wm. Browncombe has been suffering from a serious attack of inflammation of the bowels. We are pleased to see that he is so far recovered as to be able to be about.

Curious Match.
Two risks shipped by Messrs. Aitell and Dunsford will come before the two risks of the Lindsay Club. They have been set for the 10.30 train and return the same evening. This will probably wind up the foreign matches for the season.

To the Little Ones.
Saturday morning has been specially set apart by the manager of the roller rink to allow the children an opportunity for skating. The little ones will be admitted for the small sum of ten cents and skates will be furnished free of charge. Keep in mind that the grand carnival will take place in about two weeks.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South-west and south winds, mostly fair weather with light snow or sleet in a few places; decidedly milder and a thaw.

The Lock Smelter.
The stock subscribing in the lock factory, which is to be established here, is now being proceeded with. The stock book was opened to-day, and we understand that the promoters have met with fair success. Our citizens should give their hearty support to the scheme, as each establishment of the kind tends to build up the town. The experts in lock-making will arrive here in about two weeks.

Dry Earths—Clenches.
Mr. Wm. Heap, of Toronto, manufacturer of Heap's Patent Dry Earth Clench, was in town to-day and was in conference with the Medical Health Officer and several leading citizens and property owners, in regard to introducing the article into this town. These clenchers are said to be well designed to suit the purpose for which they are intended. To attend to the matter of having good sanitary regulations is the duty of the head of every family, and the responsibility of this preventing much ill health is not only his own family, but that of his neighbours, rests on his head. Now is the time to look after the matter. We understand that Mr. Heap was successful in establishing an agency here.

The Wallace Point Bridge.
The meeting of the Wardens of the Counties of Peterborough and Northumberland, to which we referred last week, was held in the office of the County Clerk. The Reeves of Oshawa, Smith and Douro were also present. The conference was held at the request of the Warden of Northumberland and Durham, who telegraphed to Mr. Strickland to ask him to meet him there. After consulting with the Reeves mentioned, the Warden of this County decided to take no action in reference to the Wallace Point Bridge until the June session, especially in view of the action of the Council, but he instructed the engineer to watch the bridge, and if it became dangerous to have it closed. The Warden of Northumberland informed the gentlemen that his county would not consent to do away with the Wallace Point Bridge.

A Good Appointment.
The Winnipeg Times, in an article concerning the disastrous attack of the Globe upon the late Mr. Aquila Walsh and Mr. H. H. Smith, says:—

"It will be soon enough to condemn Mr. Smith when his actions deserve it. So far instead of harrasing and oppressing settlers, he has been doing most acceptable work in removing grounds of complaint and facilitating the adjustment of disputes or misunderstandings, to the entire satisfaction of all having dealings with him. He has neither coerced nor threatened during the months he has been actively engaged in his duties as inspector, and there is not the shadow of a reason to suppose that his treatment of settlers will change because he has been made a commissioner. Indeed, it is doubtful if anyone could be more considerate of the wishes and interest of the settlers than Mr. Smith. We quite expect that every appearance of dissatisfaction will disappear but it will not be by threats or coercion. Mr. Smith's ways are as opposite as possible, a fact to which persons of settlers in the North-West can already bear witness."

A Runaway Slave the Murderer.
LYNCHBURG, Va., March 24.—A well-to-do farmer named Killington mysteriously disappeared from Prince Edward county 23 years ago. Seven years later a skeleton was found under a pile of decayed logs and identified as Killington's. Three negroes were recently overheard conversing on the Texas frontier, one of whom, Crawford Jeter, confessed to killing the man at that time and place. Jeter, who it is learned, was Killington's runaway slave, has been gaoled charged with murdering him.

NORTH-WEST TROUBLE.

GREATLY EXAGGERATED REPORTS REGARDING RIEL'S DOINGS.

No Conflict Taken Place—Considerable Excitement in Winnipeg—A Regiment Stationed for the Season—A Commissioner.

WINNIPEG, March 25.—The excitement is still intense in the city over the supposed uprising in the North-West, which the absence of reliable news tends to increase. Terribly exaggerated reports have been sent to the American and Canadian papers. There is little doubt but that the French half-breeds are mustering to bring pressure on the Dominion authorities to redress grievances that have existed in regard to land claims for years, and raids are believed to have been made on the stores of both the Hudson Bay posts and Indian agents, and the officials arrested to be held as hostages for immediate action on the part of the Federal authorities. The telegraph lines have been cut and the operators arrested to prevent communication with the mounted police posts.

OUTLINES MAY BE TAKEN PLACE. Upon reliable authority. Two hundred police are, however, believed to have arrived by night at the scene of the trouble.

The Indians have not yet been induced to join Riel. Riel is the only chief of whom the authorities are afraid, as Riel and his agents have been operating with the Indians north of Regina and Qu'Appelle with some success. Fossil Maker and Big Bear are two hundred miles northwest of the scene of the trouble, and are not likely to be induced to retaliate. A number of white settlers are in sympathy with the cause of the trouble, but are not disposed to rise up arms, feeling sure that the Dominion Government will at once treat with the settlers and adjust their grievances.

DEPARTURE OF THE TROOPS.
The military authorities here are moving with alacrity. The rifle regiment, three hundred strong, has been under arms for two days, and is expected to leave for the scene of the trouble to-night. A report was received to-night that Charles Nihil, a former member of the local legislature here and an opponent of Riel, in 1870, had been captured and threatened to be shot, but this lacks confirmation. Lieut. Gov. Dewdney and Capt. McDougall, of Prince Albert, returned west to-night with the troops.

A prominent Catholic clergyman telegraphed last night from Edmonton that the announced meeting of the Dominion government had appointed a commissioner to consider the claims of the half-breeds and investigate the cause of the present troubles was having a very beneficial effect on the minds of the half-breeds. He expressed the opinion that the appointment of the commissioner would result in an amicable settlement of the difficulty.

THE ACTUAL SITUATION.
The facts as yet got from Lieut. Governor Dewdney to-night are simply these: Riel went last week to see the late Mr. Walsh. He was talking big, as he always does, but there was no word of conflict among the settlers in that neighborhood then there is in Winnipeg, and apparently very much less than there is in St. Paul. Not a blow has been struck; on the contrary the reports received from the telegraph office north of Fort Qu'Appelle are to the effect that the scene is about over. It is not even known for certain that Riel's party cut the wire, and the report that he has captured a number of settlers is also generally discredited. The wires are down between Prince Albert and Carleton, but that is not an unusual thing. No word has been received from Carleton, where the battle is said to have taken place, since Sunday, but the repairs are being made and the wires will be restored by Thursday next, or Friday at the latest. "In fact," says Mr. Dewdney, "all the news from the northern country is favorable."

PORT HOPE.
AGAIN ASSAULTED.—From the Guide of Tuesday, we learn that Mr. Geo. Wilson has been again assaulted. This is the eighth assault which has been made on the pioneer editor and proprietor of the Guide. The wicked escape, but the good man must receive his evil things. It must be a record for the town. He has been assaulted, to reflect that if there are no compensations in this life, there are in the next. Mr. Ambrose, it seems, is the latest victim who could not stand the stings and arrows of the outrageous Guide. The proprietor of the Guide takes to himself the crown of martyrdom, and claims it is on account of his righteousness that this lot has been made at him. We are afraid our contemporary is not the stuff martyrs are made of, for, instead of standing his ground, he took to his heels, and escaped through a back door. The riotous are held as a lie, but the editor of the Guide in the exception that proves the rule. The scene must have been very ludicrous. On the occasion of the last assault, the assaulted editor called loudly for a stick. A stick—a stick—kingdom for a stick. For some time after "valiant" editor might be seen, in company with a stick, with a large knob on it, and a body guard. His time wore on, both were dropped and he walked into the back yard, leaving his prisoner baffled for the time being. Nobody was hurt. It furnished an item for the paper, and a laugh, and has set one more brilliant in the record of martyrdom, which is being perpetuated by our citizens. N.Y. Times.

The Hamilton-Clifford Race.
Particulars of the Hamilton-Clifford race at Sydney, Feb. 9th, for a thousand pounds, have just reached San Francisco. Clifford was the first to grip the pole, rowing 34 to the minute; Hamilton 38. Clifford's work at the start attracted all attention, and seemed to promise something prodigious, but Hamilton gradually drew up. Clifford made a splendid race for half a mile, Hamilton keeping near enough to watch him without trouble. Hamilton then dropped his stroke to 32, and the old indie of victory settled on his feet. After gauging the remaining distance Hamilton drew quickly ahead. Clifford started, but Hamilton put another length between them. As they rowed the Sydney rowing club Hamilton was nine lengths ahead. He then slackened and finished a winner by seven lengths. Hamilton was loudly cheered.

A Valuable Steamer Sunk.
GRAND HAVEN, Mich., March 23.—At a late hour this afternoon Captain Prindiville, of the Grand Trunk propeller Michigan, reached here and reported the loss of his vessel last Thursday. The steamer sank, but all the crew were taken off by the tug Arctica, which was near at the time. The Michigan has been locked in the ice for nearly four weeks. The Captain reached aboard from the Arctic on ice. The Michigan was built in 1868, and was valued at $145,000.

A Missing Oil Boat.
OIL CITY, March 21.—Hugh Farren, an oil scout, has been missing two weeks. It is believed he has been killed by the guardians of some well in Butler district, of which he was attempting to learn the capacity or prospects.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

THE RESERVES CALLED OUT FOR PERMANENT SERVICE.

Venue Being Made Ready for the Sea—Marine-Henry Rides Called in—Troops Being Raised for India.

By Telegraph to the Review.

LONDON, March 25.—The Queen has sent a message to the House of Commons calling out the reserves for permanent service.

PREPARING VESSEL.
LONDON, March 25.—Orders have been sent to Portsmouth to put the dispatch vessel Mercury in readiness for immediate service. It is stated that the turret ship Devastation and Colossus, the corvette Bacchante, the sloop Cormorant and the troopship Orontes are under preparations for the sea.

CALLING IN THE ARMS.
LONDON, March 25.—Orders have been sent to armours throughout the kingdom to return immediately to the Tower of London all Martini-Henry rifles which they have in stock. After being inspected, the rifles are to be despatched to India. 14,000 rifles at Portsmouth will be forwarded to morrow.

TROOPS FOR INDIA.
LONDON, March 25.—It is reported that orders have been received at Aldershot to raise 15,000 troops for India. A battery of horse artillery will proceed immediately.

CAMELS FOR TRANSPORT SERVICE.
LONDON, March 25.—The government of Burma is sending a thousand camels to India for transport service.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

A DEMAND.
LONDON, March 25.—The Cabinet this afternoon resolved to firmly demand of Russia that she commence forthwith the work of delimiting the Afghan frontier in accordance with the understanding under which Sir Peter Lushington and the British surveyors have passed so many months in the Amers' dominion.

FINANCIAL TENSION.
LONDON, March 25.—The tension in financial and political circles on account of the Russian crisis has, if possible, increased. Consols thus far have fallen 3/4, and Roumanian one per cent.

ENGLAND AND TURKEY.
LONDON, March 25.—At the Cabinet Council, yesterday, it is believed the advisability of entering into closer relations with Turkey as a measure of precaution in view of continued Russian menace in Afghanistan, was considered. The Turkish ambassador was present during part of the session.

RECALLED.
CALCUTTA, March 25.—All officers of the Indian army now on furlough have been recalled.

A BIGGOTED LEGISLATURE.
VIENNA, March 25.—There was a great anti-Semitic demonstration in Parliament yesterday. After a vote on the Northern Railway arrangement a number of anti-Semites began shouting "Down with the Jews." The leaders were shouted by other members. The President could not check the disorder. The disturbance lasted half an hour, and the session was finally broken up. The people are greatly excited.

TURKEY AND RUSSIA.
LONDON, March 25.—It has been definitely ascertained that the Porte has asked Prince Bismarck for his advice concerning the advisability of an alliance between Turkey and Russia against England.

OBSERVATIONS BY BALLOON.
ST. PAUL, March 25.—Gen. Graham has moved the headquarters of his camp two miles nearer to Tassal. A conveyance of Indian troops went this morning to Gen. McNeill's camp, acting as escort for the balloon corps. On arrival at the camp the balloon corps immediately began taking observations. The captive balloons remained up several hours, and the observers descended with valuable information concerning the positions and movements of Omsa's army. The balloon corps will be invaluable in the work assisting Gen. Graham to make forward movements.

KEENE.
From Our Own Correspondent.

DEATH.—Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Lang, died on Monday and was buried on Wednesday last. His age was 50 years and 9 months. He had been confined to the house for some time.

CHURCH.—The new Presbyterian Church will likely be opened in May next. The plastering is nearly completed and it looks very well.

CONJUGAL.—Owing to the late stormy weather the members of the curling club have not been able to put in their usual amount of practice. However, they expect to be at it again before long. There is some talk of building a skating and curling rink for next winter, but why not start now and fix it up as a roller skating rink for the summer? If Peterborough can support four or five roller rinks, surely it could keep up one. Anyone wishing to take shares in a joint stock company for building the above rink will get full information from either the President or Vice-President of the Keene Curling Club, viz. Wm. Campbell and R. McIntyre respectively. The building, besides being used as a skating rink, could also be used for a number of other purposes, as for public meetings, &c.

SCOTT ACT.—A meeting in favor of the act was held at Villiers on Tuesday evening last. Another meeting will be held on Tuesday evening next, at the same place. There is to be a meeting in the Presbyterian church here on Friday, at which Miss Brown, of Milton, will be the chief speaker.

WEDDING.—Mr. Jas. Lang and Miss Annie McFarlane were married on Wednesday evening last, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Wm. McFarlane, in this village, by the Rev. F. Andrews. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Kate McFarlane, while Mr. D. Armstrong performed a similar service for the groom. The presents were numerous and costly, showing the high regard entertained of the happy couple. After the customary dancing was indulged in far into the "wee wee" hours. We tender our congratulations to the happy couple, and wish them a long and happy life. The groom's old companions were out in full force, and were well treated by him.

CONCERT.—A grand old folks concert will be held in the town hall, Keene, on Monday evening next by a large number from Peterborough. It will be the concert of the season. No one should miss the opportunity of hearing the old time songs of a hundred years ago sung by good voices, and in the costume of that day. Come, come, come all. Tickets 25c; reserved seats 50c.

POLICE COURT.

NON-PAYMENT OF WAGES.

FRIDAY, March 27.—Joseph Laford charged Thea Laylants with the non-payment of $40 due him.

It appeared from the evidence that no agreement, either written or verbal, was made as to the rate of wages to be paid.

The Magistrate said that under such circumstances it was beyond his jurisdiction to give a decision.

Mr. C. W. SAWYER, on behalf of the complainant, withdrew the charge. Mr. Geo. Edmonson for the defendant.

ENFORCEMENT OF LICENSE BY-LAW.
The adjourned case of A. D. Faucher, charged with infringing on the license by-law, so far as it referred to billiard tables, came up this morning. Several other witnesses were examined; but the case was not closed. At the request of the counsel for the prosecution, Mr. K. B. Edwards, it was further adjourned.

Wholesale Closure of Loco Castania.
Fair, Van Every & Co. have received a large consignment of beautiful Loco Castania, from 6 to 8 yards, bought at a great discount, and will be sold accordingly.

FATAL AFFRAY.

Killed in a Brawling Quarrel—Jenny the Cause of the Mischief.

St. CATHARINES, Ont., March 26.—A farmer named Tenbroeck, forty-five years of age, living in the township of Grantham, two miles from this city, met with his death during a quarrel with his young farm hand, Wm. Tuttle, by a blow from a piece of board. Tuttle wrestled it from Tenbroeck and struck the latter a murderous blow, which fell him to the ground. After lingering for some time, he died.

He was not yet married, but was a widower and a promising man, somewhat of a member of the township council. The cause of the quarrel is attributed to jealousy on the part of Tuttle, who, it is believed, thought Tenbroeck was on terms of undue intimacy with his wife. Both parties were under the influence of liquor at the time.

Confidence Operator Nabbed.

JERRY CITY, March 26.—A man entered Rochet's jewellery store to-day and enquired for a registered letter addressed Pollard. None having been received the man left. Returning later the registered letter was handed him. Pollard read the letter, which was ostensibly from a member of a well-known jewellery firm in Washington with whom Rochet dealt, enclosing a cheque for $1,500. He asked Rochet to cash the cheque to enable him to make good on the cheque. Rochet, however, under pretence of taking the cheque to the bank telegraphed to Washington and ascertained that the cheque was a forgery and had Pollard arrested. The police believe it is Jack Strama, a notorious confidence operator.

A Friend in Need.

WADSWORTH, N.C., March 26.—On Tuesday evening an Irish tramp called at a house occupied by two ladies and asked for a lodger. They declined, but finally agreed to lock him in a closet for the night. About midnight the ladies were awakened by a noise in the room which threatened to kill them if they made an outcry. He demanded money. One of the ladies said she would get it. She went to the closet and unlocked the door. The tramp, who had heard the conversation, sprang out, pistol in hand. The negro started to run, but the tramp fired, killing him instantly. It is supposed the negro was a white man and near neighbour of the ladies, who had blackened his face.

Smuggling at Seaside.

SARINIA, March 26.—Charles Wade, who has been arrested for smuggling, has operations were quite extensive, embracing watches, jewelry, cigars, candies and ready-made clothing, the watches and jewelry being sent to a relative in Toronto, who carried on the jewelry business in that city. On Mr. Wade's house being searched articles were found which had not paid toll to the revenue. Investigations are being conducted by the special officers of the customs department who seem to think they have struck a good lead.

The Oklahoma Smugglers.

ARKANSAS CITY, March 26.—Gen. Hatch has ordered the cavalry to proceed to Oklahoma immediately and destroy permanent improvements on the ranches of certain cattle men who for some time have been established there and to require them to leave the territory. This is construed as the inauguration of the policy of the Interior Department for removal of all unauthorized stockmen in Oklahoma.

NORTHWEST TROUBLES.

Further News from Prince Albert—An Interview with Indians.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 26.—Excitement still prevails in the city over the Northwest difficulties. The parading of troops, with bands playing martial music, along with the absence of reliable news from the west, tends to prolong the excitement. Private telegrams were received from Governor Dewdney this afternoon in which he states that he held a most satisfactory interview with Crooked Lake Reserve Indians at North Broadway.

It is stated that Gen. Middleton will recruit more troops here to supplement those going to the front. Two more regiments could be raised in Winnipeg, most of whom have had volunteer experience in Ontario and Europe, and are clamoring for active service. The field battery, under Major Jarvis and Captain Coutie, paraded, 52 strong, to-day, and are a fine body of men. Riel is said to be sending runners among the Indians, but as yet without success. Military ardour is aroused at Portage La Prairie. In three or four hours sixty-five names were obtained for a local infantry company. An office was telegraphed to Col. Houghton, Winnipeg, to raise a good company for active service in the west.

The Hudson Bay Company have accepted a contract to transport troops, for which they have every facility. Col. Irvine, who left Humboldt on Monday with a hundred mounted police, crossed the South Saskatchewan at Clark's crossing instead of Gabriel's, where the number of horses was reported to be insufficient. The circuit accounts probably for lack of news, but will allow the junction of both forces of mounted police.

The advanced troops from here reached Qu'Appelle safely at noon to-day and quartered at the immigrant sheds.

NO FURTHER NEWS AT OTTAWA.
OTTAWA, March 26.—The Government officials state that there is no further news from the Northwest regarding the frontier there. A number of young men called at the Northwest Mounted Police Department to-day and asked to be enlisted to the Northwest Mounted Police owing to the state of affairs.

"LATTER STAGES" STERILE.
KINGSTON, March 27.—This morning Col. Montgomerie received orders to prepare 100 men of "B" battery to be ready to start for the Northwest at a moment's notice. The men are now confined to the barracks, with little or nothing to do in readiness. The soldiers do not expect to be called on to depart, thinking that the reports are greatly exaggerated.

INTENDING SETTLERS NOT ALARMED.
MONTREAL, March 26.—At the emigration office at the Canada Pacific railway depot this afternoon it was announced that no disposition what ever had been taken as to the number of emigrants going to the Northwest. To-day a large party, mostly French Canadians, have made arrangements for starting to that district. They expressed themselves as no way alarmed at the accounts of the rebellion in that region, for they are sure that Riel would not affect them. One party, in order to be certain, had telegraphed to some friends in Qu'Appelle valley and had received an answer to come on as soon as there was not the slightest cause for anxiety.

CONNECTICUT'S BIG BABY.

A Child that at Thirteen Months Weighs More than its Mother.

Samuel Reynolds Tompkins, his parents confidently believe, is the biggest baby boy in the United States. He was 13 months old on March 3, and he weighed 83 pounds and a few ounces over. He lives with his father and mother at 118 Main street, Norwalk, Conn. When he was born he didn't weigh 5 pounds. At the age of three months his weight had doubled. Three months more quadrupled that, and when the heavy infant was 10 months old he weighed 72 pounds, or almost as much as his mother. Since then he has grown heavier and she has got thinner, and Sammie is the bigger now.

Charlotte Fraser was the mother's name before she married Henry Tompkins in 1878. She was born in 1838 at Sligo, Ireland, and is a cherry, blue-eyed little woman about five feet high, and weighing 77 pounds. Sammie's father was born at Armoir, Westchester county, the same year as his wife. He is over 8 feet high and weighs 135 pounds. Sammie Reynolds is the first and only child. Sammie is a healthy child, and his fat is solidly laid on in bill rolls all over his body. He is not yet weaned, but in his life was when he had a little touch of cholera infantum at the age of two months. He has an enormous appetite and a strong cholera infantum. Just what the doctor says everybody should live on. His eyes are blue, like his mother's, and his hair is long and flaxen, with a wavy curl that makes the ends turn up. There are twenty teeth in his mouth. At present he is doing well, but the two front teeth, and some of them are beginning to fall away already. He is expected to get his second teeth before he is 18 years old, and out his wisdom teeth at 8.

Notwithstanding his fat, Sammie is a shapely child, and is a quite good looking. The fat is evenly distributed over his shoulders, chest, stomach, legs and arms. His hands are as small as those of any baby of his age, and his feet are low the ankles take a small sized baby's slipper. Dr. Brownson, Hixson, Cummings and any number of other doctors have examined him, and they say he is a healthy child. They advise that no restraint be put on him, but that he be allowed to grow naturally. His waist and legs are already brought round though, but Sammie stands up he isn't as long as a yard stick. A 6 ft hat would suit his head. The circumference of his leg is 16 inches above the knee and 14 inches below—bigger than his father's. His skin is soft and clear. He is remarkably strong, playing with 5 and 8 lb. rattons with ease.—New York Sun.

PORT ROBE.

SUICIDE.—A young Englishman about 18 years of age, who was employed as a hired hand with Mr. H. A. Walker, near Welcome, committed suicide at noon on Tuesday, by hanging himself in the barn. He jumped some five feet off a beam. The deed was executed as well as any professional hangman could have done it. He made an excuse to tie up a cow and hurried behind when the others went to dinner, they wondered what was detaining him. Search was made, and when found he was quite dead. His back had been broken in the fall. No reason can be assigned for the act. The young man's name is Thomas Macer. His mother lives at 121 Boylen Road, London, England. An inquest was not considered by Coroner Corbett to be necessary.—Globe.

An Editor Expresses a Friend.

KANSAS CITY, March 26.—J. Harvey Motz, a professed spiritualist and medium, who has made converts of a number of prominent citizens, and who has been visited by persons from all parts of the country and Europe, was exposed last night by J. B. Lawrence, editor of the Journal. Lawrence obtained an interview, and when the medium appeared as a spirit he threw a small jet of cyanide solution in his face and then had him arrested for obtaining money by false pretences. Motz gave bail.

A Unequal Match.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Judge S. Clifton Hastings, aged 70, was married yesterday to Lilian Hunt, aged 19. Hastings was worth several millions, but gave his son $3,000,000 and kept $300,000. He was threatened with a breach of promise suit by another lady six months ago.

The Daily Evening Review is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

SKIRMISH WITH THE ARABS.

BAHIG, March 26.—A convoy of Grenadiers under General Graham accompanied the Shorshire, Surrey and Shikar regiments on their departure for Tamsi as far as Mc-Nail's zebra. The zebra was reached with the loss of but three men, who were wounded in a light on the way. The Arabs rubbed on the troops. The latter formed a square. The Arabs recklessly charged upon it, with much impetuosity that they got within twenty yards. They were repulsed with the loss of 100 killed. Birmingham parties are clearing the bushes of Arabs along the road to Tamsi.

RUSSIAN FINANCES.

LONDON, March 26.—The Standard is still hopeful of peace. It says Russia's finances are unable to bear the strain of war, that no power except Germany is able or willing to supply a loan to Russia, and that it is doubtful whether even Germany could do so.

A PANIC FEARED.

LONDON, March 26.—The fact that the Queen had sent a message to Parliament was not known until after the official close of the Stock Exchange. Business during the day was steady with a tendency toward better prices. When the news of the message came a rush was made by the remaining dealers to sell consols and the Russian bonds. The former fell to 92, the lowest point touched since 1878, when an Anglo-Russian war was threatened. Russian bonds were offered at 92 with no buyers. Last selling orders were received from Berlin. A panic is feared to-morrow.

COUNCIL OF RUSSIAN GENERALS.

St. PETERSBURG, March 26.—It is reported that a council of Russian generals, including the Grand Duke, has been summoned to consider the practicability of employing regular cavalry in Central Asia in the event of war, where fodder and water are scarce.

ANGLO-TURKISH ALLIANCE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—It is believed in political circles here that in the event of a war between Russia and the British Empire, will not be confined to the Afghan frontier, but will be extended to the Black sea. It is rumored that Great Britain has already sounded the Force with regard to obtaining permission to pass the Dardanelles in the case of war. The prolonged stay in London of Hassan Fehmi Pasha, the Turkish envoy, is attributed to the belief that Afghan troops are more likely than the Egyptian question to effect, under certain conditions, an alliance between Turkey and England.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

LONDON, March 26.—Gladstone stated in the Commons this afternoon that the Russians had advanced no nearer to Peshawar than Peshawar eighty miles distant. Gen. Altkhanoff has established a post of Tarnouska at Peshawar.

PLEET FOR THE BALTIC.

LONDON, March 26.—In the Commons last night Mr. Wolff, Conservative, asked whether in view of the fact that ice was vanishing in the Baltic sea, the Government were more likely to send thither an adequate fleet. Sir Thomas Buxton declined to answer such questions. (Cheers.)

"BRAVERY REWARDED."

LONDON, March 26.—The Home Secretary to-day presented Policeman Cox

Beautiful Spring!

Beautiful Spring will surely come, and with it the discovery of many wants, to clothe, adorn, decorate, grace, garnish, and beautify the person. The question will naturally be asked you, where can I get the best value for my money and the most suitable goods. We cater to no such modesty in answering AT ALEXANDER. His goods are marked at the smallest possible living margin of profit.

His Spring Stock is now complete, and will consist of the NEWEST GOODS that can be got.

Particular mention must be made of his NEW SPRING DRESS GOODS

Which consist of Panama Cloth, Ottomans, Foulies, Mus a Velling and Persian Cord, the last line will be sold at 10c a yard and are well worth the price. His prices are perfect beauties, and must be seen to be appreciated.

A share of your patronage respectfully solicited.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Wheat.

At one o'clock to-day cash wheat was quoted in the Chicago market at 77 1/2 cents per bushel.

On the Market.

Thirteen head of fine cattle were offered for the Easter market by Mr. Johnson and will be on the market square at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

B. G.

Amazilly in decoration will be performed on the occasion of the performance of "Gaiety" on the 8th April, in the shape of full rigged ocean steamers, in addition to the regular company, arranged in tasteful designs.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South-west and west winds, generally fair mild weather.

Roller Rink.

Don't forget that to-morrow forenoon is the time when the children will have the roller rink all to themselves. Only 10 cents admission will be charged and skates will be furnished free of charge. Prepare for the grand carnival. Watch for the announcement of date and particulars.

Peterborough Law Association.

The Association has recently received a grant of $200 from the Law Society in aid of its library. The Peterborough Association is complimented by the Chairman of the Committee at Toronto as being the model Association of the Province. The books in the library, including those loaned to it, are valued at about $4,000.

A Fine Variety of Easter Cards.

ERKINE.

Special Sitting.

A special sitting of the County Court was held on Thursday, His Honor Judge Denison presiding.

BAPTIST vs. LARNER.—An action on account for $148 with interest, was the only case on the docket. A verdict for the plaintiff for $108.29 was obtained. R. K. Wood for the plaintiff and C. W. Sowers for the defendant.

Personal.

Mr. J. A. Richardson, Canadian Passenger Agent of the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific Railway, is registered at the Grand Central Hotel.

Mr. Alexander Stewart, the trusty caretaker of the Charlotte street rink, and his amiable wife celebrated the 27th anniversary of their marriage on Thursday.

Those petite models in the windows of the "Golden Lion" represent one of the styles of dresses being made by Miss Johnson from Fair, VanEvery & Co's, elegant assortment of Dress Goods, comprising every material and shade. Their Grand Exhibit of French costumes (with trimmings to match), Black and Colored Silk, Marcellines, Cheek Silks, Stripes Silks, Cashmerettes Cloth, Zephyr Ginghams, Organdies, Surpasse Flannels, Brocades, Muslins, &c., surpasses everything for Variety, Quality and Cheapness.

The Athletic Association.—A meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association was held in Mr. R. E. Rogers' office on Wednesday afternoon. The following is the list of officers, the directors having been authorized by the general meeting to appoint them. The President, Dr. Geo. Burnham, is an ex officio member of the Board:—
FATHERS—Rev. V. Clementi, C. A. Waller, Geo. A. Cox.
FATHERS—Mrs. R. Hamilton, Mrs. A. White, Mrs. O'Sullivan.
PRESIDENT—Dr. R. P. Boucher.
VICE-PRESIDENT—H. T. Strickland.
PRESIDENT—Dr. Geo. Burnham.
1st VICE-PRESIDENT—J. G. MacMillan.
2nd VICE-PRESIDENT—J. L. Waller.
TREASURER—Jno. E. Hammond.
DIRECTORS—Messrs. R. B. Rogers, Jno. E. Hammond, Lawford, MacMillan, Kingston, Dayman, Cusker, Mercer, A. St. A. Smith, J. L. Waller.

Chat-Chat.

—Soft.
—Good attendance at the roller rink last night.
—One young verdant went through the regulations, or rather more than the regulations, of the roller rink, to the amusement of the spectators. No doubt he now realizes the hardness of the floor and his own specific gravity.

—The challenge recently issued by Mr. H. T. Strickland and three more Ambrosehamites, to the effect that they were willing to undertake the demolition of any rink Peterborough could produce, has been accepted by the "stripling" rink, Mr. Myles Hamilton, ship. The match will probably take place to-morrow evening.

—The Ontario Bank has been connected with the telephone exchange.

—The City Band will be in attendance at the roller rink to-night.

—The ice at the Charlotte rink is in excellent condition.

THE OLDER FOLK'S CONCERT.

A Novel and Most Successful Entertainment—An Evening of the Days of Yore.

A complete success was the concert with the music and costumes of olden times, given in Bradburn's Hall under the auspices of the George Street Methodist Church on Thursday evening. Everything was excellently managed and in thorough keeping. The ushers, who found the seats for the immense audience with a most satisfactory absence of confusion, were habited in the garb in vogue at the period of the tie wig. The book of songs, or "Ye bills o' fare" and the programme of "Lyte o' pieces" were written and printed in the style of a century ago, the contents, words and typography all carrying out the idea. It seemed only natural that the musicians should be clothed in appropriate costumes, and that the certain rows and the three score vocalists fled upon the stage, the dames, maidens and "Singing men," should recall by their tasteful dress a time long since past. To complete the effect, on each side of the stage were groups of maids and grand dames halting, sewing and spinning while playing propriety in olden fashion. The concerted music under the noted timist "Father" Miller, were admirably rendered; "And Lang Syne," "Sweet is the Day of Sealed Rest," "David's Lamentation," "Strike the Symbol," "Pope's Ode," "Cousin Judith," with a solo by "Dance" Logan, "Jernaleop," my Glorious Home," "The Marcellus Hymn," "Ye Sons of Men with Joy Record," "Sound the Loud Timbrel," "Lord what a Thoughtless Wretch was I," "Old Folks at Home" with solo by Miss Johnston, "Lord Darius Us" and "It is by Thy Strength the Mountains Stand," were all given with an effect which belied the casual position. In the first act "Two part song" "I've been Dreaming," "Miss Fanning and Walkabout Anderson (Mr. D. G. Galtley) acquitted themselves so as to receive well deserved applause, when they gave "Rachel and Reuben" with even more applause. Another successful duet was sung by "Dance" Charley Harryman and Bradburne, (Mr. Harrison, of Kewee and Mrs. T. Bradburne). The vocal solos were as well appreciated. "Nancy Lively" (Miss E. Hueston) sang "Home, Sweet Home" so sweetly as to be enthusiastically recalled, when she delighted the audience with "The Tea Song," "Gondola's Advice" (Miss Galtley) sang "Gondola's Advice" so well and with such arch effect that she was called upon to repeat the last verse. Miss Fanning did justice to that ever favourite song "The Last Rose of Summer." "Walkabout Anderson" (Mr. D. G. Galtley) sang "Within a Mile of Edinburgh Town," in the style which has made his singing so popular with a Peterborough audience. "When George III was King" was given by "a venerable party" (Mr. Pratt) with such humour as to call forth uncontrollable merriment. Mr. Heathfield played on the harp, a melody of old airs with his accustomed taste and execution. Mr. Schneider also acquitted himself well in a solo on the same instrument. We must not forget to give due praise to the "apothecary" by Mr. Coleman and Mr. Abraham Herbert (Mr. A. Glegg), who recited with success the "Northern Farmer" with its trying dialect, his "make-up" also being excellent. We may add that the accompaniments were played with much taste and good judgment by Messrs. Heathfield, piano, Schneider, organ, Cooper, first violin, Butcher, flute, and J. Miller, cornet.

"God save the Queen," sung by all the men and women singers, concluded a most delightful entertainment, not only excellent in itself, but with the added charm of a quaint and pleasing idea carried out to perfection. One among the many amusing suggestions in "Ye Bills o' Fare" was certainly unnecessary, that the newspaper critics not to censure the plainness of some of the "womansingers," as "they may not themselves," for the pretty ones looked prettier than ever, and if there were any plain ones, which certainly was not observable, they looked charming for this occasion in their quaint but attractive costumes. It was most satisfactory to hear Mr. Glegg announce that as so many had been unable to obtain admission, it had been determined to repeat the performance next Tuesday evening. Many who were present will certainly seize the opportunity to attend again, as well as those who were too late to secure a place on this occasion. It is also gratifying to know that the great pains that must have been taken by the pasteurizer and managers were rewarded by financial success, for there must be a considerable addition to the organ fund, as the hall was filled in every part.

When this old band was new.

Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attractions.

Spring, Gentle Spring.

The beautiful spring days are approaching, and the average poet no doubt is preparing suitable stanzas on the same; are long long redoubt will be heard carolling his sweet notes under our windows, or above head in some tall and towering tree, while the dawn of day is just breaking; the small boy will then rise an hour or so earlier, and before partaking of his breakfast, or watching that sagged school lesson, will his himself away with Tom, Dick or Harry to some quiet nook in search of fun of some description; the father of the household will begin gardening operations, and the beautifying of the lawn, and in this way the spring of 1886 will be welcomed in by hundreds of thousands of the inhabitants of this earthly globe. In all the hurry and bustle that will necessarily follow the above, the public of Peterborough should not forget one important item that is not mentioned yet. There is always an important point to get at, and in this case there is no exception to the rule. Read the remainder of this paragraph with caution, and mark well the advice given gratis by A. McNEL, viz., if you want Spring Clothing of any description, call at Hablittman Hall, George street, where there is an endless profusion of Spring and Summer Goods to choose from, at reasonable prices.

Services on the War Path.
WATERBURY, March 26.—News has been received here that while Bapier is advancing on Salvador at the head of 15,000 men, President Zaldivar, of Salvador, is at Santa Anna on the Guatemalan frontier with 10,000 men. General Prieto, brother of the late President of Costa Rica, yesterday entered Nicaragua at the head of a force which will join the Nicaraguan army and march into Salvador to aid in battling back Bapier.

Respectable Farmers.
STEWARTVILLE, Ind., March 25.—Yesterday farmers Fleishman and Schandall, between who a feud existed, met on the road, when Fleishman evoked Schandall's wrath with a play point. Schandall then made an onslaught with a peering knife and cut Fleishman to pieces.

IN THE NORTHWEST

A Battle Fought with the Rebel Louis Riel.

TWELVE LOYALISTS KILLED.

THE POLICE AND CIVILIANS RETREAT TO THE FORT IN GOOD ORDER.

Several Men Wounded—The Rebel Loss not known. A Junction formed by Irwin and Crozier. The Two Batteries and Toronto Regulars Called Out.

OTTAWA, March 27.—After recon, in the Commons, Sir John Macdonald rose and stated that he had received messages from Col. Irvine to the effect that he had arrived at Carleton. The telegram did not mention the date of his arrival. Capt. Crozier had gone to Duck Lake to secure supplies which were there, and on his return was met by two hundred rebels, who endeavoured to surround the police. The rebels fired the first shot. The police then opened fire, and the engagement became general. Ten civilians and two policemen were killed. Four civilians and seven policemen were wounded. The constables killed are: J. T. Gibson, J. P. Arnold. The civilians killed are:—Capt. John Merritt, Wm. Napier, Jas. Blakely, Robt. Middleton, G. Elliott, D. Mackenzie, D. McPhail, A. Hewitt, Jos. Anderson, Alex. Fisher.

The civilians wounded are: Capt. Moore, Constable W. R. Markly and Alexander Stewart.

The police wounded are: Inspector G. Lowe, Corporal Gilchrist, Constables Garrett, S. F. Gordon, A. A. Smith, J. J. Moore and A. Miller.

The civilians and police acted with great coolness under a heavy fire. Capt. Crozier with his force retreated in good order, and reached Carleton at the same time as Col. Irvine's troops got there.

Sir John stated that now the incorrectness had reached these proportions the fullest information would be given by the Government from time to time.

Replying to Mr. Blake, Sir John said there were great supplies of food for the Indians in different portions of the territory, but it was not advisable for obvious reasons to state just where. Geo. Dwydney had telegraphed from Regina that everything south was quiet. The whole of the force was in the neighborhood of Prince Albert and Duck Lake.

Sup. Egan of the Canadian Pacific had informed the government that a half-breed had captured while endeavoring to derail the train which was conveying the men of the 90th west. This man had said Riel's force consisted of fifteen hundred men, well armed and having plenty of American cannon. Steps had been taken to forward troops over the Canadian Pacific north of Lake Superior. The gap was about seventy miles. Nothing there was good. Plenty of lights had been provided and the men would be carried through without interruption.

Mr. Carson said 500 men would at once be sent forward, of which number 100 would be from "A" battery, who would leave Quebec to-night or to-morrow morning, and 100 from "B" battery, who would leave Kingston Saturday night or Sunday morning. Gen. Middleton was at Winnipeg, but would leave for the west to-morrow morning.

EXCITEMENT AT WINNIPEG.
Winnipeg, Man., March 27.—Gen. Middleton arrived this morning and inspected the stores, clothing, magazine and supplies at Fort Osborne. The general was accompanied in his inspection by Col. Houghton. At 9.30 a general alarm was sounded here. The bugles were sounded for the military to turn out. An hour later they were ready to embark, but it was not until 7 o'clock this evening that the remainder of the 90th west, who would leave Kingston Saturday night or Sunday morning, Gen. Middleton was at Winnipeg, but would leave for the west to-morrow morning.

Louis Guynne, aged 25, the man arrested at Broadview for attempting to derail the train carrying the 90th west, to Appleton, has been brought here. He said Riel was being joined by large numbers of American Indians, and that Capt. Crozier had been taken, but this is a lie. He has the appearance of a common cowboy, and had been recruited by Riel with a mission to agitate the half-breeds and Indians.

Musket, chief of the Stonies, fifteen miles south of Battleford, has offered one hundred men to aid the police. Capt. Crozier has 200 Indians under arms. He has also three pieces of artillery. The telegraph line to Prince Albert is still down.

BATTERY EN ROUTE.
KINGSTON, March 27.—The greatest activity prevails at the Barracks here. It is understood that the Battery are under instructions to leave for the immediate defence of 100 men of the "A" battery in all probability to-morrow, going to Renfrew, where they will join a detachment of "A" Battery, and go west by the C.P.R.

QUEBEC, March 27.—Peremptory orders were received by Col. Cutton from Ottawa to-night that the immediate departure of 100 men of the "A" battery to the scene of disturbance in the Northwest. The orders were immediately acted upon, and a special train will leave Falaise station at 1 a.m. with 100 men under command of Captain Peters and Lieutenants Hudson and Rivers. They have all necessary ambulance and ammunition with them, besides nine horses and two mule powder field guns. The men are in the best of spirits and seem ready for a little active service.

CALL TO ARMS IN TORONTO.
TORONTO, March 27.—About half past nine o'clock orders were received by the military authorities here to call out Company C, stationed at the New Fort; also 250 from the Queen's Own and 250 from the 10th Royals.

THE FENIAN ACTIVE.
BUFFALO, March 27.—The news of the fight between the police and Riel in Northwestern Canada was received in Fenian circles here before five o'clock to-day. In the evening reports were received that went to show the half-breeds were watching events in Canada closely. One prominent man of the order said they were well organized in Chicago, St. Paul, Duluth, and in several places along the boundary line. "We would take Winnipeg and hold it without trouble," said he, "and in five days we may be in it. We'll hit England wherever the opportunity occurs."

HAN RIEL FLED?
OTTAWA, March 27.—A despatch received at midnight from Qu'Appelle says Riel, frightened at the serious aspect of affairs, has retired from the command of the rebels to save his skin. All points will be watched to prevent his escape.

EVERY CANADIAN'S DUTY.
The Toronto Globe says:—"In the face of this crisis it is the duty of every Canadian to render loyal assistance to the Government, so that the reign of law and order can be re-established. Whatever may have been the causes of the unhappy dispute the first duty of the nation is to assert its authority."

"You're etc."

TREASON.

VIENNA, March 27.—Baron Potier des Fouches, on the 18th, proposed to Russia that he should furnish plans of Austrian forts to the International Bureau at Copenhagen.

NEGRIERS PRECARIOUS POSITION.
PARIS, March 27.—The Gaulois says thirteen French officers were killed at Long Bang. Gen. Negrier's position is exceedingly precarious. Forty thousand Chinese are massed near him.

AN ULTIMATUM.
LONDON, March 27.—A proposal of partaking of the nature of an ultimatum was telegraphed by the Government to St. Petersburg yesterday. The Russian Government was requested to send an answer not later than Monday.

THE WAR FEELING.
LONDON, March 27.—The Queen's message calling out the reserves and militia has been received by the country with great enthusiasm. The war feeling is strong among the reserves.

GRANVILLE'S PROPOSAL REJECTED.
LONDON, March 27.—The Globe says: Lord Granville, on the 18th, proposed to Russia that the Russians and Afghans should withdraw from the disputed territory and remain outside during the continuance of negotiations. Russia did not reply until Wednesday. They refused to accede to the proposition on the ground that the withdrawal of her troops would be humiliating. The Cabinet then decided to embody the reserves and militia, and send the ultimatum already referred to. In the event of war, 25,000 militia will be assigned to garrison duty in Ireland, and that number of regulars will be released for active service.

FIRMNESS OF THE GOVERNMENT.
LONDON, March 27.—In the House of Lords this evening Granville, replying to the Earl of Kimberley, said there was nothing indicating a tendency to flinch on the part of the government regarding the Afghan question. The government were firmly adhering to the policy agreed upon by both the great political parties, while at the same time, they were availing themselves of every means to arrive at a satisfactory solution of the difficulty. He was unable to fix a date when the negotiations would be concluded. Russia was now considering England's despatch. England considered Russia bound by the recent agreement. In the meantime the Amer. of Afghanistan had instructed his aide to observe strict neutrality.

KASSALA HOLDING OUT.
KHARTOUM, March 27.—Kassala's advice dated on the fifth inst. state that the garrison is still holding out. It is reported that negotiations with a view to an attempt to relieve the garrison by the Italian troops at Massowah, are in progress.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.
LONDON, March 27.—The examination of Cunningham and Burton, the dynamite makers, having been finished, both were, this afternoon, committed for trial on a charge of treason felony.

UNEASINESS.
LONDON, March 27.—Great uneasiness is felt here over Gen. Graben's delay in advancing. It is feared the situation is serious.

CONFERENCE WITH THE AMER.
RAWAL PINDI, 27.—The Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, the commander-in-chief of the Bombay army, the commanders of Indore and Madras, and numerous Punjab chiefs have arrived. Earl Dufferin is expected to-day. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught are coming. The Amer. of Afghanistan is expected on the 30th.

Farmers should always bear in mind that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Cotteswolds, Shirlings, Ducks and Berries. He keeps the best makes of Canadian mills produce.

HANLAN AND BEACH.
The Canadian Again Defeated by the Australian Sculler.
By The Review.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 28.—In the sculling match on the Paramatta river to-day between Hanlan and Beach, for $2,500 a side, and the championship of the world, Beach won by six lengths. The course was 3 miles and 330 yards.

BOBCAYGEON.
MILL.—Another Hercules lift has been given to the progress of this village. Mr. Wm. Lick has added a Saw mill to his extensive mill premises. The new building is 28 x 55, with a thirty feet platform the full length. It is one story, 18 feet high, and will run a circular saw. The great engine of the mill is a 100 horse power engine, with a much more powerful one, and is now in course of construction by Makins, of Lindsay. The building and mechanical arrangements are under the skillful supervision of that experienced mill wright, Mr. David Gage. It is to be in running order by May 1st, and will then be ready for custom work.

Loss.—The severity of the frost has occasioned a heavy loss to Mr. John Kennedy, of the Planing Mill. He had lately used to considerable expense in placing the mills in first class order, having put in a new boiler, and a quantity of new machinery. Last night the engine lay idle for a day, and the next morning a fire was put out to keep it warm, till the men came to work. The day being a terribly stormy one, and Mr. Kennedy being unwell, the men did not go to their work, and the fire was allowed to go out, there had been just enough steam used to collect a little in the cylinder and condense. The water from the condenser was a piece burst from the cylinder and the engine was injured to such an extent that a new one had to be procured. The mill is again in running order, and is now engaged in churning up with the work. Independent.

CAMPBELLFORD.
TEN CHEESE FACTORIES.—All that can be done for the erection of the two new cheese factories in Seymour is being performed to ensure an early beginning when spring opens. One of the factories will be situated near the north-west limit of the township and the other near the southern line. When they are completed there will be ten factories in operation in the township.

TOT TAKEN OFF.—Mr. William Craighead, of 8-1/2 m., had the large toe of his left foot badly frozen while he was chipping on the farm of Mr. William Neal, that no treatment would bring back the circulation of the blood. He consulted a physician some time ago, and it was found necessary to cut the toe off close to the foot.—Herald.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1885.

NATIONAL IMPORTANCE OF THE C. P. R.

THE trouble in the Northwest has brought to the notice of the people an important reason why the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway is necessary if Canada is to be a compact and strong Dominion. If the rising wave of such a character as to necessitate the sending of troops from Ontario or Quebec to the Northwest, it could not be done, except at the cost of delay, without sending them through United States territory, which at any time is not expedient, and might not be allowed by the Washington Government. Thus if serious trouble did at any time arise in the Northwest, either through discontent among some of the residents or Indians, or through an immigration of the discontented elements in the United States, serious mischief could be done before the soldiers from the east could arrive at the scene, unless the United States Government would be willing to allow them to pass through that country, and in case of such a trouble in British Columbia the difficulty would be much greater. It is very important indeed that we should have railway communication through our own territory, between the capital and all parts of the Dominion, and, thanks to a patriotic and energetic Administration, this we will soon have through the completion of the great national highway. The present trouble, too, small though it may be, shows that the completion of that railway should not be unnecessarily delayed.

Mr. MOWAT argued in the House against elected and in favor of appointed judges. The Legislative Assembly of Ontario is elected, and yet Mr. Mowat has constituted a high court of appeal to review and annul the decisions of the appointed judges of the land. But Mr. Mowat values consistency as little as the constitution.

ONEMERE.

FIRE IN EMILY.—On Saturday night at about 9.30 o'clock the house owned by Mr. Arthur McElwain and situated a short distance north of this village was destroyed by fire. The fire commenced while Mr. McElwain was out at the stable, and was caused by a lamp exploding. All the contents of the house were burned, together with about $100 in cash which was in the pocket of an overcoat hanging in the building. No insurance.—Herald.

LINDMAY.

CUBANA.—The "Bertram cup," played for at points, has been won by Mr. T. E. Bradburn who will hold the plate for one year. The competition on Wednesday night of last week six members made scores of nine points each. On Saturday night the contestants played off. Mr. Bradburn winning as above noted.

ACCIDENT.—A very serious accident happened at the separate school last Tuesday to a little boy named E. Malone, aged twelve. During the afternoon recess he and several small boys climbed upon the wooden shed, but going too near the edge Malone slipped off and fell a distance of six feet striking his face on a stick of wood. His chest was cut and his eye badly injured. Dr. Fule was sent for and dressed the wound. The sight of one eye will probably be destroyed.

ROBBERY AND ASSAULT.—On Saturday night about eight o'clock Mr. James Campbell, who lives in the south-west corner of the corner of Bannan's hotel, knocked down and robbed. The robbers, in addition to inflicting a severe wound on the unfortunate man's head went through his pockets and took $25 in cash and his knife, pipe and tobacco. A piece of beef was carrying was also taken. The police have no clue. On Monday afternoon about four o'clock Mr. James Campbell was walking near the Millard station when he was assaulted near the coal sheds by two men. He defended himself with a pocket knife which he had in his hand and cut his assailants. The police are on the lookout for a man named McFarlane on suspicion. Mr. Campbell could not identify McFarlane as one of his assailants, and while the prisoner was locked up in the room at the town hall he managed to get through the window an axe from children who were about the building, broke open the lock of the room and escaped. The police have no clue in this matter as well.—Post.

F., took place on March 17, 1885, consisting of the following brethren, who took part in the dedication ceremonies, viz.:—The Vice-Chief Ranger, Bro. W. H. Bretherton; H. C. Ranger, B. O. Cronk; H. Vice-Chief Ranger, Bro. W. Foster; H. Chap., Bro. H. Davis; H. H. of the North, Bro. Cronk; H. H. of the South, Bro. Bailey; H. H. of the West, Bro. G. Kerr; H. H. of the East, Bro. James Kerr. Chief Ranger of the Court acted as right W. H. Marshall, assisted by D. D. H. C. R. Bro. W. Watson, of Peterborough, as R. W. H. C. Ranger, who conducted the ceremonies in an able and efficient manner. The proceedings on the whole, were well carried out in every respect. Quite a large number of visitors were present to witness the ceremony. Great credit is due to the Foresters of Court Rob Roy for the beautiful and timely manner in which the hall was decorated for the occasion, considering that they have only been in existence two months and a half, and starting with a membership of a dozen charter members, and since that time the roll has been increased to a membership of forty, and more to follow. Immediately after the brethren proceeded to the Town Hall, where a large number were waiting for the concert. Precisely at eight o'clock p.m. the choir was taken by Bro. James Kerr, Chief Ranger of the Court, in full regalia of the order. We might say that the amateur and professional who took part did credit to themselves and to the singing of Miss Lottie Watson, of Peterborough, and also Mr. Frank Clark, banjo and list of the songs played, fairly brought down the house, and were loudly cheered. The singing of Mrs. Jones and Miss Kaidin, and also Mr. George Duffield in his own songs caused a great deal of merriment among the audience. The club singing of Mr. T. McNaughton was a hit in itself. He fairly held the audience spell-bound for 25 minutes and was loudly cheered at the close of the performance. Prof. Butler kindly provided at which the singing of the club singing of Mr. McNaughton. Among others we noticed a table, Fatih, Hope and Charity, by Misses Cook, Finlay and Kemp, which was also well received. Bro. Kemp sang Mr. Geo. O'Brien gave an instrumental duet which was well received and did credit to themselves, it being their first appearance in public. The Misses Cummings also gave a duet, which was well received. We might specially mention that in the second part of the programme Miss Lottie Watson was the star of the evening. She appeared in the character of "The Duke," which brought forth bursts of applause, and was loudly cheered. Mr. A. D. Brown, of Peterborough, who was to take part, was unfortunately prevented from attending, and Miss Lottie Watson kindly consented to fill that part of the programme. She gave a song entitled "Call me back Again," which was well received and highly enjoyed. Many thanks are due to Misses Madison and Roxburgh for providing the organ.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The High School Law.—The Provincial Franchise Amendment to Keep Down Expenditure Defeated.—Police Magistrates for Counties A Tax on Peddlers.

THURSDAY, March 26.—Mr. HARRISON presented the report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Mr. MEREDITH said that the report suppressed facts which should be inserted, and it should not give a statement of the position of the judges, as no evidence regarding it was given.

Mr. FRANKS said that the report was a fair and impartial one.

ST. THOMAS CITY.

A bill respecting the debt of the city of St. Thomas was read a third time.

HIGH SCHOOL GRANTS.

Mr. G. W. Ross moved the third reading of the High School Bill.

Mr. MEREDITH moved in amendment, that the bill be referred back to the committee of the whole with instructions to provide that departmental regulations or Order in Council altering the basis fixed by statute law for the distribution of the legislative grants for high schools and collegiate institutes shall not be operative until approved of by the House. He said that the bill gave the Government power to interfere with the basis of the distribution of the high school grants.

Mr. G. W. Ross said that the amendment was unreasonable, and that the House should trust the Government.

Mr. CHAPMAN said that by these regulations the Government could do very general conditions laid down by the statute as to alter the whole basis.

Mr. MOWAT said that the regulations of the department must be subject to the basis laid down in the bill.

Mr. REMATINGER said that the Government was into power on an amendment involving the very principle of the amendment.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 28 to 41, and the bill was read a third time.

THE FRANCHISE.

Mr. FRANKS, in committee on the Franchise Bill, proposed an amendment to reduce the qualification of wage earners to $250.

Mr. MEREDITH said that this was one good result of the discussion raised by the Opposition. An amendment was also made so that wage earners could be placed on the roll on forwarding the necessary declaration to the assessor.

TEACHERS' SUPERANNUATION.

Mr. G. W. Ross' resolutions on the superannuation of teachers were considered in committee and adopted.

MEASURES ADVANCED.

Bills respecting gamblers, debtors, barristers, at-law, county police magistrates, vital statistics, public cemeteries, Sunday excursions, ditches and watercourses, coal of elections, and the Anatomy Act, were advanced a stage.

The bill to amend the law respecting the protection of game was dropped.

THE EXPENSES OF LEGISLATION.

Mr. MEREDITH, when the item for legislation came up for consideration, called attention to the increase of expenditure under this head. He moved that the following amendment be substituted for the motion:—"The expenditure for sessional clerks, writers, and messengers is excessive and ought to be reduced, and that resolution be forthwith re-committed to Committee of Supply with instructions to reduce the appropriation for that service by the sum of $5,000."

After some discussion the amendment was lost by 28 to 38.

IMMIGRATION.

Mr. BRODER, when the item for immigration was taken up, moved in amendment:—"That in view of the immigration policy announced by the Government it is unnecessary to maintain a large staff of agents in Europe and Ontario, or to provide so large a sum as $19,900 for immigration purposes, and that the resolution be referred back to the committee with instructions to reduce the sum to $10,000."

Mr. AVERY moved the following amendment to the amendment:—"That this House, while concurring in the resolution, desires to express the opinion that the chief office of the Government in matters relating to immigration in the present condition of the labour market should be directed towards the settlement in the province of towns and cities, and that the agricultural labourers."

The amendment to the amendment was adopted by 40 to 28.

REFUGES.

Mr. CROFTON, on the item for refugees, moved in amendment:—"That this House, while concurring in the resolution, regrets that his Honour has not been advised to recommend the payment to the municipalities the interest they are justly entitled to on the school land improvement fund, in advance of the settlement by Quebec and the Dominion. In view of this fact that their right is acknowledged, and that this province has a large sum in hand arising from the sale of school lands."

Mr. FRANKS moved an amendment to the amendment to the effect that the House have no objection to the Government making a sale factory settlement at the earliest moment.

The amendment to the amendment was adopted by 40 to 30.

OVER EXPENDITURE.

Mr. WOOD, on the item for over-expenditure, moved in amendment:—"This House regrets that so large an over-expenditure as $174,456 in the year 1884 should require to be provided for, and desires to record its opinion that the sum of $50,000 for 'Unforeseen and Unprovided' would be ample to cover expenditure of that class, and in future the expenditure should be kept within the sum provided by the House to meet it."

Mr. BAKER moved an amendment to the amendment expressing the opinion that the Government would keep the expenditure within a limit consistent with the proper administration of the public service.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Bland, Crofton, A. M. Ross, Messrs. White and Carnegie, and the amendment to the amendment was carried by 43 to 22.

POLICE MAGISTRATES.

The House went into committee on the bill empowering the Government to appoint Police Magistrates for counties when asked for by the County Councils.

Mr. MEREDITH objected to the bill in its present shape. It was a scheme for securing non-patronage. If it was intended to apply to Scott Act counties, why not limit it to those counties?

After further discussion the bill was reported with amendments.

PEDDLERS.

The bill to impose a tax on persons, who were agents for persons outside the county, offering for sale tea, dry goods or jewellery, was passed through committee after discussion.

PROBATION.

Mr. MOWAT said that it would be impossible to have the House prorogued before Monday.

Dying in the Forest.

DETROIT, March 26.—A Cadillac, Mich., despatch says two woodmen coming home on snow-shoes through the woods found an Indian camp on Pine river, in the south-western part of this country, where only an Indian girl had survived a party of seven. She had been four days without food. They took her to the nearest settlement and buried the others in the snow. The river was frozen and the snow too deep to hunt. They perished of cold and starvation.

FRANCE-Canadians Steamships.

It is stated that the French Government is likely to add $120,000 per year to the $50,000 promised already by the Dominion Government toward a Franco-Canadian line of steamships. Two vessels of the fleet will have to sail under the French flag and be manned by French crews.

It is conceded that the finest five cent cigar in the market are those made by the Peterborough Cigar Factory.

The Locomotive in Winter.

A locomotive cab in winter is a dreary place. It is bad in daytime, but on a winter night, when the snow flies fast, the locomotive cab is a good place to keep out of. Even in the day it is impossible to see anything if a snow storm prevails. The rails run right up into the air. Nothing can be seen ahead but a jumping of place. The windows are frozen up of course with snow, and from innumerable cracks and crevices round the floor, where it joins the boiler, come draughts that bite and sting. The engine caws like a crow—baw, baw, now fast, now slow, according as the drifts cover the track, or uncover it for a brief space, and when it strikes a drift it throws the snow in clouds all over itself, just as the spray flies over a vessel shipping a sea. The track is rough, to the frost has disturbed it, and the engine lurches ahead, staggering to and fro like a drunken man. These few more impressive spectacles in this world than a powerful locomotive laboring through the gloom tremendous and awful. The locomotive seems the embodiment of the death Angel, moving swiftly and noiselessly. The snow has muffled the whir of the rolling friction of the wheels on the rails, and the train glides by like the unsubstantial phantom of a dream. With black coal, cotton and major, the engine and the man must be unapproachable who does not feel a thrill at this advent.—Mechanical Engineer.

Winter test at Quebec.

QUEBEC, March 26.—The last tests to the "Harston-Henry" rifle, of which Capt. O. G. Harston, of Toronto, is the proprietor, were executed to-day. Out of 150 rounds of firing there was not one miss. The rifle was then fired twice, and the results were as follows: An attempt was made to get a cartridge jammed into the barrel, but the Harston extractor was brought into use and succeeded in extracting it easily. Both Col. Cotton and Major Prescott expressed their satisfaction, and think that the rifle will take its place against any previous invention.

A HOME DRUGGIST

TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Homeopathic Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:—

RHEUMATISM.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of rheumatism, and it was so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress without help. I tried several remedies without much relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

SALT RHEUM.

GEORGE ANDREWS, of Lowell, Mass., writes: "I have suffered for over twenty years with Salt Rheum in its worst form. It was cured by your AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. He was entirely cured by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883."

READING FOR SUNDAY.

LORD, THOU ART GREAT.

From the German of Heide.

"Lord, Thou art great!" I cry, when in the east
The day is blooming like a rose of fire,
When art Thou, Lord, more terrible in wrath,
Than in the midst of the tempest's lowering path?
Thou art the moon's great resurrection hour?
Thou art the dawn's great resurrection hour?
"Lord, Thou art great!" I cry, when in the east
The day is blooming like a rose of fire,
When art Thou, Lord, more terrible in wrath,
Than in the midst of the tempest's lowering path?
Thou art the moon's great resurrection hour?
Thou art the dawn's great resurrection hour?
"Lord, Thou art great!" I cry, when in the east
The day is blooming like a rose of fire,
When art Thou, Lord, more terrible in wrath,
Than in the midst of the tempest's lowering path?
Thou art the moon's great resurrection hour?
Thou art the dawn's great resurrection hour?
"Lord, Thou art great!" I cry, when in the east
The day is blooming like a rose of fire,
When art Thou, Lord, more terrible in wrath,
Than in the midst of the tempest's lowering path?
Thou art the moon's great resurrection hour?
Thou art the dawn's great resurrection hour?

Blessed Those that are Grieved.

We are fond of the notion that we know more Than we are able to do; and we imagine that We are wiser, better, more capable than Our ancestors; and we imagine that therefore
We can afford to disregard much and to Learn much that they have said and done. We forget that, even admitting our superiority—which at least, in some cases, may be done—it is only what ought to be the case, and what is the natural outcome of the accumulative process. The tearing down process would forever prevent this. It is only by honoring those that have passed from among us by acknowledging and developing the best that was in them, that we enrich ourselves, and those to come after us.

Do Not Wait.

Do not wait to become more learned; do not wait to become more perfect in your own strength, which is impossible; do not wait for any miraculous work on your soul; do not wait to accomplish this or that plan; do not wait for a more convenient season, for none will be afforded. If your mind has been drawn to your religious duty, and you have a simple desire to know and love the Lord our Saviour, then rest to express such desire least it should never return. The gracious Saviour, to begin at once His work upon your soul, only demands from you the desire to receive His pardoning grace, and allow Him to mould you more and more after His own likeness. He is no hard master waiting for opportunities to condemn.
He is a gentle Saviour waiting to prepare you for His grand calling, waiting for you to yielding on your part to draw you fully to Himself. Without your full and free consent, He will not bestow His gifts, leaving you to reap the fruits of your own choice.

A Christian's Duty.

The simple loyalty of a man to the church in which he was baptized must not interfere with his further work as a religious man in the community in which he lives. He must undertake in the church and by means of it the elevation of that whole community. That is indeed all that the church exists for. It is not simply a nice little club for the religious to meet in, but a high and noble organization. It is a many sided organization for bringing God's kingdom into that particular town in which it is situated.
If now we want to interest our young people in these separate churches, and I am sure we do, let us show them in visible and certain fact that the organized and religious society, people and minister, stand in the place which in the religion of the dark ages, a priest held alone. That is to say, minister and people undertake with us the supervision and the inspiration of the education, the hospitalities, the charities, in general the humanities of that town.
Let us distinctly give it to be understood that this is what our churches are for. We have not formed them that we may have a good time or hear good music or preaching. We have not formed them because anybody told us to form them. We have formed them simply to fight the devil. In the midst of lying the individual does not lie. In the midst of stealing it stands for temperance. In the midst of idleness it stands for industry. In the midst of ignorance it stands for light. In the midst of indifference it stands for reform and progress. Once give this to be really felt in any town and you have no difficulty in raising people in your organization. There is no difficulty in the way in finding women enough to work for the soldiers.
And show that your church is vital, efficient power in the improvement of the community, and you will have workers enough to help you, men and women of the very best. In a political campaign which really interests people you never have any difficulty in enlisting speakers.—
Edward Everett Hale.

God's Sympathy With the Teller.

Oh, yes, God has sympathy with everybody that is in any kind of toil! He knows how heavy is the load of bricks that the workman carries up the wall; He hears the pickaxe of the miner down in the coal shaft; He knows how strong the tempter strikes the sailor at masthead; He sees the factory girl among the spindles, and knows how her arms ache; He sees the sewing woman in the fourth story, and knows how few pence she gets for making a garment; and louder than all the din and roar of the city come the voice of a sympathizing God—
"Orest thy burden, upon the Lord and He shall sustain thee." Then there are a great many who have a weight of persecution and abuse upon them. Some of these society gets a great weight of persecution and abuse up upon them.
All his motives are misinterpreted and his good deeds are depreciated. With more virtues than some of the honored and applauded, he runs only against railroads and sharp criticism. When a man begins to grow down, he has not only the force of natural gravity, but a hundred hands to help him in the precipitation.
Men are persecuted for their virtues and their successes. Germanicus said he had just as many bitter antagonists as he had adherents. The character sometimes is so notorious that the weak eyes of Envy and Jealousy cannot bear to look at it. It was their integrity that put Joseph in the pit and Daniel in the den, and Shadrach in the fire, and sent John the Evangelist to de-late Patience, and Calvin to the castle of persecution, and John Howe to the stake, and Korah after Moses, and Saul after David, and Heoed after Christ. Be sure if you attempt to do for church or state, and you attempt to do with all your soul, lightning will strike you. The world has had a cross between two thieves for the one who comes to save it. High and holy enterprise has always been followed by abuse.
The most sublime tragedy of self-sacrifice has come to burlesque. The graceful gift of virtue is also followed by scolding with ermine and travesty. The sweetest strain of poetry ever written has come to ridiculous parody, and as long as there are virtues and righteous men in the world there will be something for iniquity to grin at. All along the line of age, and in all lands the cry has been, "Not this man, but Barabas." Now, Barabas was a robber. And what makes the persecutions of life worse, is that they come from people who have helped, from those to whom you loaned money or have started in business, or whom you rescued in some great crisis. I think it has been the history of all our lives—the most acrimonious assault has come from those whom we have benefited, whom we have helped, and that makes it all the harder to bear.—F. D. Wilt Tolague.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.Railway Rates—Partial Prohibition
Louis Riel—The North-West Troubles
—The Budget Debate.

THURSDAY, March 26.—Some petitions were presented, and private bills were advanced a stage.

RAILWAY RATES.
Mr. MULLOCK introduced a bill to amend the Consolidated Railway Act as to railway rates.
Its principal provisions were to give the public an opportunity to have a voice as to the fixing of the schedule of rates; to punish companies for not obtaining the appointment of their rates; to prevent a greater charge for short than long hauls; to prevent unjust discrimination; and to make debts for wages and supplies a first charge.

SIR H. LANGRISH asked if this last clause was to be retrospective.
Mr. MULLOCK said its effect was not limited.
The bill was read a first time.

THE LIQUOR LAWS.
Mr. GROUT introduced a bill to amend the Scott Act so as to allow of voting for partial prohibition, that of spirits, not of wine, beer and cider.
The bill was read a first time.

TEMPORARY LOAN.
SIR L. TILLEY, in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said that since March 1st the Government had borrowed $250,000 from the City and District Savings Bank.

LOUIS RIEL.
SIR H. LANGRISH in reply to Mr. Casey said that during the past year Louis Riel had not been in the employ of the Government, and he was not in their employ now.

MR. P. PRINGLE.
Mr. P. PRINGLE, in reply to Mr. Casey, said Mr.
R. Pringle, of Cobourg, had not been in the employ of the Government since 1883 till lately, when he was employed by a missionary in the Antwerp exhibition, being paid $5 a day and $5 for expenses while travelling.

DO NOT SUGAR.
Mr. BOWELL, in reply to Mr. Vail, said an order had been passed to promote the importation of sugar from Europe, paying duty on the cost less than the drawback.

DUTY ON FLOUR.
SIR L. TILLEY declined to answer Sir R.
Cartwright as to whether it was intended to increase the duty on flour this session, on the grounds that it was not the custom to make known the policy in such matters till a resolution was submitted to the House.

NORTH-WEST TROUBLES.

Mr. BLAKE asked for further information as to affairs in the Northwest, the cause of the rising and the action of the Government.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said there was little additional information. They expected to have 250 mounted police sent out by Carleton. A hundred men of the 9th were at Qu'Appelle, ready to proceed to the South. Saskatchewan if needed, and they could be followed by 200 more men of the same regiment, and a full battery of artillery. Gov. Dwyer telegraphed that the Indians were quiet, and were, in fact, in the report against them, and messages from others confirmed that Riel had come over, apparently with the hope of obtaining money from the public treasury, and not succeeding was endeavouring to raise a disturbance. Among some of the half breeds he was looked upon as a martyr, but the effect could not be serious, unless he were joined by the Indians, and they seemed to be peaceable and loyal. The half breeds had claims, some reasonable and some unreasonable. The half breeds of Manitoba on the creation of the Province, had received land scrip. Those on the plain claimed the same, and it was allowed. But some who had already received scrip on the Red River wanted a second grant, and others who had settled after the survey were made object to the survey scrip.
These cases all had to be considered, and some had been recognized and some refused. If they wished to be considered as Indians there were liberal laws; if as white men, they could take up homesteads. They seemed to want the scrip to sell and then a free homestead in addition. A commission had been appointed to settle the few claims remaining open. One of the commissioners had resigned and his successor had not been appointed.

Mr. BLAKE asked as to the available forces.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD said there were one hundred mounted police at Carleton, and 40 volunteers from Prince Albert. Ninety mounted police under Commissioner Irvine were expected to be at junction with Capt. Crozier at Carleton. There were also two or three field guns. At Qu'Appelle there were 50 mounted police who would move north so as to keep open the communication. There were also 100 men of the 9th, who would be joined by another 200 and a half battery of artillery.

Mr. BLAKE still thought he should have more information.

C. P. R. PROPOSALS.

Mr. BLAKE wanted to know what the proposals of the C.P.R. that had not been accepted, and the reply to them, saying that they should be communicated to the House for their information.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said that having been entrusted by the people with the responsibility of administering their affairs, they were responsible for selecting the time for submitting matters to Parliament. Some portion of the application had not been rejected for want of consideration, and was being considered.
Meanwhile it was against the public interests to bring down the imperfect correspondence.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.

Mr. HESON resumed the debate on the budget. He said that in 1874 the Reformers had been overwhelmingly defeated, and they had drained none of the lost ground since then.
From thirty years business experience he could aver that working men could never buy goods cheaper than now. Goods that were imported under the Maritime Administration were now being manufactured in Canada to the great advantage of our people, who fully recognized the benefit and would not return our trade policy, which had proved so satisfactory. So far from increasing the burden of taxation on the workingmen, the present Administration had repealed taxes that had pressed heavily upon them. The opposition had especially attacked the duty on coal, but it was worth noting that under the late Ministry the average price of coal in Toronto had been 67, while under the present Ministry it was only 54.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MARCH 30, 1885.

THE NORTH WEST RISING.

THE news from the North West is serious, but the first thought of every true Canadian is that there must be a united effort to suppress at once such an attack upon the peace of our Dominion.

The local interest in the operations is naturally greatly increased by the fact that some of our own volunteers have eagerly responded to the call to take part in them.

The attempt that has been made in some quarters to make political capital out of these unfortunate occurrences, meets with no sympathy from the great mass of the people of Canada, whose desire is to show a united front to all enemies of their country, domestic or foreign, till they are completely worsted.

We have given in extras and in our regular editions, all the news that could be obtained, and will continue to lay the latest information before our readers, in the fullest details that can be obtained.

SPRING TIME.

ALTHOUGH the weather has been severe during the greater part of the month of March, evidence of the approach of spring have now appeared, and the warm season cannot in the nature of things be much longer delayed. It is not too early, therefore, to sound a note of warning in reference to the duties devolving upon householders at this time.

Many—we hope almost every inhabitant of Peterborough—will no doubt attend to those things which, at the hot season approaches, need attention. Yet a general review in every part of the town is desirable and necessary. The yards, cellars, outhouses of every kind, cellars, &c., should undergo thorough inspection, and every thing found therein that, if allowed to remain, would be injurious to health, should be removed at the earliest possible moment. We believe it is not too early in the season to give this advice, as everything of the kind referred to cannot be removed too soon and much of it can be put out of the way before the really warm weather sets in.

There is an especial reason for vigilance and care this year. We are told that it is not very improbable that cholera may find its way to our shores, and in view of this possibility, everything that can be done should be accomplished to prevent the disease spreading or to mitigate the severity of its ravages if it does appear. We hope that the fears expressed in this regard are unfounded, but the danger is one of such magnitude that it should not be trifled with. Every householder knows his duty and should do it. The officials will, no doubt, at the proper time, make the necessary inspection, and they should find every yard and all premises in perfect order.

THE PORT HOPE GUIDE has been unfortunate in its attack upon Chief Justice Cameron. Not only has the Chief Justice shown that the attack was groundless, but the Grand Jury at the Victoria Assizes condemned the paper for its improper attack. The Kingston Wing, a Reform paper, also condemns the course of the Guide in this matter, and concludes its reference to it as follows:—

"We believe that when he succeeded the bench he ceased to be a politician, and that his judicial service merits the fullest approbation. The Port Hope paper did the injustice of a palpable injustice, and has no doubt in this made the amende honorable."

In place of making the amende honorable, the Port Hope paper made another and more violent attack upon the Judge, but it is to be hoped that it now realizes the folly of such a course.

"That was a happy typographical error which made a Tory critic call the Rose series of school books the 'Bos' readers. So they are,"—Huron Signal.

They are indeed. They are published by Mr. Nelson, who "bowed" the Globe, which "bowed" the Government that "bowed" the preparation of the series. That they deserve the name of the "Bos" series "Bos" Nelson himself will doubtless admit.

A. C. McCunnell has again opened up a new custom Boot and Shoe shop in the store opposite the Post Office on George street. It is his intention to make to order a first-class Boot or Shoe on the shortest notice. NORTH WEST RISING!

The Evacuation and Burning of Fort Carleton.

THE TREACHERY OF RIEL.

FEARS OF OTHER HALF-BREDS JOINING IN THE REVOLT.

Contradictory Reports of the Fight at Duck Lake—The Blasting of American Fortresses—An Attack Upon Battleford Expected.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 29.—The reports of the burning of Fort Carlton and its evacuation by the mounted police is confirmed by a despatch received by Commissioner Wrigley, of Hudson Bay Co.

WHY IT WAS ABANDONED.

Col. Irvine, with 260 police and volunteers, left the post on Friday after burning the store and other supplies likely to fall into the hands of the rebels. Its evacuation was rendered necessary from lack of provisions to supply the increased force and the exposed character of the post. Col. Irvine has gone to Prince Albert, as being easier to defend and a larger settlement. The only means of news from Prince Albert will be by courier to Battleford, distance 120 miles, and thence by telegraph to Winnipeg.

SEVERE TREACHERY.

Additional particulars of the fight at Duck Lake show that firing was begun by the rebels while Major Crozier was holding a parley with Riel under a flag of truce. The rebels lost forty-seven killed and wounded. A rebel emissary who had been travelling amongst the reserves on the Saskatchewan inciting the Indians to rise was arrested at Fort Pitt. News has just been received of the concentration of the Crees at Fondmak's reserve, and that a delegation is on the way to Battleford to make a demand upon the authorities. The report that Capt. Moore is dead still lacks confirmation. The mail service has been interrupted via Duck Lake and Prince Albert. The last mail is now detained at Humbolt and will probably reach its destination along with the military.

THE MAILS PRESERVED.

The supposed lost mail from Edmonton, Battleford and Prince Albert escaped by a ruse of the mail carrier, who, upon arriving at Duck Lake, saw crowds of half-breed women assembled and excited. He learned they were on the warpath and were waiting to intercept the mails at the junction of the Prince Albert and Fort Carlton trails. He returned to Prince Albert. All the Hudson Bay supplies and Government stores being freighted to the Crees at the junction of the Qu'Appelle valley to-day, and may delay the transportation of troops. Gov. Dewdney has had another conference with Flapet and other chiefs, and has again been assured that they would remain loyal. Hilliard Mitchell, postmaster at Stobart, near Duck Lake, is a prisoner in the hands of the rebels. The people of Medicine Hat have resolved to form a volunteer corps.

WATCHING THE HALF-BREDS.

Scouts are being employed to watch the movements of the half breeds to the north to prevent a surprise. The Canadian Pacific railway authorities have resolved to organize a regiment. Capt. Gantlett will command. Manitoba university students are enrolling. Col. Scott, M.P., is expected to arrive from Ottawa to raise another regiment here. He has telegraphed ahead to the old officers of the former Red River expedition to recruit companies, and to get as many men of the old corps as possible. A special train with arms, ammunition and supplies for the eastern troops is expected to reach here to-night.

BATTLEFORD TO BE ATTACKED.

The latest despatch indicates that the Indians are expected to attack Battleford to-morrow. The railway authorities have resolved to transport to Swift Current station. Telegraph communication between Battleford and Edmonton had been interrupted. A train will go east to-day, and will push on to the end of the Canadian Pacific railway and remain on the gap awaiting the arrival of troops from Ontario.

THE COWBOYS.

OTTAWA, March 29.—A telegram has been received from Calgary to the effect that 150 cowboys were ready in Fort McLeod district to enlist in the mounted corps, which is to be under command of Capt. Stewart.

THE FENIANS AT WORK.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 29.—It is well-known that the Fenian rebellion was fanned into flame, financially backed and munitions of war supplied by the Irish Republican Army with headquarters in Buffalo. The present rebellion also has been fanned into flame by the Fenian Republic Army, headed by the Hon. C. Donohue, who held a captain's commission during the American civil war, and who was a member of the Fenian General O'Neill.

The American Fenians are determined that Canada shall not help the mother country either in the South or in Afghanistan, and to prevent the Fenian Republic from being a palpable injustice, and has no doubt in this made the amende honorable."

In place of making the amende honorable, the Port Hope paper made another and more violent attack upon the Judge, but it is to be hoped that it now realizes the folly of such a course.

"That was a happy typographical error which made a Tory critic call the Rose series of school books the 'Bos' readers. So they are,"—Huron Signal.

They are indeed. They are published by Mr. Nelson, who "bowed" the Globe, which "bowed" the Government that "bowed" the preparation of the series. That they deserve the name of the "Bos" series "Bos" Nelson himself will doubtless admit.

live with insurgents, Indian as well as half breed. News from this point is awaited with intense anxiety. Should there be serious trouble at Edmonton and Battleford, and also at Wood Mountain, the position will be perilous in the extreme.

THE DUCK LAKE BATTLE.

A special to the Mail from Winnipeg at 11 p. m. on March 29, says:—Authentic information has been received of the rebel loss at Duck Lake. The rebels fought throughout under cover. Nothing could be seen of them by the police, the smoke wreath from their long-range rifles being the only visible sign of their presence in the bluff. Hilliard Mitchell, the postmaster at Stobart, is in the hands of the rebels.

NO FURTHER NEWS.

(By Telegram to the Review.)

TORONTO, March 30, 3.10 p. m.—No further news from the North-West has been received at the Associated Press headquarters here at this hour.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

TO BE INVESTIGATED.

LONDON, March 28.—The Duke of Cambridge has directed Gen. Graham to institute a formal enquiry to ascertain whether Gen. McNell is blameable for the disastrous surprise of his force by the Arabs last Sunday.

DEFEAT OF THE HADENDOWAS.

CAIRO, March 28.—It is reported that the Beniamens and Gedine have attacked and severely defeated the Hadendowas near Kenna.

DESERTERS.

SHARIM, March 28.—A woman from Osman Digma's camp says nine hundred Amara deserted Osman on Wednesday, and that the rebels with whom the British had an arrangement on Thursday were sent out to punish the deserters.

BAD CARTRIDGES.

LONDON, March 28.—Lord Wolseley's complaint that the cartridges furnished to the British troops in Egypt, have for service been of an inferior quality and defective in workmanship, having been re-echoed by the war correspondent who asserted that the use of cartridges was suicidal to the soldiers using them, the Government has ordered the manufacture of composite cartridges at Woolwich Arsenal discontinued. The shells of the cartridges hereafter made will be composed of solid metal twist instead of steel and brass, as heretofore.

WANTS TO SURRENDER.

SHARIM, March 28.—It is rumored that Osman Digma desires to surrender, but upon what terms is not stated.

LITERATURE.

LITERATURE WRITTEN IN TORONTO WHILE UNDERGOING AN OPERATION FOR CATARACT ON HIS LEFT EYE.

Awake, my soul, and rest on God.
Why grieve so in despair?
Sore is that weary affliction's rod
Which can cause my dear love
To grieve far from those I dearly love,
My wife and children dear,
I cast myself on God above
To dry each rising tear.
In hopes, a prisoner I remain.
God only knows my fate.
He has the helm for every pain.
My grief to nothing I resign.
Dim and obscure the light of day
Shines on my bloodshot eyes,
Would I again could see the state
The blessing I would prize.
With patience still I must endure
All this most cruel trial,
He smiles, and he alone can cure
My hope is in him still.

I feel deficient, in there one that can Express the worth, the price of man?
We prize the pure, endearing light
When in the full enjoyment of our sight.
A child, for instance, on its mother's knee,
Enjoying health, has sight and vision free;
From youth to manhood onward lightly goes.
Perhaps the worth of sight he never knows.

Nature around him he views with delight,
But passes not to prize the worth of sight;
He never thinks how soon his sight may go.
Leave him in darkness, grief, despair and woe
His vision, flower, induces him to love,
The sea, the sky, the sun, the moon and stars
Through sight and vision he beholds afar.

Look on the change, behold him with surprise.
The now he knows the value of his eyes.
These lovely objects he so much enjoyed Exchanged to darkness, he of sight is void.
O, wretched man, how doleful is his state,
The wealth of worlds cannot relieve his fate.
Through riches now, no pleasure glids his way.
Through midnight darkness he must grope his way.

The light nature all its lovely rays unfold,
But out from him he cannot them behold;
The busy world in which he once took part,
Now, a dark oblivion he is left apart.
All he possesses, all he has desired,
All would he give to have his sight restored.
Not to behold more than ever man could own
Can bring again the precious sight when gone.

Both young and old, whatever your degree,
O, prize that sight which God hath given thee
While you admire all nature's work above,
Look you from nature up to nature's God.

To such as feel the predestinate of sight,
Believe, be glad, enjoy it with delight,
With heart and soul beneath the foot of heaven
To save to you that sight which He hath given.

W. L. TILFORD, Smith.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

The Hostile Armies Confronting Each Other—A Powerful Combination.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 27.—The war fever is increasing. It is believed that Congress, on reassembling on April 1st, will declare war against Guatemala. The president is steadily moving troops toward the frontier. His intention is to place 10,000 men as near as possible to the Guatemalan line.

LA LERMA, March 28.—Several skirmishes have occurred between the forces of Honduras and San Salvador. The armies of Guatemala and Honduras are now confronting the forces of San Salvador. San Salvador, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica have formally entered into a defensive and offensive alliance, and arrangements will be perfected for putting a effective force into the field.

San Salvador will put her whole army into the field. Nicaragua will provide four thousand men, and Costa Rica two thousand. Costa Rica also contributes one hundred thousand dollars toward war expenses. President Zaldívar, of San Salvador, will assume the chief command of the allied forces; President Castaneda, of Nicaragua, will be second in command, and General Soto, of Costa Rica, will probably take third place.

Key West, March 28.—The U. S. steamer Yantic yesterday took an extraordinary cargo of provisions and sailed for Livingston, Guatemala. A detachment of sailors and marines were detailed in the steamer for some hours before their departure.

THE FUGITIVE.

Another Arrest—A Suspicious Circumstance Connected with the Case.

ST. THOMAS, March 27.—Mrs. Pigot, accompanied by her son John and Detective Murray, on Tuesday visited Port Rowan and viewed the remains of the man which had been washed ashore. She identified them as those of her son Marshall, and made affidavit to that effect. A party of men from the ship, who had been on board, and it is said, declared it to be the body of a man who had been on board.

It will be remembered that Smith and Telford were registered at Kennedy's hotel, Aylmer, on November 17th, and that they left the hotel stopped at the Mission House on the same day. An examination of the register at the latter showed that the party bearing date November 17th had been removed.

WIT AND WIDOW.

The worst men are those who stir up others to do evil.

No man of honor will steal a hint from a girl when he can get one from her mother.

A YONKERA bride received among her wedding gifts, a receipted bill of eight dollars, for a pair of shoes, from her father.

"I wonder," said a bonnie lassie, "what our foot sent in the leaves, then he likes them so well. For my part, I would give a good deal for the lassie's or I saw."

Who wrote the most, Dickens, Warren, or Balzac? Warren wrote "New and True," Balzac wrote "Night and Day," and Dickens wrote "All the Year Round."

PAPA.—"Yes, Harry, it is supposed the moon is inhabited and is largely populated." Harry—"Mustn't the people be dreadfully crowded, specially when it's half-moon?"

"Can you give me a definition of nothing?" inquired a number seventeen school teacher. "Yes, mum. It's a bung hole without a barrel around it," shouted little Ted Saunders, whose father is a cooper.

A doctor's house busting to the home of a young married man, and in a cheerful tone asked, "Well, how is your mother-in-law to-day?" "There is no change for the better—either way," cautiously replied the son-in-law.

Tan laid's eldest son was rather a simpleton. His father one day told a tenant, "I am going to send the young lady abroad." "What for?" said the tenant. "To see the world, to be sure."

"But, Jordan, lad, wina the world we live!"

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

A hair mattress is considered the most wholesome to sleep upon.

A well-beaten egg is a great addition to a dried apple pie, giving lightness, and a good flavour also.

Dr. Barry-Tucker says that a few grains of granulated sugar wet with vinegar will stop the hiccup of babies.

When the burners of lamps become clogged with char, put them in strong soap suds and boil awhile to clean them.

If the hair-roots are dingy, their appearance may be improved by washing them in sweet milk; polish them with a flannel cloth.

To avert cold feet, wear two pairs of stockings made from different fabrics—one pair of cotton or silk, the other of wool. The natural heat of the feet will thus be preserved if they are kept clean.

To cook peas shell them into a basin of water; then lift them out with as much water as sticks to them; put into a dry saucepan, with a bit of butter the size of a walnut; keep lid of pan close twenty minutes; shake occasionally.

For removing paint from iron, a mixture of one pound of lime to four pounds of potash and six quarts of water has been recommended as most efficient; other proportions of the same materials do not do so well.

If the hairs fall and bump their heads, get them to hold a hairbrush on the place till you mix a paste of four and water, and wash and water. Spread this over the part, and cover with a bit of this paper to exclude the air. Let it stay on till it cracks and falls off.

SHERRMAN'S EX.—Take cold most of any kind, since it, break the bones, and put them into a little boiling water; but then until you have extracted all the strength, then strain; cover the whole with pepper and salt, lay it in a baking dish, pour in the sauce you strained and a little mushroom ketchup. Have some potatoes mashed, cover the dish with them, bake in an oven, or before the fire until a nice brown.

TAKING CATHARTIC OIL.—Cathartic oil is undoubtedly a difficult thing to give to a patient in bad, especially when there is a rooted aversion to it. There are many ways in which it can be given for the administration, such as brandy, milk, soup or coffee. The last named is perhaps the best, and may be taken as typical, the method of giving being the same, whatever medium is chosen. Take some strong coffee without sugar or milk; thoroughly wash out the medicine glass with it, leaving a couple of tablespoonsful at the bottom; or to this gradually pour the oil, being very careful that none shall touch the sides; give the patient a little coffee to drink, and then the oil in one draught, followed quickly by some more coffee. Take care there will be no curiously perceptible taste; but, if it is not liked, a still better plan is to suck a slice before and after the oil. Much of the difficulty of retaining cathartic oil is due to the disgust produced by its maladministration.

FROM ALL OVER.

THE Prince of Wales and Prince Albert have returned from Berlin.

PROF. LOW'S MAGIC SULPHUR SOAP is highly recommended for all humors and skin diseases.

THE Delaware and Hudson canal will be opened for navigation on the 6th of April.

FREEMAN'S WOMEN POWDERS are agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children or adults.

BAUM, the alleged Texas forger, was committed for extradition on Friday at Chatham, Ont.

NATIONAL PILLS are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all kinds of humors and drunks.

DURING the past week two hundred and forty-eight failures in the United States were reported.

M. ANDRIEU, in his memoirs, has published a list of the members of the Chamber of Deputies whose election expenses were paid by Gambetta from the secret service fund.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. It is proved Live Complaint, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

A SMALLPox epidemic is raging among negroes in Mount City, Illinois, causing great mortality.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Hayward's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

KUTNER WILLIAM has written a letter thanking his German subjects for their evidence of loyalty and affection on his birthday.

A DOUBLE PUNISH.—The popular remedy, Hayward's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally, for aches, pains, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

A COMMERICAL CRISIS exists in Moscow. Within 30 days five of the largest sugar importing firms have failed, their liabilities amounting to sixteen million rubles.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of Hayward's Potent Balm, the best throat and lung balm known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

AN ORDER IN COUNCIL in Saturday's Gazette declares the Scott Act in force in the counties of Kent, London and Adolphus, and in the cities of Ontario, and Brome, Quebec, on the expiry of the present license.

TAKE AYER'S Sarsaparilla in the spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore the healthy tone and vigor of the whole physical mechanism.

This city of Montreal is in danger of heavy floods, the late heavy rains and the melting of the accumulated snow to disappear at a lively rate. Precautions have been taken to avert the threatened damage as far as possible.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood. The best blood purifier is Burdock Blood Bitters. The blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

A DISGRACEFUL scene, which was with difficulty prevented from culminating in a free fight, occurred in the Ohio Assembly on Thursday, caused by one of the members uttering charges of bribery broadcast against his colleagues.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headache, is probably ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

POINTS IN HORSE BREEDING.—A horse breeder should be taken in selecting a horse the first time a mare is bred then afterward. A singular phenomenon, and one which should be more widely known, is the lasting influence conferred upon the mare by her first stallion. This first horse that serves her should be as perfect as possible in blood and breed, for all her offspring thereafter are certain to resemble her.

Proximity of form and constitution is an important but neglected consideration in pairing. The unskillful or careless breeder too often too readily couples animals which the good points of each are almost lost, or the defects of both are increased, and the produce is far inferior to the parents. The defects in one should be met and got rid of by excellence in that particular point in the other. Breeding from one mare by several stallions is sometimes attended with success, but it should never be encouraged after the first decision "nick." A horse and mare are said to "nick" when they reproduce their best qualities in the foal. The more frequently two animals are bred together the oftener the blood of the male mingles with the stallion's to that of the female. As a matter of course, the first foal should show that the blood of the stallion "nicks" with that of the mare, when successive breeding to the same horse is to be continued.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MARCH 30, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Town Council.
A meeting of the Town Council will be held at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

Personal.
Mr. J. Frith Jeffers is in town paying a short visit to his numerous friends. He will remain for a day or two.

What.
At one o'clock to-day cash wheat was quoted in the Chicago market at 77 1/2 cents per bushel.

A fine variety of Easter Cards, cheap. J. KERRIE.

New Attention at the Roller Rink.
Something novel at the Roller Rink to-night. Go and take it in. A full orchestra has been engaged for the evening. Don't miss it.

Woman's Aid Society.
A meeting of the Women's Aid Society of the St. John's Church, will be held at the School House on Wednesday, April 1st, at 3 o'clock p.m. A full attendance is requested.

Another Victory for our Country.
In the new action of the Grand Junction Railway Company against the county of Peterborough tried before Judge Galt in February, judgement was given on Saturday dismissing the action with costs.

The Frolics.
The twenty-four hours contest for one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observer, are as follows:—Fresh to strong southeast to southwest winds; fair to cloudy weather, with sleet or rain towards evening.

Leisure Social.
A social will be held on the evening of Monday, April 1st, at the Grand Central Hotel under the auspices of the Peterborough Leisure Club. The Committee of Management are actively engaged in making all arrangements, and the event promises to be a grand success. All those who attend will doubtless spend an enjoyable evening.

The War News to Advertisers.
The present time affords the business men of Peterborough a splendid opportunity for advertising in the DAILY and WEEKLY REVIEW, as there will be extra editions of the DAILY REVIEW printed daily, and the circulation of the WEEKLY REVIEW will be greatly increased. It will therefore be a double advantage to advertisers to have their advertisements inserted in the REVIEW.

No. 1 Company.
A notice has been posted up at the drill shed requiring every member of the company to report at the drill shed on Tuesday evening 7.30 to prepare for drill. Captain Edwards proposes to drill his company twice a week, so as to prepare for any call that may come. Several recruits are wanted to fill up the company. As the Battalion will, in any case, have to turn out for drill in June, preparations now will not come amiss. All arms and accoutrements out, except those now being given out, are required to be returned at once to the armory.

Reminiscences.
Recently a risk of Ashburhamites issued a challenge expressing a desire to demolish the best rink to be produced by Peterborough. The challenge was accepted by the "Shipplins", shipped by Mr. Myler Hamilton. The match was played on Saturday evening with the following result:

SHIPPLINS.
M. R. Rogers, J. Morris, R. A. Ford, C. A. Lawrence, Geo. F. Orie, H. E. Strickland, M. R. Hamilton, skip. 7.
Majority for the Ashburhamites, 12 shots. The victorious risk is now waiting for fresh words, or risks, to conquer.

The War in the North-West.
In Peterborough to-day the talk of the town is the trouble that has arisen in the Northwest. As an early hour this morning small crowds of the citizens could be seen with heads together discussing the various questions in connection with the late episode of the notorious rebel Riel. Many of them expressed a strong desire to accompany the detachment from here to take part in the war, and if there are more soldiers wanted, it is scarcely a fact that a large number of good men could be found ready to fight for their country in Peterborough and vicinity. There is always a big demand for volunteers in all parts of Canada, and the Northwest is not the only place requiring the services of men at present. There is a standing order for one thousand men all the year round at Hallock Hall to wear the Suits and Gaiters furnished for sale there. A. McNEIL.

From poor models in the windows of the "Golden Lion" represent one of the styles of dresses being made by Miss Johnson from Fab. VanEvery & Co's elegant assortment of Dress Goods, comprising every material and shade. Their Grand Exhibit of French costumes (with trimmings to match), Black and Colored Silk, Marquiseaux, Cheek Silks, Stripes Silks, Cashmere Cloth, Zephyr Ginghams, Organza, Rayonette Flannels, Broadens, Muslins, &c., surpasses everything for Variety, Quality and Cheapness.

PETERBOROUGH READY!

THE HOME FIELD BATTERY ORDERED TO HOLD ITSELF IN READINESS.

And Could Turn Out With Two Hours' Notice—Col. Rogers Recalled by Appointment for Positions in the Infantry Company.

The reports from the North-West created great excitement here this morning. All day long the excitement has continued unabated. The town wears quite a military air. Troopers in red coats in twos, threes and larger numbers, were to be seen on the streets this forenoon.

This afternoon Capt. Langford is selecting his men at the drill shed. He should be able to raise a first class company, as he has the choice of a large number who have volunteered to go out. Early this morning Col. J. Z. Rogers was besieged with applicants to join the company, and it is estimated that more than four hundred have offered their services. Among the volunteers were several men who went to Egypt with the Nile expedition.

THE BATTERY.

This morning Capt. Sanderson received a despatch from Major McLean, of the Durham Field Battery, that he had received orders to hold himself in readiness for active service. The despatch was taken to Capt. Sanderson, who resides some distance from town, by two members of the battery. The Captain is now in town and reports that the members of this division (the right division), which numbers thirty are ready to be called on with in two hours.

The officers of the Battery are as follows:—Major McLean, Port Hope; Capt. Sanderson, Sgt. Major Methal, Q. Master Sgt. Ferguson, Sgt. Snyder, Sgt. Robinson, Sgt. Johnston and Sgt. Keels, Peterborough.

THE MEN

All appear to be eager for a little active service and each one considers it a favor to be allowed to join the company. The order only called for forty-two men, but from the appearance of things it would have been an easy matter to raise a whole battalion without going further than Peterborough.

Shortly after three o'clock the Peterborough volunteers, commanded by Capt. Langford, marched down George Street to the Ontario and Quebec station to see the Queen's Own and Tenth Royals pass through. These companies left Toronto, we learn by a telegraphic message, at 12.30 o'clock. A large number of people have gone to the station to catch them as.

WHAT IS IN STORE

An Excellent Display of Cattle Made by the Howden Meat Market.

The HOWDEN MEAT MARKET has been making preparations for the Easter festival for months, and those who were lucky enough to see the fine herd of cattle that was driven through the streets on Saturday, belonging to this market, saw indeed a sight well worth seeing. The cattle were all in the prime condition. On the market square a crowd soon gathered around the herd and the general remark was made to both feeder and purchaser. Such spontaneous expressions such as these, "Such fine animals!" "Are they beauties?" "By gosh, but they're fine beauties entirely, this beats the old country fairs," were frequently heard. The buyers for the Howden meat market have exerted themselves to make as good an exhibit as was possible, and although this market has made notably fine exhibits heretofore, it may be safely said that this one surpasses them all. Mr. George Dodge supplies eight cattle, which are as fine a lot as has been turned at one time out of any feeding establishment in the county. One animal in particular excited general admiration, a two year old steer weighing 1,700 pounds. Two very fine steers have been selected from the herd of Mr. R. Carter, of Otonabee, and a well built heifer has been purchased from Mr. H. Calcutt, of Ashburham. Six young steers were purchased by the buyers for this market some months ago and have been especially fed for the Easter season. As may be judged by their average weight, 1,400 pounds, they are all in the best condition. Eight fine Berkshire swine are purchased by Mr. D. Fowler, of Smith, and the choice of the flocks of Mr. John Woods, of North Monaghan, and Mr. Humphrey, of Otonabee, supplies lambs for the display. In fact, everything requisite for a first class exhibit has been provided, and the patrons of the Howden meat market may expect something superlative for their Easter table.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

Spring Sessions of the Chancery Division opened at the Court House.

At one o'clock to-day the regular Spring Sessions of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice was opened at the Court House, Justice Frodick presiding.

The bar was represented by the following:—Chas. Moss, Q. C., W. G. Cram, Q. C., G. T. Blackstock, Toronto; W. H. Biggar, Belleville; H. B. Waller, Millbrook; C. W. Rogers, A. P. Poussette, Geo. Edmonds, J. O'Meara, A. E. Peck, R. E. Wood, and S. Masson, Peterborough.

The first case brought before the Court was that of Bradburn v. Taylor.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

MONDAY, March 30.—Alfred Hutchinson was charged by Nightwatchman McManis with having been drunk. He pleaded guilty to the charge, urged the first offence plea and was allowed to go.

REPLENISHMENT.
W. H. Robertson charged Geo. Simpson with the embezzlement of a sum of money amounting to $3.25. The case was enlarged until to-morrow morning.

AMAZINGLY.
Thos. Armstrong charged John McPherson with having committed an assault upon him on Saturday, March 28th. A counter charge was made by John McPherson against John Armstrong for assault on the same date. The case of Armstrong vs. McPherson was heard and enlarged for one week.

REMARKS OF THE JUDGE.
Thos. Armstrong and John McPherson were charged by Chief of Police Johnston with having committed a breach of the peace by fighting in a public place. The case was adjourned.

MAJOR GENERAL MIDDLETON.

The Commander of the British Forces of Canada—His Bravery.

Major-General Middleton, who has gone to Winnipeg to take military direction of the campaign against Riel and his revolutionary movements, is the Commander of the militia of Canada. He first became known in Canada at the time of the Trent affair as a major in the 16th regiment. The headquarters of that corps were at Hamilton, but Major Middleton spent a great deal of his time in Montreal, where he is widely known and universally liked. After serving some five years on the staff of General Wincham he left for home at the time of the withdrawal of the imperial troops, and soon after was appointed commander of the Royal Military College.

The General received his first commission as colonel on the 30th December, 1842, and saw his first active service in 1845, in the southern part of New Zealand, where he took part in the attack on Waikanae. He afterwards served in India during the Santhal rebellion and the never-to-be-forgotten Sepoy mutiny of 1857-58. He was ordered by Gen. Franks to the action of Sultana, and subsequent affairs on the advance to Lucknow. At the siege and capture of that city he was A.D.C. to Gen. Leard, and took part in the storming of Bank's house, and the Martiniere, where he gained him the brevet of Major. The General subsequently served in nearly all the principal actions during the mutiny, and was time and again specially mentioned in home despatches, and has received the order of Commander of the Bath. According to the new rules relative to compulsory retirement, Major-General Middleton would have had to leave the army as a colonel last November, but getting command of the Canadian militia, and his Major-Generalship he can now serve on for some years. The General was recommended to Lord Clyde by Lieutenant-General Sir E. Leard for the Victoria Cross for two acts of bravery, of which the following is a brief outline:—On April 15, 1858, in the engagement near Asmugher, a troop of the military train crossed a large body of rebels. Captain Middleton, staff officer, had been ordered by Sir Edward Leard to take command of the party and gallantly led it. In the mêlée Lieutenant Hamilton, 3rd Sikh Cavalry, fell from his horse mortally wounded. A body of Sepoys, however in hand, rushed at him to cut him to pieces. Captain Middleton and his friend Francis Murphy, a DEPARTING HAND TO HAND FIGHT.

killed several of the enemy and drove off the rest and enabled some others, who afterwards came to his aid, to carry off the wounded officer. On the same day and about the same time private Fowler, of the 1st Sikh Cavalry, was wounded and wounded. The rebels were rushing about him and were on the point of cutting him to pieces when Captain Middleton coolly dismounted, placed Fowler on his horse, and brought him to camp. More devoted and heroic conduct was never rewarded by Victoria Cross. Yet, though Murphy received the decoration in question, Lord Clyde decided to recommend Captain Middleton, on the ground that he was on the personal staff at the time. In writing about this the Army and Navy Gazette stated that this was incorrect, for Captain Middleton had been ordered to place in command of the party, and even if he had been merely present as a staff officer, the Gazette fails to see how that fact would have diminished the credit due to his noble and heroic conduct. General Middleton was appointed to the command of the Canadian militia on the withdrawal of General Leard last year.

A Gardener's Crop.

A fortunate characteristic of the clover plant is its continuous growth on the whole season. It is a well established fact, that the exceedingly valuable and soluble compounds of nitrogen are most abundantly formed in the soil during the hot months of midsummer and early autumn. At this time the cereal crops are harvested, with the exception of corn. If the field is bare, there is no doubt that much fertility is lost whenever a rain comes to wash the soil of its richness. On the other hand, clover flourishes at this season, and guards the soil against loss. A large part of the fertility is stored up in the leaves and stems and goes into the hay barn, but an equal portion has remained in and on the soil as roots and stubble, and will become plant food for the next crop, through the slow process of decay. In other words, the clover plant has transformed a large quantity of fertility from a very soluble condition, into a stable state readily held by the leachy soil. The compounds of nitrogen, potash, and phosphoric acid, that have been removed in the hay should find their way back to the soil in the form of manure. The long continued experiments at Rothamsted to which farmers cannot be too frequently referred show that a clover crop requires three times as much nitrogen for its growth as a crop of wheat. In the face of this, the same experiments also show that clover is especially beneficial as a crop to immediately precede one of wheat. In explanation of this apparent contradiction, we need to remember that clover does not only husband the fertility of the soil, but gets it into a place and condition to specially favor the growth of the wheat plant. The field grains have only a few weeks to perfect their growth, and no time to seek after food not close at hand. They do not have the advantage of growing in the midsummer and early autumn, when, through soil fermentation, the earth has its ready supply of plant food. We need reasons for a firm adherence to the old belief, that clover seed is the best manure that can be applied to a loose soil. Let us grow more clover. Even if it is not four-fold, it will bring "good luck."—American Agriculturist.

The Particular Man

The particular man wants his clothing made to order. He also wishes to select the materials for his suit and have them made up in accordance with his own ideas and taste.

We've always looked on the "particular man" as a man worth cultivating, and we've ever done our best to please him.

We offer the particular man the use of a thoroughly equipped custom department, where he can select from an almost unlimited stock of Cloths, Tweeds, Worsteads and Suitings, all the materials for his Spring Suit. After selecting he can rest assured that they will be made up in the very best manner and in just the style he pleases.

This assurance comes from the fact that we have employed in this department only the very best talent, which has in turn been placed under a capable and experienced hand.

Our prices compare favorably with any house in town, and the customer can rely on getting a stylish, well fitting garment.

THE NORTHWEST

Another Engagement with Riel is Reported!

BATTLEFORD CAPTURED.

The Citizens Still Besieged in the Barracks!

DEMANDS OF THE INDIANS!

A Large Number of Indians said to have Joined Riel.

A SERIAL OF THE REPORT THAT AMERICAN INDIANS HAD CROSSED THE LINE—MOUNTED POLICE GOING TO EDMONTON.

A Reported Murder

(By Telegram to the Review.)

WINNIPEG, March 31.—The situation is becoming more and more alarming. In this city there is no end to wild rumours that are abroad. Business is entirely paralyzed, and the streets are never deserted for a moment. Even in the stillness of the night there was barely any lull in the INFORMANT RYAN AND BUSTLE.

People are beginning to ask themselves what the upshot will be, and are praying that England and Russia may arrive at a satisfactory settlement, so that some regular may be released for active service here.

INFORMATIVE ADVICE.

While the insurgents are supplied with all the latest and most modern arms, the Redoubt being long out of date. Still there is the bravest spirit abroad, fanned, of course, by an intense feeling of indignation.

ADVERTISING TO THE REVIEW.

News of Col. Irvine is very anxiously expected, it being feared that the long distance, in spite of the difficulties of communication, forbids his going.

TOWN OF BATTLEFORD GREEN.

A Battleford despatch received last night said:—Between eighty and one hundred well armed and well disposed Cree Indians came into town last evening. The Hudson Bay officials parleyed with them and endeavored to pacify them, but they plainly intended to be hostile. Later on more of the band arrived and joining their forces with the first comers took possession of the town and every house in it.

AN ATTACK EXPECTED.

The inhabitants escaped to the police barracks, where at the latest advice they were expecting an attack from the Indians, who are gathered on the south side of Battle River. Telegraphic communication is expected to come at any moment.

CONCENTRATING FORCES.

It is understood that there will be a general concentration of local forces at Prince Albert, the abandoning Battleford, Duck Lake and Carlton.

DONOR THE WAR FAULT.

Pound Maker, Little Pine and several bands of Indians have done the war paint near Battleford, and fears are entertained of a general Indian uprising. Despatches from Calgary also say that the Indians are becoming restless and are holding frequent pow-wows.

SCOURING THE PLAINS.

Have cow boys from the ranches are scouring the plains and are occasionally bringing in reports.

PERMANENT RUMORS.

Rumours that Fenians are dropping into the country in small knots are in circulation, but the despatches from the frontier do not confirm them.

INDIANS AT BATTLEFORD.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 31.—The news from Battleford this morning is more reassuring.

The Indians have not committed any serious depredations as yet. The night was spent in a pow-wow. Their demands are not very exorbitant, and it is said that they will be granted. Yesterday they took possession of the Industrial School, and raided houses on the way.

THE INDIANS' DEMANDS.

They ask that the Indian Agent, Bay, go and confer with them, but he will only meet with the chiefs and head men on neutral ground.

CONFIDENT OF HOLDING OUT.

The Cree and Stoney, of Eagle Hill, keep aloof from the movement. The citizens are confident of holding out against any attack until reinforcements arrive. All business is suspended. The Indians are still encamped around the agency buildings.

NOT TRY CONCILIATED.

No conciliation was obtained at the pow-wow held yesterday, and the Indians are behaving as if they owned the country, but it is hoped that a satisfactory understanding may be arrived at to-morrow.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT OF MURDER.

The report that the Five Hills Indians had killed their instructor still lacks confirmation.

THE AMERICAN INDIANS.

Gen. Terry, commanding the United States troops in Montana, denies the rumor that American Indians are crossing the boundary to join Riel.

THE CAMPAIGN OFFERED.

The left wing of the Fortieth arrived at Fort Qu'Appelle yesterday afternoon. The men immediately set to pitching camp, and the campaign is now considered as having opened. They do not expect to make a forward movement for four or five days.

NO NEWS FROM PRINCE ALBERT.

There is no further news from Prince Albert. The citizens of Winnipeg are wild with excitement, and the merchants report that business is at a standstill.

NUMBER OF RUMORS.

The newspaper offices were besieged yesterday by crowds of people anxious to learn the state of affairs in the west. All sorts of rumours are in circulation.

THE SIEGE AT BATTLEFORD.

Those who are familiar with the position of the barracks at Battleford contend that the whites will be able to hold it as long as the provisions hang out, and it is thought that they have sufficient food to last until assistance arrives from the east.

VOLUNTEERS.

The citizens and settlers from all sections are volunteering to assist in putting down the insurrection.

THE BATTERIES FROM THE EAST.

A and B Batteries are expected here next Saturday from the east. They were at Duck Lake, last night some 200 miles east of Port Arthur.

ANOTHER ENGAGEMENT REPORTED.

A half breed just returned from Fort Carlton reports that he was imprisoned by Riel for refusing to join his party. He, however, escaped and says that Riel has a thousand well-armed men, many being Indians. When Irvine and Crozier evacuated Carlton, Riel followed, and he thinks another engagement occurred. He says that a large number of Indians are joining the insurgents.

GOING TO EDMONTON.

Col. Henshaw, with seventy police, left Regina for Edmonton yesterday.

OTTAWA, March 31.—All day yesterday and to-day the wildest excitement has prevailed. The militia department is the scene of the greatest activity, the officials being busily engaged carrying out the minister's instructions. The number of telegrams received and sent away is extraordinary. Mr. Carson is constantly on hand, personally superintending everything. The store branch of the department has been busy since Thursday in issuing supplies of different kinds of accoutrements, etc., and yesterday it was open all day. The cabinet was in session the greater part of the day, but no news was officially supplied to the public.

ILL PLACED SYMPATHY.

Some of the more unscrupulous of the Reform journals, notably the London Advertiser, are still sending the Dominion authorities and are fairly accusing them of causing the rising in the North-West by neglecting to do justice to the half-breeds in regard to their farms.

Archbishop Tache will be regarded as an important and well informed witness, and indeed it is known that his sympathies are strongly with the half-breeds as far as they are right on their side. This distinguished prelate says of the half-breeds of the North-West Territory:

"Half of them were from Manitoba, and knew that the white settlers could get second homes there, they thought they were equally entitled to grants the same as they got in Manitoba."

This is the explanation of the matter. The half-breeds who had a clear right to their farms have already had them secured to them. In the same way where there was suspicion that the claimants had already received their free grants in Manitoba and were not really old settlers as they pretended, further investigation was of course necessary, if the Dominion authorities were to do their duty by the people of Canada by preventing the robbery of their property.

And it is for those who have already received all that was their due, are setting up a false claim to a second grant at their right, with a very probable intention of trying to obtain even a third free grant as homesteaders, that some self-styled "Reformers" are expressing sympathy. It is three fraudulent claimants that they have been looking to revolt, and whose cause the more reckless of them persist in espousing even when fighting against our country and treacherously slaying our countrymen.

THE SECOND HOWAT GERRYMANDEE.

AGAIN Mr. Howat has shown his dread of the unbiased verdict of the people. He dared not face them again, so he has "packed the jury," having gerrymandered the Province in the most unscrupulous manner, so as to secure, if possible, a majority of supporters in the House from the votes of a minority of electors. But he may find that he has overreached himself, for such an iniquitous trick will disgust all honest men, even among those who have hitherto supported him.

Amendment after amendment was moved by the Conservative Opposition, but each in turn was voted down by the triumphant majority, without an attempt to justify the trickery. It could not be justified, since it was utterly unscrupulous, and was a voluntary act without any necessity, but inspired solely by the desire to evade the just verdict of the people.

ROADS AND POLITICS.

If one attends a Reform convention in a frontier county he will hear a roll-call of the men who got government money ostensibly on account of colonization roads money. The Marquette and Aylsworth are the men who manage party politics in the districts where colonization roads are constructed, and who manage the colonization roads. It is not always easy to determine whether the roads are more adjuncts to the politics or the politicians are adjuncts to the roads. The two constitute one piece of furniture, like the article described by Goldsmith which was "a bed by night, a chest of drawers by day." Here is Mr. Aylsworth, for example. He went down to Lennox as a stock broker from New York was buying sheep by whole sale with money sent down from Toronto by the head of another official of the Ontario government. Mr. Aylsworth, much against his will, acknowledged his part in the business, and of course he could not deny that he was a paid servant of the people. But he insisted that he was paid by the day, and that his pay stopped while he was siding in the purchase of sheep by the light of a dark lantern. The Minister of Colonization, however, insisted that it would be highly improper for a permanent official to meddle in politics; but Mr. Aylsworth was only temporarily employed on the Ojibwa road and he "went to Lennox as a private citizen to exercise his political liberty" in the purchase of sheep by the light of a dark lantern. Mr. Aylsworth was employed by the day only, at $7 a day. And then Mr. Carey had the audacity to show that in 1884 the same Mr. Aylsworth was paid $2,300, which would give him $7 a day for every working day in the year and nearly a hundred dollars besides.—Hamilton Spectator.

MARMORA.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SHARONHAM.—Tuesday morning mild and cloudy with nice air, when a very heavy gale of wind from the west, with a blinding snow storm, made everything hum. Colder on Wednesday, milder on Thursday, with a gentle thaw on Friday, which threatened to play havoc with the roads. The cheerful crew has been seen for three weeks.

THE BAND.—Nearly all the members of the Marmora Brass Band went down to Stirling to see the Band there, who were giving a concert. They were highly received, and obtained praise for their playing, considering they have only been organized a little over a year and a half.

THE—Mrs. Angus' house, three miles east of Marmora, was destroyed by fire, defective stovepipes being the cause. This week the farmers around her neighborhood have turned out with their teams and are generously drawing bricks for a new house, which will be begun as soon as possible.

REVENUE OF THE STORM.—Tuesday's storm delayed the stage from Stirling here and did not arrive until Wednesday afternoon.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—Frank Blacker, a four year old son of Mr. G. W. Blacker, merchant, swallowed a large chew of tobacco and nearly died from the effects of it. He had a very narrow escape.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Craik, miller, who has been suffering from St. Vitus, is now able to go about but not quite able to attend to business.

Bunch to visit England.

New Year, March 30.—A London special states that the sportsman learns by cable from Sydney that Beach, Hazlett's conjurer, contemplates an immediate visit to England, and that Hazlett returns home at once. Unfortunately Beach, when he arrives, will consider the challenge from Ross of New Brunswick and will receive other challenges from the United States.

A Fair Patient.

MEMBERS VOLUNTEERING.

MONDAY, March 30.—Mr. Thos. White moved in favor of giving the full seasonal allowance to members serving in the Northwest, and after some discussion and amendment the motion was carried.

MR. BLAKE INDIGNANT.

Mr. BLAKE called attention to and condemned an article in the Hamilton Spectator accusing the "Grits" and other enemies of Canada of exciting the half-breeds to revolt, sympathizing with them and aiding them. He stated that he had a cousin wounded, a nephew and six men from his office had gone with the volunteers, and that his son and nephew had offered their services.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD disclaimed any sympathy with the article.

THE NORTHWEST TROUBLE.

Mr. BLAKE asked if the Government had any further communications to make regarding the Northwest trouble.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD gave the reports as to the Indian rising, which we have already published.

MR. CARON described the evacuation of Fort Carlton, and in reply to Mr. Robertson (Hastings), said that Gatling guns had been ordered and every possible precaution taken for arming and forwarding the troops.

Mr. BLAKE asked for further particulars of the force ordered forward.

Mr. CARON made a statement showing that beside the 200 men "A" and "B" Battalions, 988 from Toronto have been ordered to the scene of action. The following troops were to be provided:—A provisional battalion of 340 men, to be formed under the command of Lieut. Col. Williams, M. P. The 35th Battalion, 300 men, has been called out under Lieut. Col. O'Brien, M. P., Col. Tyrwhitt, M. P., to go as Major in the same Battalion. Capt. A. Todd, Ottawa, has been authorized to organize a company of crack shot sharpshooters to move on immediately. His company will be composed of 45 men. This Mr. Caron stated, with the officers, would make 1,514 men. There are the orders given so far as the troops from Ontario and Quebec are concerned. It has been decided advisable to authorize the formation of the following corps in Manitoba and the Northwest: Lieut. Col. Scott was authorized to raise a company at Regina of 49 men; Lieut. Col. Wood, a company at Battle of 40 men; Lieut. Col. Osborne Smith, 8 companies, 380 men. Capt. Stewart has been authorized to organize a corps of mounted rangers—one company at Calgary of 45; Lieut. Col. C. A. Bolton, one company at Battle of 40 men. Lieut. Col. Houghton has been authorized to accept the services of 12 cowboy scouts, who will be used in that country. Lieut. Col. Scott, M. P., is organizing a battalion composed of six companies, about 250 men. Major-General Horne has organized mounted corps, the number of which I have not heard yet. In giving the battalions ordered for active service, I omitted to state that the 69th battalion, Montreal, commanded by my friend and colleague, Lieut. Col. O'Brien, has also been ordered to keep itself in readiness. No return of their strength have been brought in, but I should imagine there was between 300 and 350 men. The last number, I am informed, showed an efficiency of 350 men. I should fancy that would be the number that would go to the front.

ARMING THE FORCE.

Mr. GALT asked as to the weapons of our men, and hoped that they would be supplied with the best. Mr. CARON said that they had furnished and were furnishing the very best arms that could be provided on such short notice.

Mr. BLAKE declared that he would hold the responsible parties personally, as well as politically, responsible unless our men were supplied with the very best arms it was possible to procure regardless of cost for purchase or for express trains to take them there, or whatever territory they might have to go through. He would hold them guilty of murder if this were not done.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD censured Mr. Blake for his immoderate personal attack upon the Government.

There was some further discussion as to the arms, Mr. O'Brien praising the Soldier and Militia, and Mr. Caron stating that the Martini-Henry was also being issued, besides warm clothing and other necessities for the long journey and severe climate.

THE MILITARY SECRETARY.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said that Lord Melford, the Governor General's Military Secretary, had volunteered to go to the Northwest to serve in any way that the General might find he could be useful.

NORTH-WEST PAPERS.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said the Commissioners would start on Thursday. The papers asked for in connection with the half-breeds and their claims were now in course of preparation.

Mr. IVEY thought that serious as was the affair it was possible to give it too much prominence. In the United States a similar loss of ten or twelve lives was of almost monthly occurrence. The rising must be put down, but it was not necessary to give any prominence to the false impression that were being industriously circulated in St. Paul and other localities to check immigration.

Mr. CARON explained that the company at Duck Lake had been disbanded in accordance with the usual routine, because it had become disorganized.

Mr. WATSON said the company had become disorganized because it had not received uniforms. He approved of the action of the Government in sending forces to protect the settlers.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK.

Mr. CARLING, in reply to Mr. Fairbairn, said the Government intended to ask the Savings Bank system, of which he gave particulars.

CHINESE PIG-TAILS.

Mr. CHAPMAN, in reply to Mr. Blake, said that the Chinese pig-tails were a vulgar lot of ten or twelve lives was of almost monthly occurrence. The rising must be put down, but it was not necessary to give any prominence to the false impression that were being industriously circulated in St. Paul and other localities to check immigration.

TRADE WITH FRANCE.

Mr. AMOT advocated the encouragement of our trade with France, and Mr. Laurin also made some remarks on the subject.

SHE WAS CONVINCED.

"Oh, I can't sing," pleaded a young man, who femininely wanted to be excused before gratifying his auditors.

"Yes, you can. I've heard your friends say you were a pretty girl to whom he had been talking."

"No, I can't," he repeated, getting up to go to the piano.

"Yes, you can. Go on now and sing, please," she urged.

He said he couldn't two or three times more, but he went ahead, and for half an hour his voice was the most potent thing in the room. Then he came back smiling to the young lady.

"Ah," she said wearily, "thanks. You were quite right about the singing."

His face glowed, and he never spoke again to the girl who agreed with him.

What she wanted to know.

"And so you like the yams we are doing?" asked the gallant young man.

"I don't see them," the young lady passionately responded.

"And what shall I tell you of the things of an artist?" he tenderly asked.

"Oh, tell me how you live," she innocently answered.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

FALSE PROPHECY.

Speaking of C. R. R. legislation and demands a contemporary not in accord with the Federal Government expresses the thought that it is doubtful if Sir John could swim the water of a general election with such a multitude about his neck. The same thing was said by Sir John's opponents previous to the last election—but the prophecy failed.—Newmarket Era (Reform.)

UNPATRIOTIC OPPOSITION.

The Toronto Globe seems to lose sight of any consideration for the general public welfare, and in its anxiety to distort every circumstance that arises to the disadvantage of the Dominion government, possibly without intending it, endeavors to actually justify the rebellious outbreak into which the manifestations of Bell have drawn the half-breed population of the Prince Albert settlement.—Ottawa Sun (Indep.)

A TERRIBLE WARNING.

The Brockville Recorder has the hardihood to say: "A Chinaman has as much right to live in Canada as an Irishman or a Negro." Such is the deplorable condition of ignorance into which a newspaper is liable to be led which occupies the Toronto Globe for its mentor.—Ottawa Sun (Indep.)

A QUEBEC GRIT VIEW.

If it was a question of building a bridge in British Columbia or in the North-West, means would be soon forthcoming; but when it is a question of the Province of Quebec, the treasury is empty. We are the heirs of the Federal regime, to be maintained and lived at pleasure; and whenever the Province of Quebec is in question Sir John is a veritable goliath; he swallows everything but gives up nothing.—L'Electeur (Reform.)

THE TERRIBLE MANSIONS.

Prince Edward of England, who was initiated into the mystic craft of Masonry, taking his first degree in the Royal Alpha lodge, probably realized the advantage of the presence of his father, the grand master. Even the most frivolous of Masons would restrain himself in that august presence, and resist the temptation to make the great gallop backwards, or to tell the blindfolded novice to step high in the impossible task of walking up the side of the lodge room.—Boston Transcript

U. S. TAXATION.

In the United States the duties of customs and excise are higher than in Canada, and they go wholly into the national treasury. Not a penny of subsidy is paid to the states. Besides the general government has all the money derived from land sales. If Canada should be annexed our house would be more than the one in any respect: the duty on imports and the excise duties would be higher than they are now; and the several provinces would be compelled to raise the whole of their local revenue by direct taxation.—Hamilton Spectator

NORTH-WEST LANDS.

Without having taken time to work out a practical development of the scheme, we have come to the conclusion that the lands in the North-West might be utilized for the purpose of bounties. We think that if the lands were to become the property of a great tract of land along the Pacific Railway she would be able to offer her settlers just the consideration likely to prevail with a better class of men than she is now getting. Let Mr. Stephen and Sir John Macdonald forego their hatch a scheme and ask the Governor-General to implement it. Whether the land is to be sold or to be given to the settler, the scheme will have earned a disinterested opinion to take up their land, a vast encouragement would be given to the settlement of the territories.—Toronto World

THE NIAGARA PARK.

The Ontario Government is trying to get out of the false position into which it has been dragged by trading politicians whose support it feared to lose. It has introduced a bill to value the lands which would be necessary for the preservation of the Niagara scenery, and has introduced a clause into the charter of the Ontario railway scheme which would bring the company into line with a nominal power round the neck, held, however, by the friendly hands which have granted its charter.—Montreal Witness (Reform.)

ALONE IN HIS CANDOUR.

Mr. Lytton is entitled to the credit of candor in making this explanation, notwithstanding that it sustains the position of Mr. McLean and upsets the assertion of the late leader of the Liberal party, Mr. Mackenzie. But while Mr. Lytton's honesty of purpose may be recognized, it is worth while to note that Mr. McLean alone in the possession of candor on the Opposition side, and that if others of his party were actuated by equally honorable motives, the House would hear retractions of misstatements by these gentlemen every day.—Montreal Gazette

AN UNWISE ACTION.

Without entering at all into the merits of the policy of the Government (in regard to the North-west), we cannot but conclude that the time chosen by Mr. Blake to arraign it before the House and the country was exceedingly unwise and ill advised, and that for the House to have voted want of confidence, under existing circumstances, and on the grounds of prejudice by Mr. Blake, would have been an absurd departure from the principles of fair play and every suggestion of an intelligent public policy.—Ottawa Sun (Indep.)

MILLS' FIRST STEP.

How the Inauguration Gave the Rising the Character of a Rebellion.

Fort Qu'Appelle, N.W.T., March 30.—Riel performed a veritable miracle just before the rising. A large meeting of his adherents was held in St. Antoine de Padoue settlement, Batavia's Crossing, at which he appeared with a number of ready-made resolutions. After haranguing the crowd, Riel put the resolutions one after the other, and of course they were carried unanimously. The first two designated the Dominion Government for not permitting the half-breeds of the Northwest to go on in the territories, nevertheless it permitted some home-steading by white settlers. The fourth, after reading the grievances of the Métis, and setting forth the bill of rights adopted by Riel in September last, went on to speak of the claims of the Indian and Métis population to the soil; and they declared that until the wrongs of the people were redressed the half-breeds would not recognize the authority of Dominion officials, but would ignore the Government altogether; and, in case of attack, would defend their lives and homes to the last. Towards the close of the proceedings Riel made a long speech in which he denounced the Government for its treatment of the Indians. Xavier Beauchemin, who was with Riel in 1870, then made a supplementary resolution calling upon the Indians to stand by the half-breeds in asserting their rights. As the meeting was about to separate, Riel shouted out that "the rebellion has become a fact."

The object of this pro-words was not merely to pass resolutions, but, as Riel explained, to give the movement a political complexion; to make it an insurrection instead of a riot. He says that should the worst come to the worst, he can now clear off to the States and claim the protection of the American flag as a rebel, whereas if he had begun operations without this formally declared purpose and aim, he might have been arrested and hanged.—Mail

MURDER IN PARRY SOUND.

A Pressed Manhunter Hunted Down by a Constable.

BARRIE, March 31.—The other day a young man, named Theo. Canby, was committed to the gaol, charged with murdering James Barry, in the Parry Sound district, on the morning of the 17th inst. The prisoner had not been received, but it has been learned that the murdered man was found dead the following morning in the snow, and that the murderer had left for parts unknown, being followed by constables. They discovered that he had driven a horse to death while travelling towards Gravenhurst, where the officers of the law captured him only a few days ago. The matter has been kept quiet, very few outside the district having heard about it, but it is now being worked up, and it is expected it will come up at the session next week. Such a case, even if it is a long one, makes two murder trials at this Assize court.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S ADVENTURES.

The Contrasts from which the Articles He Food Every Day Came.

Yesterday morning I rose early; my hot water was brought in a Belgian zinc jar. I worked half an hour in my garden, with a Belgian fork and an American hoe. I then took off my French boots, put on a pair of Algerian slippers, and went in to breakfast, which consisted of bread made from Odessa wheat, Normandy butter, Russian chickens, grilled, American bacon, French eggs (poached), Mosha coffee and Swiss milk. Comparing my Geneva watch with the American clock, I found it was time to set forth, so I put some French tobacco into an American pipe, and having lighted it with a Swedish match, I went to the railway station with its Belgian iron framework from which a German engine drew me to the city over rails made in Belgium. Here I worked for four hours with an American stylographic pen, and then went to lunch—American wheat bread, butter from Canada, Austrian mustard, Swiss cheese, Vienna beer. The knives were American, and the waiter was a Swiss. I consoled myself with a Havannah cigar, and continued my toil. In the meantime I detached a box to a friend, skating it down with French nails, and further securing it with Russian cordage. My friend was advised on Belgian paper. Through stooping I found I had lost a button, which was promptly replaced by a Dutch one. At seven I prepared for dinner by drinking half a glass of Spanish sherry with Dutch biscuits. My dinner was made up of Portuguese oysters and Chablis, consommé soup (which came in powder from France), tinned entrees (from the same country), Norwegian hare, Swedish blackcock, American beef, and Belgian potatoes, Indian cheese, and French wine. A trifle of Chateaufort and a Manilla cheroot followed, and a cup of East Indian coffee brightened me for my journey home. Arrived home, I opened my American lock, which was on a Swedish door. To please my wife I bought her a box of Dutch confectionery and a French straw bonnet, and for my little girl a German toy. Here I found my wife playing German music on a French piano, with a French shade on the lamp. I took out my Italian violin, and having applied some fine French oil to my new Leipzig bow, played for some time with her. Abruptly breaking off, I told her my adventures during the day in much the same language as above. She grew excited (being a free trader), and assured me that though men might not have such experience the case was different with women. I replied by reminding her that she got her bonnets, silk fan dresses, trimmings, ribbons, lace, gloves, boots, and most of her clothes from Germany, her hair from Russia, and her teeth from America. We got to high words, so, putting on my French boots and gloves, wearing my Malacca cane and French felt hat, I left the house, hailed a hearse with a pair of American wheels, and spent the rest of the evening at the French play. In going home in an American tramcar, I arrived to throw myself in an American chair; from whence I noted a great blot on my French wall paper. Ere retiring I percolated some Belgian rabbit, carried it down with brandy and water, sweetened by French refined sugar. Finally I reposed on a bedstead of the same nationality.—London Morning Post

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Seller Bink.
The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance at the spring picnic to-night.

When.
At one o'clock to-day cash wheat was quoted in the Chicago market at 74½ cents per bushel.

A FINE variety of Easter Cards, cheap. J. BARKER.

Sabbath School Association.
A meeting of the general executive of the Sabbath School Association of Canada will be held in Peterborough on April 24.

Shop License.
Mr. Geo. Mitchell's shop license was omitted from the list of those granted by the Dominion Board of Commissioners.

When this was done.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. have ordered a large assortment of Men's and Boys' Hats, in hard and soft felt, Coloured Straws, Swiss Panamas, &c., much below regular prices. Don't fail to see them.

Requested for Spring Meeting.
NARANS, March 30.—A man named Austin Shannon was arrested here to-day for stealing a horse from near Belleville about a week ago. When arrested he was in bed as one of the butlers.

All Quiet at Medicine Hat.
Mr. W. J. Green received today a telegram from a relative at Medicine Hat, about 600 miles west of Winnipeg, on the Canadian Pacific, stating that there was no disturbance there, and no appearance of any.

At Macdonald and Brinkley's will find McLaughlin and White Smith at TURNBULL'S.

The Probable.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—West and north winds, fair weather, stationary or slightly lower temperature.

Amateur Entertainment.
An entertainment will be given in Unity Lodge Hall to-morrow evening. A good programme of music has been prepared. Admission free. An entertainment which has been prepared by the ladies will be given at the hall on Mr. Robert's return from the war.

FAIR, VANEVERY & CO. have imported a most complete assortment of Mourning Goods, ranging from the very Cheap to the very Expensive. French Black Crapes, &c., to the more artistic Black Crapes, Bonnets, Caps, &c., in their military department.

It is proposed to give a social entertainment at St. John's School House of Monday, April 5. There will be vocal and instrumental music, recitations, &c. The Fire Brigade Band Orchestra has kindly promised to attend. There will also be a sale of useful articles belonging to the Girls' Friendly Society.

Old School Concert.
The second presentation of the excellent programme rendered recently at "Ye Grange Concert" was received in Bradbury's Opera House on Tuesday evening by a fairly numerous audience. Several changes were made. In the first part, Mr. D. D. Galtier (Walkaround) gave a charming rendition of "The Lord's Prayer," and himself and Miss Fanning sang a duet, "The Plague of My Life," effectively. The "Spoke piece," "Obedience to the Master," given by Mr. R. Henderson in the second part was very laughable, as was also "A Little Farm well Tilled," given by Miss Miller, Walkaround Anderson and a valuable party. The concert closed with the singing of the National Anthem. Had it not been that the public mind was so absorbed in the North-West troubles it is probable that the old folks concert would have received a better reception from the audience of its kind.

First Grand Carnival.
The first carnival to be given in the roller skating rink will take place on the evening of Friday, April 10th. Everything now points to this novel event taking place on a warm evening. The courteous managers of the rink has informed us of some of the points to be observed on the carnival evening, which clearly shows that everything will be capably conducted. None will be allowed on the floor unless in fancy dress costume, and no one will be allowed on the floor until eight o'clock, when the masked forms will leave from the dressing rooms and will form in one grand march. An excellent band of music has been engaged for the occasion. Those intending to take part in the event should also engage their skates, as there is sure to be a large number present. To enable those who wish to participate in the event the manager of the rink will, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, allow those who engage skates for the carnival free admission and will also furnish them with skates free of charge.

Formers should always bear in mind that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Cottons, Ribbons, Hosiery, and Berries. He keeps the best makes of Canadian mill produce.

Departure of the Peterborough Company for the Northwest.

FAREWELL AT THE STATION.

A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE PRESENT TO SEE THEM OFF.

The Officers in Command—The Names of the Men Composing the Company—All Depart in Good Spirits.

At six o'clock this morning the bugle call for muster rang out sharp and clear on the crisp, bracing air.

A few minutes afterward the men began to appear in uniform and wended their way toward the drill shed.

Shortly before seven o'clock all was activity. The men were busily engaged in buckling on their knapsacks and adjusting their dress. Old soldiers who had done good service in the Crimea and other places were to be seen giving the raw recruits "points" as to easy methods in carrying their accoutrements. At seven o'clock an order for FALL IN was given, which was immediately responded to. Sergeant Miles called the roll, and as the men answered the "here," it seemed as if all the circumstances were indeed in earnest. The following is a list of the men composing the company as taken from the roll:—

NO. 3 COMPANY (ASHBURHAM).

T. Graham, A. B. Rogers, A. K. Tyler, W. Turner, J. T. Cochrane, J. Crowe, J. Beach.

NO. 4 COMPANY (KEENE).

Wm. Wedlock, A. C. Ross, Jas. McFee, Marshall W. Geo. K. Mark, David McFarlane.

Angus Phillips.

NO. 5 COMPANY (SPURWOOD).

M. Seery, S. Hendra, H. Hovan, Chas. Wood, Hugh Hill, James J. Cummings.

NO. 6 COMPANY (HARTING).

M. Brackridge, M. H. Riggs, Jas. Thompson, M. Sedgewick, Joe. Anderson, John Lynch.

TOWNS COMPANIES.

J. A. Hannah, Wm. B. Brown, R. G. Kelly, E. Daly, T. Billings, R. Downer, W. Reynolds, M. Mathison, W. Crowder, Wm. Cook, Chas. Dugood, G. Crowder, O. Parks, Jacob Roberts, S. R. Roach, Wm. McDowell.

The 57th battalion band marched up George street in full uniform and entered the drill shed playing a military air. After all arrangements had been completed the order for FALL IN was given and headed by the band and led by drum Major Graham the Company marched out amid crowds of people.

At the corner of George and McDowell streets the band struck up "The British Grenadiers," which they played until the depot was reached.

As the Company marched down George street the crowd gathered strength at each foot. The sidewalks were thronged and the people overflowed out to the street.

While the march was being made down street the boom of an ARTILLERY SALUTE was heard over the tramping of the throng and the martial music of the band. Five shots were fired. The Company marched toward the Grand Trunk station and turned in between McMillan's storehouse and the freight shed, thence marching north and to the station. The order halt was given, and after the band had finished playing, and a hearing obtained, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Mayor of Peterborough, briefly

ADDRESSED THE MEN.

Mr. Cox said that he desired to thank the volunteers, on behalf of the Corporation, for the prompt manner in which they had responded to the call of duty. The present was a time when every man should be prepared to do his duty, as with the war in the Sudan, the Irish troubles and the danger in our North-West, this was a trying time for our country. He was, therefore, glad to see how promptly they had responded to the call. He heartily wished the men God speed, and hoped that they would return in safety when the trouble was ended. While they were facing the dangers they would meet in the west, they could feel assured that many persons in Peterborough were praying for their safety and welfare. He concluded by again wishing them God speed.

Three routing cheers were then given for the Queen, and the Company gave three cheers for the Mayor. Three cheers were also given for the volunteers. Hats and handkerchiefs waved and all was loyalty and enthusiasm. The conductor bled.

ALL ABOARD!

After which the men pressed forward and stepped up into the coaches. The band playing in the meantime "The Girl I Left Behind Me." Many friends and relatives struggled through the dense crowd to the steps of the coaches to shake a farewell hand, say and utter a sob saying "God speed." The whistle sounded and the train gradually drew out amid prolonged cheers, waving of handkerchiefs, hats, canes, umbrellas, etc., and the eventful departure.

played by the Battalion Band. As the train proceeded up Esplanade street it was met at each street corner by a little knot gathered to wish a parting good bye. The windows of each house were filled with juvenile faces and at the doors stood matrons waving a dish cloth, or duster, as the case might be, and through the light hearted fellows in the coaches did not hear the good wishes, yet their, to the volunteers, mute benediction were given as much credit as if sounded in the most sonorous tones. Several of the battalion officers accompanied the Company to Ashburham, including Col. Rogers, Lieut. Hammond, Capt. Rogers, of No. 3 company; Capt. Langford, of No. 5 company; and Capt. Birdall, of No. 6 company. At the Ashburham station a brief stay was made, where some other gathering met the train. Here some affecting parting scenes took place. One brave fellow in biddle of one of his relatives farewell, wept his eyes, was forced to turn away to the coach to choke down his rising sob, and to brush away his tears. Moments of different kinds were exchanged by friends, and again the train moved out to whirl the soldiers forth to their destiny.

THE OREGON CHANGED.

On Tuesday night the question of the command of the company was reconsidered. Capt.

Langford, of No. 2 company, had first been offered the command, but on the advice of his physician he deemed it not advisable to go. Capt. Howard, of No. 5 company, was then given the command, with Capt. Burke, of No. 4 company, as lieutenant, but as this would leave the Hastings company without an officer to command the remainder of the company if occasion required, a change was again made. Capt. Burke, of No. 4 company, was given the position, with Lieutenant F. H. Brennan, of No. 4 company (Norwood), as lieutenant. Lieut. Brennan was instructed by telegram to meet the company at Hastings. This would leave Major Greer in Norwood, who, Capt. Howard remarked, could attend to that company if necessary.

NOTES.

The men comprising the company appeared to be cheerful and in good spirits. Some of them appeared to be actuated in volunteering by a sense of duty, while others partook more of military ardor.

The bearing of the men while marching down street was soldierly and they will make a good appearance in the provisional regiment.

The company was ordered to Kingston, from which place they were to go via the Kingston and Pembroke railway to the Canadian Pacific. Mr. J. L. Weller, a graduate of the Military College, Kingston, was ordered to Kingston, and will most probably be attached to the staff of this regiment.

Among the company here are a returned Nile voyager and a former member of the Mounted Police force. The latter is acquainted with the country through which they are expected to pass from Winnipeg to the scene of the trouble. Several other returned voyagers were among the large number who volunteered.

Among the number, also, is Mr. Geo. K. Mark, who formerly taught school in this country, and who has been studying medicine and surgery for over a year.

Several officers in Peterborough are somewhat disappointed that they were not given positions with the company or on the staff.

The volunteers from the county were soldier-like looking young men. Capt. Birdall's men (Keene) were athletic looking, and all passed the medical examination well. Among them were two or three excellent shots.

The men were all examined on Tuesday by Dr. Kincaid, the battalion surgeon, and as the number of volunteers was largely in excess of the number required, a selection of hardy young men were made. Dr. Kincaid said that several of them measured forty-two inches around the chest, and he considered them a very fine lot of men.

A Choice stock of Prints and Gingham at TURNBULL'S. Now is the time to secure the best patterns.

AN ALL BUT FATAL ACCIDENT.

Sergeant Snyder Wounded While An Artillery Salute was Being Fired.

When the picked company was departing from the drill shed this morning, Capt. Henderson ordered the artillery men who were present, belonging to the Durham Field Battery, to take out the salute pinner and fire an artillery salute.

The man obeyed and the gun was placed outside the shed and faced westward. Sgt. Snyder second, and Q. Master Sgt. Ferguson third.

Four rounds were fired, and the fifth and last cartridge was being put in. The third placed it in the bore and Sgt. Snyder, as second, prepared to ram it in, when a piece of flannel which was used in the manufacture of the cartridge, and which was burning at the time, ignited the powder and a premature explosion took place.

Sgt. Snyder had both hands on the rod and the force of the concussion threw the rod out and turned him half way round. He staggered and fell to the ground. His comrades ran to him and when picked up his face was found to be blackened and his left hand rent and bleeding.

He recovered from the shock, however, and walked into the drill shed. Dr. Kincaid, surgeon of the 57th Battalion, was called, and had the sufferer conveyed into the house of the armorer, Mr. Scollie. Doctors Fife and Halliday were also summoned and an examination of the injuries was made.

It was found that the bones in the little finger and that portion of the hand up to the wrist of the left hand were completely shattered and that amputation was necessary. A large splinter was taken from his throat, most likely a portion of the shattered ramrod, and also one from his left eye. His right hand was also injured by flesh wounds. No internal injuries were received and his eyesight is unimpaired.

The patient was placed under the influence of chloroform by Dr. Fife and the necessary surgical operations were performed by Doctors Kincaid and Halliday.

The accident was one which occurs at times on the field, and is not at all the result of carelessness.

The sufferer now lies at Mr. Scollie's house, anxiously attended by several of his comrades. The medical men in attendance consider his recovery certain.

GEORGE A. MORRISON

THE ACCIDENT AGENT.

Plain Facts.

Andrew McNeil, of Hamilton Hall, submits for the consideration of the gentlemen of Peterborough the following:—First, do you require a new suit, made up in the very latest style, and out in the very latest fashion? If so, it will be to your interest to call at Hamilton Hall and inspect the large stock of spring and summer suitings, overcoatings, etc. The stock has been carefully chosen, and the patterns are decidedly pretty. Secondly, do you want a spring and summer underclothing? If so, our stock will be found on inspection to be superior, and the prices very reasonable. Thirdly, do you want shirts, neckties, corsets, handkerchiefs, gloves, cuff-buttons, society pins—in short, everything needed by the average man? Then, if you do, don't fail to make your purchases at Hamilton Hall, where the goods are best-class and the assortment large. Hamilton Hall, A. McNeil.

Another War.

A duel was lately fought in Texas by Alexander Shott and John S. Nott. Nott was shot, and Shott not. In this case it is better to be shot than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot, and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves either that the shot Shott shot at Nott was not shot, or that Nott was shot notwithstanding. Circumstantial evidence is not always good. It may be made to appear as if the shot Shott not, or, as accidents with firearms are frequent, it may be possible that the shot Shott shot at Shott himself, when the whole affair would resolve itself into its original elements, and Shott would be shot, and Nott would not. We think, however, that the shot Shott shot at not Shott, but Nott; anyway, it is hard to tell who was shot. But if you want a good cup of Tea or Coffee, you ought to be shot if you don't give HAWLEY'S a trial.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1885.

CANADA FIRST.

MR. BLAKE, according to his own account, has departed from his role of not noticing newspaper articles, having done so in this exceptional case in order to condemn the utterance of a Conservative journal. Without defending the article in question, we would suggest to Mr. Blake that having deviated from his role in one instance, he should also do so to the extent of expressing his opinion of the conduct of some of the journals supporting him, which have, with his best sanction and without a word of discouragement from him, been wilfully exciting the revolt which has now taken place, and which are still favouring it to the utmost of their power by attacking the Administration.

Mr. Blake also lost his temper in the House so completely as to talk insolently of holding Ministers personally responsible and to characterize them as murderers if they did not arm our forces in the best possible manner and forward the arms regardless of expense. While recognizing with a feeling of satisfaction the present readiness of the leader of the Opposition to support the Government in all expenditure necessary for the suppression of the disturbance, we must remark that if a few weeks ago the Government had proposed a vote for the better armament of the volunteers, Mr. Blake would, without doubt, have been as fervently denunciatory of the Government for extravagance as he now is in regard to their falsely alleged neglect. We will also venture to prophesy that when the trouble is over Mr. Blake will denounce and will silently encourage his organs to denounce the expenditure caused by the suppression of a revolt that has been fomented by his leading supporters in the House and in the press. We have no doubt also that he will complain, as in the past, of the expenditure for carrying the C. P. R. north of Lake Superior, though he is now grumbling at the gaps in it. There would have been no such gap, and the enormous benefit of our great national line would have been even greater, but for the factious opposition of Mr. Blake and his allies.

We would suggest to Mr. Blake that instead of asking silly questions as to the hour at which an officer took the train, the places where food is stored, and other information which can only be of use to the rebel, he should give a loyal support to his country in a troublesome contest, and should discourage his followers from factious attacks upon our own forces and upon our own authorities.

If he and his friends must again try to make political capital out of the blood of their fellow-countrymen, they might at least wait till the safety of the innocent settlers and the success of our own arms are assured. Then let them attack the Administration, if they must so treat those whom the people of Canada are praying for their prompt action in a serious emergency. To attack our authorities now and encourage the enemy is simply traitorous.

PEOPLE'S FEEL.

It will be remembered that Mr. Caldwell was one of the bribes employed by Mr. Mowat, whose Commission, acting under his instructions, declined to investigate his proceedings. Mr. Caldwell has now received his pay. Mr. Mowat, being personally economical, does not pay Mr. Caldwell out of his own pocket, but makes the people of Ontario pay for him. The pretence is that this infamous grant of $10,000 is for costs in the suit of McLaughlin against Caldwell. In the first place this was a private suit, and in the second place Mr. Caldwell had been awarded his costs. It is thus evident that this grant is a mere subterfuge under which Mr. Mowat is making the Province reward his supporters and tool.

Population of the North-West.

The despatches from the Northwest regarding the number of French Canadian half breeds and Indians whom Riel could gather around him are evidently of a puffy character. The numbers given are on the face of them absurd. There are not 30,000 Indians and half breeds in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, counting every man, woman and child. According to the census taken in 1881, the population of Manitoba and the Territories, classed according to their origin, were as follows:—

	English.	Scottish.	Irish.	French.	Indian.	Other.
Manitoba	11,888	10,568	10,713	9,849	6,787	1,888
Northwest	1,254	1,217	1,011	2,089	4,718	1,160
	13,142	11,785	11,724	11,938	11,505	3,048

It will be seen that the English, Scotch and Irish are 30,000 in number, 41,045 The people of French origin only numbered 12,945. The Indians are put down at 65,289, but this includes 4,000 on the Arctic Coast, 1,000 in Labrador, 4,000 in the Rupert River, 1,000 in the Mackenzie District, 6,000 in Athabasca and 1,000 in the Peace, the nearest of whom are 700 miles away, and will not hear of the rebellion until sent for, and most of whom will never hear of it at all. Deducting these 30,000 and 32,000 Indians remain scattered over the whole of Manitoba and the Northwest from Thunder Bay to the Rocky Mountains. These include men, women and children.—Montreal Witness.

Another Chicago Conflagration.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The establishment of the National Printing Company and Breder, Smith & Co., were destroyed by fire this morning, loss $300,000. The National Printing Company was a well known and successful business. The entire stock of Breder & Smith is insured. The insurance amounts to $250,000.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

MEASURES OF CAPACITY.—Mr. Blake catches a Tariff—A Gape for Information—Loyal and Hostile Indians—Instructions Murders.

TUESDAY, March 31.—Some private bills were advanced a stage.

LOYAL INDIANS.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD announced that they had received the strongest assurance from Crowfoot, Chief of the Blackfeet, that they would remain loyal. Also that the news from Battleford was more satisfactory.

MEASURES OF CAPACITY.

Mr. CORTIS moved the House into Committee on resolutions, amending the Weights and Measures Act as to barrels of apples and as to goods packed in cans.

Mr. BLAKE asked for further information on several points, and suggested on behalf of Mr. Cortis that a seat in the Cabinet be no longer considered a measure of capacity.

Mr. CORTIS resented the insult. He said his rights as a representative of the people and as a Cabinet minister were as well formed as those of Mr. Blake. If his capacity was not equal to Mr. Blake he had at all events been true to his leader, and had not played him false, which was more than Mr. Blake could say while he looked his old leader in the face. He thought as little of Mr. Blake's sneers as he did of some points in his character. Mr. Blake was very eloquent now about troubles in the North-West, but in the previous troubles he had used his eloquence and influence to set one portion of the community against another. He had tried to make political capital by offering a reward for the capture of Riel and then when in power had neglected either to catch or punish him. He had sentenced Riel to a short term of banishment, but had refused a similar amnesty to O'Donoghue till he wished to influence votes for his friend, Mr. Laurier, in the Quebec election, when he granted for this purpose what he had before refused as an act of justice. The leader of the Opposition was in no position to sneer at him. As to the case of apple barrels, it was to be a simulated case of four barrels.

Mr. BLAKE repeated his insult to Mr. Cortis, but extended it to his colleague. He denied that he had been false to his leader or that he had endeavored to set class against class during the previous troubles in the North-West. He had offered a reward for Riel's capture, and had afterwards voted for his amnesty because he thought they were committed by the acts of those in power. He had opposed an amnesty to O'Donoghue because of his connection with the Fenians, and then had granted it because he thought the time was come for it. This was the case of the Quebec election, but not on account of it, for there were not 50 Irish Catholic voters in Quebec East. He claimed Mr. Cortis's approval instead of censure for this deliberate sneer.

These resolutions were passed through committee with some discussion, and a bill founded upon them was introduced.

INFORMATION FOR RIEL.

Mr. BLAKE asked for particulars as to the transportation of the troops and other information. Mr. CARON said the railway company was carrying on the transportation most satisfactorily. It was not advisable to give publicity to the exact distance they had reached, and though Mr. Blake might smile he thought it important not to give such information. The 5th Mounted Battalion under Col. Oulmet and the 9th Quebec under Col. Amyot were under orders to proceed to the front.

Mr. BLAKE referred to the newspaper reports as to deficiencies in the armament of the 85th. Mr. CARON said he could not say what the newspapers might state. A regiment in time of peace had not all the equipments for a campaign. Col. Oulmet had sent in a requisition, and it had been filled without delay.

Mr. BLAKE continued his inquiries as to the mileage of the gage on the C. P. R., the hours at which troops would reach Winnipeg, the rate by which ammunition had been forwarded, &c.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, Mr. Bowell, and Mr. Caron, with great politeness gave explanations of mileage, manner of transport and supplies.

Mr. BLAKE asked if Mr. Royal, Member for Provencher, on leaving for the Northwest, had any instructions from the Government.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD replied in the negative.

Mr. BLAKE then wanted to know when Gen. Middleton started and when he arrived.

Mr. JES thought Mr. Blake might like to know the hour and minute.

Mr. COCHRANE suggested that it should be stated whether he had had his tea.

Mr. BLAKE then wanted to know about telegraph lines in the Northwest.

Sir H. LAPOINTE gave particulars as to the lines, and which of them were cut.

Mr. CARON said a military telegraph service would be organized.

Mr. BLAKE and Mr. Mills asked for an inquiry of papers as to the halibut.

TARIFF CHARGES.
The House went into Committee and passed the various items of the changes in the tariff.

SOUTH-WEST NEWS.
Sir H. LAPOINTE announced the receipt of news from Battleford that the Storeys had been murdered.

Mr. BLAKE wanted to know exactly what troops had been wanted to be in readiness.

Sir H. LAPOINTE pointed out the unreasonableness of expecting him, while in his place in the House, to know every detail of arrangements which had to be made promptly.

WEATHER PROPHESIES.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—For the last two or three years we have been threatened by Prof. Wiggins with a dreadful windstorm and once in while a snowstorm. The first storm he advertised about three years ago, which was to inundate the shores along the Gulf coast and certain lakes, actually caused some of the people to remove their household goods to safer quarters and make every sensible preparation for it, but they were badly fooled, and the only real harm it did was to badly frighten some few persons, and if I am not mistaken, two or three went partly out of their minds. We had one very bad storm of wind and snow, but I did not give Wiggins the credit of it, and his storm so deadly for the 18th March never made its appearance. So much for weather prophets.

Now, what are the real facts about the weather in fall and winter? Take the last twenty years and, with exceptions once in a while what do we find? In October, about the middle, we have the autumnal equinoctial gales. In November snow falls occur and sleighing begins. December sees the snow a little deeper with cold weather with a cold snap. After Christmas steady winter weather sets in. For four to seven and ten days we may have moderate cold then a very cold snap with thermometer ranging from 10° to 25° below zero, lasting three or four days, turning milder, and occasionally after these cold snaps we have a snow storm. As a rule we have snow falls two or three times a month, and one or two gales of wind in each month. Then March sets in (the favorite month for prophesying big storms) and that extremely old saying that "March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb" or the reverse, is so generally correct that it knocks the weather prophets out of time the first round, a la Sullivan. In England March was always considered an extremely rough month, especially for winds, and it is the same in Canada and gales of wind are always expected in that month, Wiggins or no Wiggins, and I claim that these prophets are no wiser than ordinary mortals. All their fore-seeing can only be based on correctly kept daily record of past winters, and not on their own conjectures, and it is about time to throw up the sponge and quit.

Yours truly,

THE PATIENT WITH THE LIVING.

Sweet friend, when thou and I are gone
My one dear life's weary labour,
When small and ill be our need of grace
From comrades or from neighbour,
Pass all the strife, the trial, the care,
And down with all the sighing,
What tender truth shall we have gained,
Alas! by simply dying!

Then lips too chary of their praise
Will tell our friends and ours,
And eyes too swift our pain to see,
Shall no defect discover,
These hands that would not lift a stone
Where sinners were in ink to smother
Our steep hill path, will call flowers
Above our pillow's steeper.

Sweet friend, perchance both thou and I
Are love is past forgiving, Should take the nearest home—
Be patient with the living!
To day's remembrance may save
Our blinding tears to-morrow;
Then patience! for when heaven's edge
May what a nameless sorrow.

Be easy to be gentle when
D-ath's silence shames our clamour,
And easy to discern the light,

MURDER IN FERRY SOUND.

Particulars of a Brunkon Row and the Fatal Result.

The following account of a row which ended fatally in the Ferry Sound North Star of March 27th:

Particulars as to the murder at Keadale, have been received. Capt. Macfarlane, coroner, and Mr. T. W. George, constable of this place, reached Keadale on Thursday afternoon, and on Friday held an inquest on the body of the deceased. From the evidence taken at the inquest we learn that three men, named Michael Kalpin, a sub-contractor on the N. & P. J. railway; Thomas Kearney, a teamster in the employ of Kalpin; and Thomas Young, arrived at Coleman's house on Wednesday night, about Monday of last week, all of whom were somewhat intoxicated. Shortly after the men arrived, Coleman, who was a number of men were drinking. Coleman got into an argument with Tommy, who was a laborer on the line, about some trifling subject and the conversation became somewhat animated, when Coleman, who was led about 15 years ago and came to this country about five years ago from Dublin, Ireland, went to where Tommy and Kearney were talking and told Tommy not to run on Tommy's chest. Tommy replied that he was not "running" on him, when Kearney called him a liar. Tommy replied that he was not a liar, and that he was not running on Kearney, Kearney struck at Tommy, who told him to keep quiet and not cause a disturbance; Kearney again struck at Tommy, who took hold of him and laid him on the floor. After holding Kearney a short time on the floor, Kearney got up and went to the door, unhooked the traces of his team and taking off one of the wheelbarrows rushed back into the bar, swearing that he would kill Tommy; he strode around the bar for some time making threats that he would kill Tommy, and on seeing that individual step into the hall from the sitting room he rushed at him and struck him a violent blow on the left side of his head, just above his ear, with the wheelbarrow. Tommy fell in the corner of the hall, and while he was lying there senseless, Kearney raised the wheelbarrow to strike him a second blow, but was prevented by the barkeeper, who shoved him out of the room. Tommy was seated in the sitting room where he remained for some time in a dazed condition. After being put out Kearney seeing two men fighting on the road, went up to them and struck one of them over the shoulder with the wheelbarrow. He then went back into the barroom where Kalpin was sitting, and being asked what he was doing, Kearney went to Kalpin's assistance, and soon had the unfortunate wheelbarrow on the floor, then turning to his employer, Kalpin, said: "Shall I kill him?" "Yes," said Kalpin, "kill him dead, and then swing for it like a man." Coleman, who had apparently just come in, went behind the bar and taking a club in his hand, rushed forward to strike Kalpin again, but he would strike him (Kearney), Kalpin then pulled out a revolver and three shots were fired, the first of which struck Coleman's chest, a child of about 15 years ran into the barroom and pulled Kalpin backwards on the floor. Coleman from his position behind the bar told Kalpin to put away his pistol, which he did. Meanwhile Kearney was trying to beat Kalpin over the head with the wheelbarrow, but the crowd interfered and took the weapon from him and gave it to Coleman. Kalpin hit it. The crowd then dispersed, and afterwards left, going south on the Malakoa road.

Tommy who had somewhat recovered from the effects of his wounds, was taken to the hospital complaining of feeling very sick. He was dead about 2 p. m., and that was the last that was seen of him alive. Two intoxicated men were in the bar with Tommy, but he heard nothing of him. On coming down stairs next morning about 10 o'clock one of them was asked by Coleman how Tommy was and on going back to the room found that he was dead. Coleman, after confiding himself that he was dead, went to Coleman's house for the coroner. On Wednesday the coroner, Kearney, was captured near Coleman and taken to Keadale, where he arrived in time to be present at the inquest.

A jury was empanelled and after viewing the body, the evidence of which was the above, the verdict was returned.

The coroner issued a warrant, and sent Kearney to Barrie to stand his trial at the next assize. Kalpin, who appears innocent as guilty as Kearney, has not yet been caught.

LAKE SUPERIOR MINES.

The Prospects for this Season—Mines Going to—Bonds Being Sold.

The Death and Fort Arthur newspapers give evidence of the interest being taken in the mining industry in the north shore of Lake Superior. At Duluth the people are quite excited, and they are only waiting until the opening of navigation for a large influx of miners from the Western States. At Fort Arthur the interest taken in the mines is confined to the few mining men in the district, but is genuine and practical. The Canadians are actually working their mines, while the Duluth people are merely prospecting and testing. The Canadian miners are quite near Fort Arthur and in the winter time there is a good sailing road to them. In the spring the Keweenaw will be bridged and a steamship road pushed through the township of Pigeon by the Ontario Government into the new mining region in it and beyond, which will give a great impetus to prospecting and the more extensive working of the mines. The Minnesota mines are not so accessible from Duluth, but the Americans have a railway already built part of the way which will give them an advantage over the Canadian mines unless the promoters of the Thunder Bay Colonization railway push their project forward. There will be considerable rivalry between the mines on the Minnesota side of the international boundary on the one hand, and the Canadian mines in the province of Ontario on the other. The Canadian mines so far are taking the lead in the mining of a great mass of gold and silver, but the Americans have developed their two mines at Vermilion Lake in Minnesota on a grand scale. They have in connection with their own railway and harbor and very expensive docks with piers at the lake shore. They are preparing for a very large output from their mines. The Canadians have to go slow until they have proper road and railway accommodations, but are making the new mines opened quite actively considering the difficulties in their way.

It may be interesting to point out the record of one of several strikes and paying mines on the American side of the lake and those on the Canadian side at the Lake Superior.

The Oshawa and Nickel mines on the north shore of Lake Superior, have paid a dividend to its shareholders of $25,000 in dividends. The Silver Lake Mine produced over $200,000 in dividends, and besides paying for the mine and all money expended in its development, not also the purchase of about 110,000 acres of land, the mine paid during the last three years it was worked $51,000 to its shareholders, with a reserve fund of nearly $200,000 more to continue work with, the whole of the company's property paid for, and their whole capital returned.

THE SHIP OF '40.

Something About the Old Vessel of Bret Harte's Charming Story.

An old Californian, now a resident of Chicago, remarked the other night over an after-dinner cigar at the Palmer: "That story of Bret Harte's—'Ship of '40'—has a strange interest for Pacific slopers. I saw in the Herald the other day that Frank Pixley, in the San Francisco Argonaut, had revealed the identity of Mr. Harte's ship Pontiac of the story, and had referred to the old ship Niantic, as the original. Pixley is correct, but he didn't relate what a genuine old curiosity that vessel was. I was in San Francisco in 1872, when, in digging the foundation of a new four-story building at the corner of Commercial and Sansome streets, they laid bare the frame of the old vessel. The Niantic had brought a load of gold-bushers in 1849, and on her arrival at the Golden Gate the passengers, crew and all had died to the mines, leaving the captain without crew on ability to ship one. The vessel lay for months alone in shore, and could not go to sea. Meanwhile buildings were scarce lodgings could be rented for $5 a night, and the captain resolved to haul his vessel in as near as he could and turn her into a lodging house. The men formed around her rapidly, and she never left her berth, but the water gradually left her. It was this episode in her career which Bret Harte has put into story. In the course of time solid ground was formed around her, and in a few years, with the filling in and grading of the city, she was nearly buried. A two-story frame building known as the Niantic Hotel, was built over the ship, her ribs serving for the foundation. This was torn down in 1872, and the site excavated for a stone foundation. Slowly the old ship was dug out and her hull revealed. The operation of excavating attracted crowds from all over the state. Her planking was decayed, but her live oak frame was sound and dry and as hard as iron. Many of the stowaways were used for girders in new buildings, but she was not wholly excavated. Her keel and bilge ribs, and her stem and stern posts were left standing for foundation pillars—better than any piles that could have been driven. The only things of interest found in excavating were some old knives, some metal buttons, and two bottles of wine. One of them was opened and found to be filled with a flat and brackish liquid, and the other is now in the museum of the California Academy of Sciences. The building erected was called "Niantic Block," and is now the centre of the wholesale trade of San Francisco. The corner of the building is at least ten blocks from the present wharf line.—Chicago Herald.

False Recollections.

How many country houses have we seen which, fair and goodly in their two-storied stateliness, never have a window blind opened or a shutter unhooked on the side where lies the finest view and where lurks the sweetest sun shine—except on occasion of a wedding, or a funeral, or a party. The whole family seem to be locked, fed and generally cared for in some small "L. part," in which kitchen, pantry, and scullery are huddled together, and where "the work is easiest done; but where are few alternatives for any one other than those which are offered in its three-daily appeal to the general hunger. The chimney of the best room gets so foul from the smoke of the family fire, and the presence of the chimney swallows, that it is next to impossible to make it draw; the spare chambers get so damp from moisture that it is as much as a guest's life is worth sometimes, to sleep in one of them. To be sure it is less able to take care of these shut-up apartments, and carpets fade less speedily when out of sunlight. But, for all that, economies of the sort, which tend to make home less home-like and dear to the members of the household, are unwholesome and cannot be afforded. Some people measure to live otherwise and spend scarcely more in doing. Move into your own house, friend. Open its best windows wide to the wholesome air. Put your favorite chair where it can command the best view by day, and where the sun comes in the evening by night. Your best is none too good for yourself and your children and their dear mother; and if it should cost a little more, it is worth it.—Congregationalist.

Triumph of the Cheating Gum Trade.

This is a great gum year in Maine, especially on the Penobscot, and now that the sun is shining up into the north a little, and the lumbermen are coming out the air is fairly redolent with the perfume of spruce. The logs, knees and bark are not the only valuable parts of the great timber tree, for the gum is worth considerable, even in its rough state, just as it is hauled from the crutch of the old tree. The adulteration with resin. They throw it into a big kettle, bark and all, and boil it into a consistency of thick molasses, stirring the ingredients off as they rise to the surface. Then, if the purpose be to adulterate, some Jack-o'-grass and a lot of resin is added, and in some cases a little sugar. The mixture then becomes thicker, and, after more stirring, is poured out on a slab, where, while it is yet hot, it is rolled out in a sheet about a quarter of an inch thick and then chopped with a wheel into two pieces half an inch wide and three quarters of an inch long. These pieces are wrapped in tissue paper and packed in wooden boxes. There are 300 pieces in a box. Some gum is treated in this way without adulteration, and the honest gummen from no particular locality get almost from the largest trees. The lumbermen, in their many idle hours by the camp fire, whistle out miniature barrels from blocks of cedar or white pine, hollow them out, and fill them with the choicest gum the woods afford for gifts to their sweethearts, children, or friends, when they "come down" in the spring. Others, who go into the woods for gum, shoot and sell it to manufacturers of the improved article.—Portland (Me.) Press.

ZEALOUS RAILWAY AGENTS

We would suggest to the agents and advocates of foreign railways, that however zealous they may be in their advocacy of building for these lines and running down the Canadian roads, the House of Commons is hardly a suitable place to pursue their causes, especially when their ill-timed clamors interfere with the duty of suppressing a serious insurrection. We must admit their ingenuity in first thwarting the completion of our great national road through our own territory, and then making the locomotives, due to their own obstinate opposition, a reason for deriding the C. P. R., but if ingenuity is a trick that revolts patriotic people, when it is intruded in a time of emergency and trouble.

REFORM OFFICE-MONITORING.

This bill gives the following list of Reform members of the Ontario Legislature who have received their rewards:

Mr. Keller	Shrievally
Cow	"
Clark	"
Fulton	"
Spencer	"
Hay	Registrars
Black	"
Carrie	"
Williams	"
Charles	"
O'Donoghue	Inspectorship
Macdonald	Quadrant Rail
Macdonald	Seasonal Clerkship
Macdonald	Central Prison
Macdonald	Stipendiary J. P.

In looking over this list of names, after the first impression of the hypocrisy of the Reformers, who vote against such grants of place to members of the Legislature, one is able to pay attention to details, and to observe that out of some of the Reform party are grossly dishonest men, and to a degree to the most insignificant municipal council to appoint two of these men as poundkeepers, but Mr. Mowat thought fit to place on the bench and in an office of trust men who having had the money of others confided to their honor, have appropriated it to their own use. Mr. Mowat was on the bench, and is a lawyer, so he does not show much self-appreciation when he shows his belief that a defuncting treasurer is fit for the bench, and that a man who in the eyes of the heads of his profession is unfit to be a lawyer is good enough for Mr. Mowat to befriend and favor.

The above list only comprises members of the Provincial Legislature. To these may be added two members of the House of Commons, whom Mr. Mowat purchased (at our expense) with offices of trust and emolument, in order to make vacancies for his ally, Mr. Blake, and his Lieutenant, Mr. Edgar.

SELF-STYLED PATRIOTS

The Reformers refuse to take to Conservative Members serving Against Reform.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette has the following:

"It might be pointed out that not a single member of the Liberal party in the House of Commons has offered his services to raise a battalion, that none have volunteered for service, that none command corps which they desire to move to the front in defense of the country. But it is more striking and a more direct condemnation of the long-mouthed professions of loyalty on the part of the opposition that no member of it has consented to pair with Conservative representatives who have been called from their legislative duties to the service of their country. The ministers who have promptly and voluntarily abandoned their legislative duties to engage in the defense of their country are Colonel Williams, O'Brien, Amyot, Quimet, Tyrwhitt, St. George, and Captain England, each of whom ought to pair with the opposition and refuse any consideration. Dr. Orton, sergeant of the 5th Batt., Winnipeg, now at the front, after being refused a pair of the Liberal whip, approached Mr. Blake and requested him to use his influence to persuade his followers to recognize the situation and arrange pairs with Conservative members, whose services at the front have been accepted, and the leader of the opposition early revealed to us in the matter. And this disgraceful course is pursued by the Liberals because of the knowledge that no member of their party is enlisted in the volunteer force of Canada, and in the expectation of being able to temporarily cut down the ministerial majority in the House by the action of the patriotic supporters of the Government who hold commissions in the militia."

Another Victory for the Great Act

Peterborough, April 2.—The Scott Act was carried on in Wellington county to-day by a majority of thirteen divided, Kiers and Arthur villages being the only place to give a majority against it, the former giving 13 and the latter 6. Most of the voters were in the 35 for, but a vote of 24 for, Hamilton 21 for, and Fergus 23 for.

AN ARAB LEADER

The Romantic History of Osman Digma, the Mahdi's Officer.

It may not be generally known that Osman Digma is a Frenchman by birth, and was born in the year 1832 in a small hotel in Rouen. His father dying a year or two afterwards, his mother married an Alexandrian merchant in 1837, half French and half Egyptian, of the name of Osman Digma (at that time named Alphonse Vint), and taking a great fancy to young Osman (at that time named Alphonse Vint) insisted on having his name changed to his own, and, dying in 1841, left him about 500,000 francs. After the death of his stepfather he was left to the guardianship of his mother, a kind of half partner of the older Osman, a Khedive, who, at the death of his mother in 1844, took young Osman into his house. His religion at that time, being very much of the Christian anti-christ type, was converted into Mohammedanism. Ali Khana was a very wealthy man, and lived in great Oriental pomp and splendour. Though intending to be kind to young Osman, his kindness was of a very Spartan order. He had numerous professors for various branches of learning, and would often be examined by Ali himself, who, if he did not consider that he had made progress, would have him severely bastinadoed.

At the age of 15 he was sent to Cairo to an ex-French officer to be taught the various methods of European warfare. Capt. Marini had some fifty boys residing in his house studying war in all its branches, two or three of whom have since become famous, but two among them being Arabi Pasha. It is strange as illustrating the old saying that "the boy is father to the man," that both Osman and Arabi distinguished themselves as leaders in the same battle fought in the grounds of Capt. Marini, the former in a dashing, sweeping kind of way, carrying everything before him, and the latter as a tactician. The consequence was that a rivalry existed between the two, both having about an equal number of their school fellows siding with them. Osman remained here until his nineteenth year, when he was sent by his guardian to France on matters relating to Ali's business.

In 1866 he obtained the command of his regiment, but shortly afterwards, offending the Khedive, he had to leave Egypt, and had his property confiscated. He then went to Genoa and entered business as a ship chandler and agent under an assumed name; but while on a hunting expedition he was captured by a roving band of Arabs, and was sold as a slave to the man who at present calls himself the Mahdi. The Mahdi was charmed with his new slave as a man of unbounded learning, and who would be able to train his numerous supporters in the art of war. He gave Osman his daughter in marriage, and has ever since treated him like a son.

The Obituary.

THE CAUSE OF THE RAINS.

An interesting bit of history regarding the insurrection.

St. Boniface, Man., April 1.—I had an interview to-day with Joseph Gauthier of St. Norbert, a loyal half-breed, who returned fourteen days ago from St. Laurent, where he has been working at his trade as a blacksmith. He says:

"I know all about this business. Some one has blundered. I have often talked with the men at St. Laurent and that district about the trouble. Gabriel Dumont brought Riel from St. Vital to St. Laurent last July. The trouble arises from the desire of the Metis to own this country. They say it belongs to them and to their friends, the Indians; and that the Hudson's Bay Company had no right to sell it, owing it. When the Dominion surveyors began to survey the block system of surveys a couple of years ago, the Metis at once saw that they were going to lose their land, this man being thrown on to his neighbor's land and his neighbor thrown on to somebody else's place. They protested and the Government refused to make it all right and to secure the Metis that they should not be disturbed. They were alarmed, however, and when the land was most of whom were with Riel in 69-70 began to talk about owning the country again, the other Metis were inclined to listen to him. He held two or three meetings a week. A number of white settlers took part in the movement, in fact they encouraged the Metis to go ahead, saying that a good row would do no harm and might do some good. The priests went among the Metis and urged them to keep quiet and wait. The white agitators, however, kept telling them that waiting was no use, that if they did not secure the Government they would never get a share in the half-breed grant that was given to the Metis of Manitoba. I blame the white agitators quite as much as I do Riel. But for their interference and advice the priests would have quieted the movement. Poor Andre, poor Foreman, poor Verreille and other priests often warned the Metis that these whites were making use of them for their own selfish purposes—partly for political purposes, and partly to gratify their grudge against Mr. Dewdney or the Government—but it was all in vain."—Mail.

EARL CAIRNS

Death of the Ex-Lord High Chancellor—A Brief Sketch of His Life.

LONDON, April 2.—Earl Cairns, whose name was recently brought unpleasantly before the public in connection with the breach of promise trial in which his son, Lord Garmoyne, and Miss Farncombe figured, died this morning at the age of sixty-six. Hugh Macdonald was the second son of William Cairns, of Culter, county Down. He received his education at Trinity College, Dublin, where he was articled in law, and obtained other academic honors. In January, 1846, he was called to the English bar at the Middle Temple, and soon acquired an extensive practice in the courts of equity. In July, 1855, he was returned to the House of Commons as member for the constituency of Belfast, and he continued to represent that city in the Conservative interest until his elevation to the judicial bench. His one appointed case of his Majesty's counsel and a brother of Lincoln's Inn in 1856. When Lord Derby formed his Administration in 1858, he appointed Mr. Cairns to the office of Solicitor-General, and on the 1st of January, 1859, he received the honor of knighthood. Sir Hugh Cairns first showed himself to be a great parliamentary orator in the celebrated debate of four nights' duration in 1858, concerning Lord Carnarvon's proclamation to the inhabitants of our Indian Empire, and he soon obtained and succeeded in retaining a reputation for eloquence. When the Conservative Administration returned in June, 1859, Sir Hugh Cairns' first big tenure of office came to an end. On the return of Lord Derby to power in June, 1859, he was appointed Attorney-General. In October of the same year he was appointed Lord Justice of the court Appeal and the following February was raised to the peerage as Baron Cairns of Garmoyne, in the county of Antrim. He became Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain in February, 1868, and he continued to hold that office until the resignation of Mr. Disraeli's Administration in December, 1868. In February, 1874, on the return of the Conservative party to power, he was again appointed Chancellor and held the office till April, 1880. In September, 1878, he was created Viscount and Earl of Cairns, in the county of Antrim and Cairns. His son who succeeds him is 24 years of age.

Aspinwall in Anken.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The following dispatch from Commander Kane, of the Galena, has been received: "Aspinwall is in Anken, but by incognito to escape capture by government troops. The Pacific Mail Dock railway property on the north end of the island, and canal property at Chiriqui, are the only buildings saved. The shipping is safe. I have all my forces on shore protecting property. My ship is crowded with refugees. Thousands are destitute and without shelter."

I had a Dreadful Cough.

and raised a considerable amount of blood and matter; besides, I was very thin. This was the case of a man with consumption arising from liver complaint. He recovered his health completely by the use of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Thousands of others bear similar testimony.

THE INDIAN QUESTION.

Trouble Foreseen long ago—The Opinion of Mr. Mills.

In the discussion of the bill to increase the force of the Mounted Police from 300 to 500 men in the session of 1879, Hon. Mr. Mills, who had occupied the position of Minister of the Interior in the Mackenzie government, said:—

He was strongly impressed with the idea that there was danger of difficulties with the aborigines at so very remote a period. He believed the supply of trouble would at an early day be exhausted, these difficulties being the principal means of support of the Indians; and unless something was done at an early day to induce them to engage in industrial pursuits, serious complications would arise when their present means of subsistence failed.

Sir John Macdonald said no doubt the danger the hon. gentleman mentioned must always be contemplated. The government and parliament must be prepared for an outbreak some time, when the Indians' means of subsistence failed or became scarce.

Mr. Mills had no doubt before the time of the present parliament expired, serious troubles would be witnessed in the Northwest.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Information for the Enquiry—Foreign Mail—Mr. Blake's Impatient—A Hint to B. C. Indians—The Factory Bill—Loyal French Canadian.

WEDNESDAY, April 1.—Petitions for the prohibition of ardent spirits were presented.

Mr. MITCHELL complained of the neglect of the Grand Trunk authorities to give a list of their shareholders as ordered, on the plea of the expense, though the Railway Act required compliance.

Mr. FORT said the Government had transmitted the order in the usual way.

Mr. MITCHELL asked for an Order-in-Council demanding the return, with a view of ulterior proceedings.

MANITOBA RAILWAYS.

Mr. CARON, in answer to Mr. Blake, said the Manitoba Amending Act of the Manitoba Central Railway Company had not been received, and no steps have been taken as to allowing or disallowing it.

TIMBER LIMITS.

Mr. JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Carleton, gave a statement of the Dominion timber licenses and cases issued since 1882.

THE NORTHWEST HUNTS.

Mr. TROW asked if it was intended to accept the services of certain companies that were being organized in the Northwest, and whether there were arms, clothing, etc., for them.

Mr. CARON said some had been accepted, and others were under consideration. They could supply them all with arms and clothing.

Mr. BLAKE asked if there was any more news from the Northwest.

Mr. JOHN MACDONALD said that the only change was that the Bozons had gone to Fortman's reserve. Major Morris reported that he could hold Battleford, having 300 good men.

Mr. BLAKE asked if it was true that there had been four deaths at Battleford instead of two.

Mr. J. MACDONALD said they had no information of it.

Mr. BLAKE said that when the Minister of Militia was in his place he would ask him about the Nova Scotia troops.

Mr. CARON said it was the Plain or the Mountain Bozons that were referred to. Mr. J. MACDONALD said that they had no report, but decided it must be the band in the vicinity which had seized the Hudson Bay stores.

Mr. MACDONALD asked if the Government had information that there was discontent in August at the withdrawal of militia, and that militia had been withdrawn from Indian reserves and given to the left coast.

Mr. JOHN MACDONALD explained that if the Indians persisted in heading around the stores instead of coming to the stores, the stores would be reduced. They could not allow even the Indians, at the same time every effort was made to induce them to become self supporting.

MR. BLAKE'S INTERVIEW.

Mr. BLAKE said as the Minister of Militia was not yet in his place he had to postpone his enquiries, and expressed a hope that his duties would permit him soon to be in his seat.

Mr. J. MACDONALD said the Minister of Militia had better duties to perform besides waiting upon Mr. Blake.

R. C. INDIANS.

Mr. MILLS asked for papers as to the British Columbia Indians. After giving a history of their treatment before and since Confederation, he said that of late years a less favorable policy had been adopted towards them, and discontent had arisen. He warned the Government not to induce them to follow the example of the Indians of the North West.

Mr. J. MACDONALD denied that there was discontent or that there had been any changes of policy since Mr. Mills had administered Indian affairs. He explained the satisfactory treatment of the Indians in British Columbia.

Mr. BLAKE (Victoria) said the trouble at Metlakatla was due to religious disputes, and not to maladministration, as Mr. Mills insisted.

Mr. GORDON censured Mr. Mills for endeavoring to induce the Indians of British Columbia to imitate those of the Northwest. His speech, if translated, might have most disastrous effects.

INFORMATION FOR THE ENEMY.

Mr. BLAKE asked if the Halifax troops had been ordered forward; also when A and B batteries would reach Port Arthur; also when the Queen's Own and Tenth Royals would reach Port Arthur; also if leave had been asked to cross U. S. Territory with troops and munitions of war; also if any troops would be sent by the Southern route.

Mr. CARON said the 66th Halifax had been called out for active service, and the 6th and 10th would reach Port Arthur. The Governor-General's Body Guard, two troops, and the Queen's Cavalry School, one troop, had also been called out for active service. The troops were being conveyed as rapidly as possible, but in the public interest he declined to give details. He left the leader of the Government to answer as to the policy of permission to proceed through U. S. Territory.

Mr. BLAKE repeated his question.

Mr. JOHN MACDONALD said there had been no application.

Mr. BLAKE said one should be made immediately, so as to use the Southern route to get the troops to the Northwest as soon as possible. He asked as to the reported murder of telegraph operators.

Mr. MITCHELL begged to express his dissent. The Government was taking every means to protect the country and hasten forward the troops. They could do this through our own country and the troops would be in Winnipeg before an answer could be received from Washington.

Mr. BLAKE—Hear, hear.

Mr. MITCHELL said Mr. Blake was urging an application for a foreign country in order to get credit upon the means of transport. The Government had no money. The Government decried it for the course it had pursued. He argued against sending Commissioners while there was a great trouble. Meanwhile it was the duty of all to sink party and sustain the Government. After the affair was over there might be an enquiry as to who had done wrong, that they might get their deserts. Till then the Government should be heartily supported, and not question them continually for unnecessary information, which could only tend to inspire the rebels with the hope that they had found in the House.

THE FACTORY BILL.

Mr. BREWSTER moved the second reading of the Factory Bill, which he said had already done good, as the mill he had adopted the limited hours of labour. He regretted to have to expunge the educational clause, but they had been found to conflict with Provincial jurisdiction. He provided, however, that children should not be employed under 14. Both the employees and the manufacturers approved of the bill.

Mr. MITCHELL spoke in support of the bill.

Mr. H. LAURENCE, after the speeches they had heard, advanced further consideration before voting, and moved the adjournment of the debate, which was carried.

A FOREIGN ROUTE ADVOCATED.

Mr. R. CARSWORTHY asked if there was any further news from the Northwest.

Mr. H. LAURENCE said that there was no news from the Northwest. He said that the Indians near Battleford had killed a reporter on the telegraph line. The other telegraph reports from Battleford were not confirmed, but, on the contrary, the officers in charge reported that they could hold their ground till reinforcements came.

Mr. R. CARSWORTHY expressed his satisfaction and proceeded to advance the southern route for the troops. He admitted that the C. P. R. had done all that mortal man could do, but he dwelt upon the uncompleted work and the risk of a change of weather. He urged the importance of haste. Though the United States authorities on a previous occasion had refused such permission, they might grant it now, and they should be asked.

Mr. H. LAURENCE said the members of the Government were thoroughly impressed with their responsibility, but they must decline to communicate what they were doing when the public interest called for a reticence, in which he was sure the House would support them.

Mr. DAWSON remarked on the very satisfactory progress of the troops on the C. P. R. north of Lake Superior, and believed that the difference of time would be very small. For other reasons one route was far preferable to a foreign one. He reminded the House of the trouble, cost and delay to which the country had been put by a refusal to allow our troops to go through the United States, though it was only the question of a short canal between two of the great lakes.

Mr. BLAKE again advocated the foreign route.

Mr. WOODWORTH pointed out that even if our troops went through the United States there would have to be two trains, one at Chicago and one at St. Paul. There was also the chance of some complication with the United States. He deprecated the constant interference of the Opposition and thought that when the members of the Government were in hourly consultation and were making most thorough arrangements to meet the emergency they should be left unhindered and unrestricted to carry out their duty. It would be the greatest cause to assist the Government till this trouble was suppressed.

Mr. BLAKE claimed that they were assisting the Government with their valuable counsel and advice.

A DISGRACEFUL ARTICLE.

Mr. LAMONT (Montgomery) repudiated any sympathy with a disgraceful article in the Quebec Montreal entitled the volunteers not to go to the front under the command of a colonel whom it described as having in view new spectacles or the portfolio of a Minister. He characterized this as an insult to the French Canadian people, and stated that it represented their views.

Mr. CORMACK also condemned the article and requested the insult aimed at Col. Oulmont or Col. Amyot. These gentlemen, the members, were doing their duty as soldiers, and to accuse them of private motives was an unwarranted insult. It was also an insult to the French Canadian people, who were to defend their country, as they had shown before now. The regiments from Quebec, officers and men would do their duty loyally and cheerfully.

Photographing the Enemy.

A very interesting balloon-camera apparatus was included in the implements of the special detachment of military aviators who left for the Sudan a week or two since. The use of this ingenious contrivance will possibly be tested ere long. Briefly stated, the modus operandi is to send up a captive balloon with a camera attached, duly set and focused for taking negatives from a certain height. The operator has full control over both camera and balloon, and by means of electric wires can regulate the exposure of the plate, etc. The balloon is at length hauled down, and if successful in his work the camera will contain a plate which on development will give a true and correct picture of the enemy's camp or fortification, or whatever the object may be over which it hovered. The operation will be, of course, a difficult one to successfully carry out, but experience has been gained with such success that the officer in charge, who has had considerable practice with the apparatus at Woolwich and Chatham, is sanguine as to his ability of proving its practical use in war time.—Figaro.

A Singular Discovery.

While making improvements on land in Carver, Mass., a singular discovery was recently made. The workmen disturbed a small spring and some days afterward it was found to be throwing out a light substance, which on being examined, proved to be very fine silica. It was tested for polishing purposes and found to be excellent for cleaning silver, leaving not a scratch and giving a beautiful surface. The spring makes considerable deposit in a day. Examination proves that there is a large quantity of the silica, and other small springs have been struck, which can be made to discharge if given vent.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Wheat.

At one o'clock to-day cash wheat was quoted in the Chicago market at 75¢ per bushel.

No. 2 Company, 5th Battalion.
Members of the above company will assemble to-night, (Saturday), at the drill shed, Ashburnham. A few recruits wanted.

Y.M.C.A. Meeting To-night.

Mr. Frank Allan, President of the Perth Y.M.C.A. will take part in the young men's meeting to-night at 8 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

Further should always have in mind that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Costumers, Shirts, Socks and Berries. He keeps the best makes our Canadian mill produce.

Lacrosse Social.

Every lover of lacrosse, and every person taking an interest in the success of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, should attend their social on Monday night at the hall of the Grand Central Hotel. A first class orchestra will be in attendance, and an excellent programme is promised.

Base Ball.

A meeting of the "Silver Star" Base Ball Club will be held on Wednesday evening next, April 8th, at 8 p.m. at the Little Windsor Hotel, for the purpose of organizing and electing officers. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance will be brought before the meeting.

The Peterborough Company.

In a letter from Mr. W. B. Brown, dated "Tete du Pont Barracks, Kingston," to his relatives in Peterborough, he says that the men arrived there without any mishap, and are all well. He also mentions the grateful feeling of all towards Mrs. Geo. A. Cox for her generous donation of clothing.

Avalanche.

Mr. J. Turner, sail, tent and awning maker of Port Hope, has been in town during the past three days putting up awnings, and they are acknowledged to be the best of the kind. Any one requiring anything of the kind, Mr. Turner's line of business may be said to be a success. He has had many years' experience in this business.

TURNBULL'S Carpet Department has been replenished this week in all sizes. See Carrels try TURNBULL'S.

Troops Moving to the Front.

On Thursday night a full battalion of militia infantry passed through town over the Canadian Pacific Railway. It consisted of four companies each from the 12th battalion (York Rangers), and the 35th (Simcoe Foresters). The first train of seven coaches arrived at ten minutes to nine o'clock, and the second in about fifteen minutes afterwards. Although the night was drizzling and exceedingly disagreeable, yet the station platform was well covered with people, among whom was a fair sprinkling of enthusiastic females. The men coming from the battalion were all of a stock, sturdy build, most of them having evidently been picked from the vigorous young men of the country of York and Simcoe. They all appeared to be in good spirits, but indulged in no over-joyous display. They are a fine body of troops, and from appearance are well chosen to contend with all the difficulties of a long and arduous march. The battalion is under the command of Col. O'Brien, of the 35th, Col. Tyrwhitt second, and Lieut. Col. Wyndham, of the 12th, and Adjutant Ward, third. Dr. McCarthy accompanies them as surgeon. The first train contained in all 168 men and the second 178.

Mr. Thomas and Bricklayers will send MULLIN and White Duck at TURNBULL'S.

A Bismarck Defeat.

On the afternoon of Good Friday a curling match was played at the Charlotte street rink between three risks composed of Reformers and those of Conservatives. At first the play was pretty even, but the odds soon came to be in favor of the Ministerials, which they held and increased until the end of the match. The results as given below show what a terribly disastrous defeat these devoted Reformers sustained.

REFORMERS.	CONSERVATIVES.
No. 1 Risk.	No. 1 Risk.

Majority for the Tories, 31 to 21.
It was incidentally whispered to our reporter by an onlooker that after the result of the match was known, the defeated in two and three were to be seen in remote corners and by-ways trying to console each other.

FED FOR FESTIVITY.

The Favorite Stalls Filled to Overflowing WITH the Fattest from the Farm.

The Easter season is anxiously looked forward to not only by the school boy, when he will enjoy a few holidays and for which he has formed many plans for fun and frolic, but by the fraternity of butchers, the stock feeding community, and by the public generally. For months beforehand the noted feeders throughout the country prepare for this most elaborate of all the meat displays throughout the year and until they see their favorite beasts hustled up in a butcher's stall, can they take the time and paper and enjoy their ease. The butcher too has his plans well laid for the event. He scours the country near and far for the best stock, and no doubt during the night before the eventful day airy phantasms of fat line haunt his dreams. That the people take a lively interest in the Easter display, a look in the various stalls will fully prove. All day to-day was filled with customers and onlookers. A corps of efficient carvers wielded the trenchant knife and spit out the juicy red roasts or the round ends, the eyes of the purchaser would dilate and glitter at the thought of what was in store. The special attraction during the day was the four hundred pound calf, that hung in front of the shop, and the picture-like roasts that were cut from the big fat steers heretofore noticed in this paper together with the other excellent lot of stock that this market has selected for the display.

The venerable

HARRY WINCH (that is speaking as to his experience in butchering) makes a magnificent display. The whole north side of the market is monopolized by this king of the craft. Beef, lamb, veal and mutton hang from the ceiling to the floor in profusion, elaborately trimmed and garnished by mistletoe, roses and other adornments. A number of extra men, well up in the business, assist in slicing off the steaks and boning the roasts under the superintending eye of the well known and popular "Tonic." The prodigy in fat sheep, weighing in an untrimmed state 270 lbs., from the fold of R. D. Dundas, of Cavan, hangs down near the east end and among the well-conditioned lot of lambs the one fed by a special feeder of Messrs. J. & C. McNeil, of Cavan, stands out in conspicuous relief, and a chubby little roaster under it provokes many a smile. Mr. Winch has always had displays that would dazzle the eye and make the mouth water, but the one this year undoubtedly has eclipsed any of his former efforts.

The neat and accessible stall of

MR. R. WAINWRIGHT has been well stocked. From his long experience in butchering he knows just exactly what to buy for a special event of this kind. His customers may rely on getting the best that the market can afford. Mr. Wainwright has purchased a large number of choice animals for the display, among which is one 22-month-old steer, fed by Mr. John Berman. It weighs 1,380 pounds, and the feeder and buyer have just reason to be proud that it was and is in their possession. Two stout, neatly built little white heifers supplied by Mr. Sandy Macdonald, of Otonabee. They were models of small feeding and make toothsome roasts and steaks. Mr. Pritchard, of Cavan, Mr. B. F. Clydesdale, of Dunfermline, and Mr. Grogan, of Kilmarnock, figure conspicuously as prominent contributors to the success of the display. Mr. John Hall, of Smith, supplies two steers, and Mr. Geo. Elliott, Smith, a prime calf. Messrs. G. Fitzgibbon, of Smith, and P. Elmhurst, of Otonabee, also have their qualities as breeders shown to good advantage, by the two calves in the display. Choice lambs, pork, and fancy meats make up an Easter exhibit which is a credit to Mr. Wainwright, and well fitted to fill his well appointed stall.

MR. E. LEPLANTE

makes an unusually fine display. His meats are well arranged and trimmed with care and finish. Roasties, tissue paper festooning, and other decorations, intensifying the bright redness of the meats and the snow whiteness of the fat, produce a very agreeable effect to the eye. Mr. J. Carothers, of Haldimand, fed two steers specially for this display and with much care did he look after his charge that, only 22 months old, they weigh 1,200 and 1,300 respectively. Two more fine cattle are supplied by Mr. D. D. Henderson, of Otonabee. Mr. J. Houston, of Haldimand, picks from his stock a prime young cow and Mr. W. D. Henderson of Otonabee, also comes to the front with a well rounded heifer. Mr. W. Garbutt, of Down, has some of his choicest calves on exhibition and the lambs contributed by Mr. James Hayes do the feeder much credit. Mr. Leplante has also a full stock of fancy meats.

W. J. MERVIN.

Hunter street, is year by year gradually coming to the front. This year his display is well worth being seen, and he shows by the energetic and judicious selection of his cattle that his customers need not go to other places for their Easter roasts. From the fact that such breeders as Messrs. Wm. Telford, Smith, A. J. Geddy, Otonabee, J. Hall, Down, and Jas. Jackson, Otonabee, have sold to him their choicest cattle, it will be at once seen that the meat is of a rare quality. Six Scotch-born yearling lambs, from the fold of J. Whitfield, Otonabee, and porkers from Mr. Thomas Fry, Cavan, make up a display of a very creditable character.

OTHER STALLS.

Mr. Arthur White, Simcoe street; Mr. W. Heather, Ridgeway street, and Mr. W. O'Brien, Charlotte street, all have made extra preparations, and show choice meats in large quantities.

Back Again.

Mr. Knox Stone, of Rochester, N.Y., formerly engaged in the fruit business with the late Mr. John Bailey, has again returned to Peterborough. Mr. Stone has purchased the stock in trade of Mr. Jas. Bailey, and will open up in the old store in about one week. All his old customers will be pleased to hear of his return.

Don't Miss It.

All those who are interested in the National game, and those who wish to spend an enjoyable evening, should by no means fail to attend the grand evening social which will be held at the Grand Central Hotel on Monday evening next. The committee have completed all arrangements and those who attend will no doubt be well satisfied with the way which they spend their time and expend their money.

FAIR, VANEVERY & Co. have imported a most complete assortment of Mourning Goods, ranging from the new Crepe Epingle, Jet Cashmere, French Silk Gowns, &c., to the more artistic Black Crepe Bonnets, Caps, &c., in their millinery department.

A choice stock of Prints and Ginghams at TURNBULL'S. Now is the time to secure the best patterns.

Another War.

A duel was lately fought in Texas by Alexander Shott and John S. Nott. Nott was shot, and Shott not. In this case it is better to be shot than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot, and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves either that the shot Shott shot at Nott was not shot, or that Nott was not shot notwithstanding. Circumstantial evidence is not always good. It may be made to appear on trial that the shot Shott not, or, as accidents with firearms are frequent, it may be possible that the shot Shott shot shot Shott himself, when the whole affair would resolve itself into its original elements, and Shott would be shot, and Nott would not. We think, however, that the shot Shott shot shot not Shott, but Nott; anyway, it is hard to tell who was shot. But if you want a good cup of Tea or Coffee, you ought to be shot if you don't give HAWLEY BROS. a trial.

The Saved Army.

Capt. Munt, of the Saved Army, is at present in town and will remain here for a time. Capt. Maggie McGregor remains in Lindsay. The members of the Army here are pleased to have Capt. Munt with them again, and many others will also be pleased to have him stationed here for a time. Capt. J. H. Wyatt has been removed from Boboyagon, and Lieut. Lizzie Boyler is left in charge there. Capt. Wyatt will also be here to-morrow.

New Custom Shop.

A. C. McConnell has again opened up a new custom Boot and Shoe shop in the store opposite the Post Office on George street. It is his intention to make to order a first-class Boot or Shoe on the shortest notice. The work done by him has spoken for itself in the past, and all who favor him with their patronage in the future can rely on getting the best of satisfaction. Give him a call and be convinced.

SUN

Life and Accident Assurance Company of Canada.
ESTABLISHED 1871. HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Income.....$200,000.00
Surplus to Policy Holders.....$500,000.00
Assets.....$1,200,000.00
Insurance in Force.....$11,000,000.00

The SUN has $100 of Assets for every $100 of Liabilities. It issues Unconditional Policies. These Policies are, to say the least, unsurpassed for liberality by those of any other Company with whose policies we are acquainted. They are immeasurably more liberal than those of all other Canadian and American Companies. Great care is taken in the selection of risks, but when a policy is once issued the money is paid on simple proof of the death of the assured, no matter how, or when, or where. The only condition is the payment of premiums.

The SUN has not one CONTESTED or DISPUTED claim on its books. Every man should have a Life Policy in this admittedly superior Company.

RESTORED TO SIGHT.

Man is the agent to restore the sight. God is the power—through man he shows his might. By steady skill and practice all combined in numerous cases man does cure the blind. Success or failure, full or partial, gained by God directed and by God sustained: Due thanks to man, and God in the art. To God alone flows gratitude of heart and mind.

Man's greatest acts in operating skill are blessed and sanctified by God's sovereign will. The instrument, the hand that guides its course both owes success unto a higher source. We praise a doctor, justly that is right. God gives him power to know and save the sight. His skill and talents used to cure the blind are all true blessings from a God so kind.

INFIDELITY AND UNBELIEF.

SERMON BY LATHAM.

To the Editor of the Review.

Infidelity and unbelief are convertible terms. They both mean the same thing. There is a good deal of infidelity in the world, and it seems a hard thing to overcome it. While men are healthy and strong they feel supreme, and in their fancied greatness they dishonor and defy the Deity. I have heard a good many sermons upon this subject, and the efforts made to prove that there is a God, and I have often thought they came far short of the object sought for. It is a useless task to try to convince an infidel of the error by quoting Scripture, and referring him to the Bible, because he will at once tell you that you can't convince him in that way, simply because he does not believe the Bible. If an infidel is ever to be overcome it must be done by reason and argument, by convincing his mind of his mistake, and by asking him to look at the subject dispassionately, and with a desire to be convinced if you can prove him to be in error. An infidel is just as susceptible of reason as any other man. He may think he is right, but prove to him he is wrong, and as a general rule he will admit it. I once knew a man who was so strong in his unbelief that he could scarcely find language strong enough to express his contempt for his Maker, and to show how he despised His Son. This was when he was in good health. But a time of sickness and great suffering came upon him, when he was often heard to cry out from pain and to call upon God for help. A friend of his used to say to him, "Why do you deny the existence of a Saviour and Redeemer when you can prove nothing, and all you know about it is what others, like yourself, have told you." It is satisfactory to be able to believe that this unbelieving man became convinced of his error, and died confessing the divinity of that Saviour whom he had so often reviled, and acknowledging the existence and reality of his God. Infidels, it appears to me, exist on a mere theory. Their whole fabric is built upon a mere human idea. They have no basis beyond their own imagination. They don't pretend to prove that they are right, but they support themselves by denying the truths of Christianity. And they do this in a very illogical way. They say there is no God, because they say they have never seen God. They say that the Bible is a myth, and that our Saviour never existed. And so they go on contradicting with every evidence of the truths of Christianity, simply denying them, but admitting nothing. When asked to look at the solar system, and if there is no Supreme Being, to tell how it has happened that for thousands of years, the sun and earth and moon, and planets and stars, have continued in their regular rounds, all moving in their respective spheres with mathematical accuracy, their only answer is that it is all chance, and that the whole universal system is but chance also. They bring no proof of their assertions, but content themselves with saying it is all chance, and then ask Christians to show it is not chance, to prove a negative. Chance has no fixed rule of action. It doesn't produce anything, but it merely looks at passing events, day and night, at the seasons in their order, and denies that they are the product of a higher power, and its wonders say that man is supreme and that man's judgment is to be his guide, yet all the while denying that man is anything but an animal. What he is but a chance; that his mind and will are the result of chance; all the while, though, claiming the right and the power to think and to judge, as if his mind and will were not the creation of a supreme power, given to him for guidance and happiness. If so, the infidel says, there is no God, if there is no first cause, and no creator of all things, and if so he says everything, including man, comes by chance, then he must and will admit that he himself is nothing and that he is incapable of judging of the truth of anything. I suppose the infidel will claim to have a mind and a will, that man is an intellectual and a free being, yet I cannot see how he can admit this, because there is no progress nor degradation or improvement or chance, and there cannot be, in an uncaused thing like chance, and therefore he must either deny his own fallibility, his own will and judgment, or else acknowledge the existence of a higher power in the creation and government of the world. In the course of a discussion with a Christian and an infidel respecting the future state of man, he former said that the latter, if simply left to himself, could only guess as to his own view of eternity, that he must admit that all his theories were but human inventions, and that, being so, and man being only the result of chance, he might be mistaken, and he admitted that if he did not think that it would be true and better and safer to provide against the possible and terrible consequences of his mistake and become a mortal, intelligent being, God and of his Son, and so live and act that should be wrong, he might secure eternal happiness in the world to come. The Christian asked him if common prudence would not dictate such a course, and he admitted it would. He was told that he would do this in reference to his worldly dealings, then why not do it in reference to eternity in the world to come? and he admitted that this was the better and safer way. The Christian asked the infidel to look at the state in which his doctrine leaves him after death. He comes into the world like the Christian, an intelligent, moral, intelligent being. He is a man like the rest of his kind, and when he dies he expects to be buried like a Christian, and yet he claims that this world is the end of all things, and that, when he leaves it, he leaves it just as he finds it, and the field leave it, without hope, and believing that his grave is to be his final resting place, and that his wife and children and friends he will never see again. He denies the existence of his own soul, and that there is a further state of happiness and peace to compensate him for all his trials and difficulties and sufferings here below. He knows that man given dominion over the earth and all things therein, yet he believes when he dies he dies as one of the animals under his control, and that his dead body, and the dead body of his own horse or dog mingle together in one common end, and their ashes go back to dust again, and remain forever and ever. Surely to an intelligent being this must be a humiliating and degrading thought. If all is chance, how can he be that the sun for millions of years, has revolved and heat to the earth, without which man could not exist? And that it has, does this without variation or change? And yet this infidel says it is all chance. We all know that the earth has an atmosphere of its own, and that without it we could not breathe or stand, and that without it it should fall into space. And yet the infidel says it is all chance. That the seasons in their regular order are all chance, and that the oceans and seas and lakes and rivers and streams are all chance, and that the regular flow of the tides is all chance. Verily, the man who can hold such an impossible doctrine as this must be averse, indeed, and might as well deny his intelligence, and the evidence of his senses. Infidelity is right, and if Christianity is wrong, why do infidels seek to conceal their error, and why, on the contrary, do they not as Christians do who believe they are right, proclaim it and their doctrine openly and above board, do what they can to convince people of their error and bring them within the fold of infidelity. No honest man could ever deny what he believed to be the truth, and when a person conceals what he thinks or what he is doing he virtually admits that he is not sincere, and that he has faith in his opinions. If a man were to stand quietly by and see a human being drown without offering him relief, how much worse it is that he stands quietly by and sees his fellow men, who are Christians, go down to the grave and not make an effort to convince them of their error. These are all questions pertinent to the matter in hand, and deserve to be answered, if they can be answered. The infidel says he never sees God, therefore there is no God. While all around him stands the work of a Supreme Being, yet he says it is all chance. Did he ever see his own will? If he did not, and of course he has not, then that is chance too, that wonderful will which guides him and controls all his movements. And does he imagine that his wonderfully constructed body, with its beating heart, sending his blood in regular order through every part of his system, is chance also? That his mind is chance, that mind that invisible principle, which directs and tells him what to do, which receives instruction, and which is so susceptible of joy and pain and sorrow. Verily, the doctrine of the infidel is past finding out. If everything is chance, how do astronomers foretell the appearance of comets at a given day and hour after fifty and a hundred years ahead? How tell the motions of the sun and moon and planets to a minute of time? All these matters, and many others besides, the infidel should account for, and if they all are mere chance, he should prove them to be so satisfactorily to human reason and common sense. If he cannot do this he must admit that he is wrong, and if wrong, he should confess that there is a God, a Great First Cause, and that Christianity is right. The other side of this subject I must reserve for another sermon.

FROM ALL OVER.

One hundred and ninety-seven failures in the United States were reported during the past week.

POOR, LOW-MAGNITUDE SOAP is highly recommended for all humors and skin diseases. The total amount realized by the sale in New York of the Seney collection of pictures was $425,000.

FREEMAN'S WORK POWDERS are agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children or adults.

THORNTON & MAW'S hosiery factory at Lakewood, England, was burned on Friday, consuming a loss of $200,000.

NATIONAL PILLS are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

An infernal machine exploded in the office of Lloyd's agency at Trieste on Thursday, and one man was mortally wounded.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. It proved Liver Complaint, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

A HONG-KONG dispatch says the British flag has been hoisted over part of Hamilton Island in the Korean archipelago.

A WING CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Hagar's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicine fail.

The value of vessels built in the New England States last year show a decrease compared with 1883 of one million dollars.

A DOGMA PURCHASE.—The popular remedy, Hagar's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally, for aches, pains, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

The usual religious ceremonies of Holy Thursday were suspended in Madrid, ostensibly on account of the rain storm that prevailed, but in reality because of a plot to assassinate the King on his way to church.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of Hagar's Pastoral Balm is the best throat and lung healer known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

The newly accredited Minister to the United States from Guatemala and Honduras has arrived at New York, declares that Barrios has been grossly misrepresented, and that the people of Central America are in favor of his project for a union of the Republics.

A FAVORABLE REPORT.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These acquirements give the possessor a pleasant expression, a fair, clear skin, and the rosy bloom of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

The United States Consul-General at Aspinwall has telegraphed to his son in Philadelphia to make an urgent appeal to the press of the United States for assistance for the inhabitants of Colon, which was totally destroyed by fire by the insurgents after their defeat a few days since. The suffering is described as awful.

When symptoms of malaria appear in any form, take Ayer's Cure at once, to prevent the development of the disease, and continue until health is restored, as it surely will be by the use of this remedy. A cure is warranted in every instance.

STANDARD ILL.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weary feeling and frequent headache, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

"Born and Bred on a Farm."—Any boy should thank God for being so fortunate as to be born and raised on a farm. There is no place on this green earth so well adapted to perfectly develop mind, muscle and manhood, as a farm; there the boy has the purest air, the freshest and healthiest food, plenty of unrestricted exercise, the brightest sunshine, and the soundest sleep; the very conditions necessary for the highest development. Nineteenth of all the men who have their mark in any business, profession or pursuit, have been born and raised on a farm; this is not so much because there is better blood on the farm as because the surroundings of farm life are better calculated to call out what there is in a boy, and develop a full-grown healthy, perfect self-reliant man.

TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1885.

THE LATE KING MTEA.

The African Monarch Who Ruled Four Million People.

Letters from the missionaries on Victoria Nyansa reached England a fortnight ago announcing the death of Mtea, the remarkable ruler of the most progressive and powerful of the heathen nations in Africa. His young son Mwangi has succeeded him as King of Uganda. Ever since Speke discovered the sources of the Nile, Mtea has been regarded as the most interesting figure among the native potentates, and Speke, Grant, Stanley, Baker and Long have written much about his remarkable character and his kingly power.

Uganda, stretching along the north and north-west shores of Victoria Nyansa, contains about 1,000,000 people. The adjoining country where Mtea held suzerainty extended his dominion over about 3,000,000 people. Ten years ago Stanley and Mtea's army numbered 125,000 men and that he had a fleet of 500 war canoes on Victoria Nyansa that would carry 16,000 men. He bought ammunition of the Arabs, had 2,000 muskets, and was invincible wherever he carried his arms. Mtea could trace his lineage back for 700 years, through a line of thirty-five kings of Uganda, and he believed, probably to his last days, that he was the greatest ruler on earth.

The wonderful presents which the white men brought to King Mtea, and their stories of other lands, excited the monarch's admiration. He wished to increase his power and elevate his people still further above the surrounding nations by introducing among them some of the arts and sciences of civilization. Mr. Wilton, one of the missionaries who were sent to Mtea's capital, Rubaga, at Stanley's request, says that the Wagona are considerably more advanced than the other tribes of the interior, and that Grant said recently that Mtea did not permit his people to degenerate in any respect. They have been induced to discard the clothing made of the bark of the wild tree, and to wear calicoes and sherings purchased of the Swahili traders. Commerce has increased and cultivation has progressed. But although Mtea was a great ruler, he was not a great conqueror. He was a peace-loving monarch, and his people were not a conquering people. He was a peace-loving monarch, and his people were not a conquering people.

The public habits of this remarkable monarch were not very different from those of his subjects. He would not cut off the heads of his Ministers without asking any question, they usually found a difficulty in agreeing with his master. If any of his chiefs did not carry out his orders implicitly, or failed to contribute his share to the king's revenues, a part of the royal army would be sent to destroy the offender. Mtea lived it over all the islands of Victoria Nyansa, and some time ago he nearly annihilated the tribe of the Bahima, who had been raiding the shores of his kingdom. He became of late years more merciful than formerly, owing largely, it is believed, to the influence of the white men, and his accusations have not been so numerous or so heavy.

Mtea embraced Mohammedanism some years after the white missionaries settled in his capital. He was a peace-loving monarch, and his people were not a conquering people. He was a peace-loving monarch, and his people were not a conquering people.

TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1885.

DIFFERENTLY OCCUPIED

The leaders of the two political parties of the Dominion are busily engaged just now, but their occupations are of a different nature. The Conservative leaders, having been entrusted by the people with the administration of public affairs, are striving to quell an insurrection in our western possessions, and they are nobly sustained by the people generally. The militia have responded to the call of duty with a most commendable promptitude, and through fully aware of the danger they would be called upon to face, voluntarily offered to assist in putting down the insurrection and to uphold authority as the sacrifice of their lives if necessary. The Government fully recognizes its responsibility at this time, and is exerting itself to have the brave volunteers provided with everything necessary for the hazardous undertaking and to avoid as far as possible the horrors of a bloody strife. Their desire is to have the difficulty speedily settled, and settled with as small a sacrifice of life and treasure as possible. To that end they are directing their energies.

And how are the leaders of the Opposition occupied? It is true that Mr. Blake announced, the next day after having made a very questionable speech, that the Opposition would join the Government in quelling the insurrection and that they would not object to any expenditure for that purpose. Yet every day since making that declaration, Mr. Blake and the organs of his party have been busy—carrying out that promise? Not a bit of it, but in attacking the Government on every imaginable pretence. While the Government has been endeavoring to lay the foundations of peace, the Opposition has been doing the utmost to lay the foundations of political capital to be made in the future, or in striving to gain a political advantage in the present. The reports of the proceedings of Parliament are evidence of their capacious criticism and endless endeavours—many of them almost childish—to embarrass the Government.

The course the Opposition has pursued has disgusted many of their adherents. The present is not a time for party warfare, and if the Opposition cannot go far as to assist the Government, they should, at least for a time, cease their factious opposition and carping criticisms. Instead of that, however, the unfortunate occurrences in the west appear to have incited them to more bitter and more factious attacks. Such conduct will not be readily forgiven by the people, and the Opposition will find, to their cost, that they have made another blunder.

Then course the Office is pursuing now is to publish a column of invective and abuse of the Government, which, if well founded, would tend to justify the rebellion, and to add a few words to the effect that the insurrection must be put down. It takes with a flood of encouragement to the insurgents a few drops of loyal sentiment.

Several Reform journals were, not very long ago, advocating manhood suffrage for this country, but they have not yet expressed their opinion of the action of the Ontario Government and its supporters in voting down a resolution favoring such an extension of the franchise.

COMFORTING REL.
One manner in which Reform journals are giving aid and comfort to "the so-called rebels" is illustrated by the Montreal Times. That journal says that "in the capital itself, when 'in the capital itself,' it was possible for Sir John Macdonald to lay his hand upon Sir John (the John) was a remarkably important of the well known fact that the (Riel) was within reach of the law which the Premier protested he had 'outwitted.' If our contemporary will substitute the name Mackenzie for Sir John the statement will be quite correct. A warrant for the arrest of Riel was issued on March 30, 1884, that Riel walked into the Parliament House at Ottawa and signed the name of Mackenzie, while in the office in the same building. Mackenzie was then Premier, and Mr. Blake was a member of his Cabinet. Both refused to take any steps for the execution of Riel from the House, and it was then, Mr. Blake, then a member of the Opposition, who introduced the motion for expulsion. Both Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Blake voted for the resolution, though other members of the Cabinet voted against it. A warrant for Riel's apprehension was placed in the hands of a detective, but no serious attempt at his arrest seems to have been made. Riel was elected to Parliament, and the next year, 1875, Mr. Mackenzie moved the well known amnesty resolution."—Hamilton Spectator.

Impending Funeral of a Chinese Prince.
The funeral of the Chinese Prince Lau-Fu, the cousin of the Emperor Quang Su, has been conducted with all the pomp and ceremonies due to the exalted station of the deceased. The procession which accompanied the remains of the Prince to his last resting place was headed by 80 slaves, clad in garments of green cloth, and bearing a large wooden cage, representing the funeral of the soul. These were followed by 100 slaves dressed in red, and carrying tablets inscribed with the titles, names and virtues of the dead. Next came the 200 persons leading the caskets, which were borne by 100 slaves, and the private carriages, drawn by a mule; 15 servants with a tiger skin, a regiment of infantry and cavalry followed, then the body servants and eunuchs, 32 priests with temple music, and finally the eunuchs, borne by 30 servants, and covered by six empty carriages, behind which walked the eunuchs. Prince Lau-Fu's arms, carriages, clothes, tablets, etc., were all buried as a wind-up of the festivities.—Pall Mall Gazette.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

PUBLIC CALAMITIES UTILIZED.

We make no doubt whatever that Mr. Blake, or any other member of the House, were to enquire privately, the Government would be most willing to give them every information and every detail of such information that is in their possession. In a grave emergency like the present, to use the floor of the House for such enquiries suggests a desire to turn a public calamity to a political advantage—something which a fair-minded and intelligent people will not only disapprove, but will resist.—Ottawa Sun (Indep.).

WHO HE IS.

The Globe says people are asking who W. P. R. Street is, whom Sir John has appointed a commissioner to arrange for the settlement of the claims of the North West halfbreeds. The only answer that we can make is that Mr. Street is a first-class lawyer, a first-class man of business and there is no more honorable or trustworthy member of the legal profession between Kingston and Sarnia. He ought to make a first-class commissioner, especially as we hear good accounts of his two co-workers, Forges and Goulet, of the North West. It is surely no credit to Mr. Street that he is a conservative.—Toronto World (Indep.).

A CORRUPT ACT.

Nothing more scandalous has been done by the Reform Government of Ontario than the passage of the Niagara railway bill. Mr. Street, a first-class lawyer, a first-class man of business and there is no more honorable or trustworthy member of the legal profession between Kingston and Sarnia. He ought to make a first-class commissioner, especially as we hear good accounts of his two co-workers, Forges and Goulet, of the North West. It is surely no credit to Mr. Street that he is a conservative.—Toronto World (Indep.).

REFORM SECESSIONISTS.

Resolutions are now before the Legislature of Nova Scotia, demanding dissolution of the Union unless a demand for better terms be complied with. The Reformers have taken the Government; a Reform member introduced the secession resolution; its supporters were Reformers; and it is not an act of secession, if honestly, did not save the province from it.—Toronto News (Indep.).

FASHION DID IT.

It was pointed out that the long wool of Canada was used only in manufacturing heavy blankets and coarse cloths; that a large portion of it was formerly used in the manufacture of fine cloth, but that since fashion had gone out of fashion, the demand for long wools had greatly diminished, and the market value had fallen to less than half what was a few years ago.—London Advertiser (Reform).

RIEL'S INTELLIGENCE STAFF.

Now Mr. Blake may say he does not know that a great part of the information for which he inquired would be of great value to the outlaws, and that it would be communicated to them. We are not permitted to judge of men's motives; we are not permitted to say that Mr. Blake desired this information in order that it might reach Riel; but if he desired that result he would have acted exactly as he has acted. It is abundantly evident that if Mr. Blake were in Riel's camp with his favorite Winchester rifle in his hand, he would do the insurgent leader far less valuable service than he is now doing in his place in the House of Commons.—Hamilton Spectator.

A WANTON INSULT.

Mr. Blake, without provocation, grossly insulted Mr. Coulson, an our orders which have been observed in Wednesday's Parliamentary report about no nobler object of policy than a barrel! It is high time that Canada rose to a better view of politics than it now entertains.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

MR. BLAKE'S "NAGGING."

Mr. Blake has, for three days, assailed whatever members of the Government could be spared from patriotic proclamation to take their seat in the House of Commons, with a running fire of questions, the usefulness of many of which must be a matter of faith with his admirers. Mr. Blake may be in possession of information which warrants his course, but we hope he is guided by his own evident desire not to worry unnecessarily those who have at the moment the utmost need for all their nerve power.—Montreal Witness (Reform).

A CHANGE OF BARE.

Every one who is familiar with the political affairs of the last five years will remember how all the estimates for the Northwest have been small; how the Mounted Police have been numbered. Every experiment for the civilizing and settling of the country has been made the object of Grit attack. How would it have been if these experiments and expenses had been more numerous and more costly?—Toronto Mail.

STUPID AND INDISCREET.

The trust economy will be to use a force which will convince both half breeds and Indians of the folly of any future attempt to coerce the Dominion Government. Any discussion about the official blunders and misadventures which have given the insurgent cause for dissatisfaction will be best left over until quiet is restored. The first duty of the Government is to restore order, and the first duty of the Opposition is to support it in so doing. Liberal members of Parliament will best serve their constituents by refraining from stupid and indiscreet questions in the House.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

MURDER IN ST. THOMAS.

A hotel-keeper shot dead by a Traveller. The Murderer Given Himself Up. St. THOMAS, April 4.—A horrible tragedy was enacted at 1.15 this afternoon. Samuel Mitchell, employed as a teamster at Reider's brewery, came to the residence of Chief Fawcett while that officer was at dinner, and taking a huge Colt's navy revolver from his pocket handed it to Chief Fawcett, with the remark, "I have just shot Alex Mcintosh. He was lying dead at my home on Isabelle street. I could not stand it any longer, and I want to give myself up." The chief occupied Mitchell to the house and found the body of Mcintosh lying in the hallway upstairs dead, the bullet coming from his head in his hand. The chief at once took Mitchell to the lock-up and sealed a corridor.

Mitchell is well-known in the city, and formerly kept a hotel at Lawrence and Mcintosh streets, Aylmer. He had long been intimate with Mitchell's wife, and when Mitchell came home the police found Mcintosh there, he lost control of himself and the tragedy was the result.

What an Eighty-Two Gun Goes. In the house of commons last night Mr. Brand said: "One of the guns of her majesty's ship Inflexible is unserviceable in the present condition, but it is repairable. It is a muzzle loader. It has a steel tube, with outer coils of wrought iron. It has been charged with powder chamber. It was manufactured at the Royal gun factory. Its cost was $10,075. It was first fired after mounted in position on board ship, I believe in 1880. It has fired sixty-six rounds up to date. It is proposed to replace this gun by the rammer (on loan to Shearwater) for an experiment against armor plate. The reserve gun is of the same design. There are six of these guns in use—four in the Inflexible, two in Dorset Castle—and beyond this there are two reserve guns. To replace the damaged gun will not cost more than $400."—London Times.

The Centipede is Quick.

Several Mexicans were in camp at the mouth of the Medina river in Texas, and were lying about the fire, when one of the men, Selvestro Cruz, saw a large centipede, fully nine inches long, travelling slowly over his leg. Knowing that the least motion would make it sink its claws into his skin, without moving his leg, he got on his hands and knees, and crawled to the edge of the camp, where he lay on his back, his head buried in the sand, his arms outstretched, and his legs bent at the knees. The centipede was quicker than gunpowder, and Cruz began to crawl in a few minutes. The trace of the insect along his leg turned a brownish yellow, and the place where it was killed swelled up frightfully. Cruz rapidly grew worse, and in a little over four hours afterwards he died in great agony. But the most singular part of the story is that the bullet from Cruz's revolver cut a small nick in the fore-leg of a mule that was tethered near by, and at daylight the next morning the mule was also dead, with the leg so swollen that the skin had burst in several places.—Larus is Brooming.

Ladies will please remember the date when the "Golden Lion" will rebound with all its resplendent grandeur and excellence.

Lumbering.
The Port Hope Times says:—"Messrs. Thompson & Son, of Peterborough, have entered the settlement in the vicinity of Sandville, with a large gang of men, and are clearing the woods a good third of all the valuable pine, for which they are paying very high prices, going as high as $25 and very seldom less than $10 a tree. In this settlement they have got 15 ship masts ranging from 75 to 85 feet long, for which they paid a very high price, and the square timber is of the best quality. They have a large number of teams employed hauling the timber to Franklin station. A large sum of money has been spent by this firm in lumbering."

All ladies desiring to practice for the carnival will be admitted free of charge from now till Friday evening.

Call and see Turnbull's magnificent display of Trimmings Millinery, Opening Boys, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The 7th Battalion of Fusiliers, from London, passed through town on a Canadian Pacific Railway special train at twenty-five minutes past one o'clock this morning. There were five companies in the battalion, comprising in all 238 men. It was under the command of Lieut. Col. Deray Williams, Major Smith, Major Garshore and Adjutant Reid. After a brief stay the train proceeded onward. At this unreasonable hour there were of course very few at the depot to meet the men from the west.

For neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough. The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. Foot & McWhinney.

Mrs. Jarley again.
The large posters are now out announcing the representation of Mrs. Jarley's Waxwork Exhibition at Bradburn's Opera House, on the evening of April 14th. Those who were at the last exhibition fairly shook with laughter at the various features of this rare entertainment. It will be under the management of Messrs. J. E. Hammond, Peterborough, and A. J. Wright, of Lindsay, two gentlemen well qualified to take charge. After the exhibit a laughable charade will be presented by a number of Lindsay amateurs. Songs, vocal and instrumental solos and duets will intersperse the evening's entertainment.

Turnbull has purchased one of the most handsome ranges of Lace Curtains the wholesale trade has shown this season. If you want beauty and price, look for your Curtains at Turnbull's.

A Generous Act.
When the members of No. 1. Company assembled for drill last night they were greatly surprised and delighted to find the drill shed brilliantly lit up by two Electric lights. The contrast to the gas light to which they had been accustomed in the shed, was sufficient to brighten them all up and make them take an additional interest in their drill. The drill shed is very large and the gas jets were not nearly numerous enough to supply sufficient light. The electric light made every part as clear as day and enabled both officers and men to see clearly what they were doing. It appears that Mr. Hallitt, President of the Electric Light Company, himself an old volunteer no longer heard that the want of a better light was felt by the volunteers, than he sent his men to put up the lamps without any charge. Of course it can hardly be expected that Mr. Hallitt can afford to continue the gratuitous use of the lights indefinitely, but his generous and prompt action in supplying them at the present emergency is worthy of the highest commendation.

Just received, a case of small wares, consisting partly of White, Unbleached and Colored Knitting Cottons, Linen and Crochet Edgings, etc. J. ESKINE.

Improvement of Trade.
Business is taking a turn for the better all over, and there is no place where it is picking up any more than in Peterborough. This improvement in trade is not confined to any particular branch, but is manifestly noticeable in various lines of business. Perhaps not the least among other trades is the Dry Goods business of Peterborough, with their immense spring stocks, and dazzling windows, in which is displayed beautiful goods of all descriptions. The tailoring establishments are having a lively time of it just now, turning out spring suits for the young men of Peterborough and surrounding vicinity. Perhaps the annual conference of the goods bought this year by A. McNeil, at Habillment Hall, is in a measure the reason that his corps of tailors are so busy, although the decidedly good fit that is given at this establishment is also another proof why the orders are coming in so rapidly. There is on view at Habillment Hall a very fine range of Spring and Summer Suitings, and the gentlemen of Peterborough are respectfully invited to call and examine them. A. McNeil, Habillment Hall.

Men's White and Ragata Shirts, all sizes, Collars, Scarfs, Ties, Bowes and Neckties in great variety. J. ESKINE.

Myment.
We have the pleasure of recording an auspicious event which has just occurred in the village of Ashburnham, the marriage of Miss Rose Lundy to Mr. A. C. B. B. B. of the city of Quebec. The wedding took place at 1.30 p.m. on Tuesday and was quite in character, only comparatively few guests being present, comprising relatives and familiar acquaintances of the families interested. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alex. Bell, of St. Andrew's church, at Verulam House, the residence of the bride's brother, Messrs. Stomewell Jackson, Montreal, acted as groomsmen, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lillie Ford, of Oshawa. She was in her turn escorted by two very beautifully attired little girls carrying fragrant bouquets, Miss Maud Lundy, a niece of the bride, and Ethel Urquhart, another niece, of Oshawa. The presents were so numerous that it would take a column to give a complete list and suitable description. They were also very elegant in design. The happy couple left on the 4th Canadian Pacific express for an extended tour through the principal cities of the Eastern States.

The Particular Man

The particular man wants his clothing made to order. He also wishes to select the materials for his suit and have them made up in accordance with his own ideas and taste.

We've always looked on the "particular man" as a man worth cultivating, and we've ever done our best to please him.

We offer the particular man the use of a thoroughly equipped custom department, where he can select from an almost unlimited stock of Cloths, Tweeds, Worsted and Frillings, all the materials for his spring suit. After selecting he can rest assured that they will be made up in the very best manner and in the style he pleases.

This assurance comes from the fact that we have employed in this department only the very best talent, which has in turn been placed under a capable and experienced hand.

Our prices compare favorably with any house in town, and the customer can rely on getting a fitting, well fitting garment.

Myment.

We have the pleasure of recording an auspicious event which has just occurred in the village of Ashburnham, the marriage of Miss Rose Lundy to Mr. A. C. B. B. B. of the city of Quebec. The wedding took place at 1.30 p.m. on Tuesday and was quite in character, only comparatively few guests being present, comprising relatives and familiar acquaintances of the families interested. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alex. Bell, of St. Andrew's church, at Verulam House, the residence of the bride's brother, Messrs. Stomewell Jackson, Montreal, acted as groomsmen, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lillie Ford, of Oshawa. She was in her turn escorted by two very beautifully attired little girls carrying fragrant bouquets, Miss Maud Lundy, a niece of the bride, and Ethel Urquhart, another niece, of Oshawa. The presents were so numerous that it would take a column to give a complete list and suitable description. They were also very elegant in design. The happy couple left on the 4th Canadian Pacific express for an extended tour through the principal cities of the Eastern States.

WAR.

That the first gun has been fired in Afghanistan is startling intelligence, but cannot be said to be unexpected. Russian aggression and the inviting suzerainty of a Liberal Administration in London, is an old story, a mere repetition of the commencement of the Crimean war.

The first collision has been between the Russians and the Afghans, but it cannot be supposed that they alone will be involved. The British Empire will undoubtedly come to the assistance of its ally. The war, which at present seems inevitable, was certain to occur at some time, and perhaps, if Russia will have it so, it is as well that it should come now that the British and Indian authorities are prepared for it. It is to be regretted that such a conflict should occur, but it is forced upon Great Britain by the aggression of an unscrupulous intruder. The British people are aroused, and will tolerate no trampling to such an enemy. We may also be sure that they will support the authorities without any feigning attempts to thwart them. The best wishes of all loyal Canadians will go with the Mother Country in the impending conflict.

AN IMPUDENT DEFENSE.

As the conspiracy to fix a charge of bribery against members of the Conservative party has failed through the acquittal of those who were falsely accused, and the exposure of the base plot of the hirings of the Ontario Administration and their employees, some defense must of course be attempted by the real criminals. Their leading organ, the Globe, is mightily expected, takes the line of abasing both judge and jury, for shielding the innocent and censuring the guilty. The past history of gentlemen connected with the Globe gives ample reason for expecting this antipathy to judges and juries.

One remark of the Globe would be amusing, if the matter were not so grave, on account of its cool impudence. The organ of the plotters complains that the jury did not give a verdict according to the evidence. When these hired witnesses and informers contradicted themselves and each other on oath, how could a verdict be rendered in accordance with their testimony, unless it were to be self-contradictory? And when these tools of members of the Moray Administration showed plainly by their own account of their own business and duplicity that they could be safely trusted as jurymen, how could a verdict be rendered in accordance with such words that were worthless evidence? But most disgraceful of all is the vile insinuation of the Globe that the jurors sold their verdict for bribes. The carefully selected jurymen were men whose character precludes the slightest suspicion of such iniquitous conduct on their part. There were no McKims or Cassidys or Downings among them. They stand far above the reach of such slanders. Nor will the ravings of disappointed conspirators and their organ besmirch a judiciary of whose integrity and impartiality all true Canadians are proud.

IMPUDENT AGITATORS.

In a report of a meeting of the "Farmers' Union," published in a Winnipeg paper, the following appears:—

"Mr. Purvis moved a resolution to the effect that, owing to the troubles West, the present agitation be discontinued and that no public meetings be held until after peace is again restored."

Why should Mr. Purvis, who has been striving so long to excite the people of Manitoba and the Northwest against the Dominion Government, cease his public operations until after peace is restored? It must be either because it will give him a better opportunity to work privately, or because he believes such meetings will encourage the insurgents, and he fears the result. If the former was his reason for moving the resolution, his object was most reprehensible; and if it was the latter, he might consider the matter further. If public meetings held now, under the auspices of the agitators who control the Union, would encourage the rebels and do harm, did not the meetings formerly held under the leadership of the agitators, and did not such meetings cause the riots? And if these meetings have such an evil tendency now, have they not had such a tendency to do serious harm all along? Such political agitators as Mr. Purvis, and those who act with him, do no good, but only work mischief. If Manitoba is disunited, she has men chosen by the people to speak for her, who are responsible to the people for what they utter. The power of the Union to do harm would have been very much less if the Reform papers had not assisted it by encouraging the agitators and publishing sensational reports of their utterances and doings, but now that the result of such a course has become unmistakably apparent, it is to be hoped that the few nobodies and paid political mischief-makers of the Northwest will receive less encouragement from eastern papers and from a section of the Manitoba press.

EXCITING INCIDENT.

LAWA, Del., April 8.—This town was thrown into great confusion this morning over the elopement of the wife of Robert Parsons with his nephew, Edward Parsons. The eloping couple reached the station a few moments before train time, followed by Robert Parsons, who rode on horseback, just as his wife was boarding the train. As young Parsons was following her into the car her husband seized him and a terrible struggle followed. Young Parsons told his uncle to the ground, and breaking through the crowd ran and caught the departing train. Robert Parsons is a respectable farmer, about thirty years of age. He has been married only a few years, and has lived happily with his wife, who is a beautiful woman, 21 years old. They have one child. Edward Parsons is a handsome young man about 22. He has been living with his uncle. During the fight Robert Parsons received several wounds, and now lies in a critical condition. The eloping couple bought tickets for Philadelphia.

MURDERED AS HOME JAW.

The Body of a Jew Found Hacked With an Axe.

MODER JAW, April 8.—The dead body of Moleki, a German Jew, has been found near here. He was a Canadian Pacific employee, and the last seen of him was on Sunday night, when he arrived from the west and stopped with another Jew at John Connor's. Three fearful cuts were found on the back of his head, evidently made by an axe.

THE CHARITY AFFAIR.

COUNCILLOR GREEN RISES AND MAKES AN EXPLANATION.

An Investigation Committee Appointed—Providing for Families of the Volunteers—The Ambulance Corps—Other Matters.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Thursday evening.

There were present, His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Green, McClelland, Yelland, Manzie, Rutherford, Kendry and Hartley.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read:—From W. H. Banfield notifying the Council that he was prepared to furnish dog tags at reasonable rates.—Finance Committee.

From Wm. Collins, of North Monaghan, referring to the same charity matter on which he addressed a note to the Council some time ago.—Finance Committee.

From W. H. Moore declining a membership to the Board of Health, on account of lack of time to attend to the duties of the position.—Received.

From Warren Taylor, on behalf of the Cheese Association, asking permission to hold regular cheese conventions in the Council Chamber during the coming summer.—Granted.

From Mrs. Mary Brown and Eliza Jane Brown referring to charity matters and charging the Chairman of the Charity Committee with non-fulfillment of the duties of the position.—Received.

From Joseph Decker asking a remission of dog tax.—Granted when the statutory declaration is taken.

From W. G. Ferguson, Valentine Best and others, petitioning that the fine recently imposed on them by the Police Magistrate for imprisonment on the building by-law be refunded.—Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were received:—Carter Bros., charity order, $95.00; Peterborough Gas Co., gas for hall, $1.00; Peterborough Gas Co., gas for Council Chamber, $2.15; Bayview Printing and Pub. Co., $4.45; Russell, board for an agent, $3.25.

All of the accounts were referred to the Finance Committee with the exception of that of Francis Russell, which was ordered to be paid.

The Mayor stated that just here he wished to read a telegram which he had received. It was as follows:—

Toronto, April 9th.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Peterborough:

We are getting up a Red Cross ambulance corps for the Northwest by permission of the Government, who provide transportation and rations. Our corps will take hospital tents and all necessary equipments and medical appliances and will be used at the front. We need troops to take care of the sick and wounded from the front. Can you collect any subscriptions in Peterborough, or some of your men have gone. We want about $5000 in all. Corps will leave next Wednesday so what is done must be done to-morrow.

The matter was received.

The Mayor said that he wished also to make an explanation. At the last meeting of the Council, when the market question was up for consideration he had spoken of the manner in which the market had been managed by Mr. Doherty's predecessor. In doing so he had done an injustice to Mr. Green. He was under a wrong impression at the time, and desired that the fact be publicly given to his explanation as was given to him at that evening.

THE CHARITY AFFAIR.

The matter of the communication of Mrs. Brown and Eliza Jane Brown, charging the Chairman of the Charity Committee with certain irregularities, was now dealt with.

Councillor GREEN, in reply to the communication, said that he was prepared to prove that no irregularities had occurred and was willing to leave the matter in the hands of a committee to examine into the affair. He wished to clearly explain the matter to the Council. Mrs. Brown made application for charity some time in January. She was then living in the Charity Committee, and it was resolved to give her a dollar a week. She received that amount for four weeks when other members of the Charity Committee did not think it was proper to continue the matter. She was then referred to the Council, and it was resolved to give her a dollar a week. This was three weeks before Mrs. Brown, the applicant's sister, died. For these three weeks the grant of two dollars a week was paid. The applicant had received one dollar a week for four weeks and two dollars a week for three weeks, in all ten dollars, as per order of the Council. He then produced a statement showing the exact date at which the grant commenced and when it had stopped.

Councillor BRYANMAN looked on this as a grave matter. For the sake of all concerned it should be looked into, and then if Mr. Green was innocent of the charge he would be cleared of all charges. He then moved, seconded by Councillor McClelland, that the charges preferred against Councillor Green be referred to a committee composed of Councillors Cahill, Yelland, Kelly and Manzie.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON was inclined to deal with the matter in open Council, fair, square and above board.

Councillor MCCLELLAND said that in justice to Councillor Green, the Council and the people, an investigation should be made.

The motion was put and carried.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

The Mayor asked if anything had been done, or was going to be, done to the relief of the families of the volunteers who might need assistance.

Councillor HARTLEY said that two applications had been made to him for relief, and that he had quite a proper thing that they should have it.

Councillor CAHILL did not look on this matter in the light of a charity donation. The matter of those wives were now doing honorable service for their country.

Councillor CAHILL thereupon moved, seconded by Councillor MCNAUGHTON, that the matter of rendering assistance to the families of two married men who went to the Northwest as volunteers be referred to the Council of No. 4 Ward with power to do, and that the treasurer be directed to honor their orders.—Carried.

REMISSION OF TAXES.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY, that the taxes of Those Billings be remitted.—Carried.

THE AMBULANCE CORPS.

The matter of contributing to the expense of the Red Cross ambulance corps was then taken up.

Councillors MANZIE moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY, that the sum of $50 be given by this Council to the Red Cross ambulance corps at the request of Mr. Wragge.—Carried.

OFFICER MCINTYRE.

Councillor MANZIE called attention to the fact that Night-watchman McIntyre was not supplied with either bacon, sippers, or shield. This was not right. He should be provided with these necessary articles.

Councillor MANZIE thereupon moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY, that a policeman's hat, shield sippers and belt be procured for officer McIntyre by this Council.—Carried.

BOULEVARD FRATRY.

Councillor CAHILL asked if any action had been taken by the Board of Health as to the duties.

Councillor RUTHERFORD replied that a meeting had been called but there was no quorum present. Those present, however, had intimated to the Sanitary Inspector that they should at once commence the execution of the work.

THE SWEET.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD, that in the case of persons or persons, corporation or company, be permitted to break into, or in any way interfere with, the sewer on George Street, but, when necessary that the connection should be made with the said sewer, the same shall be done under the supervision of the Street and Bridge Inspector, who shall ascertain the actual cost of such work and charge the work to the party requiring such connection to be made.—Carried.

NEW TOWN OFFICES.

Councillor CAHILL asked if anything had been done in reference to fitting up the old Bank of Toronto into town offices.

Councillor RUTHERFORD stated that the Property Committee had taken active steps in the matter, and the plans and specifications were now nearly ready. The office would be complete, comprising a council chamber, clerk and treasurer's office, police court and lock-up. The plans would be submitted at the next meeting of the Council, and he trusted that they would give every satisfaction.

The Council adjourned until the evening of April 20th.

To Dyspeptics.

The most common signs of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are an oppression at the stomach, nausea, flatulency, water-brash, heart-burn, vomiting, loss of appetite, and constipation. Dyspeptic patients suffer untold misery, bodily and mental. They should stimulate the digestion, and secure regular daily action of the bowels, by the use of moderate doses of Ayer's Pills.

After the bowels are regulated, one of these Pills, taken each day after dinner, is usually all that is required to complete the cure.

AYER'S PILLS are sugar-coated and purely vegetable—a pleasant, entirely safe, and reliable medicine for the cure of all disorders of the stomach and bowels. They are the best of all purgatives for family use.

The programme for the entertainment in the Opera House on Tuesday evening will be out to-morrow. The plan of the hall is open at Hartley's music store, where seats may be secured; and tickets may also be obtained at Salisbury Bros.

Coal Oil.

If you are troubled with poor oil try China Hall. Nothing but the very best and purest brands of Canadian and American oil kept. Prices same as other dealers ask for the ordinary article. One trial will show the superiority of our oil. Free delivery in any quantity.

Personal.

Mr. A. E. Yolland, of Peterborough, has passed the primary examination in medicine at Trinity College, Toronto.

At a meeting of the Transfer Committee of the Methodist Church at Toronto the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., was transferred from the Bay of Quinte Conference to the Toronto Conference.

Military Steps.

Although Miss Armstrong does not make any formal opening, yet a look through her neat and commodious store is sufficient to convince the visitor that she has every requirement in the military line. The window is tastefully dressed and fully foreshadowed the style of things inside. Miss Armstrong attends in person with an efficient staff, and orders committed to her charge receive prompt and critical attention.

Heavy Horses.

The North Ontario Observer of April 2nd says:—

"Heavy horses are now much sought after and are bringing handsome prices. Last week Mr. Peter Christie bought from Isaac Hines, Greenbank, two Clydesdale mares, for which he paid the handsome sum of $500. They are magnificent young animals and were bred and raised by the Messrs. Hanson. Mr. Christie shipped them to Peterborough to Mr. Carnegie, M. P. for West Peterborough, for whom the purchase was made."

To the Front Again.

Mr. W. J. Hall is always to the front to meet any emergency. Now that a large portion of the public require millinery goods he still occupies his wonted place. Having purchased the bankrupt stock of Miss S. A. Sample, he is prepared to supply the ladies of Peterborough with millinery, mantles, mantle cloths, lace, etc., etc., at a surprisingly reduced rate. As the whole stock must be cleared out before the first of May he begs may be expected.

Agate Globes.

A fine assortment of Agate Globes, inlaid with Pine, Maple, Boxwood, etc., for sale at J. R. Hall's.

Evening Entertainment.

The entertainment given under the auspices of St. Luke's church in the Town Hall, Ashburton, on Thursday evening, was a very enjoyable one. The hall was well filled and all were delighted with the entertainment. Mr. E. A. Peck, acting as chairman, came forward and apologized for the delay occasioned by the non-arrival of some of the performers. When however, they arrived, the entertainment commenced. It was opened by an instrumental solo by Miss Delaney, who exhibited wonderful power and execution. Mr. French sang "Sweet Alce Ben Bolt" accompanied on the piano by Miss McNab. It was well received. A tableaux new took place "The Bachelor wanting a wife" Mr. Geale impersonating the bachelor, and Miss Topley the old maid. The second tableaux represented the bachelor caught by the beauty (Miss Emily McNab). Another song was given by Mr. French, "A Sailor's Life," which was followed by another tableaux, "A Dirty Boy." W. Orde taking the dirty boy's part, and Miss Clara Calcutt that of his mother trying to scrub him. This was particularly ludicrous and occasioned much rejoicing among the juvenile part of the audience. Miss Delaney, by request, gave another piano solo. She chose one of her own composition, which she rendered with admirable taste and effect. The last tableaux was "Good Night," which was given by members of the school and others. It was repeated Miss Delaney sang "Queen of the Night," in a manner which showed her high vocal statements as well as instrumental ability. "The Little Sentinel" was then produced by the Misses Topley Hall and McNab, and Messrs. Geale, Cooper and Brown, with an effect producing much merriment. The National Anthem was sung, and the audience dispersed well pleased with the entertainment.

Just received, a case of champagne, consisting partly of White, Black and Colored Kissing Cakes, Lemon and Orange Biscuits, etc., etc. J. R. Hall.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds; fine milder weather.

To Messengers.

All those who attend the carnival at the roller rink in fancy costume this evening should, to avoid any mistakes being made, write their name and the character represented in a legible hand on a card and hand it in at the door as they are entering.

Grand Carnival! Grand Carnival!

This is the night of the grand carnival at the roller rink. All should go and see the novel sight. Usual carnival admission fee. Excellent band of the Fire Brigade in attendance. There must be three entries to each event to be competed for.

McKee's Furniture Factory.

Have you been in McKee's Furniture Warehouse on Water street yet? If not, go and see the bargains you can get there. Good, large, comfortable, easy chairs from $4 up. Good sofas, from $3.25 up. Good spring beds from $1.50 up. Good sideboards from $4 up. Good bureaus from $4 up, and everything else in proportion.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Leagues Club was held at the Little Windsor Hotel on Thursday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Hon. President—Mr. R. A. Morrow.
President—Mr. H. LeBrun.
1st Vice President—Mr. R. H. Fortye.
2nd Vice President—Mr. W. A. Sanderson.
Captain—Mr. Jas. Cunningham.
Assistant Captain—Mr. James Dolan.
Secretary—Mr. G. H. Givens.
Treasurer—Mr. C. Rutherford.
Committee of Management—Messrs. W. J. Scott, J. Henderson and M. Halpin.
Several more honorary members were elected and also several members were admitted. The opening of the season will be inaugurated by a grand match at the Driving Park on May 25th.

"To the Front, Charge!"

At the present time, when everybody thinks more or less of the conflict and grivances that are going on, not only in foreign countries, but with not a little magnitude in our own heretofore peaceful land, anything that may appear in the press that will throw light on the subject is eagerly sought after, and day after day the columns of the dailies are crisscrossed with an earnest and anxious that at other times is hardly ever noticed. The fight (or rather what we think will eventually prove the fight) of Right, the rebel in the Northwest, has caused no end of excitement, not only in Peterborough, which has contributed her quota to help swell the ranks of the brave defenders of Canada and British rights, who have gone there, but all over this continent. The call to arms and duty has been quickly and cheerfully responded to. War has now been declared in another quarter, not in a foreign country, nor yet in the Northwest, but hostilities have been commenced at Habington Hall, Peterborough, and the word of command is "To the front, charge!" There is a fine lot of soldiers employed there to complete the work, and they will hold the fort at all hazards. Call and get a spring unit. A. McNish.

For neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough. The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. Foot & McWhinnie.

"Gertrude."

On Wednesday evening the opera bouffe "Gertrude" was presented to the Peterborough public at Bradburn's Opera House, under the auspices of the Peterborough Boating Club, by the Lindsey Amateur Dramatic Company. The hall was appropriately decorated for the event with a number of canopies, with and without sails, tripods of paddles, camp stools, flowers, and other ornamentation. The opera "Gertrude" is composed, both action and music, of a selection of favorite parts of popular opera of the day, well arranged, and frequented at intervals with original songs and solos. The choruses were effectively rendered, and though at times lacking that dash, spirit and vigor of the trained opera singers, yet taken in all was exceedingly creditable. Some of the solos were well rendered, particularly those of Miss Galloway as "Gertrude," Mr. J. Dunford, as "Duke," and Mr. J. G. Edwards as "Syracuse." Miss Galloway filled the title role in a charming manner, her very abandon, coy looks, and attractive stage appearance at once placing her in high favor with the audience. She has a clear soprano, which has been brought out with evident training and cultivation. She was frequently recalled. Mr. Dunford sang very pleasingly two solos that received deserved recognition. In the "Event Knight" Mr. J. G. Edwards fairly convulsed the audience. So well affected was the actors at the end that everyone shook with pent up laughter. Mr. A. McNish made a capital Capt. Amersford, and Miss M. Knowlton as "Eleanore" created a favorable impression. "Peter Syke" found a capable representative in Mr. R. J. Macbeth. The dresses of the performers deserve special notice. They were all appropriate in character, some being rich and really elegant. The Lindsey orchestra supplied music between acts, the accompaniments to the singers, in a way that heightened the effect of the performance very much. On the whole the presentation of "Gertrude" was a success, and the performance much better than those given by many professional companies. The Boating Club made a decided hit when they engaged the company to come here, for everyone who attended seemed to leave the hall well satisfied.

SHORTLY'S
BOYS' EXPRESS WAGONS And VELOCIPEDS.

They possess the following advantages:—The velocipede is thoroughly well equipped with a carriage made from half-dressed stuff, which will carry and wear the rider and his baggage, and will hold the machine in the best of repair.

The riding gear is perfectly true and there is no trouble in using it. The velocipede is a good strong machine and fitted to the body by experienced workmen.

There was again on April 8th a repetition of the occasion of war questionings on the part of the Hon. Edward Blake in the Commons. There is a good story told of the Pages' parliament during the reign. The boys on the floor of the House who supply the speakers with water to moisten their dry throats, and are the targets at which members who are too hot to be cooled, imitate their masters occasionally, one becoming Speaker, another Premier, and a third the leader of the Opposition. The other night they organized, and the leader of the Opposition asked the Premier whether the Indians were on the move, if so whether they took their squaws and papooses with them. If not both squaws and papooses which they left at home. Of course the Premier replied that it was well known to the average informed boy in the country that when the bucks donned the war paint they left their squaws and papooses at home. This is the story of the Pages' parliament. SATURDAY, APRIL 11, 1885.

Is the Globe not satisfied with the extent of the rising in the Northwest? Does it wish to secure more ill-feeling and bring on still more disastrous consequences? Referring to the Commission appointed, it says:—

"It is not surprising that the halfbreeds at Qu'Appelle doubted whether they should take the trouble of meeting a Commission so composed."

Such unjust remarks can only have the effect, so far as the halfbreeds are concerned, of encouraging them in opposing any settlement, and in creating further trouble. Besides, the insinuation in the sentence quoted is untrue. It was stated that the halfbreeds referred to had doubted whether to meet the Commission or refer the Commission to the Government. It was not stated that they doubted whether they should take the trouble of meeting a Commission so composed.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS

BIDDING FOR VESSELS.
St. Petersburg, April 10.—Russian agents have invited the office of a number of steamship companies, and made heavy bids for the service of the Black Sea.

The facts have been reported to the British admiralty. Russia has not yet replied to the demand of England for full explanation respecting the attack on the Albanians.

PROTECTING HERAT.
Calcutta, April 10.—Sir Peter Lumsden has been ordered to send a detachment of his troops to Herat, which commands the approach to Herat from the north. His troops have encountered fearful sufferings from cold, and many have perished in the snowdrifts on the mountains.

WILLIAM SATISFIED.
Berlin, April 10.—The Emperor William has expressed his satisfaction with the agreement at Posen.

SERIOUS IF TRUE.
London, April 10.—Letters from St. Petersburg, dated April 10, in order to escape Russian censorship, charges the Russian Minister of War with having sent orders to Gen. Komaroff, and the end of February to bring on a conflict with the Albanians. The letters state that Gen. Komaroff started from Merv with reinforcements for Pashik, and took advantage of a favourable opportunity to make an attack soon after his arrival.

AN EXPLANATION ASKED.
London, April 10.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Gladstone asked a reply to a resolution passed last night stating that Russia had already asked Komaroff to explain his conduct in attacking the Albanians at Pashik. Mr. Gladstone asked that the Russians do not occupy Pashik.

POSTPONED.
London, April 10.—Right Hon. High Chamberlain has postponed for a week the presentation of the budget in the House of Commons. The postponement is, presumably, due to the anticipation of a vote on the question of war with Russia.

AN IMMEDIATE ADVANCE.
Calcutta, April 10.—Lord Dufferin, after a consultation with the Viceroy, has decided to order an immediate advance of the British troops to the Afghan frontier, with orders to the Afghan chiefs to meet him at Kabul for the purpose of holding a war council.

THE ENGLISH ULTIMATUM.
London, April 10.—It is reported that the English ultimatum to Russia is 24 hours in which to accept Komaroff or go to war.

RUSSIA WILL EXPLAIN.
London, April 10.—The Russian Government has refused to accept the ultimatum, and has asked for an explanation of the Russian ultimatum.

HURRICANE IN MADAGASCAR.
St. Paul, April 10.—A terrible hurricane occurred at Tananarive, on the east coast of Madagascar, on the 28th February. Twelve Getting Thicker.

Tramps seem to be getting thick in numbers around Peterborough. No fewer than nine of these itinerant depleted itinerants having found shelter in the cooler during the last two nights. Five of them were in that place last night and four the night before.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to stormy winds; mostly cloudy weather with sleet or rain.

TURNBULL'S Millinery and Mantle showrooms will be opened on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Amateur Athletic Association.
The Association to-day received letters patent incorporating the Association. A meeting of the Directors of the Association will be held on Monday evening next to complete arrangements for the celebration of the Queen's Birthday and other important matters.

Coal Oil.
If you are troubled with poor oil try China Hall. Nothing but the very best and purest brands of Canadian and American oil kept. Prices same as other dealers ask for the ordinary articles. One trial will show the superiority of our oil. Free delivery in any quantity. CHINA HALL.

Cricket Club.
The annual meeting of the Cricket Club will be held on Wednesday evening next at eight o'clock at the Grand Central Hotel. The prospects of the Club for this year are brighter. The meeting will also consider the consideration of the joining of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, which will no doubt be carried into effect.

McKee's Furniture Factory.
Have you been in McKee's Furniture Factory on West street yet? If not, go and see the bargains you can get there. Good, large, comfortable, easy chairs from $4 up. Good lounge, from $12 up. Good spring beds from $1.50 up. Good sideboards from $4 up. Good bureaus from $4 up, and everything else in proportion.

The Market.
For the time of year, the market was well attended this morning. As might be expected scarcely any poultry was offered for sale. But was sold at from 19 to 21 cents. Eggs have dropped in price considerably selling at from 13 to 15 cents per dozen. Beef, pork and other meats were sold at prices unchanged. Some very fine specimens of apples were offered at from $1.25 to $1.50 per bag.

A Day at Idyl Wild.
Preparations are already on foot for a gala day to be held at Idyl Wild on Monday, May 25th. Among the numerous prizes that will be offered for events of different kinds will be one for the best comic singer and one for the best sentimental singer—both ladies and gentlemen. A baby show will be held, a tug of war will take place between the Alnwick and Elwathill Indians and a similar event will take place Northumberland vs. Peterborough. Running, jumping, etc., will comprise the starting events and the whole will wind up with a grand hop in the pavilion.

Boys for the Home.
On Thursday evening a company of one hundred and fifty boys arrived for the Home. They are a fine, healthy, sturdy lot. The passage out was made without accident, with the exception of one little fellow who broke his leg by falling down the gangway during a lull of the ship. Another boy died of dysentery during the passage, taking ill in the morning and dying before night. On Friday Dr. Clarke, in his official capacity as Medical Health Officer, went to the Home and examined all the boys to see if they were properly vaccinated. He found the majority to be in a satisfactory condition. The age of the boys range from nine years to seventeen. They are rapidly finding suitable homes, twenty-seven having been taken away last night, and thirteen more this morning. The prospect is at present that the Home will be long be depleted of its last contingent.

ROUND ON THE ROLLERS

THE INITIATIVE CARNIVAL TURNS OUT TO BE A COMPLETE SUCCESS.

The Bank Filled With Spectators and the Floor Covered With Masqueraders—The Fire Brigade Band in Attendance.

The first grand fancy dress carnival held at the roller rink was, as anticipated, an unqualified success.

Early in the evening the dressing rooms commenced to receive the fantastically clad forms and by eight o'clock they were completely filled. Those who were ready found it necessary to give way to those who were still arriving and accordingly the cluster of some fifty boxwood were on hand skimming along the hard smooth maple floor.

The spectators continued to arrive until after nine o'clock when every available seat was occupied, making use of all the supplementary seating accommodation provided by the forethought of the manager.

The following is a complete list of those who appeared in costume as was possible to obtain:—

When the skaters had amused themselves for some time the gong was sounded for the floor to be cleared. The fancy skating contest was then brought on. There were three entries: K. G. Leach, Wm. Leach, and W. Logan. It soon became evident that Mr. K. G. Leach was certain of first place, which was duly awarded to him by the judges, Wm. Leach obtaining second. As there were only two entries for the ladies skating competition the event was dispensed with.

The skaters again took possession of the floor and glided away the fleeting hours. Among those who appeared in costume there were several noticeable for both richness and neatness of their dresses. Miss Stapleton as "Fairy Queen" made a charming character, and was noticeable among all for both freshness and attractiveness. Miss Isabel Shaw was a good representative of the personage assumed, that of the "Italian Troubadour." Miss Josie Bradburn was a particularly happy personification of "Pink of Perfection." Miss Clementi's costume, that of the lady of the olden time, was characteristic in a marked degree. Mr. A. S. Manhard wore a richly rich costume, that of the stumpcut regular. Mr. W. A. Sanderson made perhaps the most complete character represented on the floor, that of "Richelieu." The comic element was supplied by W. Logan and T. Diamond, as "Irishman," J. J. Daly, as "Ching Ching," and others.

Among the boys Tommy Delaney eclipsed everyone. In was needless for him to write out the name of who or what was represented, for so complete was the dress, such attention given to every detail, that judges and everyone else knew immediately that it was "Cupid" in the heavenly form as it was possible for the earth to approach. Little Lambert Henry, a "Soldier" looked much what one would imagine Swift's Lilliputians to be. One feature was particularly noticeable, and that was the number who appeared in soldier's dress, representing, more forcibly than word could portray, the military spirit of the day.

The judges were Mrs. Clementi, Miss Durand, Miss Ferguson, and Messrs. C. A. Weller, C. McGill and Dr. Boucher. The names of those who won the various prizes were announced by Mr. U. A. Weller from the gallery. They were as follows:—

BEST DRESSED LADY IN FANCY COSTUME—1st, Miss D. Shaw, as Italian Troubadour; 2nd, Miss Ida Ewing, as Italian Street Singer.

BEST DRESSED LADY IN ORIGINAL COSTUME—1st, Miss Tina Menzies, as Gipsy Queen; 2nd, Miss Mildred Beck, as Italian Girl.

BEST COMIC COSTUME—Miss Clementi, as Lady of the Olden Time.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN FANCY COSTUME—1st, Wm. A. Sanderson, as Cardinal Richelieu; 2nd, C. McClelland, as Earl Rothwell.

BEST DRESSED CHILD IN FANCY COSTUME—T. Delaney, as Cupid.

This, we may say, formal opening of the rink resulted as so to surpass even the most sanguine expectations of the management. It is said to their credit, however, that every exertion was made to ensure its success. The skates were in the best of order, and the decorations were clean, consisting of numerous devices in Chinese and Japanese arrangements, placed in appropriate places around the rink.

WHATEVER IS, IS BEST.

I know, as my life grows older,
And mine eyes have clearer sight,
That under each rank wrong, somewhere,
There lies the root of Right.
That each sorrow has its purpose,
By the sorrowing oft unguessed;
But as sure as the sun brings morning,
Whatever is, is best.

I know that each sinful action,
As sure as the night brings shade,
Is sometime, somewhere punished,
Tho' the hour be long delayed.
I know that the soul is aided
Sometimes by the heart's unrest,
And to grow means often to suffer,
But whatever is, is best.

I know there are no errors
In the great Eternal plan,
And all things work together
For the final good of man.
And I know when my soul speeds onward
In the grand eternal quest,
I shall say, as I look earthward,
Whatever is, is best.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, APRIL 13, 1886.

The Dominion authorities are being attacked by the Canadian opposition on the subject of the choice of General Middleton's aide-de-camp. There were very wise military critics who knew that a general in command, by the usual rule is very properly allowed to select his own personal staff.

Some of those Reformers who are giving all possible "moral" support to Riel and the rest of the rebels, are pretending that Lord Maitland was in the regular army, he has been in service in three quarters of the globe, and is now volunteering to do so in the fourth. He has been wounded on the field of battle, so he is not the mere carpet knight the sympathizers with the rebels assert him to be.

The Reform Administration of Messrs. Macdonald and Blake having allowed Riel when a fugitive from justice to enter the Parliament buildings at Ottawa and sign the roll as a member, without an attempt to arrest him, while thus within their reach, it is now alleged by their apologists that Riel took this step with the connivance of Conservative members of the House. There was one member present when Riel signed the roll, and he was a Reformer, Mr. Fleet. It is an acknowledgment of guilt to rely upon falsehood for a defence.

NOT VERY CONSIDERATE.
The Globe, with good reason, maintains that one of its staff should not be held responsible for or tainted with the crime of which a relation was found guilty. But the Globe has not only pertinaciously held one of its principal proprietors of the Meek guilty of an offence of which a jury has acquitted him, but also holds, not his brother, but his political friends and allies responsible for the offence with which he has been falsely charged.

STILL SLANDERING.
The Globe and some of its imitators still dishonestly persist in holding guilty those who were falsely accused of conspiracy to corrupt members of the Legislature, but who have been acquitted by a jury of their countrymen after a trial in which their own mouths were closed, while all the weight of the Provincial Administration was employed against them. The excuse of the leading Reform organ for this continuing to slander the innocent is that the jury was chiefly Conservative, though by its own showing Reform and independent jurors unanimously concurred in the verdict of acquittal. The Globe also maintains that the judges summed up unfairly from partisan motives, though Chief Justice Wilson was in politics a member of a Reform cabinet, having been elected for North York with the support of the Globe. Chief Justice Wilson was also raised to the bench by a Reform Administration. The Globe is acting most unwarrantably in insulting judges and jury by charges that they are abusing their position by allowing political prejudices to warp them from their sworn duty. But if the Globe must use such disgraceful weapons, it might at the very least tell the truth, instead of misrepresenting the facts in order to have some apparent ground on which to base its columns.

THE LION AND BEAR.
The strength of the British and the Russian Army Forces.

The comparative military strength of England and Russia has become a question of the hour. Theoretically the possible army of a nation is limited only by the number of its adult male population within the age-bearing age. Practically, however, it was between European powers, the great immediate necessity is to know what forces are enrolled, organized, more or less drilled, and quickly available. In the British army the number of men registered on the regimental establishments of the army, the auxiliary forces and the reserves, is made up, as far as a date as January 1, 1885. The effective strength, also, for that date, is known as follows:

Regular forces, regimental, all, home and colonial, 131,709	131,709
Army reserve, 1st class, 25,246	25,246
2nd class, 4,700	4,700
Militia including part-time staff and militia, 141,234	141,234
Reserves, including staff, 14,025	14,025
Volunteers, 201,417	201,417
Total home and colonial, 538,772	538,772
Regular forces, regimental, all, Indian establishment, 51,597	51,597
Total, 590,369	590,369

The "peace offensive" strength of the Russian military establishment is something over 750,000 men. At a recent date the regular troops numbered about 700,000, and Cossack and irregular troops brought the aggregate peace strength to 757,248. The war footing is nearly two millions—1,917,204. This great difference is due to the universal liability to service of the arms-bearing population. Russian subjects, unless exempted, must serve for six years in the active army, nine on furlough reserve and five in the second reserve. As there are many exemptions from the annual contingent for service in the active army and navy, the total Russian force that could possibly be organized and used, including the militia only called out in war, would be much greater—nearly three millions. So, on the other hand, England's actual effective, already spoken of, could in time be enormously increased from her great Indian and colonial populations. It will be observed that England's regimental force of regulars, of all ranks, numbers about 130,000 exclusive of the India establishment, which swells the total to about 190,000.

The British navy is, of course, greatly superior to the Russian. The latter is credited with 35 ironclads, built and building; but, as Robert Fane has said, "one cannot think that there is much to fear from her fleet when such vessels as the Peter the Great and the two Potemkins are among its most formidable names." The British navy, including a score of her ironclads considered obsolete, has about thirty powerful armored battle vessels, with about 10 under construction. They range from 4,000 to 12,000 tons displacement, the average being over 8,000. Their thickness of armor on the water line ranges from the nine inches of the Hercules to the twenty-four of the Infernal, and the average is over thirteen inches. Only one of them has a speed of over twelve knots, and the average is fourteen. A few carry only the 12-ton or 18-ton guns, but the greater number have the 30-ton, the 36-ton, the 43-ton, or the 63-ton guns, while the Infernal carries four of 80 tons. Besides her ironclads, England has a force of swift commerce destroyers. During the last five years she has launched or laid down 36 of them.

Russia, on her part, has of late laid great stress on her coast defence. She has a larger number of forts than any other navy, and she has the advantage of the Bosphorus to her advantage. Her defence against the English is, however, not so strong as she has devoted British ironclads. It is a system of defence against the English.

WHY WILL YOU suffer when St. John's Cure will give you immediate relief. Price 25c. to 50c. and $1. For sale by G. W. G. & Co., Peterborough, Ontario.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

THE JUDICIAL OPINION ON THE CONSPIRACY TO INCITE RIOTING.

The Essence of the Decree Pictured by Themselves—Blasphemy Imputed in the Disgraceful Plot.

Then there was the role of a detective who, while working himself into a man's confidence, would not do anything to induce the commission of crime. Few men would like to take this duty, although it was necessary in the interests of justice. But there were still fewer men who would undertake to be the accomplice of a person, who would pretend to co-operate with him, and on every opportunity would lead him on to the commission of crime in order to betray him. This was a most dishonourable part to undertake. No man who had a particle of respect for himself would undertake such a work. Yet such was the conduct of these three men, Mr. Kim, Balfour and Dowling, who were giving evidence against the defendants. They were told to go on and do this by the members of the Government. A judge is bound to speak plainly. There are many disgraceful duties a judge is bound to perform, and one is to make no distinction of persons. Well, these men were told to do this and they did it. The learned judge went on to say that he most earnestly trusts that these men did this not it was no reason in itself for disbelieving them. But it was a reason for looking upon every word they said with grave suspicion as to its truth. If the jury truly and really believed what they said, however scandalously they might have shown they had acted, then the jury would have to act on the basis of the evidence of an accomplice of course required to be corroborated. They did not act upon the uncorroborated evidence of accomplices. It was for the jury to say whether being accomplices, and supposing their evidence had been corroborated in some particulars, their testimony was worthy of credence despite the character they had created for themselves. Some of the persons who had been taken in this conspiracy had been strongly connected upon, and it was right that he should notice them. It had been said that the information which had been laid at the Police Court had been taken up with blanks for names, before the commission of the alleged offence. It was undoubtedly a most unusual proceeding to draw up affidavits against a person before he committed an offence. Balfour took his money on the 17th of March and the information was drawn up that morning at 6 o'clock, before he received it. Then the information was sworn to by a detective knowing nothing more about the facts alleged than one of the jury did at the time of their occurrence, and yet he swore positively that such and such things were done at such and such a time. He swore to facts of the truth of which he could know absolutely nothing of his personal knowledge. The fact that the statute directed that an information should be sworn to positively was no authority for a person swearing to something he knew nothing about. A man might swear to a thing which might turn out to be true, and yet if he did not know it to be true he was committing perjury. If a man were to swear that General Wolsey was dead, not knowing whether he was dead or not, he would be guilty of perjury even if it turned out that the General had died. He considered it highly improper that the detectives should make such affidavits. Another proceeding which had been complained of was that the papers of some of the defendants had been used when they were sworn to. It was a usual proceeding to take the papers found upon the person of arrested persons, and if only the papers essential to the case were retained he could not say that it was wrong. He did not say that the two letters from Kiriloff to his mother should be retained, but these letters contained such excellent advice that the detention would not be regretted, and he was sure that they could not be so corruptly used in the prosecution of the defendant. In referring to the evidence about the withdrawal of the election petitions, his Lordship said that it was not necessary to say anything about the witnesses for the Crown were sworn to in a conspiracy to induce officers of bribery, he could not do more than utterly condemn any man leading another on to commit crime, whatever excuse he might plead. A person inducing another to commit robbery or murder became a robber or a murderer. The common sense of mankind revolted against the idea that it was right that a man should be taken to the commission of crime. No man could do this and preserve his self-respect. He had now to say a few words in respect to what was termed a doubt in the minds of the jury. He explained that if there were any reason to doubt the guilt of the accused it was the duty of the jury to give the benefit of the doubt to the defendant. They would be right to consider that they had any doubt if they came to the conclusion that the evidence was so evenly balanced that they could not tell which side was right. His Lordship then explained the force of each of the counts of the indictment. He was strongly of opinion that the first count was not maintained. It was not proved on the resolution which it was specifically stated was a want of confidence motion. As the evidence could be used to the jury to find whether there was any evidence to show that the defendants had conspired to corrupt certain members of the Legislature to vote against certain bills and resolutions introduced and advised by his Honor. Although they had no evidence that any bills were introduced which were advised by his Honor, he was not disposed to withdraw that count from their consideration. The third count stated that the accused had conspired to induce certain members of the Legislature by corrupt means to vote for a certain resolution affecting the management of the timber lands of the Province in a certain way. There was no evidence to show that Balfour, Meek, or Williamson had ever agreed to any such resolution as was they were sworn to. Then no such resolution was ever introduced to the House. In his opinion the case turned really upon the second count. In considering the evidence in this case he would leave the indictment in their hands, so that they could consider it and see whether it was proved by the evidence. In sitting the evidence they would have the right to consider the character and reputation of the witnesses as established by their own testimony. The jury then retired.—Mail.

THE WRING FLOOD.
Arrival of a Large Number of Immigrants at Montreal.
MONTREAL, April 2.—Two car loads of immigrants, from the emigration Circassian, arrived today. They were chiefly English and Scotch, and proceeded immediately west, intending to settle principally in Ontario. This afternoon another batch of 300 immigrants arrived, among whom were 100 Norwegians and a few Swedes who were en route to Wisconsin and Indiana. The remainder of the party, consisting principally of English and Irish, stated that they intended to settle in Manitoba. They said they had no fears as to the Riel disturbances. They had heard of them before leaving home and were only too anxious to get out to the scene of the rebellion to do their part in "flaming it down." Two intelligent young men from Lancashire said that from their observations they concluded that the remainder of the party, consisting principally of English and Irish, stated that they intended to settle in Manitoba. The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh northwest and north winds; mostly fair, cool weather, preceded by a few showers of sleet and rain.

Special Meeting To-night.
Mr. C. C. Cole, the travelling secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be present at the special meeting to-night in the hall of the Post-office. Besides the usual business of the Association, who are all expected to be present, young men interested in the work of the Association are invited to attend.

A Dangerous Article.
Now that spring is once more here, the average small boy has, as is customary with him at this season of the year, acquired a taste for catnip in hand, ready to do terrible mischief to every stray dog, cat, cow, or anything else that presents itself as a target to shoot at. A catnip is a small, but nevertheless a very dangerous article, and parents of children should keep a sharp eye on the boys, and if such a thing as a catnip is found on their person, immediately destroy it. The police will confiscate all such mischievous friends, with the boys, and mayhap bring them before the magistrate, as well.

Good cost makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MORRIS, Tailor and Clothier, Geese Farmington, etc., George street.

Peterborough Troop.
There was a very good turnout of the cavalry troop on Saturday night for foot drill in the shed considering the bad state of the weather and roads. This corps, which has such a creditable record, is composed almost entirely of young farmers, but as they were not called out for drill last year there are several vacancies, although most of the old members have re-enrolled. The instructor, Lieut. Snyder, who has just returned from a month's course in the Quebec cavalry school, and who will continue squad drill every Wednesday and Saturday night till further notice.

When you want heavy Cottonades and Shirtings, goods that are unwarranted to wear, try them at Turnbull's.

Personal.
Mr. H. LaRue, of the City Clothing Store, has returned the services of Mr. F. B. Dresser, an enterprising artist. He has been engaged in some of the leading tailoring houses in Montreal and has witnessed his experience by a two years engagement with a leading house in Chicago.

Mr. M. A. M. A., formerly of Oxford, who has resided in Peterborough for some time, and one of those who volunteered to assist in the Northwest campaign, but on account of the rains being filled was not taken, has received an appointment in the Lincoln College, Sord, P.Q.

No. 1 Company.
This company is now pretty full, although there are still a few vacancies for good recruits. On Friday night last there was a good number of the recruits, who are already well advanced in drill. The company meets on Tuesday and Friday at 7.30 for drill. To-morrow evening it is expected that every member-old members as well as new—will be present at 7.00, so as to enable those who wish to do so, to go to Mrs. Jones's warehouse at half past eight. All persons other than those actually drilling having any clothing, arms, or other property of the company are requested to return the same late at eight o'clock.

Stock of Cheesed and Imported Turnbells are shown this morning. In the various colorings to suit every one are shown.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

HOW THE FIRST SHOT WAS FIRED IN TOWN BY THE SOLDIERS.

Aide-de-Camp Eddy Commands the Attacking Force—Large Meetings on Sunday—Several Prisoners Captured.

For some time the people of Peterborough have known that a corps of the Salvation Army were about to establish themselves in this town. Bills have been posted up announcing that the attack would take place on Saturday, April 11th, in the old Baptist church, Aymer street.

According to announcement, the campaign was opened in the stated place, the soldiers forming the attacking party being under the command of Aide-de-Camp Eddy. The scene and operations at the first onslaught were, no doubt, novel to the majority of those present. No sooner did those who desired admittance enter the door than they found the passage filled up with a big, burly man, with a florid complexion and red chin whiskers. He held in his hand a plate, and mildly intimated that the sum of ten cents was required as admittance could be gained to the scene of the conflict. When the tinkling of the ten cent piece was heard on the plate, the returned passage moved, and entrance was allowed.

At eight o'clock the eddy state were still quite complacent, and the people present began to be rather impatient at the commencement of the proceedings which delayed beyond the advertised hour. A plump young man, with little nose and a round face trumped up and down the aisle, and hummed a tune to himself, but patience was not to be tried, for at a given signal there issued from a back room two men and one woman, and the splendid young man, (who proved to be the hallelujah singer, Capt. Dyer) also took his place with the rest on the platform. They all knelt down and offered short prayers. Then they all stood up, and aide-de-camp Eddy announced that a song would be sung from the army song book. If those who desired one wished to get one, they could get it from Brother Rogers. The singing then commenced, and the hymns played very nicely, but at times when he wanted to sound a high note, his face grew quite red with the exertion. In the meantime Brother Rogers passed up and down with the song books, joining vigorously in the song, at the same time kept quite busy in exchanging books for ten cent pieces.

At intervals in the song, "We'll Fight the Battle Through," aide-de-camp Eddy, a pleasant looking man, with regular features, a broad shading fringe sandy to black, commented on the vigor in which the soldiers of the army always fought the battle through. At the last chorus they all knelt, and Capt. Dyer led in a vehement prayer which was almost drowned with the profuse and energetic ejaculations from the rest of the soldiers of Glory! Glory! Glory! Yes, Yes! Hallelujah! etc. etc. Capt. Rogers then prayed, and they all arose again. Capt. Mills then came forward. She is a woman of twenty-five or thereabouts, rather pale, and she wore a plain black dress, and a head covering half pale brown and half blue in its construction. When sitting in her chair she kept her hands rigidly clasped on her lap, and not straight up, looking right forward, with a solemn yet weak expression. She announced that a song would be sung from the official organ of the Army, the War Cry. Capt. Rogers again set out on another singing expedition, and aide-de-camp Eddy came forward to announce that the War Cry was now circulated in several different languages, and was printed in a dozen languages. This one was the Canadian War Cry, and told all about the war they were being waged through the different sections of the country in which the army was stationed. The song was sung but as few knew the tune, Capt. Mills had it pretty nearly all her own way. Then "Happy Jack" Rogers was called on to sing a song, and tell the people what the army had done for him, which he did. He was spoken low in voice, and plunged in horrid song. He had tried hard to withstand the voice of the Spirit when it called him, through the influence of the Army to give up his evil ways. But he had been overcome at last, and was now a faithful soldier. No business was equal to that of his joy. There was "never a happier fellow alive" than he was. "One Christmas festival he and his brother had drunk thirty gallons of beer." But that was now forgotten, and he had tasted no kind of liquor for the past two years. Capt. Mills then stood up and sang a song. When singing loud her voice was rather hard, but in this she sang quite softly and sweetly. She then talked to the people in such a nice quiet way that everybody listened to her with their whole attention. Her kindly and quiet way of talking is effective. Capt. Dyer sang a song illustrative of the commencement and growth of the Army, and then addressed the people in an earnest manner in his full, clear voice. During the evening Aide de Camp Eddy read from the 49th Psalm, and explained that the Army were only following out what was there written.

On Sunday morning the Army, with one recruit secured on the previous evening, marched up George and Hunter streets, led by Capt. Eddy. They sang their peculiar hymns and Capt. Dyer played the tunes on his cornet. They then returned to the "barracks," and at this meeting another prisoner was captured. At a few minutes to three o'clock they again marched out, and were followed to the barracks by a large crowd. This time, although the plate was at the door for a "silver collection," the building was filled to overflowing.

The services (or the mode of attack, or whatever it is) were much the same at each of these meetings. Staff Capt. Eddy explained that he and Capt. Dyer had come to help to open the station, and that it would be left in charge of Capt. Mills, who would be assisted by two other young ladies, Capt. Lagacy and Capt. Hart. The latter officers (the Captains) came to Peterborough on Saturday night. They both spoke briefly on Sunday afternoon, and appeared to be more at home when joining heartily in the singing.

The manner of all the officers in speaking is much the same, with the exception of Capt. Eddy and "Happy Jack." Capt. Eddy can smile and second and be terribly earnest, or almost overcome with enthusiasm, the next. His manner of emphasizing his words by gesticulation is also very peculiar. His favorite form of gesticulation is to take both hands over his right shoulder and bring them down with great force, or as if his fingers clanked on a table, and he was chopping wood. Several times he stood upon the seat on the platform, and once left the platform and mounted the front seat, in order to be in a better position. Capt. Mills speaks with quiet dignity, and is always impressive. The good good language—in fact, she was the only one on the platform that did speak earnestly, and as the Army does not boast of having educated officers, this remark will not prove against their cause.

At 7.30 o'clock in the evening another meeting was held. There was a good attendance but no prisoners were taken. The meetings will "be held every night until the last tramp shall sound." These are the words in which Capt. Eddy made the announcement, and protested against a supposed accusation of being presumptuous in doing so. He said they had "come to stay."

Lough and Grew Fat.

We find in the Orillia Packet the following good natured fun concerning a friend of many of our readers:—

"A friend who called at the Packet office this week wanted to know something more about Frank Dobbin, Secretary of the Lindsay Cycling Club, whose letter was published week before last, remarking that he 'seemed to be a cure.' And in one sense Mr. Dobbin certainly is 'a cure.' He is the funny man of the Lindsay Club, who keeps the doctored and soothes the weary by ministering to the rattle of the facilities of the readers of that journal. Inasmuch as the majority of its readers are solemnly visaged, heavy-headed, evil-tempered Grits, Mr. Dobbin is doing a most laudable work, though not in the interests of 'the party.' As these melancholy mortals laugh and grow fat, these jaundiced and dyspeptic will disappear; with better digestion will come a clearer vision; with clearer vision a true perception of their former morbid and diseased condition; and consequently their conversion to the party of hope, progress and patriotism. The Grits, it will be remarked, appreciate the situation much better than the rest. If by any possibility a spark of humor finds its way into the columns of our big contemporary, it is sure to be such a bit of playfulness as would be quite appropriate in an elephant or a bear, and would add additional solemnity to a funeral."

Turnbull's boys and youth's ready-made clothing is what the public have been looking for. The quantities and prices are right.

The Saved Army.
The Saved Army meetings on Saturday night and on Sunday afternoon and evening were largely attended. The Opera House was well filled on both the Sunday meetings. The officers are doubtless well pleased, considering the counter attractions, that the attendance did not fall off. Their meetings will be held at the usual hours at the usual places.

To a' Curlers!

GUID FANS:—

The curler's woman's cry. To may gang pit up yer shanks and tak out the hams, gie the greatest a rest,—as the weather's inclined till do.

Ye ha' curled till the brains o' some o' ye are badly fractured, ye ha' curled till ye've lost the chance o' takin' the back. Ye ha' been too strong and too weak—but ye ha' been—quite fast to ye."

Ye Kilmorachs will me do for street warriors. Get ye a' curl! Fit up yer great curls an' don some outer garment.

Brave! we have, were on the tea—the "tea" of the curling trade. Due to the fact to curl in an open air for curlers. We're gude gude, we're many warriors.

From! I don't see ye. Be there, come up the high! I don't see ye through; give the right curl! Ready! play for the boom—that's Dulan's. Gude! I we would there.

From, come aw'.

THE GLOBE AGAINST HOWAT.

The Globe, to break the force, if possible, of the exposure of the real conspirators, members of the Howat Administration and their tools, is still persisting in its old policy of attacking our judiciary.

In a fresh attack upon Chief Justice Wilson, insinuating that he forewore himself and disgraced his judicial position by speaking unjustly through political partiality, it asserts the necessity for self-discipline and self-censorship "when judges are elected by the chief of a political party, and generally from those who have been active political partisans." The obvious insinuation is that Chief Justice Wilson was raised to the Bench by a Conservative chief, and that when in political life he was himself an active Conservative. These insinuations are as baseless as the imputation of unjust partiality is disgraceful. The Hon. Adam Wilson was raised to the Bench by the chief of a Reform Administration, who, to fill this and other vacancies happening about the same time, called, among others, Mr. Oliver Howat to a seat in his cabinet, an invitation which was accepted by the present Attorney-General of Ontario. And as to the party of which Chief Justice Wilson was "an active political partisan," he was not only, as we have seen, a member of the Reform cabinet of which Mr. Howat was an immediately subsequent member, but the Globe itself in the very same issue in which it publishes this dastardly insinuation, supplies additional evidence of what really was the Hon. Adam Wilson's political career. It gives a long extract from the life of the Hon. George Brown by the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, in which this leader of the Reform party says:—"Mr. Justice Wilson had for years been supported by the Globe in municipal and parliamentary contests; he had in fact been made by the Globe." Yet, in the face of these facts, the Globe is mendacious enough to insinuate that Chief Justice Wilson was a Conservative politician, raised to the Bench by a Conservative chief.

The honor and integrity of Chief Justice Wilson do not allow the slightest ground for suspicion that he would disgrace himself and the Bench by political partisanship. But we have shown that if he were as base as the Globe, trying to drag him down to its own level, would wish us to believe him, such partisanship would bias him in favor of Reformers.

The Globe, by its blundering defence of its friends the conspirators, and by its still more blundering attacks upon those who have exposed their iniquity, is only succeeding in trampling them deeper into the mire. It has called public attention to the fact that the scathing condemnation of the dirty work of Messrs. Hardy, Fraser, Fardeau and Howat, with their hired tools, comes from a Reform Judge and Reform jurymen.

As Gen. Middleton is at the head of the Canadian forces operating against the rebels, he naturally is a target for that small but noisy section of the Reform party which is more in sympathy with the insurgents than with their country. As the General's services have been too exemplary to be ignored, the favorite cry of these self-appointed military critics is that Gen. Middleton would be better adapted for civilized warfare than for bush fighting. As it happens, however, Gen. Middleton served in a New Zealand war, and there could hardly be a better apprenticeship for bush fighting than service against the Maories, to say nothing of his experience in the Indian rebellion.

The majority against the Reform proposal that Canada should beg the United States to accept our standing offer of reciprocity was negated by a majority of 40 in a House of 106. This is less than the usual majority supporting the Macdonald Administration, but this increase does not show any inclination on the part of our representatives to adopt such a humiliating procedure. It is due to the fact that a number of Conservative members are patriotically serving against the rebels in the Northwest, and to the further fact that the Reformers, with unprecedented unanimity refused pairs to the members thus absent for the purpose of defending their country from domestic and foreign enemies.

THE QUEBEC BOUNDARY.

Our sister Province also wish us its Limits Determined.

The Quebec correspondent of the Montreal Gazette writes as follows:—
The important question of defining the limits of the Province of Quebec will engage the attention of the government this session. The Quebec Legislature is far from satisfied with the Belkirk line, which is a good deal more than it surveys, and it seems in this the enlightened 19th century, the north and northwest limits of our vast Province have not yet been defined. To-day, on the motion of Mr. Dugas, a select committee was appointed, composed of the Hon. Messrs. Beaudry, Blais, Joly, Lynch, Marchand and Morin, and Messrs. Asselin, Boyer, Cameron, Deschamps, Desjardins, Duhamel, Foucher, St. Maurice, Gagnon, Gauthier, Marlon, Nantel, Oves, Poirer, St. Hilaire and Stephens to take into consideration the northern and northwestern limits of the Province of Quebec and the necessary measures to get included within such limits the territory to which it is entitled by acquiring and determining those rights, with power to send for persons, papers and records and to report from time to time to this house.

DANGLING IN MID AIR.

Suspected Frank at Suspension Bridge Through Temporary Immunity.

NIAAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 13.—Mr. John Wagh, ex-Mayor, who has been falling in health the past three months, walked out on the railway Suspension bridge this afternoon, climbed over the railings, and got hold of one of the iron girders under the bridge, hanging by both hands, with his body dangling in the air, some 100 feet above the rocks near the water's edge. Luckily for him some friends saw him climb up and took him down, expecting to see his body dashed to pieces on the jagged rocks below. The unfortunate man so doubt repeated his feat, and held on for dear life to the iron girders. Some three young men, named Kent, Howe, and O'Rourke, came to his aid, and by breasting themselves with their legs and leaning over the side of the bridge, thus endangering their own lives, rescued Mr. Wagh from his perilous position. Mr. Wagh has for some time past been a victim of temporary insanity, caused by political over-excitement in political life. He is the chief of the "Globe" and has been held in place in suitable quality of this town for health.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Frog Lake Massacre—Augmenting the Mounted Police—Reciprocity—Reformers Factionally Opposing Their Own Policy When in Office—Canada having made a Fair Offer Declines to Beg.

FRIDAY, April 10.—A number of bills were advanced a stage.

THE NORTHWEST.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD gave an account of the massacre at Frog Lake, according to the report of Inspector Dickens at Fort Pitt. In reply to Mr. Mackenzie he said Fort Pitt was a mere police station between Edmonton and Battleford.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD gave notice that on Tuesday he would move the House into Committee on the proposal to increase the strength of the Mounted Police to a thousand men.

RECIPROCITY.
Sir LEONARD TILLEY moved the House into Committee of Supply.

Mr. DAVIES spoke in favor of reciprocity or free trade relations with the United States, and hoped he would be more successful than last year. He stated that our legislation in favor of a reciprocal remission of duties was an overture on our part, as it referred to articles which we did not as a general thing buy from the United States. As the Fishery clauses were expiring and would not be renewed by the Washington authorities, something should be done speedily, otherwise it would be impossible to keep off the fishing vessel from the States. He believed the people of the United States would be in favor of reciprocal trade, especially now the Democrats were in power. He pointed out the benefits of the reciprocity treaty and maintained that the United States was our natural market. We should make advances at once. In conclusion he moved, in amended form, "That in view of the early termination of the fishery articles of the Treaty of Washington this House is of opinion that negotiations should be opened with the United States for a renewal of the reciprocity privileges accorded by that treaty to American and British subjects, respectively, as for the opening up of additional trade relations between Canada and the United States, and that in the conduct of such negotiations Canada should be directly represented."

Mr. HAZEN requested that this question should be made a party cry. The Maritime Provinces were in favor of reciprocity, but were content to leave the matter in the hands of the Government. The acceptance of our standing offer in our statute books would be sufficient. He pointed out that we were in a different position from that when we had reciprocity, as the provinces were now united in one Dominion, and there was an increasing interprovincial trade. He disputed the impossibility of keeping foreign fishermen from our limits, and said our fishermen could supply Western Canada.

Mr. Yeo supported the amendment, and said that if Prince Edward Island used goods manufactured in Ontario, they had nothing to send back in return. He threatened that the Islanders would oppose the Government unless reciprocity was secured.

Mr. BURTON urged an effort to obtain reciprocity. A home market was the best, but a foreign market was the next best. He maintained that the people of the Maritime Provinces attached the greatest importance to free trade with the United States. He could not see that Canada would humiliate itself by asking the States for reciprocity.

Mr. WOODWARD said this resolution would be defeated this year as it was last session, because having made our offer of reciprocity, we should await its acceptance. The Reformers objected to this now, but it was their own policy when in power. In 1878 Mr. Bechard asked the late Premier if a reciprocity treaty was being negotiated. Mr. Mackenzie replied, "There is no such treaty pending between the Governments interested. The Government of the United States has made no proposition to us. Why the Government of the United States make any such proposition, we will of course give it due consideration. In the same session Mr. Osgoode inquired whether the Government had taken any steps to secure a renewal of the treaty of commercial reciprocity with the United States. Mr. Mackenzie replied, "The answer I gave to my hon. friend from Halifax applies to that question. I may say we have not taken any steps in that direction, but, as I have said, we will be prepared when any steps are required by the Government on the other side, to take such steps as may be requisite to carry out our well-known views on this subject. This had been the policy of both Administrations, and was the view of sensible men of both parties. They were in favor of reciprocity but not of going down on our knees to beg for it."

Mr. KIRK attacked the Government for being weak and to protection, and amended the National Policy.

Mr. CARRINGTON (Inverness) said the Nova Scotians desired reciprocity, but on fair terms. While the United States imposed duties on our goods we should refuse to return to them the motion was mischievous, as it would tend to postpone reciprocity.

Mr. WELDON and Mr. FISHER spoke in favour of the amendment.

Mr. JENKINS was against making humiliating advances.

The amendment was negated by 98 to 58.

SUPPLY.

The House went into Committee of Supply and passed several bills.

Col. W. D. Otter, who commands the Toronto volunteer contingent in the Northwest, is of English descent. His father was the son of the Right Rev. William Otter, formerly Principal of Kings College, London, and Bishop of Chichester, whose sister was married to Baron Belper, formerly M.P. for Derby and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Both Col. Otter and his father were servants of the Canadian Company at the head office in Toronto. The latter from a very early period in his history, the former until 1885, where he took a permanent military position under the Dominion Government as commander of O company and the new military school in Toronto. At the time of his appointment to the dual position it was generally conceded that no better could have been secured. Col. Otter's services in connection with the volunteer militia well entitled him to the distinction. His military career began as a private in the Queen's Own Regiment, which was organized in 1859, under the command of Col. Durie. He more than averaged abilities and fondness for military life secured him rapid promotion, and when a provisional battalion was organized for camp purposes at Niagara in 1864 he was sent out as captain in a company commanded by Capt. Gilmer. When the latter became colonel of the Queen's Own, the subject of this sketch obtained the position of adjutant, which he held for seven years, and on Col. Gilmer's retirement in 1875, Major Otter succeeded to his position. For ten years the regiment, admittedly one of the best in the service, was under his command, and during that time he laboured earnestly, self-sacrificingly and successfully to keep it in a high state of efficiency. Though a strict disciplinarian he was always popular with the officers and men, and their respect for him was great when they learned that he was appointed to lead them in this campaign. In 1873 he went to England as second in command of the Wimborne team, and in 1884 he went out again, this time in chief command. He remained in England for some time, attached to one of the regiments of the line preparatory to taking charge of one of the new volunteer battalions. Col. Otter is in the vanguard of life, being about forty years of age. He has always taken an active interest in athletic sports, and was a few years ago an excellent lacrosse player. He is a medium height, and his face countenance and dignified but frank manner predisposes in his favor all of whom he comes in contact.

Col. W. D. Otter, who commands the Toronto volunteer contingent in the Northwest, is of English descent. His father was the son of the Right Rev. William Otter, formerly Principal of Kings College, London, and Bishop of Chichester, whose sister was married to Baron Belper, formerly M.P. for Derby and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Both Col. Otter and his father were servants of the Canadian Company at the head office in Toronto. The latter from a very early period in his history, the former until 1885, where he took a permanent military position under the Dominion Government as commander of O company and the new military school in Toronto. At the time of his appointment to the dual position it was generally conceded that no better could have been secured. Col. Otter's services in connection with the volunteer militia well entitled him to the distinction. His military career began as a private in the Queen's Own Regiment, which was organized in 1859, under the command of Col. Durie. He more than averaged abilities and fondness for military life secured him rapid promotion, and when a provisional battalion was organized for camp purposes at Niagara in 1864 he was sent out as captain in a company commanded by Capt. Gilmer. When the latter became colonel of the Queen's Own, the subject of this sketch obtained the position of adjutant, which he held for seven years, and on Col. Gilmer's retirement in 1875, Major Otter succeeded to his position. For ten years the regiment, admittedly one of the best in the service, was under his command, and during that time he laboured earnestly, self-sacrificingly and successfully to keep it in a high state of efficiency. Though a strict disciplinarian he was always popular with the officers and men, and their respect for him was great when they learned that he was appointed to lead them in this campaign. In 1873 he went to England as second in command of the Wimborne team, and in 1884 he went out again, this time in chief command. He remained in England for some time, attached to one of the regiments of the line preparatory to taking charge of one of the new volunteer battalions. Col. Otter is in the vanguard of life, being about forty years of age. He has always taken an active interest in athletic sports, and was a few years ago an excellent lacrosse player. He is a medium height, and his face countenance and dignified but frank manner predisposes in his favor all of whom he comes in contact.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1885.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Chinese Immigration Restrictions—Atheist for Information—Loyal Indians—Land Improvement Fund—The Liquor Laws.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION. MONDAY, April 13.—Mr. Chapleau introduced a bill to regulate and restrict Chinese Immigration. "It provided for a poll tax on each Chinese immigrant (with some exceptions), vessels being allowed to bring only one for each ten tons burden. The tax was to be paid at the Custom House nearest to the place of entry. It would be an offence to join the Chinese Secret Tribunal."

LOYAL INDIANS. SIR JOHN MACDONALD read a satisfactory telegram from the Governor-General of the Blackfoot Indians, saying that they and they would remain loyal to the Queen.

THEIR FUTURE. MR. BLACK again pressed for papers as to the half-breed claims. MR. MACDONALD said they were being prepared as quickly as possible.

MR. MCLELLAN inquired whether any communication had been received by the government from the G.T.R. informing them of a misunderstanding now existing between himself and hon. Mr. Mitchell, member for Northumberland, regarding alleged services claimed to have been rendered by the hon. member in connection with the sale of the River du Loup branch of the G.T.R. to the government.

SIR J. MACDONALD could not see what they had to do with a private difference, and objected to the time of the House being wasted by such a question.

LAND IMPROVEMENT FUND. SIR L. TILLEY, in reply to Mr. Sproule, said that the question of the Land Improvement Fund was under consideration at a meeting of the Treasurers of Ontario and Quebec, held at Ottawa last November. The Dominion Government stated that they were ready to close the matter if they had the necessary authority. The Treasurer recently stated before the Quebec Assembly that the question had been submitted to the Attorney-General of Quebec for consideration, and it is still before that Government. It is expected that a decision will shortly be arrived at.

LIQUOR LAWS. MR. BRATT moved resolutions in favor of prohibiting spirits, but not beer and wine. He proposed to compensate the distillers. MR. JAMISON moved in amendment to pass to the third reading of his bill to amend the Scotch Act.

THE AMENDMENT WAS CARRIED. MR. WELCH carried an amendment to except cases before the courts, and to require the oath of the informer.

MR. BOURNAY after much discussion carried his amendment to authorize ministers and private to give certificates where there was no resident doctor.

MR. TOWNSEND carried an amendment that in a county where there were two registry offices, it should only be necessary to file the notice of petition in one, the clause not being retroactive. Several other amendments were introduced, but they were rejected, and the bill was read a third time and was passed.

SEVILLE. ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—Police Sergeant McCudden arrested David Pringle on Monday for drunken and disorderly conduct. He is an old offender, and manages to figure in police circles, always to his disadvantage, at regular periods. When under the influence of strong drink he is generally troublesome, and his condition on Monday was no exception to the rule. After he had been confined some time as an officer on duty at the cells discovered that Pringle was attempting suicide by hanging. He had made a rope of his shirt and fastened it to the door grating. After being released he showed such a disposition to try it again that he was deprived of the greater part of his clothing until the Police Court convened, when he was sent up for 80 days.—Intelligencer.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

FORTIFYING HERAT.

LONDON, April 14.—Major Nicholson and Captain Day, of the Royal Engineers, have left Rawul Pindie for Herat, accompanied by a picked body of non-commissioned officers and men. It is understood that they are sent by request of the Amir to assist the Afghans in completing the fortifications of that place. A large quantity of stores, with material for constructing telegraph lines, is being forwarded to Herat. Major Nicholson and Capt. Day had several interviews at Rawul Pindie with Lord Dufferin and the Amir, and are bearing letters from the Amir to his officers at the front.

LUMBEN'S FORCE.

LONDON, April 14.—The Afghan troops which may be placed under Sir Peter Lumsden's command will be furnished with weapons and trained in their use by the officers who are conveying them. The reinforcements which were sent to Sir Peter Lumsden, and which it is supposed have now reached him, will bring his force up to 5,000 or 6,000 men.

THE APPEAL TO THE SWORD.

LONDON, April 15.—The Standard says the Afghans have learned which of their neighbors is the strongest, and will base their friendship upon the usual grounds of Afghan morality. The route lies open to Herat, and no more trouble need be taken about the negotiations since the sword has settled everything.

GERMANY NOT TO INTERFERE.

BERLIN, April 14.—England and Russia have not sought the good offices of Germany as mediator, and Germany has not offered to act.

CYPRUS.

LONDON, April 14.—Opposite the Mediterranean mouth of the canal of the Island of Cyprus, there is an unprecedented accumulation of naval stores. Surveys have been completed for the works destined to transform the island into an important naval station, and the chain of British fortresses between England and the Turkish coast of Asia, and practically commanding the entrance to the Dardanelles. Groups now holding Cyprus will be reinforced, until further order, by one battalion of infantry, one battery of heavy guns and three launches.

FITTING OUT CRUISERS.

LONDON, April 14.—The Lords of the Admiralty have decided finally on the armament of the fast cruisers which are being prepared for active service. The whole of the fast American liners taken by the Government are to be converted into cruisers, but they are, in addition, to be fitted with transport accommodation. Vessels of the Oregon, America, Arizona, Albatross and Albatross class will each receive six ten inch breech loading rifled guns, three machine guns, Gardner or Nordenfledt, and a torpedo and electrical equipment. In addition to the ordinary crew of transports, at full war strength, the ships of this class will carry gunner's crews, numbering 250 men each, and a torpedo crew specially instructed in the duties of the second class are to carry four ten inch guns each.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

LONDON, April 14.—In connection with the fact that orders were telegraphed to the British Naval authorities in Egypt to-day to closely watch the two Russian ships now in the Suez Canal, it is learned that the British force available for blocking both ends of the canal in case of trouble consists of three first-class ironclads, three vessels of the cruiser class and seven gun boats, torpedo boats and despatch boats.

CABINET IN SESSION.

LONDON, April 14.—The Cabinet has been summoned to immediate council in consequence of the receipt of important despatches regarding the Afghan question.

ESCAPE OF GARRISONS.

ROME, April 14.—A despatch from the commander of the Italian expedition on the Red Sea states that the Egyptian garrisons of Senbeit, Amadih and Ghary, which have been beleaguered many months, have escaped, and are safe under the protection of the Italian flag at Massawa. The refugees brought hundreds of their women and children. The garrisons of Senbeit and Amadih were captured several prisoners to the Arabs and captured several hundred cattle.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

SENEGAL, April 14.—There is a hitch in the arrangements for the execution of the treaty of peace between France and China. China asks some concessions which the French ambassador refuses to grant.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS.

DUBLIN, April 14.—The Prince and Princess of Wales to-day received an enthusiastic reception at Limerick. Three hundred laborers presented an address of welcome. At Dungarven all the vessels in the bay lowered their flags. At Kilmacshannon a black flag was hoisted over the Temperance hall, but the laborists made a good demonstration. The prince and princess then went to Carrigrohane. In Cork most of the streets are spanned by triumphal arches, and the majority of the houses are decorated. The royal party going to and from Carrigrohane were generally given a respectful reception. Thousands are parading the streets of Cork this evening, viewing the decorations. Perfect order prevails.

MORE PACIFIC.

LONDON, April 15.—The Daily News this morning says the situation shows a more peaceful aspect to-day, but it is to be avoided, it must be shown that Gen. Komaroff's action is no part of the Russian policy. Then there must be no further Russian advance. If Russia is as good for peace as England, peace ought to be secure.

HARVEY.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT. OUR CIGARETTE FACTORY.—A meeting of the patrons of Lakerhurst cheese factory was held in the Town Hall at Lakeside, on Thursday, April 9th. There was not so good an attendance as expected. It appeared a difficulty to have our factory business succeed as it should. We have a sufficient number of milk cows to sustain a good factory. But the people were greatly disappointed with the proceedings of '93, and guard themselves, almost too carefully, against a similar misfortune. We hope, however, to see business in this line booming this season. At the meeting there were five directors—Messrs. Hicks, Irwin, Weir, Johnston and Elliott, who will solely consider the interests of the factory.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The following is the report of the monthly examination for April, held in the school of Section 3, Harvey, William Stone, teacher: Fourth class.—1 David Weir, 2 James Weir, 3 Daniel Hicks. Third class.—1 Henry Coomes, 2 Jos. Irwin, 3 Crawford Hight. Second class.—1 Albert Hunt, 2 Fred Johnson, 3 Martha Adams. First class.—1 John Weir, 2 Alvin Johnston.

Another Sensational Report. TROYVILLE, April 14.—It is reported that an organization has been formed here to destroy the public works of Canada. The members will go to Canada one by one. The first attack will be directed against the Welland Canal and Eriean Canal locks at Jones' Falls. This will be followed by more dangerous movements.

LOUIS RIEL'S RISING!

General Middleton at Humboldt with his Forces.

OUR BOYS GO TO THE FRONT

THEY MAKE A VERY SHORT STAY IN WINNIPEG AND PROCEED ONWARD.

Reports from the West to the Standard and Prince Albert—Riel's Menace to Calgary—Big Bear Again.

OTTAWA, April 14.—A message from the Governor-General asking the House to consider a vote of seven hundred thousand dollars to meet the expenses of troops in the Northwest was sent down this afternoon.

MIDDLETON'S FORCE.

HUMBOLDT, N. W. T., April 14.—The Grand-Admiral and Major Boulton's corps of sixty men arrived here to-day and joined Gen. Middleton's force. The column is now 900 strong and able to cope, so the commander in chief thinks, with any force the rebels have at their disposal.

THE ADVANCE.

To-morrow a start will be made for Riel's crossing, where Riel's force are said to be camped on both sides of the river. They comprise, according to all accounts, 250 Metis and 500 Indians. As to their arms there is a great deal of contradiction. Some men assert that they are well armed and have artillery, while others affirm that they have no artillery at all. A few days, probably Friday, will tell the truth.

FROM PRINCE ALBERT.

Scouts from Prince Albert say that Col. Irvine has 400 men, including mounted police, and they are guarding the women and children, who are in a state of abject terror. Non-combatants are on half rations except as to food. By taking the Chert River route no difficulty is experienced in reaching Prince Albert from here, the distance being 110. S. L. Benson, chief transport officer, and one Macdonald, a local millwright, left for Prince Albert to-night by the route named. The Saskatchewan is reported to have risen three feet within the last 24 hours. Prince Albert has only sufficient provisions for two weeks.

SITUATION AT BATTELFOUR.

The situation at Battelfour remains unchanged. No Indians have been seen during the past two days. F. A. Smart and Robert O. McDonald arrived here this morning, having made a daring ride on horseback from Battle River in less than four days. They avoided the trails and saw no Indians on route.

THE MIDLAND BATTALION.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, April 14.—Col. Williams' midland battalion arrived here this morning about 7 o'clock and received immediate orders to proceed to the front. The 12th York Rangers under Col. O'Brien have arrived at Qu'Appelle, and with the Midland battalion will follow Gen. Middleton's column, keeping open communications and forming a reserve. The 25th or Simcoe Foresters, under Col. Tyrwhitt, have gone to Calgary.

NO NEWS FROM PORT PIT.

Great anxiety is felt at Battelfour in regard to the fate of the whites at Port Pit, as no news has been received from that point for eight days, and while there is a possibility that they are all right, it is feared the Indians have taken the post.

A

THE ROUTE.

The Country Through which The Volunteers will Pass from Qu'Appelle.

The Touchwood Hills route involves much more marching than the other, and from present appearances those engaging in this branch of the expedition, will have a very interesting time of it. In the latter part of July and August, when the water has had time to subside after the spring floods and June rains, the trail from Fort Qu'Appelle is not at all a bad one, but should not come on now (and present appearances make such a contingency almost certain), the trail will be a heavy and disagreeable one. The country consists of rolling prairie, and even in times of low water everywhere there are shoals in lakes and sloughs. In case of continued hard frost the advance to Touchwood could be made rapidly without much difficulty, but in case of a heavy thaw the trail would be sure to be soft and flooded in many places so as to render it well nigh impassable. On approaching Touchwood Hills the troops will find themselves in a country partially overgrown with bushes of many white poplar and cottonwood, which would afford admirable places for a lurking foe. Once fairly in the Touchwood Hills they will find in addition to a very rolling hilly country one of the most thickly wooded trails to be found in the Territory between Manitoba and the Rocky Mountains and south of the North Saskatchewan. It is rather unlikely that the troops will be permitted to pass through Touchwood Hills without opposition, as the opportunities this region offers for surprising a military train on the line of march are rather exceptional. North and west of Touchwood Hills on the Humboldt trail is the great salt plain, as it is called. In reality, however, it is an alkali swamp or salt about 25 miles wide, and destitute of anything in the shape of trees or other cover, a lake now of survey bushes which are found midway across the plain and called the "Sagebrush bushes." They are well known to frontiersmen as the only shelter to be found on this plain during a storm. Many a shivering frontiersman has built his camp fire in the lee of these bushes and availed himself of the shelter and from a peninsula, thankful for the safety protection they afforded against the biting wind. of the post house—were appalled at the unsightly spectacle of the sick men, but still the loving watchman kept his place. The sick men lay in the open air, and the doctor, who had been playing his last battle in the investigation of the case, walked slowly back to the bedside of his friend with the light gone out of his eyes.

Presently the figure on the cot stirred. Louis, who had been sitting by the sick man's head, saw the sufferer's eyes opened; he seemed to regain something of his old strength. For an instant or two he began to talk in the dear old patois they had both loved to use. Then suddenly there came a great change over the features lying quietly on the pillow. With no apparent effort the dying one sat bolt upright in the bed, turned over toward his friend's chair, and stretching out his hand, said clearly and distinctly: "Louis, I am going; good-bye, dear Louis, good-bye!" Louis never returned to the Seminary where he met the sole person he had ever loved. Doubtless many of his comrades never knew what had become of him until, years afterwards when they had faded away into dense curves of habit and village, the news of the dead soldier's return reached their ears. Then they were made aware, of a certainty, that Louis Riel was in the land of the living and making prodigious strides in the direction of equal fame. Now only more the telegraph bears his name nightly.

It was a Catholic priest, one standing high in the church of his church, in this story, that I am indebted for this story of the Winnipeg rebel. He treasures a daguerotype likeness of Riel, given him years ago, and presenting the picture of a smiling face—some 30 or 40 years of age, with a full head of curly hair and eyes bright. There are hints of said romance in the life of Louis Riel's mother. A correspondent in New York Times.

SWIFT CURRENT, April 12.—Tedd, a friendly half-breed from Bathurst, came in on Saturday. He told me he crossed the ferry on Tuesday and reached a friendly half-breed camp half way here, but Indians were all round and kept him there. He stayed on Friday night and ran for his life, dodging mountain Indians. He told me the Indians were all day. He reported the head of one hundred as divided, and of the Indians wishing to join the troops. He says when the Bathurst Indians had a large town advised they will make a determined effort to capture the fort, but agrees that the larger the troops are coming, the greater the probability of the fort's destruction by the Indians. Tedd says he is by night. Tedd's reliability is doubted by some.

The Railway Roller Skate.
Mr. Ed. Brown is sole agent here for the above celebrated skate, manufactured in Detroit, Mich. Prepare for the grand carnival on May 20th in the Lansdowne Roller Rink, Charlotte Street.

Missionary Work.
Mrs. Harris, Foreign Secretary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, will address a meeting in the school room of St. Paul's Church, on Thursday, April 16th, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Harris is well known throughout this Province as an earnest and eloquent advocate of the work of Foreign Missions. All are cordially invited to attend.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—East and south winds; mostly cloudy weather, with snow in the northern and showers of sleet or rain in the southern portions; not much change in temperature.

Call this week and inspect Turnbull's Stock of Choice Millinery. In the variety shown this season, there are shapes and colorings to suit everybody.

Salvation Army.
The Salvation Army still wage their war nightly in the "barracks" on Aylmer street. Each evening at eight o'clock the army, which now consists of eight soldiers, march through the streets singing their war songs. The hallojah bugler, Capt. Dyer, has departed, but his place in the parade is supplied by a flute player. Several prisoners have been captured and the ranks are being swelled at each onslaught.

Card of Thanks.
We have been requested to publish the following—

Peterborough, April 14th.
D. D. Gault, Esq.
Dear Sir, I have been instructed by Ladies Aid Society of St. M. C. O. to forward to yourself and the following—
Resolved—That the sincere thanks of this Society be presented to D. D. Gault and the members of his choir for the very able assistance rendered at the Old Folks' Concert. We cannot praise them too highly, as we feel that much of the success of the concert was due to St. Paul's choir. We fully recognize their sacrifice of time and effort in attending the numerous rehearsals and we take this opportunity of wishing them continued success as a choir.
All of which is respectfully submitted by your sincerely,
E. KENNEDY,
Sec. of L.

A Providential Escape.
When the afternoon mixed train was coming down the "milling link" on Tuesday afternoon some boys noticed a man, evidently under the influence of liquor, lying across the track about two hundred yards west of Whyte & Co's foundry. The boys ran to him and succeeded in dragging him off just as the train thundered by. The train was stopped and driver McMillan came up to the group in considerable anxiety, thinking that the man had been killed or seriously hurt. He was relieved, however, to find that no injury had been sustained. No doubt his providential escape will leave a long impression on this man, for he would have certainly been cut to pieces had it not been for the timely arrival of those boys who dragged him from the track.

MRS. JARLEY'S WAXWORKS

Satisfactory Entertainment—A Well-Acted

Farce—Grand Show of Wax Works.

The musical, dramatic and comic entertainment given on Tuesday evening in Bradburn's Opera House, under the management of A. I. Wright, of Lakeside, and J. E. Hammond, of Peterborough, was in every respect a crowning success. The hall was filled in every part, and the excellence of the programme satisfied all. The entertainment commenced by the presentation of a comedy in three acts, entitled "Tom Cobb," by the dramatic talent of Lakeside. Mr. H. Calland took the title role, the man who got so mixed up that he did not know what he was, who he was, or what he was doing, in a manner that kept the audience, whenever he appeared, in a constant titter. His college friend, Whipple, was impersonated by Mr. C. Calland, well and naturally. Mr. A. I. Wright, in the character of Col. O'Flaherty, the Irish adventurer, was, when the situation demanded it, sang from himself. Matilda, his daughter, found ample representation in Mrs. A. I. Wright. The characters of the Ethingams, a romantic family of four, father, mother, son and daughter, were all well taken. Mr. H. J. LeFevre, as Mr. Ethingam, had a part that suited him exactly, and he did full justice to it. Mrs. Tate, who at very short notice, owing to the indisposition of Miss Barlee, represented Mrs. Ethingam, took the part of the gracious mother in a very capable and creditable manner. Mr. F. Barlee, as Eustace Ethingam, the romantic lawyer's clerk, expressed without words, poverty and day dreams. But Mrs. Fortie, as Caroline Ethingam, acted in a manner that did her great credit. She exhibited great dramatic talent, and the part allotted to her was well sustained throughout, with every appropriate look, pose and gesture. On the whole "Tom Cobb" was presented by an amateur dramatic company, of which not only Lakeside, but places much more pretentious, might well feel proud. Between acts 2 and 3 Mr. J. E. Hammond sang a comic song, "I'm So Clever," which was well rendered. At the conclusion of the comedy the "Gentlemen Duet" was sung by Messrs. A. E. Wright and J. I. Hammond. The duet was interspersed with local hits, which were brought in in a very taking way. They were loudly recalled, and gave in encore two more verses of the same original production. The entertainment concluded with the exhibition of Mrs. Jarley's waxworks. That remarkable personage, Mrs. Jarley herself, (represented in a most comical manner by Mr. A. I. Wright) came before the curtain and gave a lucid explanation as to the excellence of her waxworks exhibit. She then called loudly on her two sons, "Gorge" and "Pester" who, as she remarked, were two sons that any mother might be proud. The heads of "Gorge" and "Pester" (Messrs. J. E. Hammond and Chas. Brown) made a simultaneous appearance at each end of the curtain and stood before their venerable maternal parent. Then the "waxworks" were exhibited to the evident amusement of the audience. The following are the figures that were exhibited and the names of them who represented them:—"Sleeping Beauty and the Prince," Miss Dumble and Mr. C. H. Geale; "Mary Queen of Scots and the Executioner," Mrs. E. J. Toker and Mr. A. St. A. Smith; "Alonso the Brave and the Fairy Morgana," Mr. Geo. Dunsford and Miss McEneaney; "Ching Ching, the Washee Washee," Mr. R. J. Salisbury; "Simple Simon and his Fishing Rod," Mr. Eden, Lakeside; "Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh," Miss Maud Beck and Mr. F. E. Cooper; "The Indian and the Maiden," Mr. W. Strickland and Mrs. A. T. Wright; "Hermione receiving her Husband," (very fine) Miss Barlee, Lakeside; "Prælia and John Alden," Miss J. Strickland and Mr. B. Eden; "The Ruffian and the Lady," Mr. R. J. Salisbury and Miss Robbidge and "Beatrice Cenci," Mrs. George Dunsford. The tableau Bluebeard was presented, Mr. F. J. Lewis as Bluebeard and Mrs. Budden as Fatima, his last wife, with six ladies as her predecessors. The National anthem was played by the Fire Brigade Band Orchestra, who furnished particularly pleasing music during the evening, and the large audience dispersed after listening to the carrying out of a long and interesting programme.

Mr. B. Kew,
the professional skater, will be at the roller rink every afternoon and evening this week to instruct the patrons in the art of fancy skating, free of charge. All should take advantage of the opportunity. The Fire Brigade Band in attendance this evening.

Suitable for Signs.
Among other articles which the attractive windows of Messrs. King and Co's hardware store contain, is a case containing specimens of white enamel lettering, especially adapted for signs for business houses. The style of lettering is quite new and different from anything yet introduced into town. By adopting this method our merchants would largely increase the appearance of their places of business. Messrs. King and Co. have secured the agency for Peterborough.

Turnbull's Millinery Show-rooms are now open. Those who had not an opportunity of visiting them last week, should make it a point to do so this week, and see the Grand Display of new goods.

Coal Oil.
If you are troubled with poor oil try China Hall. Nothing but the very best and purest brands of Canadian and American oil kept. Prices same as other dealers ask for the ordinary articles. One trial will show the superiority of our oil. Free delivery in any quantity.

STEPHEN J. MEANEY, associate counsel for Cunningham and Burton, the London dynamitards, says he has got conclusive evidence to prove an alibi for Burton.

"All Men are Liars."
said David of old. He was probably prompted to make the above remark after trying some unreliable catarrh remedy. Had he been permitted to live until the present day, and tried Dr. Segor's Remedy, he might have had a better opinion of mankind. We claim that no case of catarrh can withstand the magic effects of this wonderful medicine. One trial of it will convince you of its efficacy. By druggists; fifty cents.

To a' Curlers!

THE ROYAL VISIT.
A Terrible Riot in the City of Cork.—The Mob Held the Streets.

CORK, April 15.—The Prince and Princess of Wales arrived this morning. Their welcome was a divided one. The Nationalists did their best to frustrate the Loyalists, but the graciousness of the Princess largely conquered the power of the populace. Everything within the power of the Loyalists was done to make the reception a success, and the managers of the demonstration remained up most of the night to make sure of their arrangements. During the parade workmen and boys ran along the side of their carriage and kept up the cheering to drown the hiss of the Nationalists, who lined the route and made continual demonstrations. The wonder is there was no violent breach of the peace.

LONDON, April 15.—Up to this evening there has been a complete relief of government circles over the news from Cork, which tended to show that the visit of the Prince of Wales had passed off quietly, and had evoked unexpected enthusiasm. The police, however, were not so sanguine. The Nationalists were ordered to disperse the mob. The police fired their revolvers without hitting anyone and took the prisoner to the police court, where he was held by the mayor of Cork.

Early this evening the Nationalists held a meeting in the streets of the city. The police were ordered to disperse the mob. The police fired their revolvers without hitting anyone and took the prisoner to the police court, where he was held by the mayor of Cork.

During the afternoon a detective arrested a rowdy throwing stones at the loyalist procession. The mob speedily attempted to rescue the prisoner. The detective fired his revolver without hitting anyone and took the prisoner to the police court, where he was held by the mayor of Cork.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

Grand Jury Presentment and the Judge's Address.—Complimentary on Each Side.

At about half past twelve o'clock on Wednesday the Grand Jury brought in the following presentment:—

May it please your Lordship, The Grand Jurors of Our Sovereign Lady the Queen beg leave to make the following presentment:—

We have to congratulate your Lordship and the country upon the almost entire absence of criminal business at this court, showing that the citizens of the county of Peterborough are desirous of living in peace and harmony with one another and obeying the laws of the land.

We have examined the good buildings and surrounding premises are pleased to bear testimony to the strict order and cleanliness which prevails, evincing the careful oversight of the magistrates and assistants. The inmates of the goal (14 in number) are almost entirely composed of an indigent class, chiefly old men who are unable to work or obtain a livelihood, and committed for the winter season as a means of protection to themselves.

The Grand Jury would take the opportunity on the occasion of your first appearance in a judicial capacity in this court, of congratulating your Lordship upon your elevation to the bench, and of expressing the belief that the authorities have acted wisely in recognizing the breadth and maturity of your legal knowledge in placing you in a position in which their services would best conduce to the promotion of the ends of justice, and be still another addition to the membership of the judiciary, of which Canada may justly be proud.

We trust your Lordship may long be spared to occupy a position upon the Bench which your legal acquirements and personal integrity so fully entitle you to.

MELVILLE MILLAR, Foreman.

Grand Jury Room, Peterborough, April 15, 1885.

His Lordship, replying to the address, congratulated the Grand Jury upon the lightness of their duties. They had, he said, but one case to enquire into, a charge of forgery, but owing to the death of one material witness, and the absence of another in a distant part of the country, no bill could be found and the prisoner would have to be discharged from custody. He regretted the very much, but on account of the unusual combination of circumstances, it could not be helped. If the young man was innocent of the charge he should be cleared of the stigma, and if guilty, he should be punished in the interests of society. As it was now a cloud would hang over the young man for life perhaps. The records before him showed that for such a large and populous town and county, Peterborough was remarkably free from crime, a thing he was glad to see. With regard to the court room, he would say that was the best appointed, most commodious and best ventilated that he had seen anywhere in the Province. After thanking the jury for their very kind references to himself, he discharged them from further attendance and wished them a safe trip to their homes.

Charles Courrier, the prisoner who was charged with forgery, was shortly after the address was delivered brought to the bar. Owing to his witnesses appearing to prove the charge against him, the case was indefinitely postponed. The Judge said that it would be better for him if he had tried, as if he were innocent all matters would be cleared away. He hoped, however, never to see him in a similar position again. The prisoner was allowed to go, after giving bail for $200 on his own security to appear when called upon.

STICKLAND vs. RAMA TIBER AND TRANSPORTATION COMPANY.—The defendants are the owners of a canal about a mile long uniting the River St. John in the Township of St. John, in the county of Ontario, and of a "portage" about five hundred yards in length, uniting Lake St. John

THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1885.

MR. A. TUBOOTT, M.P., is moving in the Quebec Legislative Assembly an address to the Lieut. Governor of a nature to encourage the rebels and to assail the Canadian authorities. It will be remembered that this Mr. Tuboott was one of the hiring Speakers of the Reform party, and indeed that he was after his purchase the sole majority of the seceding Reform Government of Quebec.

A WRITER in the Peel Banner, in a defence of the Mackenzie Government for not having Louis Riel arrested in 1874, says that a warrant was issued as soon as possible after it was known that he was in Ottawa, and yet he acknowledges that the warrant was not issued until two days after Riel signed the roll of members in the Parliament building, as he did in the presence of a Reform member.

THE Ottawa Free Press asks how long the Conservatives could remain in power without causing a rebellion in the whole Dominion, and the paragraph is being extensively copied by the Reform press. It might be replied that they should be better able to answer the question themselves, as they should have better knowledge of how long the Reformers would submit to being out of office without rebelling.

THE Brookville Recorder comes forward with this gloomy prediction:—"Now, we have no hesitation in declaring that the country is going to ruin." The Recorder is one of those journals that profess to believe that the country will soon be in the hands of Reformers. But it is mistaken, for the numerous by-elections held since the general election have strengthened the Government, and Reform rule and ruin are still a long distance in the future.

THEIR OWN STORY.

THE London Advertiser is looking in the work of abusing Chief Justice Wilson because his judicial decision exposed the weakness of the conspirators in the Mount Administration and their tools. It asserts, among other things, that though there might be bribes as well as bribes, the Judges do not believe the bribed, but accepted without question anything said by the bribers. We are not aware that the alleged bribers gave any evidence. The charge was brought for "conspiracy" with the very object of preventing them from giving evidence. It was from the mouths of the witnesses hired by members of the Mount Administration for this dirty work that they and their employees were so justly condemned. Their own story showed them in their true colors.

A TRAP AVOIDED.

SEVERAL Reform papers are abusing the Conservatives of West Northumberland who voted for the Scott Act because they did not support Mr. Kerr, the Reform candidate in the recent election. They state that an agreement was made that the temperance people would support the candidate that would pledge himself to give his support to temperance measures, and that Mr. Kerr gave the required pledge. We have not seen any satisfactory evidence that any pledge has been broken or agreement violated, and if such agreement was made it was binding only on those who entered into it, as no person can pledge another's vote. There is, however, another side to the question. Suppose the Conservatives who voted for the Scott Act had accepted Mr. Kerr's pledge in good faith and assisted in electing him, would the result have been announced as a temperance victory? Not a bit of it. The organs would have shouted themselves hoarse about a Reform reaction, and ignored entirely the temperance influence in the result of the election. The Conservatives who favor the temperance movement would have gained nothing and lost much by forsaking their party for a time. The Reformers lost every shadow of a claim to their votes, if they had even said, by their methods of conducting the election. The Conservative Government was slandered, and the principles which, on account of the benefit they have done to the country, have become dear to Conservatives, were ridiculed and discredited. These principles were at stake; the election would directly affect them; and their temperance principles were not at stake, and it was well that the Conservatives were not caught in the trap. This was not the first trap which the Reformers have set for their opponents, and over which they howled in disappointment when it failed.

The Senate.

In view of the attacks upon the Senate, and of the references made to the age and intellectual qualifications of its members, we give the following extracts from a speech of one of the Senators, the Hon. Mr. Plumb:

"There are 35 gentlemen in this House (out of a total of 78) under sixty, and I do not think my hon. friend who has just been introduced (Hon. Mr. Porter), would care to be suspected of being one of the grandfathers. I am sure if my hon. friend opposite (Hon. Mr. Pelletier) is one, it is unknown to me. My young and enthusiastic friend, the senior member for Halifax (Hon. Mr. Power) certainly has not arrived at that dignified age, and there are many men around us who are in the prime and vigor of life, and although some of us are passing off the stage, I think the younger men in this body will compare favorably with those of any representative body that I have been acquainted with."

"Fifteen of our number are presidents or vice-presidents of banks or other chartered companies; ten more are directors of such companies. Four are consuls or consular agents. Eight are licentiate-colonels. Sixteen gentlemen—more than one-fifth of the whole of this body—have been Ministers of the Crown, either in the Dominion or in their respective provinces. Fifty-three have either been elected by the people to one or other branch of the Provincial or Dominion Parliament, or appointed to the House of Commons before they were elected to this body. All of these fifty-three have received a public confidence in their ability to fall to see that they are not unworthy of the confidence."

Partial Prohibition—The North-West Troubles—Hills Question—Cost of the Troubles—Colonial Exhibition—Infectious Diseases of Animals.

LIQUOR LAWS.

TUESDAY, April 14th.—Mr. Beatty introduced his bill to prohibit spirits, but not wine or beer.

PRISON LABOR.

Mr. CARON moved that the order for the second reading of the bill to provide for the employment without the walls of common goals of prisoners sentenced to imprisonment therein be placed on the Government orders. He explained that the Government had consented to adopt it as their measure, it having been introduced by Mr. Sutherland.

THE NORTHWEST TROUBLES.

Mr. Ives called attention to the abuse that had been shown upon him by the Globe and other Reform papers, who had accused him of inhumanity and want of patriotism for objecting to going into hysteria over the matter, the excitement being utilized by rival land interests to check the settlement of our country. An indication that he was right in his view was that Mr. Blake himself had ceased from his questioning, which was producing a false impression. Another indication was the resolution just passed by the Manitoba House of Assembly, explaining that there was no trouble in their Province.

Mr. BLAKE protested that when questioning and when abstaining from questions he was alike patriotic. He maintained that more attention was excited by newspaper reports than by speeches of members in the House.

COST OF THE TROUBLES.

THE SPEAKER read a message from the Governor General submitting the expediency of granting $700,000 for the Northwest troubles.

AN IDLE QUESTION.

Mr. WATSON asked if Col. Scott's battalion was to go to the front. He spoke highly of the corps.

Mr. CARON said the battalion was under the order of General Middleton, who was in command of the force in the Northwest. It would be very unwise to interfere with the General's disposition of the troops under his command.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Resolutions were introduced in the House of Commons in answer to Sir Richard Cartwright, said the arrangements made were only for this particular exhibition. The exhibition of 1886 in London. On 11th avenue the same scenes were enacted, and the greatest anxiety prevailed, in the large tent in the neighborhood, troops of men, women and children constantly passing in and out of them, some crying piteously, others with pale faces and trembling forms, each questioning the other, asking for news of loved ones, or looking at the dome could be heard faintly cries of "For God's sake, hurry up!" "Oh! get up!" "Help! help! we're dying!" "Won't someone come?"

SOUTHERN COLUMBIA LOAN.

SIR LEONARD STURTEVANT moved the third reading of the bill to authorize the advance of a certain sum of money to the province of British Columbia for the construction of a graving dock at Esquimaux.

DISEASES OF ANIMALS.

Mr. POMEY moved the House into committee on the bill respecting infectious and contagious diseases affecting animals. On the clause providing for compensation to owners of infected or suspected animals which may be ordered to be slaughtered, Mr. POMEY moved to amend the clause by providing that in addition to the maximum amount of $40, which may be paid to the owner for each grade animal slaughtered, owners of thoroughbred pedigree cattle may receive as high as $250 for each animal, but not to exceed two-thirds of the actual value. On several clauses there was considerable discussion, and a number of amendments were moved by opposition members, increasing the amount of compensation or lessening restrictions, but they were not carried.

THE HILL WAS ADOPTED AND REPORTED.

THE CAUSE OF IT.

Accounting for the troubles in the Northwest the Toronto Mail says:—

"In 1871 the Riel rebellion was largely fomented by the encouragement held out to the rebels by the Grit organ in Toronto, and by the policy of the Grit party. From 1874 to 1878 it is confessed that the Grit Government totally neglected to settle grievances which in 1878 they confessed were dangerous. From 1878 to this date the whole Northwest has been the object of Grit experiments in malice. Winnipeg has been its workshop, and over Regina it has cast its shadow. It has fomented every disturbance and fostered all discontent. Mr. Blake and his friends have three or four times encouraged the Province to rebel against the despotism of the Dominion's power of dissolution. They have made themselves the champion of every swindling speculator who called himself a 'home squatter.' They have tried to drive the people away from our own west over into the American territory. If there has been a spark of dissatisfaction they have tried to fan it into a blaze. If there has been a case of oppression, they have provided, in the course of a few years, for the Northwest a horde of mischievous wretches, ready for any mischief."

It is scarcely necessary to go back fourteen years and trace up the events of those days the mischievous influence of Grit agitation on the development of affairs in the Northwest, in order to connect that agitation with the deplorable outbreak on the Saskatchewan which at present excites so much feeling throughout the Dominion. Eighteen months ago, for political reasons and incited thereto by the eastern Grit press, an organized system of agitation was begun in this province. Previous to that time there was no indication of violent dissatisfaction among the West. Laurent half-breeds, nor did it develop itself until months afterwards. It was not until the incendiary conduct of the Farmers' Union became known all over the country, and its evil influence had time to permeate the disaffected or mischievous, that anything was heard or suggested in connection with an unfounded redress of half-breed grievances. Up to that time the people were satisfied to press their claims in a perfectly legitimate and constitutional manner, and, as has since been made known, the claim were being adjusted as rapidly as circumstances would permit. There was no thought or suggestion of violence or of any unlawful course to further the adjustment of complaints which originated in the natural change of conditions following on the settlement of the country.

A voluntary exile in Montana, Riel kept himself well informed on the political events occurring in the Northwest. He was not slow to observe and appreciate the feeling of discontent which Union agitators were successful in stirring up in this province. He saw his opportunity for mischief and determined to take advantage of it. Already the spirit of dissatisfaction had communicated itself to the half-breeds on the Saskatchewan. Riel procured an invitation to come to their assistance, and with hypocritical diffidence, accepted. Once among them he began playing his arts as demagogue and conspirator, and it was not long before he had poisoned the minds of his innocent and harmless compatriots. We know the result. Completing his plan, such as they were, and waiting for the season of the year most favorable to his purpose, he has raised the standard of revolt.

We do not charge the Manitoba agitators with being directly responsible for what has already proved a bloody misadventure. Few of them would contemplate such consequences with any other feeling than horror. They would not themselves go to that extremity, nor encourage others to do so. We are convinced, however, that but for the wild and angry excitement these men have created in Manitoba the events now happening in the Saskatchewan valley would not have occurred. The half-breeds were taught what seemed to them the most effectual method to gain their purposes with the least delay, and Riel saw in the agitation an opportunity to revenge the incidents of 70. Such are the deplorable results of demagoguery.—Winnipeg Times.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Building Collapsed and Buried a Large Number of Men.

NEW YORK, April 13.—This afternoon a terrible crash, accompanied by piercing cries of anguish, startled the residents in the vicinity of Grand street and Tenth avenue, and caused thousands of men, women and children to flock into the streets. The crash was caused by the fall of a row of eight five-story buildings on Grand street, carrying down to death 60 or 70 workmen. The row began about two hundred feet from Eleventh avenue and extended along Grand street to within two hundred feet of Tenth avenue. As soon as the dense cloud of dust cleared away, it was seen that the wreck was complete—nothing was left but a huge pile of brick and mortar, broken timbers, and the jagged tin of the roofs. Within a few minutes the fire department had arrived on the scene, and immediately began the work of rescue, in which they were joined by hundreds of willing hands. As they approached the spot where an unfortunate was buried alive, a great commotion was caused by the sight of a man who had been found alive, and who was taken out of the rubble. The first intimation the fire department had of the disaster was when the first alarm came in, but when the awful nature of the disaster was apparent the ominous signal "35," which summons all the ambulances of the city, was sounded. Special calls were also sent out for hook and ladder companies.

Meanwhile the firemen and hired laborers, with pick, shovel and hands, threw brick, broken and cracked beams, stones, and bent tin, and in about ten minutes the first man was got out. He was Thos. King, who was injured internally, and was sent to the hospital. Four others were taken out soon after from the spot where King was rescued. Willingly the firemen and laborers worked hard to reach the imprisoned roofers, carpenters, and plasterers. From amid the debris could be heard faintly cries of "For God's sake, hurry up!" "Oh! get up!" "Help! help! we're dying!" "Won't someone come?"

Forty-five men were at work on the building, and of those fourteen were rescued within half an hour of the catastrophe. The wounded were dug out with stakes, and the naked hands of eager rescuers helped to throw the bricks to one side. As fast as extricated the ambulance surgeons bound up the bleeding limbs and bodies, and the ambulances conveyed them to the hospital. The scene in the streets beggared description. The crowd constantly increased and gave the police reserves much trouble. Women with children in their arms and tears streaming down their faces enquired for missing husbands, sons, and brothers. Neighboring windows were filled and house-top covered with crowds who watched the work of rescue with the greatest anxiety. On 11th avenue the same scenes were enacted, and the greatest anxiety prevailed, in the large tent in the neighborhood, troops of men, women and children constantly passing in and out of them, some crying piteously, others with pale faces and trembling forms, each questioning the other, asking for news of loved ones, or looking at the dome could be heard faintly cries of "For God's sake, hurry up!" "Oh! get up!" "Help! help! we're dying!" "Won't someone come?"

A Speechless Organ.

The Globe continues to denounce the Government for not having asked the militia forces to seek through the United States in civilian clothing and discover their destination, purpose and nationality only when they reached Winnipeg, and with each day's new testimony to the splendid despatch in the transportation of troops made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the liberal organ grows more bitter in its attacks upon the ministry for having used our own highway. No regard for truth or decency restrains the Globe. On Saturday it ventured the statement that "perhaps the 'horrible massacre at Fort Pitt and other 'massacres, now almost inevitable, might have been taken for the transport of troops, thus seeking to throw the responsibility of the massacre upon the Government, so spread alarm among those who have friends in the Northwest, and to deter immigrants from entering that portion of Canada, when the Globe knew that the Fort Lake massacre occurred on April 2d at a spot three hundred miles north of the Pacific railway, and that the news of the Carlton fight, which showed that troops would have to be despatched, reached here only on March 26th. It was on March 26th that the batteries moved to the front from Quebec and Kingston, just a few days before the massacre at Fort Pitt, and yet the Globe charges that the batteries might have been diverted if the American route had been taken. The Globe by its excess of bitterness and brutality, defeats the purpose at which it aims—the condemnation of the Government.—Montreal Gazette.

MALICIOUS EXAGGERATION.

The Reform press is watching closely the progress of events in connection with the rising in the Northwest, and they have only one object in view. They are straining their eyes to see a mistake on the part of the Government, and their ears are spread to catch a word of complaint from the volunteers, in the hope that a mistake found out or a complaint made known would injure the Government and be of political advantage to themselves. Where there are no mistakes they pretend to see them, and when there are no complaints they invent them.

These papers have, editorially, referred in heartrending terms to the sufferings of the volunteers who have gone to the west. Undoubtedly the experiences of these gallant men—young men, principally—have not been all pleasant, and there has doubtless been suffering. Such things are inseparable from hurried departures, forced marches and war. But, in the hope of exciting the friends of the volunteers against the Government, the Reform press has exaggerated the difficulties and magnified the sufferings. They will not gain much by doing so, as they will only receive the contempt of the volunteers, who will not relish their spurious pity or appreciate their crocodile tears. The volunteers do not wish to be talked of as if they could not bear the least hardship, or as if they were a number of boys ready to whimper on the slightest pretext. If there are just causes for complaint, our soldiers will not be afraid to speak out and speak plainly. Until their voices are heard the copperhead press may keep silence.

The point these papers desire to make is, that the Government made a great mistake by not sending the volunteers through the United States. We have already given many good reasons for the course adopted. But to carry their point these stories of the sufferings of the troops are circulated, and every phrase used by correspondents as to the difficulties, especially those encountered at the gaps in the railway, are given great prominence. The Midland Battalion arrived in Winnipeg on the 14th, and the next day one of the men telegraphed from Moose Jaw:—"Going to the front direct. Jack and the boys are as fresh as daisies and as happy as lords." They had passed over those terrible gaps, and borne the sufferings caused by the marches, yet their sufferings do not appear to have had a lasting effect on their bodies or spirits. "Fresh as daisies" is hardly the state of men who have passed through terrible sufferings, but rather of men who, having encountered hardships, met them like men, overcame them and pressed forward in their country's service with undiminished spirit. We do not wish to underrate what the volunteers have to undergo, but the Reform press exaggerates and invents with a malicious purpose, and their conduct is—condemnable.

REBELS' FRIENDS AT FAULT.

To read the Globe in these days one would suppose it to be edited from Rebel headquarters. Every possible rumour that can be made to give an appearance of strength to the rebels, or of weakness to the Canadian forces is paraded with eagerness. In its Friday issue the leading journal of Mr. Blake gives an instance of this sympathetic feeling towards the enemies of our country by republishing from its associate in this traitorous work, the Ottawa Free Press, a list of troops pretended to be in danger through alleged defects in the O. R. R. of North Lake Superior. When it published this falsehood the Globe had information that the greater portion of the troops enumerated had traversed in safety the portion of the tract as to which it spreads these false reports. The friends of the rebels and their sympathizers need not hope that troops will not be on the ground to quell the disturbances that have been fomented by the enemies of the Canadian authorities.

The Reform party is trying to extract comfort from the gain of a seat, by the result of the election in Lewis, Que. They are welcome to all the comfort it will give them, but the fact that Mr. Bellevue was defeated on account of a division among the Conservatives in the county does not show that the electors of Lewis endorse the unwise and unparliamentary course of the Opposition, or that they are opposed to the policy of the Government.

It is a fact worthy of note that the rebellions in Canada in 1837, 1869 and 1885 have all taken place under Tory rule.—Brookville Recorder. Is it? And is it also worthy of note that those who rebelled could not have been in accord with the Government—were opposed to it—and that, therefore, it was always members of the same party that rebelled. That party, of course, was not the Tory party.

The London Reform organ says that the Reform party can secure a reciprocity treaty with the United States and that it is the only party that can do so. Is it not strange, in view of this statement, that the Reform party did not exercise its peculiar power and arrange a reciprocity treaty when it was in office? The fact is that they tried to do so and failed. It requires two persons to make a bargain, and the United States refused to enter into such a treaty. That is where the difficulty lies.

Among the devices of the copperhead press to encourage the rebels and to discourage the Canadian forces in the field, is the dissemination of false reports to the prejudice of our cause. One of the worst specimens is the charge in the Globe of "incredible and criminal bungling" and "murderous folly" against the Canadian authorities for supplying our troops with worthless ammunition. The report that the batteries of artillery have been supplied with ammunition left by Col. Wolley 15 years ago is a falsehood, but having been invented by some sympathizers with the rebels, it is eagerly reproduced by the Globe with the addition of this dastardly and traitorous attack.

Wicked Sentiments.

The following extract from a letter written by a member of the Queen's Own to a friend in Stratford speaks for itself:—"When we got to Winnipeg I got letters and papers. The boys were awfully disgusted at the rebel sentiments in the Globe, and don't thank Cameron and his crew for instructing the half breeds and Indians as to the best way to shoot us down and crush us. I have been a Reformer all my life, as you will know, but I am done with at least the Grit section of the party as represented by the Globe, for I cannot be a rebel. The men were so enraged that they tried the papers under their feet, as soon as they saw the wicked sentiments it uttered and its outspoken sympathy with the miserable murderers against whom it is our sacred duty to fight."—West.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

C.P.R. Finance—The Troops and Equipment—The Ontario Boundary—Insolvency—The Franchise.

THURSDAY, April 17.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

C.P.R. FINANCE.

Sir L. TILLY stated in reply to Sir R. Cartwright that up to date the payment made to Canadian Pacific on account of the loan of $25,000,000 was $19,923,100. The amount paid on account of the $25,000,000 cash subsidy was $21,176,228. It was expected that $200,000, of which $90,000 ($600,000) was in British Columbia, would be required to complete the sections being constructed by the Government. In reply to Mr. Cartwright he said that the C.P.R. had paid all interest due to date.

THE TROOPS AND EQUIPMENT.

Mr. CAMERON, in reply to Mr. Foster, said no intoxicating liquors were served to the volunteer troops in the Northwest, as any part of their ration, nor were they allowed to be taken with them as private supplies. Consignments were not allowed under the supervision of the commanding officers, for sale to the troops of intoxicating liquors of any kind.

THE GRAND TRUNK.

Mr. McMILLAN complained of the Montreal Herald saying that he was the agent of Mr. Hickson and had made a Parliamentary inquiry under his instructions. Mr. FETTER MONTGOMERY had not discussed any private differences, but had treated the Grand Trunk as a public matter to the extent of $44,000,000.

THE C. P. R. ROUTE.

Mr. FOSTER, in reply to Mr. Blake, said it was proposed to change the route of the C. P. R. through the Selkirk range, lengthening it three miles to avoid snow slides.

C. P. R. RAILWAY.

Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said the C. P. R. had made an application, but the Government could not grant it to the extent asked. As soon as they had arrived at a scheme he would lay the matter before the House.

THE ONTARIO BOUNDARY.

Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Mills, said it was the intention of the Government to invite the House to deal with the northern boundary of Ontario this session.

INSOLVENCY.

Sir J. MACDONALD announced that it was the intention of the Government to take charge of Insolvency Bill reported by the Special Committee to get the opinion of the House as to the principle of the Bill.

THE FRANCHISE.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the second reading of the Franchise Bill. He said it was not necessary for him to explain it at length, as he had already given an explanation of its principles. Our constitution contemplated that the Parliament of Canada should fix the Dominion franchise. It was an anomaly that their franchise should be fixed by the local legislatures, differing in each Province, and subject to variations without their intervention. The franchise would be enlarged in Ontario and Quebec, and in most of the other Provinces, though not in British Columbia and Prince Edward Island. Being in favour of the enfranchisement of women he had inserted clauses to that effect, but like Mr. Gladstone he would not imperil the measure by inserting now upon that point if the House should be opposed to it. That and other details could be considered in committee, but now he hoped to have a full discussion of the principles of the measure.

Sir E. CARSWORTHY objected to the measure being proceeded with so late in the session. He also objected to Sir John speaking for only eight minutes and a half. The bill had been upon the order of the day for several days, but still he objected because he had not chosen to believe this promise. He declared there was no time to discuss the bill and then proceeded to discuss the Northern boundary and the Selkirk range, the mounted police, the C. P. R., the Chinese, Insolvency, etc., without discussing the bill satisfactorily.

Sir H. LANGRISH said the bill had already been explained fully and discussed. It was brought forward late it was from the long speeches of the Opposition. The present administration had treated the Opposition with far more courtesy, and had given them fuller opportunities for discussion, than they had received from the Reformers when in power. Sir R. Cartwright said they could not discuss the matter while their minds were in the Northwest, but they could discuss the bill and the Selkirk range for long hours later, so they might give a little consideration to this important measure. It was not right that their franchise should be subject to continual changes by every Province, but they should establish it for the Dominion as its representatives. They remembered when a law was passed to disfranchise Conservative voters in one of the smaller provinces, and such a thing might occur again. The Government would treat the amendment as a motion of want of confidence.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) asked Sir R. Cartwright if he was grumbling at the delay. He answered his intention of staying till August, if necessary, to discuss this and other measures. He preferred the Province franchise, subject to enfranchising women, and condemned the practice in Great Britain, he proceeded to attack the Canadian constitution and the government for carrying it out by providing for a Dominion franchise.

Mr. WRIGHT highly commended the bill. While it respected the rights of property, it also gave a vote to those who had been nearly approaching manhood suffrage. He also approved highly of its enfranchisement of women, though he would like the right to vote still further extended to those who were married.

Mr. FETTER MITCHELL supported the bill, though he wished it had been brought down earlier. He approved of establishing their own franchise instead of leaving it to the local legislatures, and he would support giving a vote to women. Mr. FLEMING said the bill was almost the same as last year, and then grumbled at not having more time to consider it. He attacked the provisions of our constitution in this respect. He said the revising officers would be partisans, and that they should be appointed in England by the judges. He also attacked the enfranchisement of women and manhood suffrage.

Mr. WELDON said the bill had not been demanded, and there was not proper time to consider it.

Mr. LINTZ objected to the Revising Committee, and thought the married women should have votes as well as the single. Mr. DAVIES said there was no time for discussing the bill and complained of the Government supporters not discussing it. He wanted the Revising Committee to be appointed by the judges.

Mr. FOSTER said judges might be biased officers, and could act as impartially as such as is making appointments. He thought Parliament should be its electorate without detraction from any other body, and that having a common country we should have a common citizenship.

Mr. CHARLTON denounced the government, the judges, the constitution, (which he compared unfavourably with that of the United States), our Parliament, and the Premier. He forcibly attacked the Parliamentary majority, representing the majority of the people of Canada. He attacked the proposed case of the rebels in the Northwest, and hinted that the people of the Dominion would follow their example. He wanted more time to discuss the bill.

Mr. DAVENPORT thought the franchise should be assimilated in the different Provinces, and that the Dominion franchise should not depend upon their caprices, pointing out the infamous enfranchising and disfranchising legislation of the Missouri administration. He approved of giving a vote to women, and thought they were eligible for seats in the House.

Mr. MILLS signed in favor of the Province franchise, and was warmly supported by some members being disfranchised in Prince Edward Island. He claimed that in England important measures were moved earlier, and said the Opposition had determined that this measure should be fully discussed. Sir R. CARTWRIGHT's amendment was put and carried by 104 to 59, many Conservative members being absent on duty with the Northwest forces.

Mr. LAURIER moved the adjournment of the debate. Sir J. MACDONALD said that though members opposite said there was no time to discuss the bill, they had spoken on it a much longer time than there was little need for further discussion. He would be glad, however, to hear Mr. Laurier's views.

Good cost makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, Gentle Furnishings, etc., George street.

St. Andrew's Church.
The Rev. K. McManus, M.A., former pastor, will conduct the morning service in St. Andrew's Church to-morrow.

The Coming Event.
Great preparations are in progress for the Carnival in the Leamdown Roller Rink on the evening of Monday, May 25th. New attractions. Superb costumes. A marvel of Beauty. Don't fail to attend.

If you want cheap Dress Goods, call and see what Turnbull is showing at 124 cents a yard.

A New Journal.
The Canadian Freeman is the name of a new paper published at Kingston, the number before us being the third issue. The Freeman has evidently imbibed the opinions of its great namesake in Dublin, and deals with Irish questions from a Home Rule standpoint. It is a neatly printed weekly paper, sows and sows ably conducted.

Best woven wire spring beds cheap at A. Cline's.

Creditable scaffolding.
Mr. James Byre, contractor and superintendant for the restoration of St. Peter's Cathedral, has, during the past few days, been engaged in constructing scaffolding around the tower, from bottom to top. The scaffolding is very creditably built, being constructed with hemlock planking and scantling, held together with heavy iron bolts. Abutments are to be built the entire height of the tower and the tower itself will be built up considerably higher. As the scaffolding will be required to stand the strain of the elevation of heavy blocks of stone, it was necessary that it should be built substantially and firmly. Though an expensive piece of work it will doubt prove to be the cheaper in the end.

Call this week and inspect Turnbull's Stock of Cheate Millinery. In the variety shown this season, there are shapes and colorings to suit every body.

The Drill Shed.
At present the companies drilling at the drill shed are experiencing much inconvenience and discomfort on account of the water that stands in large pools all over the ground floor. The gallery at the north end has to be utilized, and the consequence is that the men are too much crowded. Not only this spring is it that the drill shed is flooded, but it is in a similar condition every spring. To raise the ground in it sufficiently high so that the water cannot run in or provide suitable wooden flooring is really necessary. Cannot measures be taken to remove the inconvenience by putting down a suitable floor?

The Home Physician.
We take pleasure in announcing that Mr. John Morrison, of Lindsay, has secured the agency for this town for the sale of a very valuable work entitled "The Practical Home Physician and Encyclopedia of Medicine." It is an elegant volume of over 1,100 pages, written by four of the leading physicians of America, and nearly two thousand years ago are spending many hundreds of dollars and years of time to hear these same doctors lecture in the colleges and schools of medicine. It is printed in clear type, on good paper, and handsomely bound. After a careful examination of the work, we take pleasure in saying that it is very complete. We deem it a book that every one should have, and it has met with an extensive sale here, and it has been introduced. Mr. Morrison will call on our readers in the course of his tour, and so the price is within reach of all who should be without a copy.

When you want heavy Cottonades and Shirts, goods that are warranted to wear, buy them at Turnbull's.

The Floral Club Disappears Sugar.
A sugar social was held in the school room of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Floral Club. The attendance was large and the entertainment was a good one. The programme consisted of a chorus by the Club, a song by Miss Lamson and others, a reading by Miss Gilles, an instrumental duet by Messrs. Miller and Pearce, a solo by Mr. A. L. Davis, instrumental music by Mr. Schneider, a solo by Miss Brandt, a reading by Mr. Hughes, a recitation by Miss May Sailer, instrumental music by Miss Cox, recitation by Mr. R. J. Salisbury, a solo by Miss Jennie Cox, a duet by Messrs. French and Chanters, which was encores, and a solo by Mr. French. At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served, the principal "refreshment" being maple sugar served warm, accompanied with cake, etc. The entertainment was a very successful and most enjoyable one.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Hosiery, call on Foot & McWhinney. Good prices.

POLICE COURT.

A VICIOUS DOG.
SATURDAY, April 18.—The case of Wm. Taylor, charged by N. LaPlant with keeping in his possession a dog that worried sheep, enlarged from yesterday, came up this morning. The defendant claimed that it was not his dog that worried the sheep in question, as no marks of blood could be found on him when he came home.

The Magistrate, after hearing additional evidence, gave judgment to the effect that the dog should be killed within three days, in default thereof a fine of $30 would be imposed.

BURNING THE MAIL BAG.
John Wright was charged by Postmaster Rogers with having feloniously stolen from and out of the post office, in the Town of Peterborough, a post letter addressed to Mr. James Hereles, such letter containing money to the amount of three dollars, against the form of the statute in such cases made and provided. As the prosecution was not ready to go on with the case it was enlarged for one week.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.
Marcellus Mowry and James Hourigan were charged by P.C. Pidgeon with having committed a breach of the peace by fighting in a public street. A plea of not guilty was entered. Geo. SKERRIN testified that he was turning the corner of George and Charlotte streets when Mowry jumped on him and struck him. After a little parleying he struck Mowry and knocked him down. Then Hourigan appeared and struck him on the arm.

It appeared from other evidence which was taken that Hourigan was not present at the time of the assault and took no part in it. The Magistrate discharged Hourigan, but imposed a fine of $5 on Mowry.

ANOTHER BILLIARD CASE.
Inspector Beavis brought another charge this morning against A. D. Faerber for keeping billiard tables on his premises for hire and gain. Mr. C. A. Weller, appearing for the defendant, asked for an enlargement, which was granted. The case will come up for hearing on Wednesday morning.

Turnbull's Millinery Show-rooms are now open. Those who had not an opportunity of visiting them last week, should make it a point to do so this week, and see the Grand Display of new goods.

Murray Street Baptist Church.
The Rev. Mr. Munro will preach to-morrow evening the third of his series of sermons on "Remarkable characters in the Bible."

Cost Makers Wanted.
Good cost makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor, and Clothier, Gentle Furnishings, etc., George street.

See A. Cline's new designs in Painted Window shades.

St. John Church.
The adjourned Easter Vespers will be held in the School House at 8 o'clock p.m., on Monday next. The church warden particularly requests a fully attendance, as matters of importance are to be brought before the meeting.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—East and north winds; generally fair weather; not much change in temperature.

The Manager.
of the Roller Rink has completed an arrangement with Mr. D. Kerr whereby his engagement will continue one week longer. Mr. Kerr will be at the rink every afternoon and evening next week to instruct everyone in the art of fancy skating, free of charge.

An Amtrabated Daily.

The Whitty Chronicle in its last issue says:—"Mr. E. Stone Wiggins, the weather prophet, was in Peterborough on Monday of this week on his way home from spending the Easter vacation with friends at Lindsay, and to a reporter of that admirable little daily, the Evening Review, he said amongst other things that the weather during the coming (7) summer will be 'cold and daisy, decidedly, and if it is not just being the Review down on me.'"

For Spring Belfmans or Hanties, call at Turnbull's. All the new clothes, fringes and trimmings to select from.

Oddfellows' Sermon.
It is the intention of the Oddfellows Lodge No. 111, I.O.O.F., to celebrate the sixty-sixth anniversary of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, by attending Divine Service in body. The members of the Lodge will assemble on the evening of Sunday, the 26th of April, and proceed together to the Baptist Church, Murray Street, where a special service will be preceded by the Rev. A. H. Munro.

Another Evidence.
Mr. R. J. Salisbury has just given another evidence of his enterprising way of dealing to the wants of his customers and the public generally. The last conviction he has introduced is that of having a letter box. "Bower Bookstore" is a most nice letter box. The mail matter will be regularly taken from it at a quarter past five in the evening, and the eastward and westward bound mails, sent at half past eight in the morning. No doubt the merchants in the vicinity and the public generally will often feel the benefit of the convenience.

Order your flour and feed at A. Cline's store.

Re. One Company.
At the drill on Tuesday night last the company had the honor of being commanded by Col. H. C. Rogers, the first captain of the "Number One" on its being united with the other companies in the 17th Battalion. The recruits who recently joined are making satisfactory progress in their drill, and are anxious as the older members to maintain the reputation of "Number One." The latest thing taken up is the organization of a signalling corps. Several of the members are telegraph operators, and will be able to get up the signalling practice without difficulty, as the code used is the same as in telegraphing. The necessary books have been sent for, and the signalling flags will be ready next week.

A Murderer Hanged.
VICTORIA, Mo., April 17.—While David Avery, the alleged murderer of Daniel Goss, was waiting for the train in the depot here, an unknown person fired through the window and killed him. The sheriff and deputy who had charge of the murderer were wounded.

A Hundred Babes Drowned.
CHICAGO, April 17.—A special from Mexico says on Wednesday the officers of the Colombia Government executed a hundred of the worst rebels imprisoned at Colon, and placing them on a steamer carried them into the bay, where the entire hundred were thrown overboard and drowned.

Tapestry Carpets at Turnbull's, bought at a big discount. Call and see them. You will be pleased with the prices.

Telephone Your Orders.

The Review is connected with the Telephone Exchange, which can be used in sending us orders or the paper, advertisements, or items of news.

The Market.
The market was fairly well attended this morning. Bees sold at from $5 to $6 per cwt., pork at from $6 to $7 per cwt., and other meats at prices unchanged. Apples and potatoes were scarce. Apples sold high, but potatoes remain at the regular price, 40 cents per bag. A conspicuous feature was the amount of hay offered numerous loads stood on the square and sold at from $14 to $16 per ton. Butter sold at 20 cts. per pound and eggs at from 11 to 13 cts. per dozen.

FOR neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough. The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. FOOT & MCWHINNEY.

Cost Makers Wanted.
Good cost makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, Gentle Furnishings, etc., George street.

Turnbull's boys' and youth's ready-made clothing is what the public have been looking for. The quality and prices are right.

DRAIN TILE

We are preparing to manufacture this season a very large quantity of the Very Best Drain Tile.

The quality of our clay and the machinery we will use enables us to place in the market a supply of Tile impossible to be procured elsewhere.

BRICK! BRICK!

We will manufacture, as soon as the season permits, a much larger quantity of Red and White Brick, pressed and stamped, than any other previous season. The quality and color of our bricks is much superior to other makes. The best houses and stores are built with it.

Parties contemplating building or draining should place their orders now, so as to procure their material early in the season, as we have a number of orders on hand now.

OUR GRATITUDE!

GRATITUDE is defined by Webster as a virtue of the highest excellence, as it implies a proper sense of duty.

FAIR, VANEVERY & Co. therefore take this early opportunity to express their gratitude to the Ladies of Peterborough and the surrounding country for the large patronage they have already received, and for their numerous visits during the past few days, which has contributed so largely in making our formal Millinery Opening for the Spring of 1885 so highly successful.

"VERY BUSY!"

We are pleased to find so much general satisfaction with our display of Millinery and Mantle Goods, but still more pleased to find ourselves already very busy. We desire to remind Ladies that we will be in constant receipt of all the Newest Novelties of the season, in order to meet the wishes of our customers, and that "repeat" orders will continue to be despatched as often as occasion requires.

OUR DRESS AND MANTLE MAKING DEPARTMENT is receiving our very best attention, and we will ever try to do our duty and to merit the preference of the purchasing public.

Yours respectfully,

FAIR, VANEVERY & CO.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, APRIL 20, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Town Council Meeting.
A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

Annual Meeting.
The Officers of the Peterborough Mill Association will hold their annual meeting in the drill shed on Wednesday, April 23rd.

Good Makers Wanted.
Good coat makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, Gent's Furnishings, etc., George street.

St. John's Church.
The annual Easter Vestry will be held in the School House at 8 o'clock on this evening. The churchwarden respectfully requests a full attendance, as matters of importance are to be brought before the meeting.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, mostly east and south, fair mild weather.

The Queen's Birthday.
Will be a gala day in Peterborough. In the evening the brilliant carnival to be held in the Lansdowne roller rink, Charlotte street, will be an event long to be remembered. Secure your places! Be ready! Don't fail to attend!

A Reminder.
We wish to remind the Ladies of the sale of aprons and other useful articles which will be disposed of in St. Andrews School Room on Thursday, 23rd, inst., in the afternoon and evening, commencing at 3 o'clock. Admission free. Refreshments extra.

Passed Through Winnipeg.
Mr. Benjamin Green received a postal card from his son on Saturday saying that the provisional battalion under Col. Williams, to which the companies of the 57th are attached, passed through Winnipeg on the 14th. All those from Peterborough were well, and in good spirits, except Wm. of Kenna, who has been subjected to several attacks of cholera.

Wm. Robert Earl, Obituary.
Samples at his residence.

Artistic Signs.
Mr. H. W. Watson has just completed a highly artistic set of signs, consisting of eight pieces, for Mr. J. E. Kenna. They are done in gold letters, shaded in light blue, on a sage brown background, and are enclosed in suitable frames. This set of signs, together with the neat plate glass front, and window dressing of a tasteful character, make the front of Mr. Kenna's store one of the most attractive in Peterborough.

Fanny B.
This well known trotting mare has found a new proprietor in the person of Mr. Joseph Daly. Mr. Edward Daly, of Lindsay, has purchased her from Mr. Ed. Brown for the sum of $300, and presented her to his brother, Mr. Joseph Daly, of the Grand Central Hotel. Fanny B. will remain in Peterborough still, where she has become such a general favorite. Mr. Daly has engaged the services of a first-class man to train her for the race in the Peterborough Driving Park on Monday, May 25th.

Spring Freshets.
Owing to the rapid thaw the water in the creek has risen considerably and some difficulty has been encountered in keeping it clear of ice jams. On Saturday night a number of men worked at the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works in keeping the creek clear, and on Sunday night several jams formed at Whyte & Co.'s foundry. They were broken, however, and to-day the creek, though higher than it has yet been this spring, is running tolerably steady. No jams have formed at the Hunter street bridge, as was the case last year.

When you want heavy Outfittings and Shirts, goods that are warranted to wear, buy them at Turnbull's.

Licence Commissioners.
The Board of Licence Commissioners for East Peterborough, under the Ontario Licence Act, met in Cox's block, George Street, on Saturday. There were present Commissioners Darling, Drummond and Meher, and the Licence Inspector, Mr. Hugh Dunn. The following is a list of the names of those to whom licences were recommended for the coming year:

Tavern Licences.—C. Young, Ashburnham; Mrs. Ann Scarsone, Ashburnham; Geo. Lipsett, Ashburnham; John Holmes, Burleigh; W. F. Gray, Aspley; James Bertrand, Burleigh; Mrs. Benoit Tully, Warner; Malcolm McGregor, Norwood; Annie Brunson, Norwood; John Gail, Kenna; Michael Kennedy, Kenna; Elizabeth Smith, Otonabee, and A. D. Foucher, Otonabee.

Short Licences.—W. H. Mulloose, Norwood; G. G. Pope, Ashburnham; John Garvey, Ashburnham, and J. C. Sullivan, Ashburnham. There were in all twenty-six applications for licences. Two were not recommended, and several were held over for further consideration. The Board adjourned until Saturday, the 25th of April.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Slippers, see Foot & McWhinney. Good value in all these.

MOSES

A Sermon on His Character Preached by the Rev. A. H. Munro.

On Sunday evening the Rev. A. H. Munro preached the third sermon of a series which he is at present engaged in delivering, on "Remarkable Characters of the Bible."

The character taken up for dissection was that of Moses. His versatile powers were fully dealt with—as a writer, statesman, lawyer and poet.

In writing the Book of Genesis, Moses had accomplished the greatest and most important literary task in the world's history. It was remarkable not only for its sublime language, but for its historic accuracy, as compared with attempts of other ancient historians, which were found in the archives of some of the first great cities. Although the materials for the succeeding four books, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy, were supplied by Moses, yet there was good reason to believe that he did not write them with his own hand, but they were written under his supervision.

As a statesman Moses had perhaps no equal, in all antiquity nor even in modern times. Several examples were given illustrating the greatness of mind of this great man. While on this head of discourse, his last visit to the British House of Commons was vividly brought to mind. While he sat in the gallery and looked on Gladstone, Bright and other great men of the present day, and thought of the champions of liberty and the power of eloquence that had sat in those seats during the past six hundred years—of that institution that had withstood the power of kings and had grown in strength while they had grown weak, he could not help thinking that it was the same form of Government or at least it contained the same representative principle as that system introduced by Moses thirty-five centuries ago. It was the people that were the basis of the system, and the business matters of Israel and when the time arrived for the choosing of a king it fell to their lot to select one.

Moses was as great a lawyer as he was a writer or statesman. Nothing in modern times could approach in excellence the code of common law which he gave to the people of Israel. His poor laws were wise, merciful and more effective than our own. To punish theft in our day the culprit is sent to a comfortable place, well housed, he never feels the pangs of hunger, and is required to do no more work. He is repaid the amount stolen four fold, and if he had not the money he had to earn it. This punishment had a tendency to reform the criminal, repay him who had been robbed, and there was no burden on society. Moses instituted capital punishment for certain crimes. There were legislators who thought themselves wiser than Moses and had an easy way with this form of punishment. But the results only proved the wisdom of the great legislator of ancient times, as when the experiment of doing away with capital punishment had been tried, the consequences, it had been since re-established.

That Moses was a poet of the highest order, the highly colored language of the book of Job clearly told. The tone of this book was struck in a higher key than Milton's Paradise Lost, Shakespeare's Lear or Dante's Inferno. No other man had written such touching lamentations or had spoken so truly and expressively of the fleeting joys of this life.

The sermon was closed with a brief review of the prominent epochs of his life, and a touching description of his lonely end.

Good Makers Wanted.
Good coat makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, Gent's Furnishings, etc., George street.

For Special Bargains.
In Easy Chairs, Lounges, Mattresses, Spring Beds, Bedroom Suites, Bedsteads, etc., go to McKee's Furniture Warehouse, Water street, three doors north of Simcoe street.

The Sporting Club.
The annual meeting of the Peterborough Sporting Club will be held at the host house on Thursday evening, April 23rd. Attendance is requested at the election of officers, which will be held at the same time. Other important business will be transacted.

Turnbull's boys and youth's ready-made clothing is what the public have been looking for. The quantities and prices are right.

Personal.

His Lordship Bishop James has been, during the past few days, holding confirmation services at Port Hope, Oshawa, and other places in the diocese.

The Rev. A. H. Munro will deliver one of his highly interesting set lectures, "Models From Life for Life," in the College Street Baptist Church, Toronto, to-morrow evening.

Mr. J. H. Roper is on a business visit to Montreal. He will not be home before Thursday or Friday.

Club News.

—Bright and warm.

—Slipping ropes and marbles are now in order.

—Are the watering carts being renovated for summer work?

—It is rumored that the income contest on May 25th will be between the home club and the Oshawa Indians.

—It is about time for the Bicycle Club to think about re-organizing. Several "wheels" have already made their appearance on the streets.

Turnbull's Millinery Show-rooms are now open. Those who had not an opportunity of visiting them last week, should make it a point to do so this week, and see the Grand Display of new goods.

See A. Clark's new and elegant Painted Window shades.

COBBOURS.

FOR THE NORTHWEST.—Fifty-one horses were shipped from here to the Northwest on Tuesday. They were in charge of five of the mounted police. A large shipment of hay was also made.

PROUD OF THEM.—There is one thing that Cobourg can boast of, in reference to the Northwest rebellion, and that is that she is so well represented among those who are now attempting to stamp out the uprising. Major Henry Smith, of the Infantry school, Toronto, is at the head of the column, and with him are three of our young men—Hugh Earshaw and private Dave and Doc, Capt. Adjt. Chas. Bothwell, of the 90th, Winnipeg, and Major Boulton, who is at the head of a company of 50 cow boys—Sentinel Star.

ALLIANCE.

INCREASING BUSINESS.—Mr. John Deacon, proprietor of the Allendale Mills, is driving a good trade with a constantly increasing business. He has done considerable overhauling since he took possession and it is understood that he will introduce at an early date two sets of rolls.

Gold Medal Ate.

If you want a glass of Labatt's prime model time ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's "Famous Restaurant." This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

Tapestry Carpets at Turnbull's. bought at a big discount. Call and see them. You will be pleased with the prices.

Calf Raising.

In a work written by Mr. F. J. Lloyd, on "The Science of Agriculture," the following directions are given for raising calves.—The spring is the most natural time for calving, and the further the time is from the spring the greater, as a rule, is the liability of both mother and offspring to suffer injury by the change. The calf is not allowed the natural milk for more than a fortnight, but is removed from the dam and hand fed. At first it receives new milk warmed to the natural temperature of the mother's milk, then skim milk is gradually substituted. The skim milk will often be rapidly displaced by the use of a porridge. This may be made of linseed or flaxseed cake meal, with wheat meal or some starchy meal added. The meal is soaked in cold water and then boiled. The addition of some grain rich in starch and the linseed is necessary, because this latter contains too great a proportion of oil and albuminous compounds. The young calf is gradually given hay, clover, turnips, etc. Great care is, however, required in feeding the calf until it has learned to ruminate, or "chew the cud," quite naturally. This will not be until it is about two months old. The calves are then let on the pasture, where they remain until autumn. In the autumn ewelets they are brought in at night to shelter, and, as winter approaches, artificial food begins to be used. This winter food will consist of hay chaff or straw chaff, the latter more suitable for the second winter feeding than the first, turnips sliced and pulped and equal portions of linseed, or cotton cake, add pea, bone meal, or other starchy meal. As to the quantity, this varies immensely. As a rule, straw chaff is given, sometimes roots also are fed. From 40 lbs. to 60 lbs. of roots, or if old, sometimes even more than 1 cwt. per day. The quantity of artificial food that is given in the winter varies with the quality of the hay. From 5 lbs. to 10 lbs. of the mixed cake and meal should be used according to the age, nature, and requirements of the animal; this, as a rule, is simple.

SHORTLY'S

BABY CARRIAGES.

They possess the following advantages:—

The woodwork is thoroughly well seasoned many a carriage made from half-seasoned stuff, which will warp and crack the paint and pretty nearly concealing the defects till the machine is out of the shop-keeper's hands.

The running gear is perfectly true and there is no trouble to keep their carriage on the wheels.

The upholstering of it is most convenient, of good strong material and fitted to the body by experienced workmen.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1885.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I don't wish to say one word even charitably against the latest so-called religious organization which has commenced operations in Peterborough. Yet I think the general public who are invited to attend these meetings, and the community to whom they look for countenance and support, should certainly know something of their peculiar religious views. Of their strange practices I shall say nothing whatever. A disinterested onlooker may, however, in an age when Christian union is so loudly and favorably discussed, wonder at the multiplication of such sects and their open rivalry, though all profess to recognize the fallen and save the perishing. If the Salvation

Army hold this as the object of their work, they must not have looked elsewhere for a sphere of labor, leaving to a similar society already firmly established here, the gathering in of those who are sought by magic and parades, if not by simplicity and enthusiasm!

The following quotations regarding the teachings of the Salvation Army on the Christian religion are taken from a recently published

"The Doctrine and Discipline of Salvation Army," by Gen. Booth. I place them before readers without note or comment, save to remark, that surely no Christian whatever, no matter to what denomination he may profess adherence, can possibly countenance such antiscriptural and erroneous teaching.

"What is the teaching of the Army on the subject of Infant Baptism?"

"As a form by which the parents or guardians of children may consecrate and dedicate them to God and the Army."

"Does the Army consider Baptism as a divine ordinance?"

"Certainly not. Only a holy life, the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, and the witness of a new birth, are the true and only means of salvation. This was done and the faith of our Soldiers, we recommend its adoption."

"What is the teaching of the Army on the subject of the Lord's Supper?"

"The ordinance of the Lord's Supper is essential to membership of the Army or to salvation."

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

THE SOUDAN GARRISONS.
CAIRO, April 23.—The remainder of the garrisons of Boulah and Arishah have arrived at Mansourah. Deserter troops have been captured by the Abyssinians.

VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS.
AMSTERDAM, April 23.—Semoro Mountain, the largest volcano in Java, is in a state of eruption. A large coffee plantation has been destroyed. No loss of life is reported.

PRACTICALLY SETTLED.
LONDON, April 23.—Continental correspondence generally agrees that the Egyptian question is practically settled.

MASSACRE IN CAMBODIA.
PARIS, April 23.—The insurgents in Cambodia have surprised the French, captured several guns, and massacred many Europeans.

SHAKESPEARE'S ANNIVERSARY.
LONDON, April 23.—The three hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare is being celebrated with much ceremony and festival to-day in Stratford-on-Avon. The town is brilliantly decorated and church bells have been ringing all day. Hundreds of strangers have come to see the place.

A STRANGER STORY.
PARIS, April 23.—A man was recently burned at Roubaix, department of the Nord, and many wild animals were roasted. There was great danger of the beasts escaping into the town, and the citizens became furious over the neglect of the police to prevent or extinguish the fire. The mob seized the policemen on duty and compelled them to eat portions of the roasted animal. The officers soon after became terribly ill with symptoms resembling those of cholera. The mysterious disease quickly spread to other victims, and has now become epidemic.

A FRENCH PROTEST.
PARIS, April 23.—The French ambassador at Berlin has been instructed to protest against Gen. Von Moth's recent excursion to different parts on the French frontier.

RUSSIA'S ULTIMATUM.
VIENNA, April 23.—Information from St. Petersburg to the effect that the only condition on which peace can be secured is that England shall acknowledge the complete neutrality of Afghanistan and the extinction of English influence in the Persian country. This demand has been communicated as an ultimatum to London. The highest military circles in Russia are bringing great pressure to bear on the government to declare war. They say the chance of victory for Russia was never so favorable. It is believed that as soon as the Volsa is free of Russia will cast aside further attempts at diplomatic negotiations.

GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION.
LONDON, April 23.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Gladstone said the Government is engaged in correspondence of extreme gravity with Russia, a partial statement of which could not be given without the greatest risk of creating misapprehension.

CHOLERA AT CARLO.
LONDON, April 23.—It is stated cholera has reappeared at Carlo, and that seven deaths have occurred there.

THREATENING ITALY.
PARIS, April 23.—It is rumored a powerful Russian fleet has been ordered to cruise off Italy to pressure the Italian Government in its suspected work of secretly preparing to assist England.

ROYALTY IN IRELAND.
Belmont Given a Royal Welcome to the Prince and Princess.

BELFAST, April 23.—The Prince and Princess of Wales arrived this afternoon. They were met by an immense assembly. The mayor and municipal council conducted the royal visitors throughout the densely packed streets to Ulster Hall. All along the way the same was one of the wildest enthusiasm. So demonstrative were the people that it was as much as the police could do to keep the way open for the royal carriages. At Ulster Hall various public bodies of Belfast presented addresses of welcome to the Prince and Princess. The Prince made personal reply. At Fortdown and Dunadul their Royal Highnesses received ovations. At all stations along the route demonstrations of loyalty were made. At most of the stations the buildings were decorated with orange colours and banners. At every depot where the train stopped long queues of thousands of persons followed the train after it left stations until it got under strong headway, cheering the royal couple and bidding them God speed.

The Prince and Princess embarked on the royal yacht Osbourne for Carrick Fergus roads this evening, where the yacht will be moored for the night. The enthusiasm throughout the evening was unbounded. Immense crowds assembled at the pier. Not the slightest hostility was manifested. The town was brilliantly illuminated, and the harbor was filled with the hills of sailing ships.

LOUIS RIEL'S RISING!

An Attack on Battleford and a Guard Killed.

THE POSITION OF THE REBELS.

THEY ARE DETERMINED TO MAKE A STAND AGAINST THE TROOPS.

Gen. Middleton's Force Ready to Move from Clarke's Crossing—An Expected Fight Between Colonel Otter and the Indians—The Fort Pitts Fight.

PORT QU'APPÉLLE, N.W.T., April 23.—It is said on high authority here that on Saturday last Riel and his councillors held a council of war at Grandin. All the information obtained by the rebel scouts was submitted and discussed. The council unanimously determined to fight, and rebel forces to be split up into small mounted bands and to attack the troops wherever and whenever they could do so with advantage. It was also determined that when the retreat was begun the whole country should be fired behind them.

A SUNDAY'S WORK.
The rebels evidently intend to make a Sunday's work of it, as their families are coming down from the north to their friends in this valley. The rebels thought the troops would have taken the lower or old trail from Torchwood across the river, and then south of Little's Landing Lake. The old Indian trail, however, was not taken, and the rebels are in the woods at Moose and further up the river. They will, no doubt, attack the Northcoast after they pass the Elbow, and then make for Battleford.

THE REBEL POSITION.
CLARK'S CROSSING, April 23.—The rebels are now occupying both sides of the Saskatchewan. Riel's force, having constructed a rifle pit near the north bank, and on the south being strongly located in a large log house not far from the river. This is partially surrounded by a dense wood, in which the rebels and the Indians could be able to inflict serious punishment on the troops while passing. It is not believed by scouts and skirmishers. The ground is badly broken, rendering the movements of regular troops difficult.

A PRISONER.
Riel is reported to have done actually nothing since the Duck Lake fight except to "run" his government. One of his men, Albert Monahan, formerly of Paul, and at one time a member of the Winnipeg field battery, has been captured at Prince Albert as a spy and detained.

AN ATTACK ON BATTLEFORD.
WINNIPEG, April 23.—A Battleford dispatch, dated 1 a.m., says: "Frank Smart, a young merchant, was shot and killed by the Indians while performing patrol duty last night. There were several other men on the town by the Indians and half-breeds. They congregated about the place as considerable firing took place, the patrol being forced to retreat inside the trenches. This morning the same men entered the garden and were burning and acts of vandalism were carried on by the Indians. It is feared that a general attack may be made by a large force of rebels in the fort may be made to capitulate before relief can reach."

THE FIGHT AT FORT PITT.
WINNIPEG, April 23.—The Pitt garrison has brought definite intelligence of the fight at that place. They state that the Indians made a demonstration against the fort, and that Chief Factor McLean, becoming alarmed, visited Big Bear's camp and had a conference with the chief, from whom he claimed protection. The chief compelled him to write a letter to the garrison, telling them to come in or be killed, and for the policemen to surrender their arms and leave. The civilians complied with the request, and went into Big Bear's camp. The rebels refused to surrender their arms, and a fight ensued. The police drew the Indians back, killing four and wounding several. Policeman Cowan was killed and Policeman Leachy was wounded. The police then fired a new volley which the Indians returned. The left wing of the force was not followed. Before leaving they destroyed all the extra arms and ammunition they could not carry. Factor McLean's family accompanied the police, and proved fatal to the liberty of over 20 whites, men, women and children. The wounded policeman is recovering. It is feared young Quinn, the scout, is with the Indians. Mr. Gormack is with the Indians. The police are said to have killed and then burned. The guard fired on the Indians the night before last. At Battle River Crossing the scouts report a large battle, indicating that Macdonald's band is in communication with Poundmaker.

FIRED AT BY INDIANS.
CALGARY, April 23.—Lieut. Corryell, of Capt. Steele's advance column, reports that two of his scouts were fired at by Indians, who are believed to have been from Little, Corryell and scouts have taken possession of settlers' houses and the crowding of Red Deer, and will wait the arrival of Major-General Strang and the first division. The Indians who raided the settlers' houses at the Red Deer were Strangers. The left wing of the transport being all ready.

OTHER WILL HAVE TO FIGHT.
SWIFT CURRENT, N.W.T., April 23.—It is believed here that Col. Otter's expedition is likely to meet with great resistance than Gen. Middleton's. The Indians have evidently rendezvoused in force at or near Standing Lake. Big Bear, Poundmaker, Leachy, Mac, Little, Foyler, and the other chiefs are fighters, and unless the troops are very carefully handled they may be annihilated. At all events a fight is certain before Col. Otter gets into Battleford.

THE FAMILIES' PROGRESS.
WINNIPEG, April 23.—The following telegram was received from Battleford by Mr. Wrigley, of the Hudson's Bay Company, to-night: "The police from Pitt have saved the rifles and ammunition. McLean's, the Mann's, and H. Quinn's families are prisoners."

MIDDLETON'S ADVANCE.
WINNIPEG, April 23.—Both columns were under marching orders to start from Clarke's Crossing at 7 a.m. to-day, supplies and large wagon enough to be available to-night. The health of all the troops is good, and the men are anxious to advance.

COOL OUTLET GONE WEST.
MONTREAL, April 23.—Col. Ouellet left by Grand Trunk to-night for the Northwest, contrary to the advice of his medical attendant.

Good cost makers wanted. Apply at once to ANDREW MORRIS, Tailor, and Clothier, Gentleman's, etc., George Street.

A Brother's Satisfactions.
NEW YORK, April 23.—Albert Jenkins, a prominent Wall Street broker, residing in a fashionable boarding in Monroe place to-day. In response to the servant's call at breakfast, he told her he didn't know whether he would be down or not. After fully dressing he stood in front of a mirror and shot himself through the brain. Two other shots were heard, and two bullet holes were found in the wall six feet from the floor. Jenkins was a bachelor, aged 50, and had been dependent lately over business troubles.

HEROICNESS TO THE RESCUE!

THE INDIANS ARE DISAPPEARING FROM ABOVE THE PLACE.

A Night of Anxiety Followed by a Day of Rejoicing—Col. Otter and His Force Also Near at Hand.

By Telegram to the Review.

BATTLEFORD, April 24.—Col. Hetherington, with 100 mounted police, arrived at Battleford to-day, to the great rejoicing of the inhabitants. He camped last night a few miles from the town, being afraid to cross the river at night. The people in the barracks passed

AN ANXIOUS NIGHT.
momentarily expecting an attack. Men were on duty in the trenches until daylight. It was feared that the Indians, knowing that relief was at hand, would make a desperate effort to capture the place. Bands of

INDIANS WERE PROWLING AROUND all night, doing what damage they could. Col. Otter's command is expected to reach Battleford to-night. So far as this place is concerned

THE DANGER may now be said to be passed. The Indians are reported to-day to be rapidly disappearing.

DYNAMITE IN LONDON!

FINES OF BLACKBURN CLOCKWORK FOUND IN THE REBELS.

The Movements of Suspicious Individuals—A Letter from a Rebel to a Friend in London.

LONDON, April 23.—The Assistant Inspector of Explosives states that a large charge of gun cotton was used. It is believed that some stranger, under the pretext of visiting an official, obtained access to the victor's waiting-room, and placed the explosive near Swinburn's room. He probably had time to leave the building before the fuse reached the explosive.

SUBVERTED INDIVIDUALS.
Another report says two men were noticed by several persons reconnoitering yesterday, and this morning the same men entered the garden in front of Secretary Swinburn's office from the parade ground. One of them carried a tin can, which was placed in a recess of the passageway leading to the office. The movements of the men attracted little attention, as a number of surveyors and workmen have recently been engaged in measuring on the grounds. Two officials claim they can identify the men. They have given a description of them to the detective, who are working up the case.

REBELS IN LONDON.
A prominent Scotland Yard detective says the Nihilists in London have become very patriotic in their conversation since the controversy between England and Russia has reached a critical stage.

THE FACE OF A SMALL AMERICAN clock, blackened by the explosion, and some pieces of clothing attached, have been found among the debris.

A strong suspicion prevails that the explosion in the Admiralty office was the work of private malice, as Mr. Swinburn was greatly disliked by a number of persons, including several employees of the office.

FIGHT WITH WHISKY PROBLEMS.
Government Police Downed—A Dangerous Struggle in the Snow.

KINGSTON, April 23.—A letter has been received here from Michipicott, Lake Superior, which says that whiskey, which is not allowed to be sold there, sells for $30 a gallon and continues—"At this season of the year a great many men come to the lake shore to go out by the first boat. These men have lots of money. Last night the police got wind of the arrival of a dog train with whiskey from the South. A couple of Indians brought the information. Chief of Police J. O'Connell and Policeman D. McMillan started out to intercept the peddlers. The police had a dog train of four dogs and a toboggan. Through carelessness on their part the police allowed themselves to be surprised, and the first warning they had was the sound of O'Connell's six-shooters starting them in the face, and the usual order given in this part of the country, "thump up," was not by the whiskey men. O'Connell was completely taken by surprise, and although he was not hit he lay on the ground. McMillan made a move, when he got a shot in the top of the head that completely stunned him. The two whiskey men then descended on O'Connell, beating him on the head with their revolvers. The whiskey man took the weapons from the police and also took the dogs and toboggan, leaving the police nearly dead. The whiskey men then started on their way, and the police have had an awful time getting home. The place where the fight happened and the snow for yards around was covered with blood. O'Connell's head is badly cut in three places, and McMillan has the forehead of a bullet for three inches on the crown of his head. The names of one of the gang was arrested with the whiskey, dogs, toboggan, etc., in his possession. The other is yet at large, but the police are after him."

A Swiss Settlement.
Dr. Myers, T. K. Menzies and Messrs. Keenan, George Keenan, have been in Ottawa for a few days past, and are said to have completed negotiations for a large tract of land in the Northwest, upon which to establish a Swiss settlement. They are awaiting papers from the Government, and expect they obtain them, they will proceed to Winnipeg.

Every Woman Knows Them.
The human body is much like a good clock or watch in its movements: if one part goes too fast or too slow, no follow all the others, and bad results; if one organ or set of organs works improperly, the perversion of functional effort of all the organs is sure to follow. Hence it is that the numerous ailments which make woman's life miserable are the direct result of the abnormal action of the urinary system. For all these numerous ailments of women—and every woman knows them—there is one infallible remedy. Dr. Myers' "Favorite Prescription," the favorite of the sex.

KEEP FAITH.

The extension of a certain section of the Reform party that Manitoba should be allowed to construct railways to tap the C. P. R., and divert traffic from Canadian to United States lines, is a mere claim to regulate a column bargain. Manitoba, by its representation in the Dominion Parliament, was a party to the agreement that the prohibition of such lines should be part of the consideration for the construction of our great transcontinental road. Again, when the boundaries of the Province were extended, the Manitoba Legislature agreed to the same restriction as to the additional territory, as a consideration for this enlargement. Nor is this all. The Manitoba Legislature at the same time recognized, and thus ratified, the restrictions in favor of the C. P. R. as affecting the whole Province.

Thus Manitoba, having received the consideration for which it stipulated, cannot break the part of the bargain without adopting repudiation, unless, indeed, with the consent of the other parties to the agreement, a consent which is most likely to be given before the time agreed upon has expired.

STILL BLUNDERING.

The Globe is again pouring its abuse upon Mr. E. H. Smith. Its general vituperation, which only signifies that it differs from Mr. Smith in politics, is of very small consequence anywhere. The particular charge, that Mr. Smith will be an unjust official and as such will oppress his political opponents, will not offend in Peterborough, where he has served as Mayor for several years without ever laying himself open to the suspicion that he abused his official position for the benefit of his political friends. Neither will it be believed in the Northwest, where he filled the office of Inspector of Land Office with acknowledged impartiality and with general satisfaction, so that his promotion to the higher position of Dominion Land Commissioner on the death of Mr. Agnew was not without general approbation.

Of course the Globe fails to correct its previous falsehood that Mr. E. H. Smith has just been elected to the Northwest on a political platform, when the truth was that he was an able and popular official very properly promoted to a higher office in the same department. But that is the Globe's idea of justice in party matters.

The Peterborough REVIEW's logic is all right when it says that those who rebelled in 1837, 1849 and 1855 could not have been in accord with the government, but it blunders badly when it deduces the conclusion that it was always members of the same party who rebelled. Mr. Smith's friends as a rule support Sir John, and were only driven to the extreme step they have taken by his persistent refusal to inquire into their grievances.—Brookville Recorder.

The above is amusing. When and how did "Riel's friends" who are now in arms against the Government support Sir John Macdonald? There is one way in which a half-breed, or any man, could support the leader of a party, and that is by voting for a member of Parliament who would support him. When and where did the half-breeds who are now following Riel do that? Manitoba is the only place in which they could have done so. If they had taken property in Manitoba at any time since the occupation of the Province sufficient to entitle them to a vote what claim have they to free land in the Saskatchewan valley? The fact is, the Recorder's statement is purely imaginary as the support given to Sir John and entirely unsupported as to the grievances.

Mr. BLAKE would have the franchise on "citizenship, residence and intelligence." One reason he gave was that every adult person not living on charity paid taxes. So do men who are not adults, and as to intelligence, the very papers in the House are intelligent enough to see that Mr. Blake made a laughing-stock of himself by his absurd and mischievous enquiries into petty details connected with our forces in the Northwest. Why should they be excluded from the franchise under Mr. Blake's definition?

Mr. CART, one of the shining lights of the Reform party, spoke no less than seventy-one times in the House of Commons on one measure. This seems to be a specimen of the policy of the Opposition under Mr. Blake's leadership, to obstruct the business of the country, and then to howl against the Administration for not proceeding more rapidly with its measures.

Reason Called Back.

A notable case among those to be met along the avenue and in the hotel lobbies of Washington during the past few days has been an ex-soldier, the circumstances of whose career since the war have vested him with popular interest. Early in 1863 he, then a young man, enlisted at his home in Southern Indiana, and was assigned to a regiment that was actively engaged during the whole war. The young soldier made himself useful, and was always in the thickest of the fray, and was promoted to be an officer. In one of these last battles fought before the final surrender, while leading a charge, the young captain was struck in the head with a ball and fell. His soldiers with whom he was a great favorite, carried him to the rear, where he had every attention. Then he was conveyed to Washington and placed in one of the hospitals, and after a long period of suffering, his wound healed, but his reason had fled. He was officially declared insane, and placed in an asylum at Washington, where he remained 20 years in this condition. A few months ago he returned, and he is to-day as sane as a man. He says the post is a blank. He can scarcely comprehend that he is not the same young man as he was 20 years ago. He has found some of his companions here and there have found him with great kindness. He can describe scenes and incidents of the war with as much clearness as if they had taken place but a few months ago. Among the friends to his recovery, who have been interested in his case, and who have had his application for a pension, made special by the commissioner of pensions, who has recently made it an exception of war pension money, with which he intends going into business.—Boston Herald.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Inland Navigation—Liquor Laws—The Civil Service—Disarmament—Opposition—A False Report—Cost of the Rebellion—Families of Volunteers.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23.—Sir John Macdonald gave notice for Government business to have precedence on Monday.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in answer to Mr. Mitchell, said the Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway had written to England to obtain a list of their shareholders.

NAVIGATION ACT.
Mr. McLELLAN moved the House into Committee on an amendment of the Navigation Act to enable the Governor-in-Council to suspend its provisions, chiefly with a view of making it less onerous to small vessels on inland waters. The resolution having passed Committee, a bill founded on it was introduced.

STEAMBOAT REGULATION.
Mr. McLELLAN moved in favor of licensing fourth class steamboat engineers for inland waters.

Mr. LESTER said the United States prohibited Canadian citizens from serving on their vessels, and suggested reciprocal prohibition.

Mr. McLELLAN said the matter should be considered.

The resolution was passed, and a bill founded on it introduced.

DISARMAMENT.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD moved that the Insolvency Bill be transferred to Government orders.

Mr. BLAKE said he was not aware the bill had been read a second time, and it was agreed that the test of the principle should be on the motion to go into Committee.

LIQUOR LAWS.
Mr. CAMERON (Huron) moved concurrence in his motion to suspend the Liquor Act pending an appeal to the Privy Council.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD introduced a bill for that purpose.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.
Mr. CHAPMAN moved the third reading of the Civil Service Bill.

Mr. MITCHELL moved the third reading of the bill, because he objected to follow the example of England, as it would establish a hereditary class, and cause much expense.

Mr. BLAKE assented to the motion because the bill was not sufficiently favorable to civil servants.

Mr. CARTER believed in a Civil Service profession, but opposed the bill because of its superannuation provisions.

Mr. MURDOCK opposed it because the examiners would be in the pay of and appointed by the government.

Mr. MILLA opposed it because it would make young men hangers on for government situations, and because he thought it better that the government should not be so restrained.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said one might imagine the opposition expected to return to power, and did not wish to be restrained from giving patronage to their political friends. He did not believe in this system, but preferred the English system, which made the person head responsible for the machinery of the Department and excluded all political favoritism.

The system of examinations would have the same result. He attributed the election of Parliament to a revision against political favoritism in the Civil Service. If a young man passed the examination he need not become a "hanger on" as Mr. Miller said, but his success would assist him in other walks of life. He would look upon the rejection of the bill as a return to the system of appointments and promotion through favor instead of merit. He would not be a party to such a false step.

Mr. BLAKE assented to what he called the Premier's virtuous indignation and noble sentiment. He denied that the bill did away with political patronage, for if a political friend passed the examination he might be appointed. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 113 to 57.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT moved an amendment that appointments and promotions should be made on the report of the Treasury Board.

Lost on a division.

Mr. CARTER objected to including young men to pass qualifying examinations and preferred competitive examinations. He advocated that the management of the civil service should be in the hands of gentlemen as occurs in their position as the judges, the present examiners not being sufficiently independent. He moved an amendment in favor of appointments by competitive examination, and amendment for merit.

Mr. CAMERON (Middlesex) declared that the examination papers were too easy. He also pronounced in favor of examiners free from the control of the Government.

The amendment was negatived by 107 to 59. Mr. BLAKE objected to the statutory increase for length of service except in cases of extraordinary merit, and moved an amendment to that effect.

Mr. MURDOCK supported the amendment, which was negatived by 104 to 55.

Mr. DAVIES moved an amendment to prevent an officer, acting in the place of a dead superior, from receiving his salary.

Mr. McLELLAN and Mr. FLEMING supported the amendment, which was defeated by 100 to 57.

Mr. LESTER moved an amendment in favor of a Board of Civil Service Commissioners, to hold office during good behavior.

Mr. CARTER supported the amendment as a remedy for political influence.

Lost on a division.

Mr. MURDOCK moved an amendment that the examiner should be appointed only for the particular examination.

Lost on a division.

The bill was read a third time on a division.

A FALSE REPORT.
Sir J. MACDONALD announced the safety of the Mounted Police and soldiers reported to have been massacred at Fort Pitt.

COST OF THE REBELLION.
Mr. CARTER, in the absence of Sir L. Tilley through illness, moved a vote of credit for the expenses of the Northwest rebellion of $700,000, divided as follows:—Pay and subsistence of 4,000 men for 60 days, $300,000; transport, $300,000; supplies, &c., $400,000.

Mr. BLAKE expressed his regret at Sir L. Tilley's illness, and his concurrence in the vote, details to be presented hereafter.

Mr. LANGRISH asked if it was proposed to pay the volunteers sufficient to maintain their families, some of whom in Quebec were handicapped by being supported by public charity.

Mr. CARTER said the pay was fixed by statute. Any man could have his pay given to his family.

Mr. GAULT said the people of Montreal were supporting the families of absent volunteers, not as a charity, but as a duty owed to those who were putting down rebellion. The ladies of Montreal were sending not only necessities, but luxuries, to the volunteers.

The resolution was concurred in.

A BATTLE

The Canadians Meet the Rebels.

VERY SEVERE AND LONG CONTINUED FIGHT.

Communication Interrupted!

The Actual Result of the Battle not known.

THE REBELS FORCED FROM POSITIONS

AND CARRY THEIR DEAD FROM THE FIELD.

The Number of Canadians Killed and Wounded.

WINNIPEG, April 25.—The Canadian troops advancing down the west bank of the Saskatchewan river, came into conflict with an advanced post of the rebels early yesterday morning. The rebels had a strong and well hidden position, and had it not been for the General's scout, doing their duty well, his detachment might have been cut to pieces before he could have discovered the enemy. The rebels advanced to a creek near the river and offered fire upon the scouts led by Major Boulton. The latter returned the fire, when the rebels retreated and retired to a place of ambush. From the ambush they rose, each time firing. Gen. Middleton at once deployed his troops in skirmishing order. "A" Battery could not at first find the enemy with their guns, so good was their shelter. Eventually, however, the battery got into a better position and

RAINED A BAKING FIRE among them. Two houses in which the rebels were concealed were demolished. The rebels next made a dash and fought the 90th at close quarters, but the severe fire from the left wing forced the REBELS TO RETIRE. The fight was in Indian style on the part of the rebels, who were always concealed behind trees. In the bluffs the fire was hot and very effective. The conflict soon became general and terribly severe. The rebels

RAILED TIME AND AGAIN, keeping up an incessant fire. At one o'clock the rebels fired the first shot, but a heavy rain, which set in, soon quenched the fire. The Royal Grenadiers arrived from the other side of the river at this time and at once opened a fire upon the rebels and the REBELS WERE DEFEATED from two of them at about two o'clock, but they were still holding out in the centre. At the latest accounts telegraphic communication between Clarke's Crossing and the front was interrupted before the fight ended, and it is not yet known how it came out. So far as known, the rebels had lost about 100 men, and the Canadians were killed and forty-two wounded. The rebels carried their dead off the field and their loss is not known.

INDIANS PRESENT. Another account says:—The first under fire at this place were the men of Major Boulton's corps, but No. 6 company of the 90th advanced to their aid, "C" Company of the School of Infantry taking their right flank. A hot combat ensued, nearly all firing while in a position. A number of gallant volunteers fell here, pierced by rebel balls. The war-whoops of the Indians were heard now and then as they rallied to the fight. A desperate fire was kept up for over an hour, and then as if they had run short of ammunition, only occasional bullets came from the rebels. After a short cessation, however, the enemy recommenced firing.

MIDDLETON'S ESCAPE. General Middleton's hat has been shot through, but he himself is uninjured. Capt. Wise, Gen. Middleton's A. D. C., has had his horse shot under him.

FEARS OF A TRAP. General Middleton's corps, and

MUST BE SETTLED.

SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1885.

RECIPROCITY.

The desperate straits to which the leaders of the Reform party are driven in order to try to find a foundation for their claim to the support of the people is shown by the way in which they are at every small thing and make a great ado about nothing, and by the manner in which they try to entangle all kinds of political fish in their net. One of the latest and most open attempts at independence, another branch of his constancy to British connection, and another first with annexation, thus endeavoring to attract the friends of each to his standard.

The Reform party feels keenly the necessity of a policy—a policy that will appeal to the good sense of the people. The want of such a policy causes a large void in their political platform and leaves them little to stand on. Now, however, some of their organs appear to believe that "the long felt want has been supplied." They have got an idea, and Mr. Davis has reiterated that idea in the House of Commons. Perhaps our readers have before heard the word which represents this bright idea—the name given to this new plank which is to do duty for a whole platform. We confess that we have a recollection of hearing the word before. It is Reciprocity.

What difference of opinion is there between the Reformers and Conservatives on this question? The Reformers are careful, as usual, not to take a definite position. To a certain extent, at least, the two parties are agreed, for both believe that a reciprocity treaty embracing certain articles would be advantageous to Canada, provided it could be arranged on favorable terms. Thus far there is no difference of opinion, and the chief complaint against the Government is that they do not urge the United States authorities to enter into such a treaty. As we have pointed out, efforts in this direction have been made, and the people do not desire to see Canada in the position of a miserable pauper going to Washington to beg for the penny of reciprocity. The United States is aware that the Canadian Government is willing to negotiate a reciprocity treaty. That is all that is necessary.

It has been stated, however, that the Conservatives are protectionists, and that it would therefore, be contrary to their principles to negotiate a reciprocity treaty. It is a sufficient answer to point out that a protectionist policy—a National Policy—does not necessarily mean that duty must be collected on every article coming into the country. The principal idea of the National Policy is that those industries that need protection should be protected, and that the United States should not be given privilege when it did not allow the people of Canada corresponding advantages. There is, therefore, nothing in the platform—the firmly established principles—of the Conservative party to prevent their negotiating a reciprocity treaty as comprehensive as would be desirable, provided the United States was also prepared to enter into such an arrangement.

The Reformers pretend to be free traders—at least some of them do. The majority of their organs, and almost all their Parliamentary leaders, oppose protection. If, unfortunately, they should be returned to office, they should, according to their expressed principle, take off the import duties. The result would be to make up by some means, and direct taxation or impost duties it has to be. The taking off of the duties would therefore mean direct taxation. But there is also the reciprocal trade with the United States to be thought of. The United States Government will not give us the entire of their markets without some corresponding advantage. If we desire to have their markets wholly or partially opened to us, we must purchase that advantage. And if the customs duties are removed, as a matter of free traders would be bound to do with them, what could we expect to buy our way to the American market? We would have nothing for our markets would then be open, and the United States would not purchase that which it already possessed.

The proper course to pursue is to build up and advance our country by protecting our industries, until such time as we feel we are willing to enter into a treaty that will be of advantage to both countries, but not disadvantageous to Canada. This is the policy of the Administration.

The Reform leaders propose that Civil Service Commission should be appointed during good behavior, like the judges, so as to be independent of executive control. The Reform leaders of just to the Reformers being appointed during good behavior, like the judges, on the ground that they would be the more creatures and tools of the Administration. This is the modern Reform plan, to object to anything proposed by the Government, simply because it is proposed by the Government.

Canadian Exports.

The total exports from Canada during the nine months preceding the present were nearly a million dollars in excess of the exports for the same period of the previous fiscal year, and this notwithstanding that there was a decrease of three and a half millions in the export of produce of the forest. The increase was chiefly in agricultural produce.

Buddonick's Buildings.

New York, April 23.—A fire story occurred in Hudson and eight tenements on the west side created by Buddonick, have been ordered to be pulled down because they are unsafe. The police are looking for Buddonick. He is under $30,000 bail, but his bondsmen to-day notified the authorities that he would be witness from the stand.

Fatal Blow on the Diamond.

MOUNT CARNEGIE, Pa., April 23.—While two Hungarian "lions" were playing base ball yesterday the pitcher accidentally struck the batsman with the ball. The latter, thinking it was intentional, struck the pitcher on the forehead with an axe, inflicting a terrible wound and cutting his eye. It will probably prove fatal.

THE STILLWELL MURDER.

Ransom Forbes and Sarah Stillwell Arraigned at St. Thomas Assizes.

St. THOMAS, April 23.—At the assizes this morning Ransom Forbes and Sarah Jane Stillwell were placed in the dock, Forbes being charged with murdering Louis Napoleon Stillwell on the first of January last. Sarah Jane Stillwell is charged with being the instigator, and procuring Forbes to commit the murder. Mrs. Stillwell was dressed in black. She looked thin and pale, and was nervous for a short time, but soon assumed a composed appearance, and pleaded not guilty in a distinct voice. Forbes seemed cool and indifferent, and pleaded not guilty in a firm voice.

Mr. C. H. MacDonnell, counsel for Forbes, requested that the prisoner be tried separately. Mr. Attorney, on behalf of the Crown, refused the request. The seating of the jury then began. Only five jurors were accepted and sworn when the clerk announced that the jury was run out, there having been but four-night jurors empaneled. The different counsel for the prisoner challenged the balance. This brought the case to an abrupt termination, which was a great disappointment to the large number of witnesses summoned on the case. Mr. Forbes said there would have to be a new jury empaneled, and adjourned the case until May 12. The Crown was represented by Mr. J. L. Linton, of Stratford, and C. W. Coaker, of Cayuga; E. Meredith and Chas. F. Clarke for Mrs. Stillwell, and C. H. MacDonnell for Forbes.

SHOT HIS MOTHER AND SISTER.

And Ended by Killing Himself—Terrible Story of a Young Man.

A Greenwich despatch says:—Barley Johnson, son of E. J. Johnson, a lawyer of New York City, was walking along the shore at this place yesterday in company with his mother and sister enjoying the beautiful sunshine and the scenery. The ladies sat down on some rocks for a few moments to rest. Barley, who was standing near by, suddenly drew a revolver, and without a word shot his mother and sister and then shot himself. Johnson and his sister died instantly. The mother died a short time after. No one can be assigned for the deed. Johnson was a graduate of Yale College in 1883 and was a student of law at the time of the tragedy. He was twenty-three years of age. He had been ill for some time, and at intervals his mind seemed to be affected. He was yesterday appeared to be better. After shooting his mother in the head, Johnson turned to his sister, who stood paralyzed with fear and discharged his weapon at her, the bullet striking her in the mouth. The girl cannot hold her breath and tried to scream him. During the struggle which followed the pistol was discharged again, the ball passing through Mrs. Johnson's eye into the brain killing her instantly. The body was found by a fisherman near by, many of whom hurried to the scene. The case is now nearest the scene arrived just in time to see Johnson put the pistol to his own right eye and send a bullet into his head. He fell dead only a few feet from where lay the bodies of his mother and sister. A coroner's jury decided that Johnson was insane.

Call this week and inspect Turnbull's Stock of Choice Millinery. In the variety shown in this season, there are shapes and colorings to suit every body.

CHURCH.

THE DAME.—On Sunday night a portion of the mill dam in this village washed away by the breaking up of the ice. The end of the dam at Mr. Ivory's dwelling mill was also broken.

A LOSS.—On Friday when Mr. E. C. Williamson went to arrange his bees he found that eight hives or swarms were dead. The loss continued winter no doubt was the cause of the loss.

CUT HIS THUMB.—Mr. Geo. McWilliams, who went to Peterborough some weeks ago, returned to Oshawa on Saturday with one of his hands in a sling, and on making our enquiry we learned that he had had his thumb badly cut while flipping a board in one of the factories in that town. He hopes to be able to resume his work in a short time.—Herald.

LITERARY.

CURTAIN.—The Lindsay Curling Club played 15 "forwards" games during the past season and won 12. The score by points was, losses 3 shots, gains 159 shots.

IN COURT.—On Wednesday a tramp named Jas. Henry, alias Sullivan, was sent up to gaol at Lindsay charged with having assaulted a woman at Oshawa. A comrade who has been lurking around the village with Henry was also arrested and gaoled on a charge of stealing money.

LORETTA COVERT.—On Wednesday evening a social entertainment was given at Loretta Covert in honor of the festival of the Lady of the Sea. Rev. Father Mahoney, Bishop Janes, Rev. Father C. Mahoney of Downsville, Rev. Father Mahoney of Toronto, formerly superior of the convent here, were present.—Post.

ARM INJURY.—Miss Mabel, daughter of Mr. W. A. Ward, while at the roller skating rink on Wednesday afternoon last, fell and broke her arm. This is the second time the arm has been broken by falling, a similar accident occurring to her last fall.

Woolen Mill.—As some young men from Lindsay were working and soiling at the Central mill on Saturday afternoon, a young man named Donohue was thrown with such force as to break one of his legs above the knee. The broken bone was set and the patient is doing well under treatment.

Woolen Mill.—Mr. J. W. Wallace's new brick woolen mill is now completed and the machinery removed into it. The building is two stories high and well built. It is to be completed with the machinery, the engine being situated on the north side of the river.

It is now a good mill and Mr. Wallace expects to start up in a few days and to continue in future. Some new applications to the machinery have also been put in.—Ward.

For New Orleans.

George H. Homer and J. H. McKay have gone to New Orleans for the regatta. McKay says his woman, Nora, will not leave Halifax to sail this year, but is trying to get on a match with a local celebrity named Dor. Ruth Homer and McKay say that Wallace Ross of New York and Conley, of Portland, will not go to New Orleans. Conley, they say, will wait until the season is ended, when he will come into the city a fresh man. The starters of New Orleans will probably be Gardner, Taylor, Homer, McKay, Griffin, of Buffalo, and a few others.—N. Y. Daily Sporting Globe.

If you want cheap Brown Goods, call and see what Turnbull is showing at 12½ cents a yard.

The First Reading Society.

WELLINGTON, N. Y., April 23.—Mrs. Walter Morley, Mrs. Mabel, and a little boy, were drowned in the Channing river while boating near Athens on Tuesday evening.

General Grant.

New York, April 23.—Gen. Grant's rest was broken somewhat last night on account of the heat. His condition, however, seems to be improved.

The St. Louis Harbor.

St. LOUIS, April 23.—An examination shows Mr. Priller came to his death by inhaling chloroform.

FURNISHED FOR HIS CRIME.

John Wright sentenced to Five Years' Imprisonment at Kingston.

On Friday afternoon at three o'clock John Wright was brought before the Police Court for his trial.

As the prisoner took his seat on the bench he appeared rather downcast, though perfectly calm.

The MAGISTRATE read over the first charge as follows:—"That you, John Wright, did feloniously steal from and out of the postoffice in the said town, a post letter addressed to Mr. James Harnall, the said letter containing money to the amount of three dollars, against the form of statute in such case made and provided."

The PRISONER was standing as the charge was being read, and as the Magistrate finished, appeared to be irresolute as to which course to take. After standing for some time with his eyes fixed on the floor, and being interrogated by the Magistrate for his plan, he uttered the word "guilty" almost inaudibly, and then said that he preferred to be tried by the County Judge.

The MAGISTRATE explained to him that if he pleaded guilty he had not the option of being tried by the County Judge unless he (the Magistrate) declined to enter judgment upon him.

The PRISONER then, after several minutes' silence, said that it had better be over with him now.

The MAGISTRATE then read a second charge against him for stealing from the postoffice, on the 6th of April, a letter addressed to Mr. P. Fitzgerald, Indiana River, from Mr. John Shields, Victoria Road, containing $122. The prisoner pleaded guilty to this charge also. A third charge was then read for his having stolen a letter on April 10th, addressed to E. F. Carter, Peterborough, from John Lovell, Lindsay, containing $11. A plea of guilty was also entered to this charge.

The MAGISTRATE then pronounced sentence upon him. He said:—

"The offences you are charged with is a very serious one. In order that the interests of the public may be protected, the law has made the stealing of a letter containing money, entrusted to the charge of the Government for safe carriage, punishable with very heavy penalties. You have been guilty of three several felonies. I do not know anything about you, who you are, or your past history, but so far as I can judge I would not take you to be a hardened criminal. You have, however, given away to temptation and have committed three successive felonies, showing an intention deliberately to pursue your evil course. It is, therefore, not safe to allow you to go on in this way; it is not in your own interests and in those of the public that I should allow you to do so. You are liable to imprisonment for what you have done. The smallest punishment I can impose upon you is five years' imprisonment in penitentiary, and that is the lightest punishment any court can impose upon you for the crimes you have committed. You would gain nothing by my declining to pronounce judgment upon you, only a longer term of imprisonment. The lightest punishment the county judge could impose upon you is five years in penitentiary. It is with much pain and reluctance that I enter this judgment against you. But you are still young, and if you persevere in honest, open and manly course there is nothing to hinder you, after your term of imprisonment is over, from holding a respectable position among your fellow men. Let this sentence be the last, and endeavor henceforth to lead a good life. By doing so you may yet gain the esteem and respect of society."

The prisoner received his sentence with perfect calmness of countenance, but his hands were tightly clasped and his thumbs twitched nervously. He is a lad, apparently of about 18 years of age. He has a dark complexion, black hair, but there is not the sign of a hair on his face. He appeared in the court well dressed, wearing a light grey tweed suit. He came from Algoma last September and has since been in the employ of Mr. J. Buller, a mail carrier between the railroad depot and the post office. Hereafter, he has had a good reputation, and was a quiet, dutiful servant. Many of his friends came and expressed their sorrow at his misfortune in giving way to temptation.

The post office officials received only $90 out of the $126 that was stolen.

PORK AND CANCER.

The communication from H. T. Miller that appeared in the Intelligencer of the 26th inst., relative to the prevalence and manifest increase of cancerous diseases, has already attracted a good deal of attention. Mr. Miller was led to make a series of investigations extending over a period of many years, by learning some facts connected with the first case of the kind that came under his notice after arriving in this country from England. The victim was a young man of powerful physique, who was occupied principally in lumbering operations. A cancer appeared on his neck, and soon spread over his chest, terminating his life in a comparatively short time. It transpired that, as a prominent feature of this young man's life, he was very fond of pork as a meat diet, and always ate large quantities of it in summer. Mr. Miller was considerably impressed by this fact, and made it the basis for future investigations. He is now convinced that there is some relation between the use of pork and cancer, and that persons addicted to a pork diet are more liable to be attacked by cancer than those preferring other kinds of food. It is also remarkable that in England, where beef and mutton are used to the almost entire exclusion of pork, cancer is less prevalent in proportion to population, than in Canada. We are informed that these statements have induced others to recall cases that have been known to them, and that nearly every one of the conclusions arrived at by Mr. Miller. Several persons in this vicinity who have died of cancer were addicted to a pork diet, so their friends assert. The statement is open for discussion, and as it is one of paramount interest to the public generally, no doubt he will have further testimony on the subject. It is well known that with the farming community especially pork constitutes the principal meat diet during the greater part of the year. That a consumption of so much of a gross and deleterious food, by vitiating the blood and engendering humors and ulcers, is a physiological fact. It would be good economy, as well as wise sanitary protection, to raise more beef and less pork for home consumption. Eaten in moderation and at a proper season of the year, pork may not be harmful, but an excessive use of such obnoxious material is sure to operate against the functions of the human organism. —Bellville Intelligencer.

Guilty of Man-slaughter.

St. Thomas, April 24.—At the session Samuel Mitchell was tried to-day for the murder of Alex. McIntosh. It will be remembered that Mitchell found McIntosh and his (Mitchell's) wife in the bedroom together, and in the height of his anger fatally shot McIntosh. The case occupied until 4 o'clock, when the jury returned a verdict of man-slaughter. At the request the jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide, and the present verdict proved a considerable surprise, considering the extraordinary provocation Mitchell received.

Committee in New York.

A meeting of Canadians resident in New York was held in that city on Thursday night for the purpose of forming a Canadian club. A committee was appointed to procure articles of incorporation and to take other necessary steps. A considerable amount was also subscribed by those present.

FREDMAN'S WORK POWDERS are agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children and adults.

FARM AND GARDEN.

The work-horses in the spring need no abundant amount of strengthening food.

UNDERSTANDING should be done before the ground becomes settled and hard.

An ice-house and a good milk house are necessary adjuncts of every well ordered farm.

If a sheep gets lame, when it is muddy examine its feet and you will often find gravel between its toes.

Cows should be turned out a little while every day for exercise, no matter how cold the weather may be.

The largest vineyard in the world is in California, and contains between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 vines.

A SOLENT in Long Island farming the present year will be the extensive cultivation of peanuts as an experiment.

It is hardly enough for farmers to get an adequate supply of manure, and for this reason it behooves them to study carefully how to make the best use of it.

AMERICAN farmers do not sow as much oats or barley per acre as is common in Britain. There two and a half bushels of seed is the usual quantity.

A GARDEN with a sloping surface, or an open sandy soil, is not likely to be made lumpy by early cultivation, though in other respects it may be quite unfit for the growth of plants.

SEEDS sown in flower pots do not grow well, owing to the porous nature of the pot, the earth dries up too quickly, requiring so much water to be poured on as to injure the seeds and young plants.

Flax is receiving much attention in the West. As inventors are rendering it possible to utilize the entire product of flax, it is predicted that in a few years it will be one of the staple crops of the United States.

One of the best manures for the garden is made by mixing two bushels of fine bones with a wagon load of stable manure. The bones make the manure heat more quickly, and the manure softens or dissolves the particles of bone.

The Planting of Evergreens.

A deciduous tree, the buds of which have started, is always a risky thing to handle. With evergreens it is different. They transplant better after vegetation has started and the terminal buds begin to swell. This is one reason why evergreens furnished by nurserymen with other stock early in the season, often fail. They have necessarily been dug too early, exposed perhaps to chilling or drying winds during the packing, and, though from and green in appearance when received by the planter, more so start after setting out, and gradually turn brown and die. It is much better to order evergreens to be sent separately from other trees and later in the season, say during May or even June, if the season is backward and the new shoots have not made much growth. They should be fresh dug, quick packed and soon received. The tender point about an evergreen is its root. If once dried, it seldom recovers. It is very important, therefore, that the roots should be carefully protected from sun and wind. If possible, take a cloudy or showery day for handling evergreens. If the right conditions do not exist, keep the roots constantly wet and rolled up in matting. If there are a great many to be handled, as for being, dig them up in trenches in moist soil, removing only a few at a time. —American Agriculturist.

FROM ALL OVER.

THE Nova Scotia Legislature was prorogued on Friday afternoon.

DR. LOW'S MILD SULPHUR SOAP is highly recommended for all humors and skin diseases.

GENERAL SWAIN has been refused a pardon by President Cleveland.

HEADACHE, BRUISES, DYSPEPSIA and Indigestion relieved and cured at once by Dr. Carter's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Samples free.

CLARENCE EDGAR, Daniel Webster's great grand-daughter, took the veil at Baltimore on Thursday.

A BATTALION of four companies of forty-two men each is to be formed immediately in the county of Essex.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. It proved Liver Complaint, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

SIXTY-FIVE Mormon elders are said to be constantly engaged promoting converts in the South Atlantic States.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have valuably tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Hayward's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

ON Thursday morning Miss Mary Anderson breakfasted with Mr. Gladstone at his official residence at Downing street.

RIGHT NOW is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Loosen no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carter's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, at 50 cents.

ON VOTING on the Scott Act in the county of Frontenac and the city of Kingston will be held on the 21st of May.

A DOUBLE PLEASURE.—The popular remedy, Hayward's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally, for aches, pains, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

A BRANCH of the Legion of the Cross, a temperance organization, has been organized by Hamilton Catholics.

Never cut up more onions than are likely to be used for the dish in the preparation. A cut onion absorbs all smells, and emits what comes near it. It is very useful to have a piece of onion in a sick room, it is a capital disinfectant; when the outside becomes dry cut off a piece near, so as to leave it juicy.

REMARKABLE CURE.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

THE bridge over the Rideau river at Marketville and the bridge at the Government dam have been seriously damaged by the freshets.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These requirements give the possessor a pleasant expression, a fair, clear skin, and the rosy bloom of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and tones the entire system to a healthy action.

By order in Council the month of November in each year is declared the close season in the Province of Ontario for salmon trout and whitefish.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of Hayward's Pectoral Balm, the best throat and lung healer known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

THREE stills belonging to the Producers' oil refining company at Petrolia, Ont., were burned on Thursday night. Loss $3000.

Young, old and middle aged, all experience the wonderful beneficial effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young children suffering from sore eyes, sore ears, scald head or with any scurfiness of syphilis taint, may be made healthy and strong by its use.

The pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half or even a quarter of a bottle of Murray & Leamon's Florida Water. Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as a blooming flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

Don't Use any more noxious purgatives such as Pile, Salt, &c., when you can get Dr. Carter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

SHILOH'S OINTMENT will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous prostration, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, APRIL 27, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Town Council.
 A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Plano Tuning.
 George J. Gumprecht, piano tuner, is in town for a few days. Orders left at Mr. T. Messie's bookstore, or Messrs. Taylor and Macdonald's drugstore will be promptly attended to.

Another large lot of Fine Boots and Shoes received at the Bon Marche, at ridiculously low prices.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south-west and north-west winds, fair weather, not much change in temperature.

Reduction of Rates.
 From this date special reductions will be made to those wishing to attend the Peterborough roller rink. During the day ladies will be admitted as spectators free of charge; skates furnished for 10 cents. Gentlemen will be admitted during the day and furnished with skates for 15 cents. Free Brigade Band at the rink this evening.

For a real Handsome Spring Suit, Try McNEIL.

The Front of the Season
 Will be the grand roller skating carnival in the Lansdowne rink on the evening of May 15th. Go to it! See it! Don't miss it! Mr. Ed. Brown, the skating manager, has completed arrangements with Mr. Kerr, the professional skater, to return to Peterborough and attend the rink every day for the purpose of instructing those who attend, and also to give fancy roller skating exhibitions.

For Spring Bonnets or Mantles, call at Turnbull's. All the new cloths, ribbons and trimmings to select from.

F. R. C.
 In addition to the election of officers and annual reports coming up at the meeting of the Club to-night, the question of a party of canoeists going to Georgian Point for the Queen's Birthday will be considered. The Ladies Club will turn out in large numbers and a good turnout of our members is also expected. Already about twelve or fifteen have handed in their names to Mr. Hawkins, who has charge of the arrangements.

Early Closing.
 The great majority of the dry goods merchants of Peterborough have agreed to close their stores at 7 o'clock in the evening, Saturdays excepted. We hope that the one or two who have not yet signed the agreement will adopt the same course so that it may be general, and thus give their customers time for recreation and healthy exercise in the summer evenings. Their customers should also bear this in mind and do their shopping at an early hour.

Cemetery Committee.
 At a meeting of the directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, held on Saturday afternoon, the following appointments were made:— President—Mr. J. J. Leidy.
Secy.—Mr. J. J. Leidy.
Surgeon—Mr. John Kelly.
 Several projects for the beautifying, improvement and extension of the cemetery were brought before the meeting for consideration, but no active steps were taken.

Carriage Tops.
 Messrs. Porter Bros. & Gibson are now carrying on a brisk trade in carriage and buggy tops. The excellence of their manufacture is bringing in large and constantly increasing orders from all parts of the country. At this season of the year they are especially busy, and they are weekly making large shipments.

"Habitment Hall" is the place to buy your Spring Clothing.

Telephonic.
 Under Mr. H. C. Kent's management of the local telephonic exchange the number of instruments being brought into use is considerably on the increase. His success is due chiefly to capable management, close attention to the business of the company and the ready responses given to calls. The following is a list of connections made recently:—Phelan House, G. W. Hall's wholesale biscuit and confectionery works, Henry Dunn's City Mills, J. J. McElnay's grain storehouse, and the Hazle Bros Home, the last mentioned instrument being placed in the Home through the generosity of the Bell Telephone Company. The number of instruments now in use in Peterborough is ninety-two.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Sippers, see Foot & McWHELL. Good values in all lines.

"BOYHOOD TO MANHOOD."

A Sermon Delivered in the George Street Church by the Rev. L. Torrell.

On Sunday evening the large congregation assembled in the George Street Methodist church was addressed by the pastor, the Rev. L. Torrell, taking for his theme the life and character of Timothy from childhood to young manhood. The reverend gentleman spoke of his parent age, the mother of Timothy being a woman of "unfeigned faith," and the great promise there was in a child having godly parents. The training Timothy received in the study of the Scriptures was dwelt upon, and the importance of Bible study in youth earnestly enforced. His conversion at the probable age of 15 or 16, through the ministrations of Paul and Barnabas, and the fact of being "well reported of by the brethren," were made the basis of a practical appeal to the young people to earn a "good name," which was better than gold. The interest in the discourse reached its highest point when the speaker dwelt upon the motive of Timothy in his public life, "seeking the things of Jesus Christ."

At the conclusion of the sermon and after prayer, Mr. Torrell referred to the Northwest troubles, in a way that could not fail to stir the patriotic heart, and called on the congregation to join in singing the following stanza, which were sung with immense enthusiasm by the choir and the entire congregation that filled the auditorium and galleries:—

God bless our native land!
 Firm may she ever stand,
 Through storm and night;
 When the wild tempest raves,
 Ruler of wind and wave,
 By thy great might.
 For our best prayer shall rise
 To God above the skies,
 On these we wait;
 Tacon who art ever night,
 Guarding with watchful eye,
 To thine about we cry,
 God save the state.

And the national anthem, "God Save the Queen." The service then closed with the benediction.

If you want a Handsome Spring Suit, Try McNEIL.

For Special Bargains
 In Easy Chairs, Lounges, Mattresses, Spring Beds, Bedroom Suites, Bedsteads, etc., go to McKee's Furniture Warehouse, Water street, three doors north of Simcoe street.

Turnbull's boys and girls' ready-made clothing is what the public have been looking for. The quantities and prices are right.

Coal Oil.
 If you are troubled with poor oil try China Hall. Nothing but the very best and purest brands of Canadian and American oil kept. Prices same as other dealers ask for the ordinary articles. One trial will show the superiority of our oil. Free delivery in any quantity. CHINA HALL.

A Runaway.
 On Saturday at about four o'clock Mr. Wm. O'Leary, of the township of Douro, together with his wife, was driving in a buggy westward on Brook street. At the post office the horse became frightened by a passing bicycle and bolted. When passing the Bank of Commerce the buggy came in contact with a telegraph pole, and the axle and the front wheels were entirely smashed and the occupants of the buggy were thrown out. Happily no serious bodily injury was received.

Our Civic Chronometer.
 That our venerable town clock is leading a disipated life has now become a terrible reality. Its recklessness for the past few weeks is severely paralleled. To all appearance it has a spree nearly every night for frequently in the mornings the good people below look up only to find it in a heavy stupor. At first its irregularities were said to have been caused by the hands forming a roost for pigeons, and a covering of wire netting was urged. It appears now, however, that the bird boy made very good bait, and prevented the clock from its now sporadic actions.

Pure Water.
 Messrs. McAndrews & Noble, steam and gas fitters, plumbers, etc., have introduced an article that cannot fail to meet with the approval of the public. It is the "Globe Filter," which filters the water from the city water works. The filter, though small in size, is effective in its work. It is superior in shape, having a diameter of about three inches and a half. This filter is filled with silica quartz, capped by nickel plated, non-corrosive casings. At each end there is a threaded opening about one inch in length, so as to attach it to water pipes. It makes no difference whether it is turned on, and therefore, it is easily cleaned, merely the reversing of the flow of the water having the effect. The quartz may be seen by taking off a screw at the side, and should the quartz ever become thoroughly clogged, it may be taken out and washed with water and replaced. The filter is ornamental and well finished. In a new design which accompanies the filter three known brands of a cat, the animal matter contained in the water usually drunk, as illustrated by microscopic analysis. Nearly all of these animals are of the same color as the water, and are consequently not seen by the naked eye, but are constantly drunk by those who drink water without being filtered. Silica quartz is the best known filter material and purifies all impurities from water. There are more than thirty thousand of these filters in use in New York, about one thousand being used by physicians. The Globe Filter Company has now introduced from Italy all the waterworks inspectors from Canada, and hundreds from physicians.

Turnbull's Millinery show-rooms are now open. Those who had not an opportunity of visiting them last week should make it a point to do so this week, and see the Grand Display of new goods.

The Snider Shoot.
 Bowmansville, April 25.—Lieut. W. J. Graham, of Toronto, having challenged J. B. Mitchell, of Bowmansville, to a rifle competition, the former to use the Winchester rifle, the same as used by the halfbreeds of the Northwest, and the latter to use the Snider-Enfield, the match took place here to day. Instead of the common Winchester Mr. Graham appeared with one of the latest improved military Winchester, still Mr. Mitchell did not shrink from the test. The range was 200, 300 and 600 yards, seven shots at each range, and the scores were respectively:—Graham, 25, 15 and 16, Mitchell 21, 25 and 19; the Snider-Enfield winning at every range, with a total score of sixteen majority. Other parties likewise competed, the total score with four Winchester rifles being 200, with Snider-Enfields 220, the latter winning by 21 points. A. Martin Henry was also pitted against a fifth Snider-Enfield, the latter winning by ten points, with a score of 79 to 69.

LANCE AGAINST SABRE.

Duncan C. Ross figures in what may be a deadly combat.

The announcement of a trial of skill of lance and sabre between Capt. E. N. Jennings, formerly of Her Britannic Majesty's service, and Duncan C. Ross, the well-known athlete, attracted a large crowd to Central Park yesterday. The arrangement was that both should be mounted, Jennings to use a lance and Ross to swing the sabre. Twenty-one points constituted the match, and the winner of the first eleven was to be declared the successful competitor. At a little before four o'clock both men appeared, clad in the regulation armor. This consisted of a steel cuirass, buckled on both sides, and protecting the back and breast down to the top of the hips. A neck plate of cast steel fitted closely around the neck, coming down under the cuirass, and so protecting the upper part of the chest, neck and shoulders with a double thickness. Over the head is fitted the regulation sword mask, made of strong iron wire, and padded inside with a two-inch thickness of hair and chamois skin. This mask covers the whole of the head and front part of the neck leaving only the nose exposed.

Capt. Jennings, attired in white duck knee breeches and the armor, first galloped into the open and took up his station at the point designated by a small American flag attached to a stick stuck in the ground. He carried a bamboo pole nine feet in length, which was topped by a dull spear head. A small boy, proud of his position as lanceholder, kept two similar weapons in reserve, in case of accidents. All three lances were adorned with a diminutive flag. Duncan C. Ross was not many yards behind Jennings, carrying a regulation cavalry sabre, the point "upset" and beaten together, making a thickness of over a quarter of an inch. A sabre is technically divided into three equal portions—the flexible point, the centre, and the forte, or strong, lying next to the handle. The forte and centre were blunted, while the flexible point was left sufficiently sharp to cut the lance pole. Jennings rode a bay horse, while Ross rode a gray. The animals were evidently well trained, and there is no doubt that a very interesting contest would have taken place if a most unfortunate accident had not occurred. J. W. Fraser was selected as referee and Major W. C. Lorreos of the Ninety-third Highlanders were judges. The words "Ready," "Forward," "Attack" were the signals for the fray. The horses leaped forward and the riders came toward each other. Jennings, with his lance, struck Ross as he was swinging his horse around, and the first point was awarded to him. The second and third points were won by Ross, and the fourth and fifth by Jennings.

Ross did not win the sixth, and there was no decision made. Jennings struck Ross full on the helmet as the latter dashed past, but Ross turned suddenly and slashed at Jennings with his sabre. Jennings helmet was knocked from his head, and he narrowly escaped a fall from his saddle. Then there was a short, and to the end of forty yards blood could be seen running down Jennings' neck. He dismounted, and with assistance, and when he hurried toward the dressing room the crowd broke through the ropes and surrounded him, so that it was with difficulty that the Captain made his way to the room. Then he nearly fainted. A physician was hastily summoned, and after an examination, he stated that Jennings' skull had been fractured. The wound was over the right ear, nearly four inches in length, and presented a very ugly appearance. A carriage was obtained, and Capt. Jennings was driven to his room at 311 Dundas street, where everything was done to alleviate his sufferings.

Dr. Julius Rosenstern attended the wounded man about five o'clock, and an hour later Ross and a friend appeared to make inquiries. Dr. Rosenstern said there was no doubt the skull was fractured, while the gash required eleven stitches to close it. He added that while the wound was not necessarily fatal, should erysipelas set in nothing could save the Captain's life. Jennings was apparently sensible, but the headwound did not permit him to speak, although he waved his hand to Ross when that athlete entered the room.

Later in the evening Ross was asked by a Chronicle reporter if he could explain how the unfortunate circumstance occurred, and he said: "After the Captain made his point on the helmet his head forward and the under edge of his mask came in contact with the upper edge of his cuirass. The result was the mask was tilted off. I was in the act of delivering my cut two at cavalry" at that instant. The sword was in the air when I saw the mask fall. Of course I did all I could to ease the force of the cut, but it was bound to reach him, as he had not time to bend his head forward and the under edge of his mask there is nothing that would have prevented the Captain's head from rolling to the ground."

A RAILWAY WRECK.

Fatal Collision on the Iron Mountain Railway. A Deadly Mischance.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—A special train bearing a number of Pennsylvania and Missouri Pacific railroad officials left here this afternoon via the Iron Mountain road on a tour of inspection of the Texas Pacific railroad. When 20 miles from St. Louis the train collided with an accommodation train, and a serious wreck resulted. The train met on a sharp curve under a cliff on the river bank. Both engines were wrecked. The engineers and firemen went into the wreck with the engines. Wm. Stevenson, engineer of the special, received concussion of the spine and was injured internally. Louis Christ had both legs torn and his chest crushed in, and was killed. The engineer and firemen of the accommodation were only slightly injured. Philip Tolant, nephew of general Wm. Watson, and a Pennsylvanian, was on the engine of the special and was frightfully mangled, one leg being torn off and his chest crushed in, killing him instantly. The other members of the party were in the rear car. The most serious injuries were to ex-Governor Brown, general solicitor of the Missouri Pacific, who had his shoulder dislocated and arm broken, and a Mr. Vistar, slightly hurt about the head. The special train had the right of way, but owing to a misunderstanding of Despatcher Burns, the accommodation was ordered to wait till the special train had passed. An inquest was held and Burns was declared responsible for the deaths.

Newspapers of To-Day.

People generally, and even those who may be termed steady readers and close observers, have but a faint conception of the magnitude and influence the press of this country has attained. From a careful examination of the advance pages of the 1885 edition of the American Newspaper Directory, issued May 1st, by Geo. W. Wells & Co., of New York, it appears that there are 14,147 newspapers and periodicals published in the United States and Canada; of these the United States has 12,973, an average of one paper to every 3,867 persons. In 1884 the total number of newspapers was less by 323 than at present, and while the gain this year is not so marked as in some previous years, it is still considerable. The number shows the greatest increase, the number being 78, while Illinois follows with a gain of 77. It is curious to notice that New York, the scene of so much political activity during the last campaign, should have only about one-third as many papers as the State of Pennsylvania. As an index to the comparative growth and prosperity of different sections of the country, especially the Territories, the number of new papers forms an interesting study, and may well occupy the attention of the curious.

Infant's Parents.

BARTON, April 27.—The body of a new born male infant was found here in a field by the roadside a few days ago. It had evidently been thrown over the fence from the roadway into a snowdrift in the field and when the snow melted it was discovered. There was a piece of string tied around its throat which had apparently been used to strangle it almost immediately after it was born. There is no clue to the parents of the child.

FROM ALL OVER.

SHALLPOX is decimating the Mahdi's forces at Omdurman.

FERNAND WORM POWDERS are agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children and adults.

AN unusually heavy crop of peaches in the Delaware peninsula is predicted this year.

PROF. LOW'S MAGIC SULPHUR SOAP is highly recommended for all humors and skin diseases.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. It proved Liver Complaint, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

SMALLPOX is raging among negroes at East Atchison, Missouri, two hundred and fifty being stricken by the pest.

A WINE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Haysard's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicine fail.

SIXTY-THREE recruits for the Northwest Mounted Police were passed by the medical examiner at Toronto on Monday and after wards sworn in by a justice of the peace.

RIGHT NOW is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Leave no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, at 50 cents.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

A LONDON report says the present emigration to America is unprecedented. Within the past four days over two thousand persons, mostly Irish, left Queenstown.

HEADACHE, BILIOUSNESS, Dyspepsia and Indigestion relieved and cured at once by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Samples free.

BURLINGTON Bay has been almost cleared of ice by the heavy rain of Saturday night and the high wind of Sunday, and navigators are talking of making an early start.

Young, old and middle aged, all experience the wonderful beneficial effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young children suffering from sore eyes, sore ears, scald head or with any scurfiness of scaly skin, may be made healthy and strong by its use.

The traffic receipts of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending the 21st inst. were $172,000, an increase over the corresponding week last year of $38,000.

A DOUBLE PURPOSE.—The popular remedy, Haysard's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally, for aches, pains, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

It is considered probable that Col. Hewitt, who has just returned from his visit to England, will be reappointed commandant of the Royal Military College at Kingston.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

GENERAL GRANT continues to improve. A large number of congratulations were forwarded to the invalid veteran on Monday, on his attaining his thirty-third birthday.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These acquirements give the possessor a pleasant expression, a fair, clear skin, and the rays of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

THE Alert arrived at Halifax from New York on Sunday. She is to be transferred to the Dominion Government for use in the Hudson's Bay expedition this summer.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of Haysard's Pectoral Balsam, the best throat and lung healer known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

SUBSCRIPTIONS towards defraying the expenses of forwarding food and clothing to the Toronto volunteers at the front now amount to the respectable sum of $608.50.

The pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half or even a quarter of a bottle of Murray & Leamon's Florida Water. Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as his point on the flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

WHEN the blood is loaded with impurities and moves sluggishly in the veins, an alternative is needed, as this condition of the vital fluid cannot last long without serious results. There is nothing better than Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood and impart energy to the system.

Don't Use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the bowels gently, cleaning all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

The Effect War Would Have.

The imminence of a great war, which is likely to shut out from our markets an entire year's Russian supply of timber, should give a considerable impulse to the home trade, as our Russian supply was equal to about five-sixths of our whole importation from British North America last year; in round numbers, 1,350,000 loads, a large bulk to be stopped from a year's importation of about 6,000,000 loads. The sale by Messrs. Churchill & Son, on Wednesday and Thursday next, will doubtless benefit by the news, especially as the bank rate of 2½ per cent remains undisturbed as yet. It is not easy to see how any peace can be kept up under the present circumstances, as England must make a bold stand for her Indian possessions. —Times and Trade Journal.

FACTIOUS OBSTRUCTION.

THAT the Opposition should spend nearly thirty hours in talking against under the false pretence of considering one amendment to the Dominion Franchise Bill, may be sound political strategy, but we doubt it. The country is in no humor for such mischievous child's play. That a minority under a constitutional form of Government should have the right of full and free discussion, will be admitted by all. But when this right is perverted into deliberate and organized obstruction, designed not to carry on but to impede the business of the country, freedom of discussion degenerates into mere factious license. And when there are scarcely veiled threats that this is to be the policy adopted by the Opposition to frustrate the passing of legislation for which our constitution especially provides, the tax upon the patience of the majority becomes preposterous.

We hope the Opposition will reconsider their apparent determination to obstruct legislation by the mere power of their jaws. If they attempt thus to bully the majority, they cannot complain if that majority uses its power. If no stronger measures were adopted, an organized system of relays would enable the representatives of the majority of the people to do the duty for which they are sent to Parliament, and would overcome the attempts to stop public business.

The hollowness of the pretence that there is not sufficient time for a reasonable discussion of this measure is shown by the fact that the Opposition members are occupying many hours by reading newspaper clippings and pamphlets merely to waste time. Let the principles and the details of the measure be fully discussed, as befits its importance, and so as to perfect it to the utmost before it is finally passed. There should be no denial of such deliberation. But wilful waste of time by a minority who thus show their own conviction of the impotence of their arguments, is an outrage on the majority of the people of Canada and their representatives which cannot be tolerated.

AIDING THE ENEMY.

In some observations on the possible danger from the half-breeds in the Qu'Appelle valley, the Globe remarks on the probability that many of them, being of the Gabriel Dumont stamp, might be seized with a spirit of emulation on hearing exaggerated stories of the doings of their old comrades in the north.

It thus appears that the Globe is well aware of the danger of causing the rebellion to spread by making public exaggerated accounts of the doings of the rebels. This apparently is the reason why the Globe and the rest of the half-breed, copperhead press are systematically publishing false reports and exaggerated comments in favour of the rebels and to the disadvantage of the forces and the authorities of Canada, now engaged in repressing the rebellion. Of course the tendency of such aid to the rebels is to injure our country and its people, but it is hoped by our domestic enemies that the more the sufferings of the country can be increased by such base means, the greater will be the hope of dissatisfaction with the present Administration, and of the recall to power of these sympathizers with the rebels. It is certain, however, that they are making a mistake in these cold-blooded calculations, for the country is in no humor to admire such unparliamentary devices.

Mr. BLAKE having promised the assistance of the Opposition in the suppression of the rebellion, the reform press is, of course, anxious to carry out the promise and strengthen the hands of the Government as much as possible. We have quoted instances in which they have done this, and the Ottawa Free Press furnishes another. In an article attacking Mr. Valin, M. P., and Sir Hector Langevin, it says:—

"The details of how the scheme was to have been worked will be of public interest and may set some people thinking as to whether there is not good reason for a more widespread rebellion in the Northwest than now prevails there."

How such statements must strengthen the hands of the Government, and how very discouraging they must be to the rebels! The people will not forget to chastise, by means of the ballot, those who are encouraging the rebels and apparently inducing a more widespread rebellion.

A PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND paper, a supporter of the Reform party, brings forward another charge against the Dominion Government. It says it is "a too economical Government."

A MONTH'S CAMPAIGN.

Prompt and Vigorous Action of the Authorities in Quelling Insurrection.

From a letter written on April 27th to the Mail by its Ottawa correspondent we take the following extracts:—

The Government had for some months received intimation of the dangerous attitude assumed by Riel, and of the influence he exerted over the half-breeds and Indians in and around Beatty's reserve. The Mounted Police had been quietly increased in Fort Carlton till double the number ever before thought necessary was on the spot. The rising took place, the Government receiving intimation on March 21 that rebellion had undoubtedly raised its head. On the 22nd the Adjutant-General, Col. Powell, sent the first telegram indicating that the time had come for the Government to take cognizance of the fact that liberty of speech had been abused, and that a definite attempt had been made by Riel to set at defiance constituted authority. Col. Powell telegraphed to Col. Houghton, at Winnipeg, asking if troops were required for the Northwest, how soon would they be ready to move. The answer was by Wednesday, which was the 25th. On the morning of the 26th, one half of the 90th Winnipeg battalion moved out of Winnipeg to Qu'Appelle station.

GENERAL MIDDLETON TAKES THE FIELD. In the meantime General Middleton had left Ottawa on the 23rd on his way to Winnipeg. On the day of the first half of the 90th boarded the train at Winnipeg station for the West, the engagement at Duck Lake took place and routed the country to a realization of the fact that Riel and Dumont had only used the claims of the half-breeds as a pretext for their rebellion against constituted authority, and had determined, come what might, to appeal to arms to establish a republic of their own between the two branches of the Saskatchewan. Up to that time the threatened blunders of Riel appeared to be altogether unlikely to lead to armed trouble. The claims of the half-breeds to land and to wood and water rights in the Prince Albert district had been so largely settled that not more than ten per cent of the whole original claims remained to be settled. Riel and Dumont saw their opportunity slipping away from them, and March 26 occurred the collision on Beatty's reserve, whether intentionally or accidentally remains to be seen. At any rate the crisis had come sooner than expected. From a war of words the rebel leaders had passed to actual fighting.

TROOPS TO THE FRONT. The Government acted promptly. Part of the 90th was already on the way. The General commanding had been three days on the way, he reached Winnipeg on the 27th and was at Fort Qu'Appelle on the 30th. On the 27th the "A" and "B" battalions were ordered out, and on the 28th they started for Winnipeg 300 strong. Let us see what the Department of Militia has accomplished during the month, yesterday being the 30th of April, and exactly one month from the date of the Duck Lake encounter. It must be remembered that the Minister of Militia (Mr. Caron) has been, ever since he took charge of the Department, fighting hard to bring up the militia to something like efficiency. His plans have been broad and comprehensive, but he has been year by year fiercely opposed by the Opposition, the expenditure of money for militia purposes having been opposed tooth and nail. The Militia Department in the minds of the general public was assumed to be an expensive toy of very little practical use. Under these circumstances the promptitude and real excellence of the department during the month which ended yesterday must have been a surprise to the public, who had been assured by the Opposition press that the Militia Department was worthless and useless, and provided over by a Minister more ornamental than useful.

A GOOD MONTH'S WORK. Within the month General Middleton had at Fish Creek a successful engagement with part of Riel's force. Some of his men, for instance the Grenadiers, had been called out and sent 1800 miles by rail, made marches of 83 miles around the north shore of Lake Superior, of 198 miles to Clarke's Crossing, and 25 miles to Fish Creek, all in 27 days from the time they left Toronto. Within the month, Col. Otter's force was at Battleford. This consisted of "B" Battalion, 114 men, Queen's Own Rifles, 275 men, Infantry School Corps (part) 45 men, Tod's sharpshooters, 51 men, one half Winnipeg Field Battery, 30 men, 35th Battalion (part) 205 men. These had travelled 2,065 miles by rail, and 280 miles by marching, making in their forced marches from Saskatchewan to Battleford, 34 miles a day. Within the month General Strange had moved at Calgary to the 65th Battalion, 312 men; Col. Smith's battalion, 237 men, police and scouts, 143 men, and an ambulance corps. Some of the force of the 65th, had travelled 2,280 miles by rail, and had marched 83 miles around the north shore of Lake Superior, and 150 miles from Calgary towards Edmonton, in all 238 miles of marching before the month was up. They left at Calgary 150 men of Stewart's Rangers. Besides these there were at Swift Current the 5th Battalion, 230 men; the 7th Fusiliers, 232 men, and the Midland, 278 men. "JOSIAH."

I never kin forget the day
That we went out a-walkin',
And not down on the river bank,
And kept on hours a-talkin';
He twisted up my apron string,
As I folded it together,
And said he thought for harvest time
'Twas cur'us kind o' weather.

The sun went down as we sat there;
Josiah seemed uneasy,
And mother she began to call:
"Lowesey! O, Lowesey!"
An' then Josiah spoke right up
As I was just a-startin',
He said, "Lowesey, what's the use
Of us two ever partin'?"

It kind o' took me by surprise,
An' yet I knew it 'was comin';
I'd heard it all the summer long
In every wild bee's humm'n';
I'd studied out the way I'd act;
But, law! I couldn't do it;
I meant to hide my love from him,
But seems as if he knew it;
In looking down into my eyes
He must a seen the fire,
An' ever since that hour I've loved
An' worshiped my Josiah.

FRASERVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.—Many of Rev. F. Johnston's friends by appointment assembled on Thursday evening, April 23rd, for the purpose of presenting his esteemed lady, Mrs. Johnston, with an address and purse containing valuables. After all had participated in the repeat provided by the ladies, Mrs. Johnston was requested to occupy a seat in the centre of the room, and the following address was read for her:—

To Mrs. F. Johnston:

DEAR MRS. JOHNSTON.—We have here assembled on this carnival occasion for the purpose of spending a few hours together in social conversation and fruition. And while we take pleasure in doing this we also experience a feeling of sadness and regret when we remember that soon you will have to be removed from our midst, and to-night would desire to manifest in some slight degree our gratitude for and appreciation of your services in the "municipal department" during your residence with us.

We look to assure you your seasons and self-sacrificing labors in this department of church work are most highly appreciated by us; and we sincerely congratulate you on the success which has attended your efforts. We, then, as a congregation, desire to tender you our sincere and hearty thanks, and beg your acceptance of this purse as a memento of our gratitude for and estimation of your work during the past few years.

We would ask you to convey to our esteemed pastor, Rev. F. Johnston, our high appreciation of his character as a Christian gentleman, as well as of his indefatigable efforts to advance our spiritual interests.

In conclusion, our prayer for you and yours is that your career may be "onward and upward," growing in grace in the knowledge and likeness of your beloved Teacher and Saviour Jesus Christ. Signed on behalf of the congregation.

Mr. S. Might read the address, and Miss Hutchings made the presentation. Mr. Johnston replied feelingly in behalf of his lady and judging by his remarks the people of Fraserville are very near and dear to him. All joined in heartily in singing "In the Sweet By and Bye," after which Bro. Might led in prayer. The joyous assembly dissolved about 10 p.m.

THE SCHOOL.—At the recent promotion examination some 15 pupils were promoted. Five wrote, and all were successful from senior 4th to 5th—an examination equivalent to the entrance for Collegiate Institute. Arbor holidays, May 8th, will be recognized here. Drill every Friday afternoon in the school yard—strictest discipline indulged in.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE LOCK GATE.—Our old friend A. Ross, from Lindsay, is busy along with his assistants in building a new lock gate for the town end of the locks. Thanks to Mr. Walters, the superintendent, for his prompt action in this matter before navigation commenced.

THE WATER.—The water is rising very rapidly and we may look for very high water this spring. A good thing we have such a fine new dam. We feel ourselves safe now.

THE STEAMER FAIRY.—This little steamer is getting thoroughly overhauled again this spring from the keel up.

BORISNA.—Business in and around this village has been very lively this winter. The grist mill has never been so busy since it was built and the saw and shingle mill has had all they could do. And our young friend, W. L. Young, who keeps a general store, is getting along splendidly in the foot-steps of Stewart, who was in business here for some years, and that is keeping a good article and a tidy store. The houses are likewise all occupied and tenanted for more.

A FINE CIRCUIT AND FIGHT.—On Wednesday evening, the 22nd inst., about nine o'clock, Jim and Ned got too much forry-rud, and of course as of old a fight they would have. About a dozen women appeared on the scene, including the wives of the combatants, they held them back, which was a great pity as they were too much under the influence to hurt each other. Names not to be found in any dictionary were made use of, so to complete the thing Jim's wife knocked Ned down, which ended the affair for the time. Such disgraceful proceedings won't have to occur often, or Mr. Dumble, the Police Magistrate, will have to come up along with policeman Pidgeon, say once a week, and a lockup will have to be built. We have one comfortable here, but it is a tavern keeper, and of course good day.

SAW LOGS.—There will be a great many saw-log drives pass through here this summer, and a busy time is expected.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS, C.O.F.—The following officers for this half year were elected at the regular meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., held on Thursday, April 23rd, in the Court room, Lakefield.

Bro. John C. Bledson, C.R.
James Campbell, C.G.R.
Henry Garbutt, Chap.
Dr. Bell, F. Mecty
David Amott, R. Mecty
Wm. M. Graham, R. Mecty
John Bledson, R. Mecty
Thos. Wallace, J.W.
Robt. McWilliam, J.R.
Robert Oulton, J.R.

Bro. Dr. Bell and Robt. Graham were elected delegates to High Court.

HIGH WATER.—The water continues to rise and there is every appearance of a very heavy flood this spring. The ice is not out of Clear Lake yet.

THE ROADS.—Tuesday's snow storm will make the roads very heavy again. The road between the Reeve's house and the northern boundary of the village is in a bad state, and should be attended to at once.

HUMOROUS.—Mr. James Watson, son of our worthy postmaster, was married last Wednesday to Miss Hetherington, of Smith. We wish them every happiness.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

WASTING TIME.

In dealing with the Suffrage Bill, which is likely to add greatly to Sir John Macdonald's influence in the country, the Opposition has been reduced to the last resort of wasting the time of Parliament with empty words, a measure which is only justifiable where the danger to the country warrants the injury done.—Montreal Witness (Reform).

A NECESSITY.

The importance of the Canadian Pacific Railway as a military road must be admitted by everyone. The Northwest rebellion and the possibility of war with Russia will impress upon all the importance of an early completion of the line. The railway must be finished; it is necessary to the preservation of order in the Dominion and to the defence of our Pacific coast.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

BRAVE AND SPIRITED.

The task before the Canadians is apparently so easy one, but they have undertaken it with admirable spirit. It is no slight thing to have collected so many troops at so great a distance and pushed them into the wilderness by forced marches in so desolate a country, and at so unfavourable a season.—Buffalo Courier.

THEIR HIGHEST AMBITION.

Whether the Liberals were supporting or opposing woman suffrage, their ambition was to make long speeches rather than convincing ones.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

THE REASON WHY.

The Grit press has been persistent and malignant in its attacks upon the Hon. Mr. Caron, Minister of Militia. Of course it has. The halfbreeds and all their sympathizers have reason to dislike the Minister of Militia. He has been most energetic and able in providing men and means to put down the halfbreed rebellion. Hence the malignant attacks of the Grit press upon him.—Hamilton Spectator.

TAKING THE PRIZE.

Our neighbour, the Advertiser, is becoming really a very sensational paper. Its news from time to time is something truly startling. As "our boys" were marching to the station on the 17th of April they might have seen placards in flaming letters, "of Middletons" "defeated!" That was a pretty fair appetizer for the gallant lads and their relatives whom they had left at home. Then, on Saturday last, our contemporary headed its war news in large type, "Ambushed," conveying the impression that Gen. Middleton had fallen into an ambush and been out to place. A not very consoling intimation to the relatives in question. But Sunday's bulletin assayed the climax of sensationalism when it announced that Gen. Middleton had been "defeated" and was in danger of "a general massacre." In not one of these cases was there the real truth. No such matter as that on Sunday's placard before the door of our local contemporary came over our telegraph wires. They were simply sensational inventions. As an alarmist, our local contemporary should take the prize.—London Free Press.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Dr. Bergin is an exceedingly active and practical man. He knows his profession; he knows public affairs; he is a military officer of standing and experience. He has a company of men under the Great affair; he was promoted to the rank of Major as long ago as 1866, and was made Lieut.-Colonel of the 50th Regiment and Glengarry Battalion in 1868. If a man with a great range of experience could be found, we should like the organ to name him. We doubt if Dr. Bergin's superior for the post he occupies could be found in the country.—Toronto Mail.

OBSTRUCTING PUBLIC BUSINESS.

The opposition say they are determined to fight this (the Franchise) bill clause by clause and as there are 53 clauses, if each one takes as much time as this, the house will be in session till well into August. The government seem equally as determined to pass the bill as the opposition are to bark it.—Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

BY STRENGTH OF JAW.

Since two o'clock this morning a guerrilla warfare has been kept up by the Opposition, member after member rising to read or recite the subject of female franchise. The library was ransacked for books and every one who has written on this point, from John Stuart Mill down, has been heard of during the past 24 hours. Very few who speak depend on their own resources, the time being put in by reading chapter after chapter from these works.—Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

NEXT.

The Farmers' Union, which was backed up by the Globe and the Grit press generally, was in its intent not one whit better than the affair of Miss. The object in each case was the same—to damage the country and through that means the Government. That the country has been seriously injured is true enough, for the lies that have been told to its detriment were well calculated to deceive, and were made excellent use of by those who had the interests of other countries to promote. In Canada alone has it been found that any recognized party in the state had given itself up to unbridled defamation as a means of obtaining political power. However, between the Farmers' Union on the one hand and Riel on the other, considerable damage to the general interests has no doubt been effected. The wonder is what scheme will next be tried.—London Free Press.

THE C.P.R.

The important part of the railway has played, in spite of the unfavorable conditions of the season, in the movements of troops from Canada to Winnipeg and beyond ought to direct the attention of the Government at home to the fact that communication by this line, which is the event of war, might be a vital need, between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, is now complete, except for the gap of 150 miles. This, however, the company, owing to pecuniary difficulties, may probably be unable to bridge over for a long time. Military material may be accumulated in Canada, but until the Pacific railway is completed it cannot be transported at a critical moment. Vancouver Island, where in the event of struggle with Russia, a blow was aimed at a weak point in the armour of the Empire.—London Times.

THE REBEL VIEW OF IT.

Was Gen. Middleton "defeated?" Military men looking at the matter in a purely technical way, will say no. But here is the fact: He started for Batouche's Crossing. The rebels met him en route, offered battle, and after he had endeavored to dislodge the rebels, his advance fell back. From a military or strategic point of view, no doubt his action was wise; at all events we do not care to criticize it. But there is no doubt that he suffered a check, a repulse, or whatever you choose to call it. During the American war a great many better skilful retreats were embodied in the dispatches under very euphemistic terms.—London Advertiser (Reform).

PROGRESSIVE PETERBOROUGH.

Interesting Statistics Taken from the Assessment Roll.

The following figures, taken from the assessment roll, are interesting, and they show that the town has made very satisfactory progress during the past year. The number of ratepayers, it will be seen, has increased by 56, and the population is 479 greater than last year. The total assessment has increased by $265,600, although there was a small decrease in personal property. The decrease in non-resident land is a matter for congratulation, as the land has become occupied. The decrease in the number of hogs may in a measure be owing to the action of the Board of Health. The evidence of the growth and advancement of the town is very gratifying, and there is every indication that its progress in the coming year will be as great or greater than last year.

For the Boys in the West.

The young ladies of the George Street Methodist Sunday School completed the full number of havelocks and mosquito nets for the members of the Peterborough company of volunteers new in the Northwest as a part of the Midland Battalion, and they were sent by express at 5.52 o'clock this morning. The ladies worked steadily on Thursday, and the school room presented a very busy scene. They had not finished their self-imposed task until half past ten o'clock at night, and the articles were got away in the morning through the kindness of Mr. Elliott, who had the express wagon sent up to the church for them at that hour. Several little girls sent Bibles, and one enthusiastic little Methodist sent a Methodist hymn book, while other small pupils of the school gave socks. The ladies, learning that the citizens were about to take similar action, did not carry out the intention of receiving other contributions, as they did not wish to interfere in any way with the united action of the citizens generally. At the suggestion of the Colonel of the 57th battalion these articles were forwarded at once, so that they would reach the boys at the earliest moment. It is expected that they will arrive at Swift Current on Wednesday. The ladies deserve credit for the way they worked for the comfort of the volunteers, and it is plainly evident that the volunteers who are in a distant part of the Dominion to put down an insurrection are not forgotten by those at home. The citizens should bear in mind, in this connection, the meeting in the Council Chamber at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

THE TRANSPORTATION OF TROOPS.

LONDON, April 30.—The Admiralty has ordered the naval yards to prepare for the transportation of several thousand troops, and has chartered the steamer Vancouver, Oregon, Dacca, City of Oxford, Devon, Bolivia, Egypt, Erin, and Egyptian Monarch, each of which is capable of carrying a thousand troops. Through other fast ocean steamers have been purchased for the purpose of supplying the coaling stations.

A PEACEFUL PROPOSAL.

LONDON, April 30.—Earl Granville's note, made asking for an arbitration and an enquiry into the Gen. Komaroff incident, offered to end the dispute by conceding to Russia the Lescar line, under the distinct pledge that it shall be a dividing limit of the Russian frontier. M. de Giers' reply will reach here on Monday. It will announce the acceptance of the Lescar line, but a refusal to hold an enquiry into the Komaroff incident.

SCHOOLS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, April 30.—In the Commons this evening the bill relative to the Industrial school in Ireland passed its third reading. Mr. Gladstone said he hoped to proceed with the bill relative to land purchase in Ireland this session.

THE ARABS REPULSED.

SUAKIM, April 30.—The British troops have repulsed the attack of 200 rebels to destroy the new Suakim-Berber railway.

PROPOSES A SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, May 1.—The Standard asserts upon unquestionable authority that the English proposal to Russia is for the submission to arbitration of one of the crowned heads of Europe of the simple question whether or not the convention of March 17 was broken by Russia. Russia has decided to call a meeting of ministers to discuss this question. The Standard asserts that Mr. Gladstone should propose a settlement of the Afghan dispute of which the nation cannot approve.

THE SOUDAN POLICY.

LONDON, April 30.—Lord Harrington stated that, since the Government has decided to revise the policy to be pursued in the Sudan, it has been in correspondence with the British diplomatic representative at Cairo and Lord Wolseley. The latter had gone to Suakim to report upon the military situation.

IRISH BISHOPS IN ROME.

ROME, April 30.—The Irish bishops assembled today in the College of the Propaganda. Cardinal Simeoni addressed them. The bishops expressed their determination to treat all questions submitted to them uninfluenced in any way by political bias or feeling.

RUSSIA'S LATEST.

MOSCOW, April 30.—The Gazette says if England wishes to avoid war she must evacuate Port Hamilton at the entrance to the sea of Japan, otherwise Russia will be obliged to occupy Herat. The Gazette believes the question of peace or war must be settled within a few days.

LEUT.-COL. STRAUBENZEE.

A Brief sketch of his Career—Now With General Middleton.

Lieut.-Col. Van Stranbenzee is now serving under General Middleton on the Northwest expedition, and a better officer than the Colonel could not have been chosen to fill so important a position. An old soldier of much and varied experience, he entered the army at an early age and was appointed to an ensigncy in the famous old 52nd Light Infantry. Not long after his appointment he was called upon to see active service, and in the ever memorable Sikh campaign of Lord Gough, our well-known citizen highly distinguished himself. During those trying times for England, Lieut. Van Stranbenzee led the forlorn hope of the siege of Multan, and for his pluck and gallantry was specially mentioned in home despatches. At that time there was no such thing as a Victoria Cross, but had there been the Colonel would not doubt have won that much coveted reward on his breast to-day. His wounds were serious, and he was obliged to return to England and serve with the depot of his regiment, where he gradually recovered. Before very long, however, the "war cry" again sounded, and as captain he proceeded to the Crimea, on the staff of his brother, Sir Charles Van Stranbenzee, who commanded the "Light Brigade." Again he was favorably mentioned in home despatches. After peace was proclaimed with Russia, the Colonel was once more to small powder, and from the knowledge the authorities had of his varied and useful services, he was given an important position on the staff of Sir Hope Grant, when the Chinese war broke out. He was at the taking of the Summer Palace, and on that occasion his name was again mentioned in despatches. Col. Van Stranbenzee is much respected in Kingston, and looking at his life soldier-like bearing, there are not many who would imagine that even to-day he is still suffering from his severe wounds of 1849.—Kingston News.

LOUIS RIEL'S RISING.

All Quiet at the Various Points of Interest.

NORTHCOOTE STILL STRANDED.

THE PLAN OF THE ATTACK TO BE MADE ON THE REBEL FORCE.

Preparations for Punishing the Indians Near Batoche—Arrests Made at Prince Albert—The Scene at Qu'Appelle Quiet.

CLARK'S CROSSING, N. W. T., April 30.—A scout arrived in camp from Prince Albert today, and reports that he heard the rebel loss on Friday was heavy and that the Indians deserted the halfbreeds largely in the fight. He reported also that T. Dumont, Gabriel's brother, was killed. This latter is generally believed, as the description corresponds exactly with the man shot by Capt. Furter.

ALL WELL AT PRINCE ALBERT.

All were well at Prince Albert when the scout left. He confirms the report that Albert Monkman is with Riel, and thinks the stores at Batoche were burned on Tuesday.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

A large number of arrests have been made by the police at Prince Albert, all suspected of disaffection being seized. Amongst them is Thomas Howie, a Scotch halfbreed, brother of the general's interpreter. Monkman is a freighter between Prince Albert and Qu'Appelle and is one of the leaders of the rebellion.

THE FISH CREEK BATTLE.

Further examination of the ravine reveals the fact that the Fish Creek fight was extremely hot. The rebels were strongly entrenched, yet there is now no longer any doubt of their loss being terribly severe. The bodies of the three Indians found were too near our lines to permit of the Indians successfully carrying them off. The counts under Gen. Middleton are capturing rebel cattle and horses without opposition, proving that the enemy are in dread to again meet the troops.

COMMUNICATIONS OPENED.

Telegraphic communication was established with Gen. Middleton's camp to-night. Three miles of line had to be constructed, and it works well. Part of it is insulated wire, running through the river. Lieut. Swinford died at 4.30 this forenoon.

THE NORTHCOOTE.

The Northcoote is about three miles below the Elbow. The tug Minnow is trying to get up to Clark's Crossing with the doctors and the Galtins.

THE QU'APPELLE SCARS.

WINNIPEG, April 30.—Hudson Bay officials put no faith in the reported rising in the Qu'Appelle district, and do not believe there will be any serious trouble there. A few houses have been plundered, but the guards will have to be strengthened, but that is all.

ALL QUIET AT EDMONTON.

EDMONTON, April 30.—Everything is quiet here. The Indians have all gone back to their reserves, and the advance guard of Gen. Strange's column, which arrived to-day, reports the route here entirely free from the rebels. The main force will probably arrive on Saturday. Capt. Steel, with 150 mounted police and scouts, supported by 150 infantry, will scout between Edmonton and Fort Pitt.

AGAINST THE INDIANS.

Immediate and active measures will be taken to drive the Fort Pitt, Saddle Lake and Frog Lake Indians to the north branch, where they will be run down by the forces under Col. Herchmer.

COL. OTTER'S TASK.

BATTLEFORD, April 30.—Scouts under Col. Herchmer have discovered that the Indians in that district who raided the settlement are camped in force about five miles west of Poundmaker's reserve. They are fairly suspiciously on the settlers' cattle. Col. Otter is making preparations for an early settlement of accounts with them.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

CLARK'S CROSSING, April 30.—Col. Irvine started out for Prince Albert on the 18th, and was to join the troops at Batoche on the 18th, but when twelve miles he met a courier with orders to return.

THE ATTACK ON THE REBELS.

MUST BE SETTLED.

It now being over twelve months since the partnership existing between the undersigned, as Printers and Publishers, was dissolved, they beg to notify those who still have unsettled accounts with the late firm of Fobler & Co. that the same must be settled forthwith in order to avoid trouble. Those who cannot pay the cash can at least call and close their accounts by giving their notes for the amount of their indebtedness to Mr. L. Sherlock, at the Review office, who is authorized to settle the same.

E. J. TOKER,
JOHN CARPENTER.

April 2nd, 1885.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1885.

MR. BLAKE, in the organized obstruction of the public business now being practised by the House of Commons, keeps himself, as Riel does, safely out of the conflict, while they allow their followers to engage in the strife. Mr. Blake's more active and bolder lieutenant and deputy leader seems to be that Mr. Edgar, who sits for a seat purchased for him by Mr. Mowat.

Still the Globe is persisting in its dastardly and mendacious attacks upon Mr. H. H. Smith, our former Mayor, and those connected with him. The two reasons for this constant series of slanders are that Mr. Smith belongs to the political party that the people of Canada have entrusted with the administration of their affairs, and that he has proved himself to be a most efficient official, and one most acceptable to the people in the Northwest whom the Globe is inciting to rebel. For these two reasons the leading Reform journal is publishing a tissue of vile falsehoods against Mr. Smith.

A CHEAP PURCHASE.

We think the Reform does scant justice to Mr. Blake's economy in ascribing to him the purchase of a seat for Mr. Edgar. It was Mr. Mowat who obliged Mr. Blake by purchasing a vacancy for his friend, when the Reform leader in the House of Commons found himself without an efficient lieutenant. Neither can Mr. Mowat be said to be personally uneconomical, for he made the purchase, not with his own funds, but by prostituting the patronage which he enjoys as Premier of Ontario. It may be remembered that he rendered the same kind of degrading service to Mr. Blake, himself, when the Reform leader found himself rejected by the electors, and was unable through want of patronage to purchase for himself a vacancy by this cheap means. Of course in these two instances Mr. Mowat showed his contempt for the Reform "principles" that Dominion and Provincial politics should be kept distinct, but consistency is not a Reform virtue.

BLAMING OUR CONSTITUTION.

We are told by Mr. Blake's leading journal that it is not necessary or desirable that Parliament should have the power of regulating the franchise, though the power to do so is given by our constitution. It also states the falsehood that Sir John Macdonald is depriving the Province of a right, though, as is admitted by the Reform leaders, no such right is given by our constitution to the separate Provinces, but to the people of the whole Dominion as a unit. These rebels at heart are continually objecting to our constitution whenever they feel especially lawless, and they would break up the Dominion rather than see its affairs administered by any one but themselves.

As a loss for sound arguments against the Franchise Bill, the Reform journals attack our constitution, to which their own leaders formerly agreed, and the Reform members are reading through the Parliamentary Library to prevent any public business being transacted unless they are allowed to administer the affairs of Canada instead of those who have been entrusted with that duty by the people.

Obstruction.

We do not think the Opposition in Parliament will be thanked by the country for its labors in obstructing legislation. What any members of the Opposition have to say on the subject can be readily said. And what is gained to the country by seeking to extend throughout the night and to the noon the following day? Nothing but expense, the lengthening of the session, the increased cost of business. The vote of no member is changed; the prospect of defeating a measure is not improved. As a rule, party spirit is stimulated, the public's time is wasted, members' personal relations are embittered, and the judgment of the House disturbed. It is to be hoped the spectacle of "talking against time" and consuming nearly twenty-four in a single session, merely for opposition's sake, may not again be witnessed. There is in the popular heart no sympathy with tactics which accomplish no good and serve only to reveal the depths of partisanship.—Montreal Herald (Indep.)

Cost of a London Fog.

To give an idea of the cost of a London fog in gas-lighting alone W. T. Mahie, of the gas light and coke company, writes: "Ninety six million cubic feet of gas were sent out during the 24 hours ending at midnight, January 20. This quantity was an increase on that of the corresponding day in 1884 (which may be taken as an ordinary January day) of 37 per cent, or over 36,000,000 feet. The price being 3s. per thousand feet, the public had to pay this one company 108,000 extra on account of the fog. Nine hundred and fifty thousand tons of coal were consumed during the 24 hours to produce the total 96,000,000 feet required, the largest quantity we have ever sent out in one day.—New York Times.

The inundated districts of Montreal were comparatively clear of water on Wednesday, carts being able to travel once more on most of the streets. The damage in the city and suburbs is estimated to reach a quarter of a million dollars, the loss caused on the south side of the river being placed at a similar sum.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Franchise Bill Again—Innocent Opposition—The Female Franchise—Factional Obstruction—Deliberate Waste of Time and Public Money.

WEDNESDAY, April 29.—The House of Commons sat again in the afternoon, after the 31 hours' session.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in committee on the Franchise Bill, announced that in compliance with the division on Mr. Townshend's motion, the Government would abandon any portion of the bill embodying the principle of female franchise.

Two amendments were made without opposition.

Mr. LANGRISH, on the clause defining the ownership of land in Quebec, moved an amendment in favour of a certain class of lessees.

Mr. GIBBOURD, Sir JOHN MACDONALD, Mr. ARBUTT, Mr. BLAKE, Mr. MILL, Mr. LAURIER, and other legal members discussed the question of law.

Mr. GIBBOURD moved in amendment to the amendment, including as owners those who had the use of property. He thought this was harmless, though not necessary, the description in this bill being taken from the Quebec statute. Both motions were put and negatived.

Mr. LANGRISH moved an amendment to define the position of those voting on the property of their wives in Quebec.

Mr. BLAKE and other legal members of the Opposition supported this amendment, which was put and negatived.

Mr. LANGRISH, on the same clause, moved another amendment, which had a similar fate.

Mr. LAURIER moved another amendment, which was supported by Reform legal members, and was also negatived.

WOMAN'S FRANCHISE.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, on the definition of owners in other Provinces than Quebec, moved to strike out the words, "or her."

Mr. DAVIES wanted a vote taken on this, as the Premier might be able to carry it, when the wishes of the people of Quebec might not be in question.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, repeated that he accepted the previous vote as the decision of the House, and declined to imperil his bill by any trap laid by the Opposition.

Mr. MILL and Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT advocated the female franchise for Ontario. Sir JOHN MACDONALD pointed out the gross inconsistency of the Reformers, who passed as the advocates of Provincial rights, and now wished to enact woman's suffrage for Ontario, which had just deliberately rejected it for its Provincial Legislature.

ORGANIZED OBSTRUCTION.

Messrs. TROW, MILL, DAVIES, PATRICKSON, (Brant), and other Reform members, now renewed the systematic obstruction, speaking against the bill, reading wholesale from works brought from the library, discussing points of order at great length, and so on.

Finally the amendment was put and carried. A similar amendment to the next section was also carried.

Mr. CARR moved an amendment making the definition of ownership the same as in the Ontario Statute, but it was lost.

Mr. WILSON moved an amendment allowing a husband to vote on his wife's property elsewhere than in Quebec.

Mr. EDGAR supported the amendment, which was put and lost.

The section was then passed, and the Committee rose and reported.

THE NOTIFICATION.

Mr. EDGAR enquired if there was any further news from the Northwest.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD replied in the negative.

The House then adjourned at about three o'clock.

CANAL WORK RESUMED.

The snow having disappeared and the weather permitting work on the canal to be resumed, Mr. Macdonald commenced clearing and cleaning the locks last Monday with a small force of men, and on Wednesday the masonry was started, Mr. Ramsey, the Inspector, having arrived on Tuesday evening. It is impossible to put on the full force before the 1st of May, as the ice remaining solid in the lake prevents the bringing of masonry from the quarry at Boboygon.

The freshest also from the Francis street creek has been so great this spring, running into the canal, that the outwork and walls for the proposed mill race cannot be started for some time either. It is the contractor's intention to complete the locks ready to receive the gates and swing bridges as soon as possible, and when the frame is over and the numerous drives of logs have gone through, the upper end of the canal will be opened out, and if the Government have the gates ready, communication can be had between Cambridge and Sturgeon Lakes.

The gates and bridges are not in Mr. Macdonald's contract, but we are informed that they will soon be put under way, which in our opinion is a very important matter, as several parties are anxious to ship wood and supplies through this fall. The Grand Trunk Railway Co. are to build a new bridge over the canal, and we are told, intend building a new bridge of stone and iron alongside of the present one, which is not considered any too strong for the heavy traffic that daily passes over it. The works at Boboygon, as we mentioned last fall, have been completed, but Mr. Goodwin, the contractor, has not yet commenced operations at Lovelock or Burleigh. It is rumored that the Government intend cancelling his contract and letting the work. We hope to see some more made before long towards completing these locks, as no doubt another grant will be given to construct the part between Lakeside and Peterborough. To make navigation good at all times between Cambridge and Boboygon, a new lock will have to be built at Boboygon, and we believe that the engineers in charge have made examinations and reported. There is some talk of a new dam being necessary both here and at Boboygon. It is to be hoped that, while they are at it, everything conducive to the navigation of these waters will be done, and that, too, as soon as possible, as the Pulp Mill Co. have purchased large quantities of wood which can only be delivered by the canal route.—Peterborough Gazette.

FOR WELL PUMPS, ETC.

has received the right for Peterborough and vicinity for the manufacture of this New Filter, and is now preparing to supply first-class pumps with the filter attached or to attach the filter to old pumps.

This Filter has been analyzed by Professors in the School of Practical Sciences, at the City of Toronto, and also by the Professors of Chemistry of Queen's University, at Kingston, as well by the Health Officers and many other medical gentlemen, who all acknowledge this Filter as being the best adapted for purifying well water of any that have ever been brought to their notice.

This Filter is made of plain boards, about 7 x 7 inches square on the inside, and from 3 to 3 feet long. It is filled with pulverized charcoal, coke and iron slag, all of which are sold, by the Public Analysts, to be among the best ingredients for filtering purposes; the two first act chemically, by absorbing the poisonous gases in the water, while the latter act mechanically, by taking hold of the coarser particles of organic matter contained in the water. This Filter is very simple, cheap and is not liable to get out of repair.

This Filter, when attached to or near the bottom of a pump where the water enters, will purify the water from filth and other poisonous matter in wells, thus removing the cause of much sickness and probably premature death.

Resolution passed by the Kingston Board of Health, 29th January, 1885.

The Kingston Board of Health, being convinced by the reports of the Health Officers and of its medical advisors that the water supplied by the majority of wells in the City of Kingston is impure and not wholesome, would recommend as a precautionary measure, and with the view of preventing the visitation of cholera in the spring, that all families using well water filter the water or boil it before using for domestic or drinking purposes.

The Board has examined the model of a filter proposed by Mr. Brookshire to be attached to the stem of a pump at or near the bottom of the pump, where the water enters, in such manner that the water must pass through the several layers of purifying substances before it can enter the pump, the filter being filled with pulverized charcoal and coke and slag of iron, all of which are among the best materials for filtering purposes.

The Board therefore recommends Mr. Brookshire's filter as simple and useful, which will do its work well and possibly likewise the merit of being easily attached and detached, and easily and cheaply renewed after the lapse of a few months shall have made a renewal of the filtering materials in the filter desirable.

E. H. SMYTHE, LL.D., Mayor of Kingston. GEORGE M. GRANT, Principal of Queen's University. And the other members of the Board of Health.

ATTEMPTED BLACKMAIL.

Charging a Man with Murder to Extract Money from Him.

Early in December of last year Mr. Louis E. Dubois, of 133 King street west, received an anonymous letter stating that if he did not give the writer $1,500 he would be publicly charged with the murder of one Besterwick. About 14 years ago a lumberman named Besterwick was murdered at Brentwood, a village in the county of Simcoe, nine miles from Stayner. The man's body was found on the street opposite the hotel of a man named Moore. Besterwick had been killed with a blow from some sharp instrument on the head. Moore was arrested at the instance of an Ontario Government detective, but he was discharged for want of evidence. One man had told his neighbours that he had seen Moore strike Besterwick with an axe, but this witness mysteriously disappeared. Soon after his release Moore also left Brentwood and subsequently in Philadelphia, he is said, of his reason. Mr. Dubois, at the time of the murder, was postmaster of Brentwood. He was somewhat surprised at the receipt of the letter charging him with being a murderer, but treated the whole matter as a joke. Since that time, however, he has received fourteen other communications threatening the charge and threatening exposure. The price of the letters to place any reply he might make in a certain spot under a bridge over which the Simcoe road runs. This letter was taken out almost immediately after being placed in position, but it was done so cleverly and discreetly that the persons on watch did not discover the abductor. A second letter was posted in the same place asking that the party should send an address to where $1,000 could be sent by express or P. O. order. He got an answer, giving the initials "O.D.M., Stayner," as the address to which the money was to be sent. The postmaster had instructions to spot any one calling for a letter bearing that address, but no one called. Shortly after Mr. Dubois received another letter, saying that he (Mr. D.) had tried to fool the writer, but that he had better not try it again. A second direction was given—"O. D. M., Express Office, New Lowell." Mr. Dubois received this note last Friday morning, and started that day for New Lowell. He saw Mr. Mather, the agent of the express company at New Lowell, who is also a justice of the peace, and arranged with him that if anybody called for the package addressed "O.D.M.," he should spot him. A package was made up of waste paper in regular express style by Mr. Mather, addressed and put aside until called for. The blackmailer fell into the trap. A young man, Clarence D. Maxwell, the son of a farmer living near the village of Brentwood, called and asked to see Mr. Mather. "O. D. M.," Mr. Mather was careful to question him as to his right to take out the parcel, got him to pay 75 cents charges on it and secured his receipt. Mr. Dubois was notified and proceeded to New Lowell, where on an information against Maxwell, County Constable Orr executed the warrant and Mr. Maxwell was promptly brought before Mr. Robert Pattee, J.P., of the County of Simcoe, and Mr. Henry Allen, J.P., of Stayner. Mr. Dubois and Mr. Mather related the facts stated above. The prisoner was asked if he had any statement to make, being first warned that anything he might say would be used against him. He answered by taking a letter from his pocket and throwing it on the table, with a remark to the effect that if he did not try to benefit by it. The letter was that which was first put under the bridge by Mr. Dubois. As that did not arrange for the parcel at the New Lowell Express Office, the inference is plain. The magistrates committed him to trial, and he was taken to Barrie goal.

The case is altogether an extraordinary one, and it seems surprising that any man should try to play such a game on a shrewd business man like Mr. Dubois.—Mail.

ELEPHANTS RULED BY FEEL.

A Chat with Armstrong, who has trained the mountaineers of Fiesch.

George Armstrong, the noted elephant trainer, is now managing twenty elephants in Barrow's circus, and to a New York Mail and Express reporter that for twenty years he had done nothing but train and manage elephants. "I rule them all through fear and not affection. They are naturally very affectionate animals at times, but are sure to take advantage of any concessions granted them on that score. If I see a keeper becoming kind to an elephant I discharge him and hire another. The first thing I teach a baby elephant is his name. Then I compel him to come when his name is called. If he is tardy about learning, I punish him severely, and perhaps two or three performances will pass before they get back to their old obedient tricks. I have succeeded in breeding several young elephants in this country, something which was never done before. A time may come when the species may be propagated in America, and the plains of the west are filled with roving herds of elephants. But it will be a very long time, I think.

"In captivity they retain the age of 75 years, and roving wild in their native forests live over 100 years. At 25 years old an elephant is easily trained. The older they get the harder they are to teach and the more intelligent do they become. An elephant trainer's life is one of constant care and uncertainty."

The Force of Habit.

A clerk in a shoe store became tired of the business, and obtained a situation in a hardware store. His first customer, a farmer's wife, came in and called for male shoes.

"Yes, madam," he said; "what else do you want?"

"He is now trying to get back into the shoe line."

TWENTY-FIVE thousand dollars were found sewed in the shirt of a miser who died in a Philadelphia hospital on Tuesday. He had another $25,000 in a bank.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. It proved Liver Complaint, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

THE captain and mate of the British tug, J. Williams, from Wilmington, N. C., have been arrested at North Shields for murdering a seaman named Hugo Linborg.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Hayard's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

REV. DR. WARDROP, of Kingston, has received a letter from Rev. Dr. McKay, announcing the death of his wife, and asking for a contribution to the bereaved family.

A DOUBT FURNISHED.—The popular remedy, Hayard's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally, for aches, pains, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

THE Imperial Government intends making the question of the removal of the Irish Crimes Act the first business of Parliament after the redistribution of seats bill has been disposed of.

RIGHT NOW is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. There is no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, at 50 cents.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to the Toronto fund for sending supplies to the volunteers at the front amounted to $1,599.45 on Thursday. The supplies already received will be forwarded to-day with the Mounted Police recruits.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These requirements give the possessor a pleasant expression, a fair clear skin, and the rosy bloom of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of Hayard's Pectoral Balm, the best throat and lung balm known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

THE Anglican Sisterhood of St. John in Toronto, having offered their services to the Minister of Militia as nurses to the sick and wounded in the Northwest, have been informed that their offer would be accepted with pleasure if more nurses were required.

YOUNG, old and middle aged, all experience the wonderful beneficial effect of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young children suffering from sore eyes, sore ears, and with any scurfiness of scalp, may be made healthy and strong by its use.

THE fund for supplying food and clothing to the Toronto volunteers at the front amounts to $1,233.40. On Tuesday supplies, about sufficient to fill three cars, were received by the Ladies' Committee.

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The County Goal.

There are at present ten prisoners in the goal, one of them being a female. They are all confined either for drunkenness or vagrancy.

Our Volunteers.

Do not forget the meeting of the citizens (ladies included) to be held in the Council Chamber at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to make arrangements for sending supplies to the volunteers in the week.

Every One is Going.

to be in attendance at the roller Carnival in the Lansdowne Park, Charlotte street, on Monday, May 25th. Immense attractions! Gorgeous costumes! Superb music! Go to it! Don't miss it!

Canadian Voyageurs.

A detachment of the Canadian voyageurs, to the number of 81 men, who were engaged in the Nile expedition under Lord Wolseley, have arrived at Portsmouth, England, from Suva, homeward bound.

The Prohibitionists.

The weather prohibitions for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh winds between north-east and north-west, fair weather, not much change in temperature.

Taken to Kingston.

Geolier Nesbitt has returned from Kingston, he having gone there with Wright, who was sentenced to the Penitentiary. On his way back Mr. Nesbitt spent some time in Belleville, and visited the Court House and goal there. He thinks that the Peterborough Court room and goal is ahead of the Hastings one, but in the furnishing of the Grand Jury and other rooms Hastings is ahead.

Girls Coming.

There are six girls arriving by the Polynesian of the 23rd from English training homes in Derbyshire. They are respectable, and coming under the care of the Rev. Mr. Bridger, emigration chaplain. These girls are expected at the Protestant Home about Monday next. Any lady in need of a domestic please apply to the ladies of the Committee of the Protestant Home, under whose auspices these girls are coming.

They've Got the Drum.

The Salvation Army made a greater stir than usual on the streets on Thursday night, as they turned out with a stronger band. Ever since they came here they have put forth efforts to secure a drum, and their efforts have been successful. The band consists of the drum, a flute and a cornetina, the latter musical instrument having been purchased for a member by his fellow employees in a manufacturing establishment. The instrumental music is supplemented by vocal music, and the slightly parade makes quite a stir.

Changed Hands.

Mr. James Little has just completed the sale of his photographic establishment to Messrs. Hamell & Ball, of Millbrook, the latter to take possession on Wednesday, 5th of May. Mr. Little has carried on the photographic business in Peterborough for the last five years with unqualified success, and has in both business and private life made hundreds of warm friends. With his departure Peterborough loses a good citizen and commercial circles a thorough business man. We are pleased to learn that Mr. Little does not intend to leave the country, but to enter into business in the Northwest. No doubt his success will receive a good share of public patronage.

Vital Statistics for April.

As will be seen by the following return the registrations of domestic occurrences made with the Town Clerk during the month of April do not by any means represent the correct number. Why it is that people will not register births is something we cannot understand. It does not cost anything and only takes two or three minutes. If a few of the many delinquents were fined $30 each, it might stir the public up. Perhaps the experiment of bringing defaulters before the Police Magistrate would be worth trying. April's record is as follows:—

Births.....	5
Deaths.....	7
Marriages.....	7

To Bedrymen.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. have received a large supply of "Cheese Cloth" at a price to make it an object to all cheese makers.

Bicycle Club.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club was held in the hardware store of Kingan & Co. last night. It was decided by those present to adjourn the meeting until Tuesday evening next.

In Full Numbers.

The Fire Brigade Band, in full numbers, will be at the Peterborough roller skating rink this evening. Children, don't forget that to-morrow forenoon is your day at the rink. Admission, and skates furnished, only 10 cents. The supper price in the afternoon.

To Housekeepers.

Mr. Bellegem wants to say a word or two to housekeepers. He is now through with his church finishing contracts and is at liberty to pay prompt attention to the wants of the upholstering line of the household of Peterborough, both town and city. Any sofa, chair, or couch, out of repair, will be repaired in the most expeditious manner. He has first-class workmen, and all work of this kind, or any other kind in the furniture business, will receive careful and prompt attention. Everybody knows where Bellegem's furniture emporium is, Hunter street west.

Personal.

On Tuesday evening of this week, we learn from the Harold, Messrs. Jas. Keady and D. D. Galletty, of Peterborough, were present at a banquet in Campbellford, tendered to Mr. R. W. Turner, manager of the Trent Valley Woollen Mills, previous to his departure for Cornwall. Mr. Galletty sang several songs, and Mr. Keady responded to the toasts of "The Manufacturing Interest," and "Our Guests."

Mr. John Miller, an old Collegiate Institute student, and for the past three years a student at Queen's University, is in town for a few days visit. He will depart some time soon on an extended trip through Europe.

Re-opening Services.

The re-opening services at St. Paul's Church will be held on Sabbath next, May 3rd. The Rev. J. D. Macdonnell, B. D., of Toronto, will preach in the morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock. The Rev. P. McF. McLeod will preach in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. On the following Monday evening, a grand organ recital will be given in the church commencing at 8 o'clock. A large body of well trained voices, together with the huge new organ, will be under the direction of Prof. Parker of St. Catharines. In the afternoon a sale of fancy and useful articles will be held in the lecture room of the church and between the hours of 5 and 8 in the evening tea will be served in the school room. Admission to tea and organ recital, 50 cents, children half price. Tickets may be had at Ormrod & Walsh's, Taylor & Macdonnell's, and at the door.

This cheapest boot-store in town is at the Bon Marche. A very choice selection to choose from.

Hope On.

When adversity overtakes man in this life, as it often does in various ways, and he feels that fortune will never smile on him again, it is invariably the case that he gives way to despondency, and sees nothing but discouraging signs wherever he may chance to look. Some, who have stronger will power than others, do not take this view of the case, but, on the other hand, go to work with a fixed determination to surmount difficulties that, in the eyes of the weaker man, seems to be simply impossible. No man can get through this ever-changing life without hardship of some kind, and those who do are few and far between. When misfortune stares you in the face, and things that once were a pleasure to look at become an eyesore, don't grow despondent and fancy that the world will smile on you no more. It is not the proper thing to do, and those who indulge in such foolish fancies (as well as those who do not) should "hope on." It is a long lane that has no turning. Don't give up! Go to McNeil and get a spring suit, and you will feel better in every way. A. McNEIL, Haberdashery Hall.

Parasol.

Mr. A. G. Compigne having decided to return to the land of his nativity, England, for the benefit of his health, previous to his departure the members of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, of which he was Past President, met in their lodge room to bid him farewell. Many kindly allusions were made to Mr. Compigne's character as a friend and brother, and regret expressed at the loss the lodge would sustain at his removal. The following address was presented on behalf of the lodge:—

To Bro. A. G. Compigne, Past President of Lansdowne Lodge No. 2:—

DEAR BROTHER.—We regret to learn that you are about leaving this country and returning to your native land in consequence of failing health.

On your departure from amongst us, we, the brethren of Lansdowne Lodge, desire to convey to you our deep sympathy, also our wishes for your future prosperity. We are aware of the value your services have in the past been to our order in this place, and of the untiring efforts you have always put forth in the welfare of each individual member, particularly from the fact of your being the first President of this lodge, when ever since connected therewith required a special effort. Your genial and kindly spirit will long be remembered amongst us, and when the wide ocean separates us, the memory of our interviews we trust will be ever fresh.

In conclusion, we wish you and your family a safe and pleasant journey, and if circumstances be such as to prevent our meeting again here in the lodge below, we trust we shall meet in the Grand Lodge above, there to be clothed in an eternal regalia, and crowned with an everlasting crown that shall never rust.

Signed on behalf of Lansdowne Lodge,

THOM. GUNN, WM. BRUNDETT, W. President, W. Secretary.

Peterborough, April 27th, 1885.

Mr. Compigne has been a resident of this town for over four years, and has, by his genial and gentlemanly bearing made a large circle of friends, as was evidenced by the gathering that took place at the Grand Trunk depot on Wednesday evening last to bid him bon voyage.

SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1886.

THE OBSTRUCTIONIST LEADER.

MR. BLAKE has laid aside his mask and has revealed himself in his true colors as one of the organized band now obstructing public business. For the first few occasions he kept like Rial in the background, but on Thursday he joined his followers in their task of talking against time to prevent legislation. He effected this by reading at length for the space of an hour the Indian Act. That this was a gratuitous insult to the people of Canada, who send their representatives to Parliament to transact not to obstruct business, may be seen from the fact that if he could succeed in his end of preventing the passage of the Franchise Bill by mere strength of jaw, he would not gain his pretended object of preventing Indians from voting, at all events in Ontario, as the electors in this Province would then be that regulated by Mr. Mowat's Act, which allows Indians to vote. It is well, however, that the people of Canada should know that the leader of the Reform party is fully implicated in this disgraceful plot to insult their representatives and themselves, to obstruct the public business, and to rob them by putting them to heavy expense for the time consumed in the reading of long documents merely for the purpose of rendering any legislation impossible unless it is framed in accordance with the views of the minority instead of the majority.

NOT LIBERTY BUT LICENSE.

The Parliament of Canada is almost the only legislature of importance that has no power to close merely obstructive debate. Nearly every chamber has some such power to prevent itself from being bullied and coerced by a handful of "cranks." In the legislature of the Three Kingdoms no such power was formulated because it was thought that the members might be tempted not to abuse the freedom of debate. In the other country it has, however, been found necessary to take steps for self-protection, and it seems as if Mr. Blake and his disreputable crew were determined to force the Canadian House of Commons to follow this example. The public business must go forward, and if the minority preserve in making this impossible, one of two courses must be adopted. Either the majority must use the power of numbers and organize themselves to resist such obstruction even if they have to sit continuously, or some provision for stopping mere talking against time must be enacted. We would be sorry to see this rendered necessary for the moderation and good sense of the members should be sufficient to limit the freedom of debate, without any other restriction.

It cannot, however, be tolerated that a minority should calmly resolve to punish the country for rejecting them as administrators of its affairs, by refusing to allow those affairs to be transacted.

Some who have not carefully studied the minutiae of recent events in Europe, ask why the Bosphore Egyptian newspaper of Cairo has been suppressed by the Egyptian Government. The cause for this strong step was that the Bosphore Egyptian, like the Globe, expressed sympathy with the rebels in arms against the authorities of the country, and endeavored to incite others to rebellion. But the offence of the Bosphore Egyptian was in one respect less heinous than that of the Globe, for it was not encouraging rebellion against its own Government, and war upon its own countrymen, but was expressing its sympathy for a revolt against a foreign power.

It is well known that Mr. Blake has advocated "minority representation," but it is pushing this idea to an absurdity, when he interprets it to mean that the representatives of the minority shall prohibit any legislation of which they do not approve. This is a new reading of constitutional government.

Kegonsa's Mercantile Marine.

The total mercantile marine under the British flag has a value of some fifty millions sterling. Our vessels go everywhere; even Russia is dependent on the British flag for the conveyance of much of its foreign trade. The figures a few years ago were 134 per cent. under the Russian flag compared with 84 per cent. under foreign flag, showing that were Russia dependent of its own vessels it would do next to no trade at all. The larger the shipping in every country the broader is the surface exposed to attack. Russian cruisers might get their teeth into a quantity of British mercantile shipping before we could do much damage to Russia. One thing, however, is to be kept in mind, and that is the complete interlacing of telegraph wires from port to port, across the world. A telegraph map is a network of submarine lines connecting all countries and almost all ports of any consequence. In former naval wars there was no such network. News of the appearance of the enemy's cruisers could be at once flashed to the requisite port whence help could be got; and there is this advantage in the possession of the fast and mercantile boats, boats, that Russian vessels could damage or destroy very much of it.—London News.

TRAIN ROBBERY.

A bloody struggle on an Express Train—The Messenger Killed.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The Louisville express, on the Louisville and New Albany road, arrived three hours late. Shortly before the train reached Bloomington, Ill., a man having the appearance of a tramp entered the express car from the smoking car, armed with a heavy club. In the express car there were George K. Davis, express messenger, and Peter Webber, baggage-man. He struck Webber on the head, telling him, while Davis ran for his revolver. Before he could reach it the man hit him also, and then taking away the revolver, shot him in the head. He then made Webber open the safe and take out the money. The tramp pulled the bell cord and stopped the train, but first fired at Webber, the bullet striking him in the forehead. Webber succeeded in reaching the smoker and gave the alarm, but the robbers had disappeared. The amount stolen is not known, but exceeds $1,200. Davis and Webber are both alive, but the former cannot recover. Webber says that both doors of the car were open at Harrodsburg, and they were asleep. Just after the train got into motion, Webber was awakened by a violent blow on the head. Staggering to his feet he saw a tall, muscular man struggling with Davis. The messenger was beset with blood, which was gushing from a wound in the head. He had also evidently been struck with a club while asleep. Webber fell to the floor. Davis, managing to loosen his hand, drew his revolver. Before he could fire the man wrenched the weapon from his grasp and, leveling it, pulled the trigger. The ball struck the messenger in the head, and he fell dying to the floor.

ONKERS.

BRADBURY'S HALL.—Work of enlarging this hall has been commenced. When completed it will be one of the best village halls in Ontario.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.—Work of excavating for the foundation of new High and Public School house was commenced this week. The work will be pushed on as expeditiously as possible.

A FEMALE OF NATURE.—On Friday last a grade cow four years old belonging to Mr. D. H. Cornell, of Ope, gave birth to three fine calves. This is the first time that we have had the pleasure of recording such an event.—Herald.

MIDLAND.

CAPTURED BY INDIANS.—Mr. J. Shaw had a letter the other day from his son who belongs to the U. S. Cavalry, and is stationed at one of the forts in Arizona. He and four others who were out searching for horse thieves were captured by Indians. Yellowstone, chief of the tribe, ordered them to be killed next morning, but they were rescued by a number of companions during the night.

SALT WELL.—We have been informed by a gentleman interested that an effort is being made to organize a company to bore for salt in this village. He has been corresponding with Mr. McKee, the great salt well contractor. Our informant contends that we are within the great salt belt. If it is found here it can be produced cheaper than at any point in Canada, as all is fuel would be supplied by the mills.—Free Press.

LINDSAY.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.—We regret to learn that Mr. Wm. Needler, son, on Sunday Morning was taken with a severe stroke of paralysis in his left side. Although the best medical attendance was at once procured and every exertion made to give him relief no improvement in his condition is yet noticeable.

BAD BAKERS.—On Wednesday of last week Chief of Police Bell made an unprovoked inspection of the bread on sale and in delivery made by the local bakers. It is with the greatest possible reluctance that we state that some of the loaves were short weight. Short as much as four ounces; flagrantly and deliberately short. Short with intent, etc., against the statute in that case made and provided. Chief of Police Bell confiscated over one hundred loaves and distributed the food amongst the poor. The local bakers must brace up. This will not do. The poor man's loaf must be full weight. Accidents may occur and the scale get out of plumb a trifle, but this must not happen again.

STOCK NOTES.—One of our enterprising horsemen, Mr. Chas. Bartlett, on Thursday week purchased from Mr. Hiekingbottom of Manilla the fine Canadian draught stallion, "Glencairn" rising 8 year-old, for the sum of $600, and keeping the same only two days resold to Mr. Gertrude of Fowlers Corners for the handsome sum of $725, thereby realizing over a cool "100" on the speculation. In addition to which, Mr. Bartlett entered the animal at the fair on Saturday last and succeeded in capturing the second prize, which in a competition for all ages speaks for itself.—Post.

OTONABEE

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met pursuant to adjournment on Monday, April 20th. All the members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Richard J. H. Short was allowed ten days statute labor for work performed on road in Allendale, and John Conway was allowed three days statute labor for work performed by him. The Treasurer was directed to pay to James Armstrong for keep of Geo. Cayle 96 and also for his own relief 85. To Patrick Murray for coders 96 cts. To John Matchett for coders 96.30. To Rudger Davlin for coders $18.50. To Patrick Tanguay for coders $4.50, also for work on road between 10th and 11th cns. opposite Lot No. 31, $14.

Albert Carpenter was allowed to do his statute labor on road opposite his place this year. James Hall was allowed to do four days' statute labor between 7th and 8th concessions, opposite lot 81. Donald Anderson was allowed to commute his statute labor for two years to repair the crossings opposite his place, and to be allowed coders on Base Line for that purpose. George Eason was authorized to plant trees on both sides of the embankment east of the bridge at Keene, and to have them properly protected. John Fife was allowed to occupy the allowance for road between the west halves of lots 21 and 22 in the fourth concession until required by the Council. The clerk was directed to supply P. Mooney with a pass to Kingston or Toronto, that he may attend one of the hospitals.

A by-law for the appointment of certain Township Officers for the year 1886, and a by-law to authorize Overseers of Highways to seek for, and take timber, gravel, stones and other materials for making and repairing roads, and bridges in the Township of Otonabee, received their final readings and were passed. The Council adjourned until 20th May next.

It is no secret that Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Senna is composed of best genuine French Senna, distilled Extract of Senna, and Jamaica Ginger Root, with Camphor Essence, and constitutes, therefore, the best remedy yet known for biliousness, colic, cholera, cholera morbus, dysentery, or bloody flux, or to break up colds, fevers and inflammatory attacks. 50 cents. MISS ARMSTRONG

Insurance on Volunteers.

The agitation regarding the policies on the lives of our volunteers has induced many persons to read their policies for the first time. Too many of our volunteers have found that their policies are null and void just when they are most needed. It is true that some companies return the small amount paid in premiums in case the assured be killed during the rebellion, but this is a mere trifle. These brave men are risking their lives in defence of our country. They make no profit by going, but are in fact losing, and it is terrible to think that many of them are also forfeiting their life policies, and if killed will leave their wives and children to the cold charities of the world. The policies of probably the majority of companies doing business in Canada become null and void in case of death during rebellion, although many of them, AB AN ACT OF GRAVE, have voluntarily stated they will hold them good. It is at a time like this that the UNCONDITIONAL policies of the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA are appreciated. They cover every risk. It is not a matter of option with the management, for the policy is clear. There is no excuse for accepting a policy with numerous small print conditions when you can get an UNCONDITIONAL ONE in the SUN.

H. A. MULHERN

Takes pleasure in announcing that he has started up the above well-known Flour Mills, and is now in complete running order.

Having at a large expense, put in the FULL ROLLER SYSTEM with the Latest Improvements in use, I respectfully solicit the patronage of all the old customers of this favourite Mill, and all others who may favour me with their trade.

As I have had a lengthened experience in the Milling Business, and with a Mill now so thoroughly equipped as this is, the public may depend upon being supplied with a Quality of Flour Superior to any produced in this District.

FAMILIES, HOUSE-KEEPERS, FARMERS, BAKERS and Consumers generally can have their orders filled with promptness and care. Orders left with Messrs. RUSH & ELLIOTT, W. J. MORROW & Co., and other Grocery Stores, and at G. W. MORGAN'S Drug Store, will be sent to the Mill by Telephone.

FARMERS' GRISTINGS will have special attention. Oatmeal exchanged for Oats. Highest Price paid for Wheat and Oats.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate north-east and north-west winds; fair, cool weather.

Another Carnival.

Another carnival will be held at the Peterborough roller rink in about two weeks. Watch for announcement of special attractions. Free admittance to ladies every day; skates 10 cents. Gentlemen admitted and furnished with skates for 15 cents. Evening rates the same as usual.

The Market.

There was a fairly large attendance at the market this morning. Not a great quantity of meat was offered for sale and the prices remain unchanged. Butter sold at from 18 to 19 cents per pound, and eggs at from 10 to 11 cents per dozen. Maple syrup sold at from $1.25 to $1.40 per gallon; potatoes, at 40 cents per bag; beans, at 50 cents per bag, and parsnips at 75 cents per bag. There was scarcely any fowl offered for sale.

For scarce and desirable goods, such as Cashmere Prints, Madras Muslins, Black Lawns, Barnard Hats, look for them at Turnbull's.

Girls Coming.

There are six girls arriving by the P. & N. of the 23rd inst. English training comes in Derbyshire. They are expected to arrive under the care of Mr. Bridger, immigration chaplain, who is expected to arrive at the Protestant Hotel about Monday next. Any lady in possession of a domestic please apply to the ladies' committee of the Protestant Home under whose auspices these girls are coming.

A Window Smasher.

On Friday night about ten o'clock the crash of breaking glass was heard on George street. It was one of the large panes in the window of the Ten Cent Store that was demolished. One individual, heavily laden with "Walker's best," or "forty rod," leaned up against it for a rest, but, alas! the weight was too much, and through he went. The proprietor came out, remonstrated with him and endeavored to persuade him to pay the damage, but when that idea dawned upon him he suddenly discovered that his coffers were empty. He staggered off after having done injury to property to the extent of two or three dollars.

Look for your boy's cap with platted hair and front at Turnbull's.

A Presentation.

As Mr. Wm. Somerville, who has been for some time in the wearing department of the Auburn Woollen Mills, of this town, for the past five years, is about to take his departure for Gloucestershire, to assume the duties of manager and superintendent of the large woollen mills of that place, on Thursday evening, April 30, he was waited on by the employees of the department over which he has had charge, and presented with a handsome testimonial in the shape of a valuable writing and dressing case, and the following address:—

Mr. Wm. Somerville:—
DEAR AND RESPECTED SIR,—We, the undersigned, on behalf of the employees of the wearing department of the Auburn Woollen Mills, beg to offer you our sincere thanks for the kindness, urbanity and justice with which you have always treated us in your capacity as boss weaver, and to express our sincere congratulations upon your removal to another, and we hope more lucrative position.

We beg your acceptance of the accompanying writing and dressing case as a small token of our esteem and gratitude for your manifold kindnesses to us. With every sentiment of respect to yourself, Mrs. Somerville and Baby Boy, we wish you long life and happiness, and beg to subscribe ourselves,

Wm. KENDRY, Miss McCormack,
Wm. FLEMING, Miss K. Davidson.
Peterborough, April 30, 1885.

Mr. SOMERVILLE replied in a few well chosen words, expressing his regret at parting with his old friends and shopmates, to whom he had so long been warmly attached, and returning their sincere thanks for their handsome testimonial and more particularly for the good wishes expressed to himself and family.

Turnbull's showrooms were never so well filled with pretty hats and bonnets as at present—for Millinery go to Turnbull's.

To Butchers.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. have received a large supply of "Cheese Cloth" at a price to make it an object to all cheese makers.

Personal.

Baron Von Hagel, of Port Hope, was in town on Friday.

Mr. Bruce Philip is the new operator at the telephone exchange.

LADIES' and children's Fine Boots in great variety at the Bon Marche at about half price.

Special Attention.

Is called to the attention of the members of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association.

The Landowner's Better Risk.

The progress of the work at the rink continues with unabated energy. The Grand Carnival to be held on the evening of May 25th will be a great attraction. Handsome prizes will be awarded for various events. Read the large posters, and get ready for the day.

Church Parade.

Companies No. 1 and 3, 57th Battalion, will attend service in St. Paul's Church at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. No. 1 will assemble at the drill shed, Peterborough, and will march to the drill shed, Ashburnham, where the two companies will unite and return to the church. No. 1 company will assemble at 1.45 o'clock, and No. 3 company at 2 o'clock at their respective headquarters.

For neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough.

The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. FOUR & McWHIRTER.

Re-opening Services.

The re-opening services at St. Paul's Church, will be held on Sabbath next, May 3rd. The Rev. J. J. Macdonnell, B. D., of Toronto, will preach in the morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock. The Rev. J. McF. McLeod will preach in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. On the following Monday evening, a grand organ recital will be given in the church commencing at 8 o'clock. A large body of well trained voices, together with the huge new organ, will be under the direction of Prof. Parker of St. Catharines. In the afternoon a sale of fancy and useful articles will be held in the lecture room of the church and between the hours of 6 and 8 in the evening the will be served in the school room. Admission free, and organ recital, 50 cents, children half price. Tickets may be had at Ormrod & Walsh, Taylor & Macdonald's, and at the door.

The cheapest boot-store in town is at the Bon Marche.

A very choice selection to choose from.

Bakeshop Burned.

At a few minutes to nine o'clock this morning the bakeshop of Mr. Patrick McCabe, Rink street, took fire. The alarm was sounded, but the building, which was a frame one, was burned before the arrival of the fire engine, only a few minutes having elapsed from the commencement of the fire until it was beyond hope of being saved. Mr. McCabe's house, which was close to the burning bakeshop, was in danger for some time, but by dint of the vigorous application of water on the roof and ledges, the catching of fire was prevented. It is supposed that the fire originated at the furnace door by coals having fallen out and ignited some combustible material. The loss will be about $150 in all. There is an insurance in the National Insurance Co. of $300 on the building and $35 on the machinery.

Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association.

PROGRESS UNPARALLELED.

Figures and facts relating to the annual report of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, which speak for themselves, and which refute the numerous falsehoods circulated by its less successful competitors: Total business in force, December 31st, 1884, $85,423,000.00; total new business issued in 1884, $38,795,750.00; increase of insurance in force during year 1884, $22,432,500.00; increase of income during year 1884, $309,912.31; increase in invested assets during year 1884, $180,828.81; increase in reserve fund during year 1884, $155,877.45; increase in mortality receipts during year 1884, $258,454.90; losses paid during year 1884, $479,900.00; amount saved to members by reduction of payments, as compared with level premium rates for 1884, $1,500,000.00; new business issued during first three months of 1885, over $15,000,000.00. The new business obtained by the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association in 1884, exceeds the amount obtained by three fourths of all the New York Level Premium Companies combined, and its expenses for each $1,000 of insurance in force only one-third as much. Only 17 Mortuary Assessments have been made by the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association for the entire period of four years, to wit: for the years 1881, 1882, 1883 and 1884. The average annual mortality cost, in addition to the annual dues of $2 on each $1,000 of insurance, as compared with the annual rates charged on the ordinary life plan by the Level Premium Life Companies, is as follows: Comparison of the Average Annual Assessments for four years, 1881, 1882, 1883 and 1884, on each $1,000, and old-line rates per year on each $1,000:—

Age.	Average Annual Assessments.	Old-line Rates per year.
25	$4.25	$19.80
30	5.27	20.28
35	6.12	21.30
40	8.50	27.18

Purify Your Well Water

AND AVOID DISEASE BY USING BROKENSHIRE'S SCIENTIFIC

PATENT FILTER

FOR WELL PUMPS, ETC.

W. FORSYTH

Has received the right for Peterborough and vicinity for the manufacture of this New Filter, and is now preparing to supply first-class pumps with the filter attached or to attach the filter to old pumps. This Filter has been analyzed by Professors in the School of Practical Sciences, of the City of Toronto, and also by the Professors of Chemistry at Queen's University, at Kingston, as well by the Health Officers and many other medical gentlemen, who all acknowledge this filter to be the best adapted for purifying well water of any that have ever been brought to their notice. This Filter is made of plain boards, about 7 x 7 (inches square on the inside, and from 2 to 3 feet long. It is filled with pulverized charcoal, coke and iron slag, all of which are sold by the Public Analyst, to be among the best ingredients for filtering purposes; the two first act chemically, by absorbing the poisonous gases in the water, while the latter act mechanically, by holding back the coarser particles of organic matter contained in the water. This Filter is very simple, cheap and is not liable to get out of repair. This Filter, when attached at or near the bottom of a pump where the water enters, will purify the water from fifth and other poisonous matter in wells, thus removing the cause of much sickness and probably premature death.

Resolution passed by the Kingston Board of Health,

20th January, 1885.

The Kingston Board of Health, being convinced by the reports of the Health Officers and of its medical advisers, that the water supplied by the majority of wells in the City of Kingston is impure and not wholesome, would recommend as a precautionary measure, and with the view of preventing the violation of cholera in the spring, that all families using well water filter the water or boil it before using for domestic or drinking purposes.

The Board has examined the model of a filter proposed by Mr. Brokenshire to be attached to the stem of a pump at or near the bottom of the pump, where the water enters, in such manner that the water must pass through the several layers of purifying substances before it enters the pump, the filter being filled with pulverized charcoal and coke and slag of iron, all of which are among the best materials for filtering purposes.

The Board therefore recommends Mr. Brokenshire's filter as simple and useful, which will do its work well and possessing likewise the merit of being easily attached and detached, and easily and cheaply replaced after the lapse of a few months shall have made a removal of the filtering materials in the filter-box desirable.

W. H. SMYTHE, L.L.D., GEORGE M. GRANT, Mayor of Kingston. Principal, Queen's University. And the other members of the Board of Health.

All orders left at my Pump Factory on Dickson's Race or with my agent who canvases the town will receive prompt attention.

W. FORSYTH, Pump Maker, Dickson's Race, Peterborough.

ALMOST FIRST HANDS!

We buy for every use, of every sort of people.

Whoever buys largely buys well—as we have the trade to take the goods.

We buy to sell again—buy with business foresight.

It is scarcely necessary to say we buy with advantage, whatever we sell.

It is in the business of buying and selling we find our title to confidence.

THE RESULT.

There is one place where everything is sold—Dry Goods—at the same prices for little or much.

CENTRAL HOTEL, in the Town of Peterborough, the following Valuable Property:

Parcel No. 1.
Known as the Kemp Property on Brock street, and being composed of Lot No. 5, south of Brock Street and west of George Street.

There is a good comfortable dwelling house on this property at present rented for $150.00 per annum and taxes. Situated on the corner of the street, possesses one of the most eligible building sites for a terrace or church property.

Parcel No. 2.
Lot 5 west of George and south of Sherbrooke streets, 1 acre and includes the creek. There are three tenement houses on this parcel, rented for $80 each per month. Rear of Lot not used in connection with houses, a good site for a livery stable. Running water at hand.

Parcel No. 3.
Known as part of the Glen Property, situated on the gravel road, about one mile from the centre of the town, contains about 60 acres more or less. On this is a good orchard bearing and growing, grove of pine trees and scattered oaks and maple. One of the nicest sites near the town for a suburban residence.
All above properties will be offered subject to

MURDER NEAR LINDSAY

JAMES FANNING SHOT AND KILLED BY A. M. POGUE, HIS FATHER-IN-LAW.

The Bullet Took Effect in the Leg—The Unfortunate Man Dies in the Road—Froggie in Arrested—Very Cautious Neighbors.

By Telegram to the Review.

LINDSAY, May 4.—Some excitement was occasioned here on Sunday morning by the reported murder of a resident of the township of Ope, named James Fanning, who lived near Jankville, about eight miles from Lindsay.
Dr. Poole, Coroner, and Chief of Police Ball drove out the locality during the morning and found that the report was correct. On the roadside lay the body of James Fanning, who had staggered from the house where he was shot, and falling on the roadside had died from loss of blood. The facts surrounding the case are in brief as follows:—Fanning had married as his second wife a daughter of Mr. A. M. Pogue, of Ope.

REPORTS HAVE BEEN CURRENT
for some time that Fanning ill-treated his wife, and finally she left him and went to live at her father's house. Fanning went to see her several times and tried to induce her to return and live with him. Several disturbances ensued and much hard feeling was generated, and finally Pogue warned Fanning to keep off the premises or HE WOULD SHOOT HIM.

On Saturday Fanning was in town and was noticed to be the worse for liquor. About dark, on Saturday, he went to Pogue's house and demanded to see his wife and was warned off by Pogue. Hot words ensued and Pogue threatened Fanning with his gun. A scuffle ensued, according to Pogue's story, during which the gun was discharged, the charge tearing the flesh and sinews from the side of Fanning's right leg, from the knee up to the thigh. The unfortunate man made his way out to the road where he died. Neighbors a short distance off heard the shot and cries of "MURDER."

but fearing that they would be mixed up in the affair did not go to his assistance. Pogue admitted his act in shooting and was brought to Lindsay, taken before the magistrate and REMAINED TO JAIL.

The county attorney decided that an inquest should be held and the necessary steps were taken to hold an inquest on Monday.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

ENGLAND AND AUSTRIA.
LONDON, May 2.—The Government has been in communication with Austria respecting the policy of the latter in the event of war between Russia and England.

OMINOUS.
LIVERPOOL, May 2.—The captains of several Russian vessels here have received orders to leave port without waiting for loads.

MOVEMENTS OF VESSELS.
LONDON, May 2.—The steamer reported as passing Balaclava, and supposed to have been the Abyssinia, proves to have been the steamer Oranienburg. It is now believed the Abyssinia is proceeding direct to Liverpool. When last seen she was making about five knots per hour under steam and canvas. The Abyssinia has been chartered by the Government as a cruiser.
On her arrival in port her cargo and passengers will be transferred to another steamer for New York, and she will be turned over to the military authorities.

TRANSPORT ARRANGEMENTS.
LONDON, May 2.—The Admiralty's arrange-ment's provide for the immediate despatch of 15,000 troops to India, if needed. The Government have ordered the governors of naval stations on the Mediterranean to send reports of what stores are needed and they will be immediately supplied. The Government decided to attempt to retard the manufacture of steel. Manufacturers declare the demands unreasonable.

LOYAL SHIP OWNERS.
LONDON, May 2.—Ship owners in the North of England are united in refusing to allow offers to charter.

FOR PROTECTION.
LONDON, May 2.—The official announcement is made that it will probably be considered necessary to prohibit all vessels from entering Port Phillip, Port of Melbourne, between sun-set and sunrise.

AGREES TO ARBITRATION.
LONDON, May 2.—Earl Granville stated this evening before the cabinet council that from its latest advice the Government had every reason to believe that a peaceful settlement would be reached with Russia. The session of the cabinet lasted over an hour. It is now known that the special cabinet council held this afternoon was called to consider a despatch just received from Sir Edward Thornton, British minister of St.
Petersburg, in which he informed the government that Russia had accepted, in principle, the English proposal to submit for arbitration the question of responsibility for violation of the agreement of March 17.

ANGRY AFGHANS.
LONDON, May 1.—A Tirpail despatch says the Afghans are enraged against the British and accuse Sir Peter Lumsden of deserting them as the Russians did in 1878. The Afghan members of the frontier commission in the protest says it is shameful for the British to encourage the Afghans to resist the Russians at Peshawar and afterwards abstain from rendering them assistance.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.
TIFLIS, May 2.—It is stated that the Russians have occupied Kilisnagar on the Kuskur river and are making a road to Mervanah.

Turnbull's showrooms were never so well filled with pretty hats and bonnets

bull's.

Volunteers and Committees.
We have been supplied with the following suggestions of what is required by our volunteers now serving in the Northwest:— Boots—sent by friends, who know that they will fit. As they have no wives or sweethearts out there to do their darning, they require a large supply of socks, and should have 6 pair each.
Underclothing—not too heavy, as the weather is getting warmer. Handkerchiefs, towels and soap.
Moccasin hats. As the latter are very porch-able and apt to be torn, they should have 3 or 4 each.
Needles, pins, thread, buttons, &c., or preferably, housewives containing these articles.
Food, beef, fish, prunes.
Canned milk, canned vegetables (except beans), canned fruits, meals (except corned beef), military soap and preserves, which are supplied by Government.
Lime juice.—It would be better to have this supplied in kegs if possible, as bottles are apt to break.
Chocolate and sweet meats and kisses, and other treats.
Glycerine.
Post cards and writing material.
Packages should be tied up in strong paper parcels, and when packages are intended for relatives or friends, mark name in full and company, and when intended for the general good of the Company, address to the Company.
Contributions in money, which will be required to pay expenses of forwarding these contributions to the Northwest, and with which to purchase articles which may not be contributed, may be sent to the Secretary and Treasurer of the Ladies' Committee, whose name will be published to-morrow.
As it will take some time before these contributions reach the volunteers, and they may be subject to rough handling, no articles should be sent which are likely to break and injure other articles.

Mounted Police Recruits.
One hundred and ten recruits for the Northwest Mounted Police left Toronto for Winnipeg on Thursday via Chicago. They were joined en route by ninety men from London, or a total of two hundred constables enlisted within ten days.

A Popular Author.
Mr. Fred Fergus (Hugh Conway) author of "Called Back," "Dark Days," etc., is laid up with typhoid fever at Cannes, South of France.
What makes it more more distressing is his uncle and adopted father is just dead at Clifton, England.

The large display of Hats, Bonnets, Plumes, Artificial, Ribbons, Parasols, Sunshades, etc., in FAIR, VANEVRY & Co's establishment excites the admiration of every beholder, and are selling rapidly.

Reported Brutality of the Indians at Frog Lake—Big Bears Red Hand—
A Priest Killed.

Winnipeg, Man., May 2.—One hundred and seventy recruits of the mounted police in charge of Sgt. Moodie arrived this evening at 10 o'clock, having left Toronto at noon on Thursday. They leave in the morning for Regina, where they will be housed and equipped.

THE NORTHCOOTE Afloat.
A despatch has just been received from the west announcing that a steamer of the name Northcoote has been enabled to leave the Northcoote to move off the sand bar and she is expected to reach Clark's Crossing by noon to-morrow with the Midland battalion, Gatling gun and hospital supplies to join General Middleton.

THE BODY GUARD.
The Governor-General's Body Guard, Toronto, are also expected to reach Clark's Crossing to-morrow night.

A REPORTED THREAT.
Riel has issued a proclamation to the half breeds who refuse to come into camp to do so at once, or he will murder them.

WITNES DOWNS.
The wires are down again between Fort Qu'
Appelle and the Touchwood hills.

THE FROG LAKE MASSACRE.
BATTLEFORD, May 2.—Big Bear has now a large camp near Sounding Lake. A man who passed it says that they have hundreds of cattle corralled near by, and are busy with war dances and general rejoicing. Father Laframboise's description of the Frog Lake tragedy, in the Quinn and Delaney were invited to a party, but shot before a word was spoken. The priest went to say prayers over the two men, as they were not dead, when he was shot, and his assistant who went to his rescue was also killed.
The others fled to the priest's house, but were put to death and Mrs. Delaney made a prisoner.
The bodies were carried into the house, where coal oil was poured upon them, and everything was burnt.

RELIEF OF EDMONTON.
EDMONTON, May 3.—Gen. Strange with the advance guard has arrived. The people gave him a most enthusiastic welcome. The infantry (56th and 9th) will arrive Fort Saskatchewan and Edmonton, while a large number of mounted men will make forced marches to Saskatoon, along both banks of the Saskatchewan. Gen.
Strange expects to have this force moving by Monday next.

A PRIEST KILLED.
WINNIPEG, May 2.—Yesterday afternoon
Archbishop Tache received a brief telegram from Father Ouellet of Calgary, stating that Father Tournand has been accidentally killed by halfbreeds and also that news of the massacre of priests at Frog Lake had been confirmed.

SCOUTING FOR REBELS.
WINNIPEG, May 2.—A courier arrived at Humboldt to-day with a despatch from Gen.
Middleton dated Fish Creek, May 1. Middleton says he has counted for and been unable to find any signs of the enemy. All the houses up along the Saskatchewan are vacant. It is believed the occupants have been forced to join Riel. Every one is in excellent spirits and anxious to advance.

WINNIPEG, May 3.—Gloom was cast over the city by the announcement of the death of Col.
Kennedy of the 90th battalion rifles now en service with Gen. Middleton. He expected to join his regiment in the Northwest about May 20. Col. Kennedy was the first Major in Winnipeg. He leaves a widow and large family to mourn his sad demise. He had two sons at the front in the 90th battalion, one in the field battery and another is attached to the Kingston military school. The eldest is not yet 21 years of age.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1885.

The Globe and the other rebels have a new Northwest grievance. According to its statement, very likely incorrect, an Indian was shot while in the act of stealing horses. In the opinion of the Globe and its friends it is very wrong to shoot a thieving Indian, and also very wrong to grant a vote to an industrious Indian.

In pursuance of its policy to give all possible instruction to its allies, the rebels, the Globe has again given a long list of killed and wounded, wilfully exaggerating its dimensions by including the names of some who are known to have been falsely included among the sufferers, and others who met with accidents which might as easily have happened to them in a time of profound peace. It is perhaps natural for the half breed organ to gloat over the sufferings of loyal Canadians, but it might keep to the truth instead of making out a bogus list.

The imaginative correspondent of the Globe at Ottawa says that thousands of the volunteers now fighting our battles are to be disfranchised, while votes are to be given to the savage Indians. Of course this is a falsehood, but if it were true it would altogether contradict the charge that Sir John Macdonald is seeking a political advantage in the Dominion Franchise Bill. Why should he disfranchise a body of men nine-tenths of whom are Conservatives, and give votes to the allies of the Reformers, as the venacious critic suggests.

Mr. Mills has especially distinguished himself by his illiberal and ignorant attacks upon the whole Indian race, whom he denounces with scurrilous abuse and declares unfit to be citizens. There are many Indians superior to Mr. Mills in every respect, and far more intelligent. They would scorn to disgrace themselves in a solemn council by such childishly obstructive conduct as that of which he and his fellow conspirators are now guilty. Mr. Mills in fact is not altogether ignorant of these facts, for he referred to the case of Mr. Sol. White, M.P., as belonging to the Wyandottas. There are other familiar examples.

A METHODIST clergyman was reported to have made remarks which were not complimentary to the management of Indian affairs in the Northwest, and the Reform press copied the report and praised the rev. gentleman. Another Methodist minister, the Rev. Dr. Fotts, was reported to have made remarks which were not complimentary to the course the Reform press has pursued regarding this unhappy affair, and clergyman were then discovered, by the same press, not to be unbiased or impartial critics. The Ottawa Free Press makes a fierce attack on Dr. Fotts, charging him with having "sent his powerful name to a society in which the sacred names of religion and temperance were prostituted." &c. So long as clergyman say things which the Reform journals can by any means use to their own advantage, they believe that it is eminently proper for clergyman to take part in political discussions; but when a remark is dropped that tells against them, they adopt their usual tactics of assailing the character of the speaker.

ANYTHING TO OBSTRUCT.
 As another proof of the deliberately obstructive policy of Mr. Blake and his followers, the Opposition, after condemning the enfranchisement of the Indians, and talking for many hours against time to prevent it, formally proposed to the Government to allow a vote to be taken, that is to permit the clause to be carried, if there was then an immediate adjournment. That is, they were willing to assent to a policy that they denounce as "iniquitous," if thereby they could facilitate the continuance of their organized obstruction. If they were to be allowed an adjournment after each motion when they had talked against it for a whole day, it is obvious that the Franchise Bill could not be carried this side of Christmas.

REVIEW.
 HARPER'S MONTHLY.—The current number of Harper has for its front-page an engraving of a graceful drawing by Howard Pyle entitled "Eating Blonoma." In "Espanola and Its Environs," Beryl Harrison, both by pen and pencil, introduces us to New Mexico, with its traces of old Mexico. The second part of "A Wild Goose Chase" shows how three artists found their search for picturesque costumes in northern Denmark quite vain through the influence of the railway and the sewing machine. B. K. Martin, in describing the route "Through London by Canal," will correct the ideas of those only superficially informed, that the railway has superseded inland navigation in the old civilized countries. A celebrated dispute as to title is amusingly described by J. W. Gerard in "Annette Jane Bogardus and Her Farm." The paper on "Jenny Castle in America," by H. Comstock, will be read with much interest by many. In "A Witch Hazel Copse," W. H. Gibson combines much curious lore, with a loving eye for the beauties of nature. The serial stories, "East Angel," and "At the Red Glove," both progress with increasing interest. Several shorter tales and some poetry of merit, with the ever-welcome editorial miscellany, complete an excellent number.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE OBSTRUCTIONISTS AT WORK WITH MR. BLAKE AT THEIR HEAD.

Another Protracted Session.—Railway Contractors' Charges.—Mr. Blake's Friends Would Disfranchise Good Indians.

THURSDAY, APRIL 30.—The House met again at 3 o'clock.

CHARGES BY CONTRACTORS.
 Mr. Poir, in reply to Mr. Reid, said he had complaints of excessive freight charges by the contractors for the C.P.R. between Port Moody and Sevan's ferry. The Government had no control in the matter, not obtaining possession of the line until the contract till July. When the line was handed over, the Government would see that there were no excessive charges.

MR. BLAKE'S STRING OF QUESTIONS AS TO HALF BREED CLAIMS. Reports as to the Northwest movements and armings of the Mounted Police and volunteers, &c.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD severely declined to answer these questions, on the ground that it was inexpedient in the public interest to do so. Mr. BLAKE made further enquiries as to the organization of Northwest corps, their drilling, arming and disarming, &c.

Mr. CARON returned a similar answer.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD moved the House into Committee on the Franchise Bill. Messrs. CAMERON (Huron), FLEMING, LANGRISH, McMILLAN, CARR, CARTWRIGHT, LANDREKIN, MULOCK, EDGAR, MILLA and others. Reform members moved a supported number of frivolous amendments to the interpretation clause, and made long speeches to waste time. Sir JOHN MACDONALD several times exposed their inconsistency and factiousness, showing that the definitions to which they were objecting were the same as those in the recent Ontario Act.

Messrs. EDGAR, MILLA and other Reform members showed the hypocrisy of their pretended deference to Provincial rights by declining to accept the precedent of the Ontario Legislature.

The amendments were all negatived.

MR. MILLS opposed the use of the word "Indian" in the interpretation clause, and spoke at great length against giving Indians votes. He made a scurrilous charge against the Government of being in sympathy with murderers, and was called to order.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD again showed that the bill followed the policy of the Ontario Legislature, and justified the position of the Government.

Mr. DAWSON condemned Mr. Mills for his illiberality, citing cases of Indians who were intelligent citizens and tax-payers. He specified one who had a store and stock worth $10,000, and another who sent his six children abroad for their education. He could not see the justice of refusing votes to such men.

LEADING THE OBSTRUCTIONISTS.
 Mr. BLAKE joined in the plot of talking against time, and read at great length the Indian Act. He declined to be held to approve of Ontario Legislation, and repudiated Mr. Mowat as an example.

Other members of the Reform party continued their obstruction, and made long speeches to render impossible the transaction of public business. This was carried on for long, weary hours by the Parliamentary allies of the rebels. The Conservatives took no part in this disgraceful waste of time and of the people's money, only interfering to the extent of calling to order any Reform speaker who strayed unusually far from the point.

Mr. DAVEN early on Friday morning, on behalf of the Opposition, offered to allow a vote to be taken on the Indian question, if the Government would then allow an immediate adjournment.

Mr. BOWELL, on the part of the Government, refused to assent to such an arrangement, which was only a part of the deliberate plan of obstruction.

On Friday afternoon a long debate ensued on the Chairman of the Committee pronouncing Mr. Tasse out of order for discussing the Northwest question instead of the motion, and the Speaker resuming the chair, the House by a vote sustained this ruling.

The session lasted till about midnight on Saturday.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD then assented to the committee rising, as it was near Sunday morning. He condemned the deliberate obstruction of the Opposition, as they had offered to cease discussion and pass the clause 24 hours previously, on conditions which could not be entertained. They had also boasted that they would wear him (Sir John) out.

Mr. BLAKE provided that the readings of himself and his followers were "discontinued," and wanted more time for this child's play. The House adjourned after a sitting of 57 hours.

The Royal Gun Factories.
 The Royal gun factories consist of forges, smith's shop, rolling mills, pattern shop, brass and iron foundry, gun boring mill, tool rooms, turneries, lighting room, field gun section, engine repairing shop, with other branches. In these various departments are at work some 600 machinists, lathers, and boring machines, drilling machines, other machines for rifling, planing, slotting, shaping, milling, screwing, lapping, and wheel cutting. Twenty valuing machines record and regulate the production; two circular saws are at work, 340 vices are waiting to grip anything they can get hold of. Then 54 furnaces continually do blow, with the aid of six blowing fans, while there is engine power to the extent of 700 horses, and boiler power to a much greater extent. And the factories can produce 5,000 tons of guns, from the light musket to the heaviest to be carried on the back of a mule to the latest Woolwich infant of 80 tons or more. At the head of the factories are two or more artillery officers, while the general staff consists of 24 clerks, draughtsmen, and timekeepers. 24 foremen, 200 artificers, and 571 labourers and boys; while as for the annual cost, the guns take in round numbers a quarter of a million from the annual estimates. —All the Year Round.

To the Ladies.
 McGregor & Parker's Carbolic Cerate will cure any case of pimples on the face or rough skin on either hand or foot, and leave them soft as silk. It will also cure any sore when all other preparations fail. Thousands have tested it. Ask your druggist for McGregor & Parker's Carbolic Cerate, and do not be persuaded to take anything else claiming to be as good. It is but 25 cents per box, at John McKee's Drug Store.

A Card.
 To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

Advice to Mothers.
 Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and restlessness? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, soothes the throat and eases the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN
Hair Renewer.

Seldom does a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The cause in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old people like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruff away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glossy lustre, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Correction.
Owing to a typographical error the loss resulting from the fire at Mr. F. McCabe's bakery read $150 instead of $450.

The Organ Recital.
By special request, Mrs. Chambers has very kindly consented to sing at the organ recital at St. Paul's Church to-night.

Personal.
The Rev. W. Christie, M. A., is in town in the interests of the Presbyterian Review, which has had much success as a periodical published by a company representing that church.

Roller Rink.
Watch for the announcement of day and date for the carnival at the Peterborough roller rink. Band at the rink this evening. The lady who lost a gold locket at the rink on Friday, may get it by applying to the manager.

New Stocking Mantle Cloths at Turnbull's.
If you want a Mantle to fit the figure like a glove leave your order for one off this cloth.

One of the Force.
Mr. Charles McIntosh, is now a full fledged member of the police force of the town of Peterborough. He donned his handsome new regimentals on Saturday, and presented in them quite a creditable appearance.

John A. Gough.
Mr. John A. Gough will lecture in the George Street Methodist Church on May 18th, on "Peculiar People." Admission 50 cents. Reserved seats, without extra charge, at Mr. W. J. Mason's. Secure seats at once.

Another Message.
Private W. B. Browne, with the Midland Battalion, in again writing home says the boys are well and in good spirits. At the time of writing they were stationed at Swift Current, and did not know the hour that they might be ordered to proceed to the front.

The Answer is Always "Yes!"
If one takes the trouble to inquire among the young people of the town whether they intend to go to the carnival in the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday, May 25th, the answer is always "Yes!" They "would not miss it for a good deal."

The Post Office Robbery.
A despatch from Buffalo says that A. J. Raynor, a stationer in that city, has been arrested for receiving stolen goods, a portion of the goods being stamps stolen from the post office here last year. John Donohue, a well known cook of Fort Erie, has also been arrested in connection with the same robbery.

Look for your boy's suite with plaid hose and front at Turnbull's.

Temperance Address.
At the regular meeting of the St. Luke's Temperance Society, on Tuesday (to-morrow) evening, the Rev. S. Weston-Jones will deliver an address on Temperance. The general public are cordially invited to attend. The meeting will be held in St. Luke's School Room, Ashburnham, and will commence at 7.30 p.m.

Shot in the Leg.
Now that there is so much military activity in the country it is no wonder that the spirit of the day is reflected in the rising generation. It is now the very highest ambition of the average boy to possess himself with an old shot gun or any kind of fire arms whatever, but when these are not available he manufactures rude warlike implements out of rail fences, etc. But before being too demonstrative the boy should first learn how to carry such dangerous weapons, as indicated by the accident that befell a lad named James Baker. On Sunday he was flourishing a revolver when it suddenly went off and the bullet entered his leg, above the knee. It was found to be impossible to remove it and as yet it is buried in the knee joint.

SUPPLIES FOR OUR MEN

IN THE WAY OF LITTLE LUXURIES TO BE SENT FROM PETERBOROUGH.

A Meeting in the Council Chamber to Consider Ways and Means for Providing Those Who Left Here for Service in the Northwest with Campaign Necessaries.

On Saturday afternoon a public meeting was held in the Council Chamber for considering the ways and means for providing the volunteers who left Peterborough for service in the Northwest with various little articles to make them more comfortable during the campaign.

There were present: The Rev. V. Clementi, the Rev. Alex. Bell, Capt. Edwards, Capt. R. B. Rogers, Lieut.-Col. Jas. Rogers, John Green, John Carnegie, M. P. P. Dr. Bell, Dr. O'Sullivan, Mrs. E. B. Edwards, Mrs. Dr. Kincaid, Mrs. D. W. Dumble, Mrs. Mackerras, Mrs. W. J. Green, Miss Walsh, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. Barles, Mrs. H. C. Clementi, and others.

The Rev. V. CLEMENTI, by request, occupied the chair. He explained that it was not his intention to have been simply a listener, and to have given his support to the promotion of the object they had met to accomplish. The first thing to be done was to appoint a Secretary. It was a special satisfaction to see so many ladies out on duty, thus showing that they took an active interest in the matter before the meeting. But the ladies always did come to the front on such occasions. Not only in Toronto were the ladies the first to move in this matter, but here in Peterborough the ladies were first to come forward to do what they could to make the time spent by the volunteers in the Northwest as comfortable as possible.

It was a great satisfaction to see how all sprang heartily to the task, when called to arms, in the performance of their duties; in fact, the only dissatisfaction expressed was by those every day of the wide Dominion there had been a ready response, and our men had done their duty, as they had always done their duty.

Their most arduous task was, no doubt, in attending with the features of the country, but the greater part of the campaign had been so far spent in toilsome marches, and although not himself a soldier, he would venture to say that it was a relief to the men when they met the cheerful face of a woman. There could be no doubt as to the value of the contest—it will be such as has always been attendant upon the British arms all over the world, for wherever the British soldiers go, whether to the Sudan, or to the seat of the prospective war in Asia, they go cheerfully, with a full sense of their duty, and victory always crowns our banners. The result of this contest will be the same. Not only do our volunteers do their duty in taking care of Canada, but a body of them offered their services for the Sudan war, and when asked if their former offer for service still held good, and if they were willing to go on active duty in India, the answer was the same as it has been, and always will be in such cases, "We are always ready!"

He referred to the generous action of the Post-office Department in forwarding, free of charge, all mail matter sent by the volunteers in the Northwest, and that of the railways in the speedy forwarding of supplies that had been sent. The Government had also provided every facility for the reaching of their destination of the railway to convey these supplies to those to whom they were addressed.

On motion Capt. Edwards was appointed Secretary pro tem.
Lieut.-Col. ROGERS rose to explain the reason why this meeting had been called. The provisional battalion, known as the Midland Battalion, was drawn from eight battalions, and the company that left Peterborough, from eight companies. Twenty-one men were taken from the village of Norwood, Hastings and Keene, seven from each village. Several people from these places had been writing to him as to the forwarding of different articles to be deemed necessary for the other battalions had also communicated with him on the matter, so it was decided to have a meeting held in each place and to send the supplies all together.

The Rev. Alex. Bell asked Lieut.-Col. Rogers what kind of supplies the men required? Lieut.-Col. ROGERS was of opinion that they needed socks and underclothing more than anything, but it would be well to send them any little luxuries, in the shape of food, drink, tobacco, etc.

Major Bell moved, seconded by Captain ROGERS,—"That in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable that the action should be taken by the citizens of Peterborough towards furnishing and forwarding such necessary supplies as may be obtainable for the comfort and relief of the Company from the 57th Battalion, which left here, now serving in the Northwest—Canada."

Mrs. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mrs. BARLES,—"That the following ladies be a committee to consider the ways and means for collecting such supplies as may be deemed necessary:—Mrs. R. P. Boscher, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. G. Barles, Mrs. H. C. Clementi, Mrs. Wellor, Mrs. Halliday, Mrs. Pigeon, Mrs. Headshaw, Mrs. J. Bernham, Mrs. H. C. Clementi, Mrs. Hamilton (Hon. Robt.), Mrs. M. Clementi, Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, Mrs. Browncombe, Mrs. W. J. Green, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mrs. E. Phelan, Mrs. J. O'Sullivan, Mrs. O'Connell, Mrs. J. Hackett, Mrs. Robert Nicholls, Mrs. R. W. Bell, Mrs. John Carnegie, Mrs. J. McClelland, Mrs. J. Stratton, Mrs. Gilmour, Mrs. J. McKee, Mrs. Walton, Mrs. Hilliard, Mrs. Dumble, Mrs. Fife, Mrs. R. Kincaid, Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. E. B. Edwards, Mrs. Inks, Mrs. Hallitt, Mrs. Mackerras, Mrs. J. F. Desautels, Mrs. A. Smith and Mrs. Fairbairn.

The officers of the Battalion were constituted an advisory committee, so that the ladies might, if they required it, consult with them.

The Chairman conveyed the thanks of the meeting to the ladies for having arranged so satisfactory a list to take part in the committee work, and felt sure that there was every probability of the success of the movement.

"Want of Sense."
Under the above heading the Bobsycroon Independent, which usually strongly supports the Reform party, says:—
"Some little time ago, Mr. H. H. Smith, of Peterborough, received an appointment of responsibility from the Dominion Government. Some of the Grit papers have thought proper to attack Mr. Smith in a most discreditable manner. This indiscriminate attacking of every Government official is not justice, and is a lamentable mistake of the Grits from their own party view. Mr. Smith is a capable officer, and all the Government servants in the Northwest were equally as capable and honest of purpose, the country would have little to complain of."

For scarce and desirable goods, such as Cashmere Prints, Madras Muslins, Black Lawns, Barred Nain, look for them at Turnbull's.

Purify Your Well Water

AND AVOID DISEASE BY USING

FOR WELL PUMPS, ETC.

W. FORSYTH

has received the right for Peterborough and vicinity for the manufacture of this New Filter, and is now preparing to supply first-class pumps with the filter attached or to attach the filter to old pumps.

This Filter has been analysed by Professors in the School of Practical Sciences, of the City of Toronto, and also by the Professors of Chemistry of Queen's University, at Kingston, as well by the Health Officers and many other medical gentlemen, who all acknowledge this Filter as being the best adapted for purifying well water of any that have ever been brought to their notice.

This Filter is made of plain boards, about 7 x 7 inches square on the inside, and from 3 to 3 feet long. It is filled with pulverized charcoal and coke and all of which are sold by the Public Analyst, and are among the best ingredients for filtering purposes; the two first act chemically by absorbing the poisonous gases in the water, while the latter act mechanically by making hold of the coarser particles of organic matter contained in the water. This Filter is very simple, cheap and is not liable to get out of repair.

This Filter, when attached as or near the bottom of a pump where the water enters, will purify the water from fifth and other poisonous matter in wells, thus removing the cause of much sickness and probably premature death.

The Board has examined the model of a filter proposed by Mr. Brokenshire to be attached to the stem of a pump at or near the bottom of the pump, where the water enters, in such manner that the water must pass through the several layers of purifying substance before it is allowed to enter the pump, the filter being filled with pulverized charcoal and coke and slag of iron, all of which are among the best materials for filtering purposes.

The Board therefore recommends Mr. Brokenshire's filter as simple and useful, which will do its work well and permanently. It is so constructed that it can be easily attached and detached, and easily and cheaply renewed after the lapse of a few months shall have made a removal of the filtering materials in the filter-box desirable.

K. H. SMYTHE, L.L.D., Mayor of Kingston. GEORGE M. GRANT, Principal, Queen's University. And the other members of the Board of Health.

All orders left at my Pump Factory on Dickson's Race or with my agent who will canvass the town will receive prompt attention.

W. FORSYTH,
Pump Maker, Dickson's Race, Peterborough.

HORSES AND CATTLE.
Annual Spring Show of Horses and Cattle at the New Exhibition Grounds.
The annual spring exhibition of bulls and stallions, under the auspices of the West Riding Agricultural Society, was held in the new Exhibition Grounds, east of the Driving Park, on Saturday.
The attendance was large and the exhibition a very creditable one. Several very fine Durham were shown, but the interest centred more in the exhibition of the stallions. There was, indeed, an excellent collection of horned beasts on the grounds, and this part of the exhibition was well worthy of the interest evinced by the spectators. The heavy draught class, both thoroughbred and Canadian bred, contained particularly fine animals.
The following is a list of the prizes and the names of the owners of the winners:—
BULLS.
AGED DURHAM—1st, George Elliott, Smith, prize $8.
Two-Year Old DURHAM—1st, Robt. Leary, North Monaghan, prize, $8; 2nd, Jos. D. London, prize, $8.
YEARLING DURHAM—1st, Joseph Redmond, Otonabee, prize, $8; 2nd, Wm. Collins, North Monaghan, prize, $8.
A ten months old Durham calf exhibited by Wm. C. Hines, was recommended.
Two-Year-Old HOLSTEIN—1st, Stothart Bros., Smith, prize, $8.
STALLIONS.
IMPORTED HEAVY DRAUGHT—1st, "Criffie," owned by Wilson and Johnson, Manvers, prize, $10; 2nd, "John Anderson," owned by Wm. Fair, Cavan, prize, $6; 3rd, "Pride of Aberdeen," owned by Watson and Carver, Hamilton town-ship, prize, $4.
CANADIAN BRED HEAVY DRAUGHT—1st, "Pride of Ontario," owned by Henry Henderson, Manvers, prize $10; 2nd, "Ontario Chief," owned by R. & W. Bothwell, Sprinerville, prize $8; 3rd, "Glencairn," owned by W. H. Guthrie, Emily, prize $4.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.
FEARS FOR LUMSDEN.
CALCUTTA, May 4.—The public are disquieted with England's concession to Russia and fears are generally expressed that the English attitude may have endangered the safety of General Lumsden's surveying party. Preparations for war on a large scale continue in India.
IN THE SOUDAN.
SUAKIM, May 4.—The Mahdi's men last night surrounded Tambout and Oteo and kept up a heavy fire. There were no casualties. Another forward movement by the British is expected to-morrow. The Mahdi has dismissed the Emir of Berber from his service.
WAR CLOUD DISSOLVED.
ST. PETERSBURG, May 4.—Though no definite news of a rapprochement between England and Russia has been received, the war cloud seems to have dissipated. The news that England has not annexed Port Hamilton gives a feeling of relief.
PENJIDEH.
TAIPEI, May 4.—Penjideh has paid tribute to Hsiao for 100 years, and 15 Afghan soldiers have been in Penjideh since 1881. The case against the Governor. Penjideh is, therefore, an integral part of Hsiao.

THE QUEEN'S RETURN.
LONDON, May 4.—There is a notable improvement in the health of the Queen since her return. Extraordinary precautions for her safety were adopted. Before her arrival at Sheerness, all vessels in the harbor were diligently patrolled by police boats, and the route from the landing to the railway was lined by a strong military guard and detectives.
CANON FARRAR ILL.
LONDON, May 4.—Rev. Frederick William Farrar, D.D., Canon of Westminster, is dangerously ill.

CHINA WAKING UP.
TIENTSIN, May 4.—The dispute between China and Russia regarding the frontier of Manchuria has become acute owing to the non-arrival of the Russian members of the delimitation commission and the constant postponement of the date of their arrival at the place of meeting. The Chinese commissioners have been ready for several months to begin the work, and the failure of the Russian commissioners to meet them has caused the Chinese Government to fear that the same course pursued by Russia respecting the Afghan frontier will be followed in this case. Now that the difficulty with France, in regard to Tonquin, has been settled, China has become more courageous, and has demanded that Russia fulfil her part of the agreement. It is said China has intimated that she is quite prepared to enforce her claims in regard to the frontier. The Russians have been constantly encroaching upon Chinese territory since the Ignatieff agreement of 1880.

RUSSIA'S DECISION.
ST. PETERSBURG, May 4.—It is stated the Imperial Council has decided finally upon the utmost limits of concessions which Russia will make to England in the Afghan controversy. The war will probably start for Moscow to-morrow to celebrate the jubilee of the Russian nobility.
AN AGREEMENT.
LONDON, May 4.—In the House of Lords this afternoon, Lord Granville stated that England and Russia had agreed to renew negotiations in regard to the Afghan frontier question, and that details had been arranged for a meeting of the delimitation commission. England and Russia had agreed that the difficulties arising from the Penjdeh incident should be submitted to full investigation and reference to a friendly power.

THE ENGLISH BUDGET.
The Chancellor of the Exchequer Explains the Finance—A Deficit.
LONDON, April 30.—The budget for 1885 was submitted to-day. It shows a deficit of £1,049,000. Right Hon. Hugh Childers said the Government had proposed to cover the whole of the deficit this year, now to let the whole charge fall upon property. It is proposed to raise the income tax to eight pence. The expenditure for the past year was £290,000 over the estimate. The revenues from customs and excise showed a continual falling off on spirits and a continual but slow rise in other chief duties. The revenues from tea and tobacco showed steady progress, indicating the satisfactory progress of the war on the opium trade. The income tax produced £12,000,000. The total revenue was £28,043,000 and the total expenditure £29,092,000. The Government had paid off the charges bequeathed to it by the late Government, including £5,000,000 given to the Indian Government. Right Hon. Hugh Childers estimated the outlay for 1885-86 not including the vote of credit to be £28,572,000. With the increase of the revenue on the pound the total revenue would be £28,180,000. The Chancellor estimated the deficit, including the vote of credit, with reasonable allowances for supplementary estimates, at £1,049,000. He proposed various modifications of the legacy and succession and probate duties, the imposing of new taxes upon property hitherto exempt, and that the duty on foreign stocks made payable to bearer be raised to ten shillings per cent; that the duty on home made and foreign manufactured spirits be raised by two shillings a gallon, and the duty on beer a shilling a barrel, leaving a deficit of £7,432,000, which it is proposed to meet by taking £4,000,000 of the sum annually devoted to the reduction of the national debt, leaving the balance to be met by the operation of the sinking fund.
The forecast of the deficit for the ensuing year, announced by Right Hon. Hugh Childers to-day, has created a sensation. It is the largest deficit since the Crimean war, and will severely tax the patriotism of the people. Foreign patent medicines will be charged the same duty as those manufactured in England, but stamps will be so altered as to avoid any appearance of the medicine being English.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS, made miserable by that terrible cough, Hilco's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.
Young Men?—Read This.

THE NORTHWEST RISING
INDIANS IN EDMONTON DISTRICT FILLING HOUSES AND STORES.
Further Reports Regarding the Frog Lake Massacre—The Murder of a Royal Priest—The Telegraph Wires Still Burn.
WINNIPEG, Man., May 4.—Lieut. Hume Blake has arrived in charge of the special car containing Toronto's contributions to the Queen's Own. Mr. Blake and the car go to Swift Current to-morrow. The supplies will be pushed forward to Battleford with all possible speed, special transportation having been provided. A detachment of the Halifax battalion will accompany them. The car containing the contributions for the Grand Central depot over the Rock Island route as freight and will consequently not arrive for two or three days.
INDIANS PILLAGING.
News from the Edmonton district state that Beaver Lake settlement has been cleaned out and that St. Anne's, a Hudson Bay post, has been pillaged by Skokan, the best fighter in the Northwest. The Beaulieu Lake government stores have been seized also at Peace Hills, and trains of carts were stopped and looted on the main trail between Edmonton and Calgary.

MURDERED BY INDIANS.
Archbishop Tache has read a telegram confirming the report of the killing of the Rev. Father Fourmard at Batocbe. He was killed by Indians for refusing to grant the abolition for rebelling against the government.
THE FROG LAKE MASSACRE.
News has been received by way of Victoria, confirming the Frog Lake massacre. Two priests were killed because they prayed for the dying. Five men who were building a mill at Frog Lake were also killed. Six escaped. This was done by Big Bear's band and some half breeds, who purchased Mrs. Delaney and another white woman, on doubt Mrs. Gowanlock, from the Indians for wives. Rev. Mr. Delaney, Church of England minister at Onion Lake, and his wife, were taken prisoners and stripped by Onion Lake Indians, but were sent into Fort Pitt unharmed.

WIVES DOWN.
The wives are still down between Humboldt and Clarke's Crossing. The latest by courier is that Gen. Middleton is still waiting for the Gatling carried by the Northcoats. Men have been despatched to bring it overland. It will take a week to get to the front by that route.
DEATH OF A VOLUNTEER.
QUEBEC, May 4.—A telegram was received to-day from Swift Current, announcing the death of Theodore Marois, of the 9th battalion, from inflammation of the lungs contracted through exposure on the trip north of Lake Superior. Deceased was 28 years of age and leaves a wife and four children, who are almost destitute.

FROM THE PRINCESS LOUISE.
OTTAWA, May 4.—The Princess Louise, in addition to her gift of tobacco pipes for the boys at the front, to-day called as follows:—"If acceptable I propose to send ambulance appliances and a few men." Mr. Carson called as follows:—"The kind offer is gratefully accepted." Canada receives the gift at the hands of the Princess whose good wishes and kindness are so fondly remembered among us."

THE FISH CREEK FIGHT.
How the Engagement Commenced—Brave Officers and Men.
The Sun publishes the following account of the commencement of the Fish Creek fight:—Major Boulton, commanding the scouts, gives a vivid description of the commencement of the fight as Fish Creek. He was riding well ahead of the column, with sixteen scouts, eight on each side of the trail. Two advance scouts, who were a horseman who had been skirmishing away out ahead, started up to Major Boulton and reported seeing thirteen camp fires on the first trail leading to Batocbe. Boulton signalled General Middleton, who was at the side in a moment. Capt. Johnston and four men followed, and with Major Boulton rode on to where the sixteen scouts were massed. Just as they came up the scouts spied fifty mounted rebels coming down the trail. The rebels jumped from their horses and took to the woods. A minute later, and a volley blazed out from the shelter at the loyal scouts. Boulton's men had been slow in dismounting, but when the rebels opened fire they sprang from their horses, and, lying flat on the ground, commenced to pour bullets into the half breed's retreat. It was the first trail leading to Batocbe. Boulton's men had been slow in dismounting, but when the rebels opened fire they sprang from their horses, and, lying flat on the ground, commenced to pour bullets into the half breed's retreat. It was the first trail leading to Batocbe. Boulton's men had been slow in dismounting, but when the rebels opened fire they sprang from their horses, and, lying flat on the ground, commenced to pour bullets into the half breed's retreat. It was the first trail leading to Batocbe.

Major Boulton was at the front and his escape is marvelous. Six of his scouts were wounded in the advance skirmish, while the rest of the scouts were killed. The rebels were shot on either side of where he lay lying. "Alto" Ferguson was next to Forest in the first brush with the enemy. The volunteers were prostrate on the hillside opposite the rebel rifle pits. Ferguson and Forest were trying to pick off the sharpshooters as they rose from their pits to take aim. Suddenly, young Ferguson twisted partly round on his elbow, and thrust, "My God, Captain, an shot," and each back dead. Forest took hurried aim, and put a bullet in the forehead of the man who killed Ferguson as he was getting the range for another shot. Buchanan, the drummer boy of the 90th, acted like a man. While the other bandwagons were searching for wounded, the youngsters were scurrying all over the field with ammunition for the men. He was considerably pained that he could not see hold of a rifle. Alex. McLean, of Portage La Prairie, driver of the ammunition wagon, ventured everywhere with cartridges for the men. Private's Hutchinson was killed close to where Ferguson died. A round bullet entered the corner of his left eye. Death was instantaneous. He was forty years old. Private Ennis was shot through the neck and a bullet pierced private Wheeler's forehead as he went charging gallantly up the ravine. When his body was found Sunday afternoon, protesting Indians had stripped it of the coat and vest. Up to Thursday night the death roll in the 90th included Lieut. C. Swinford, Private A. W. Ferguson, J. Hutchinson, Geo. Wheeler, and William Ennis. The regimental dog of the 90th was shot in the right shoulder.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1885.

It is noteworthy how apt the so-called Reformers and Liberals are to appeal to physical force, whenever they find themselves opposed by a constitutional majority. Their leading organ in Canada is now recommending that 5,000 citizens should proceed to Ottawa to prevent the passage of the Dominion Franchise Bill. This can only be with the object of coercing the representatives of the people, a plan that was adopted in England, till it was met by an enactment to forbid such an unconstitutional show of strength to over-awe those entrusted with the duty of carrying on the public business.

One reason why the Opposition in the Commons has adopted the policy of obstruction is becoming apparent. They cannot find any good reason for objecting to the measure, so they keep the House sitting for days and obstruct business, and by this means try to make the people believe that there is something very objectionable in the bill. The Waterloo Chronicle, a Reform organ, commenting on the bill, says:—

"Our own view of the case is simply this: That a usurpation of this kind is one of the very few cases which would justify a free people in the use of force."

It is evident that the Opposition desire to excite the people, but the people of Canada cannot be incited to rebel by senseless filibustering and almost endless streams of equally senseless talk.

THE HALFBRED ORGAN.

The leading journal in sympathy with the rebels is bragging enormously of having anticipated, or, as it elegantly says, having "scooped" its contemporaries in publishing news in regard to the troubles in the Northwest. When Col. Otter was making his wonderful march to Battleford the Globe informed its readers that he was "pushing on slowly over an easy country." When the steamer Northcote was unfortunately aground near the elbow of the South Saskatchewan, the Globe announced that it had "been heard of within ten miles of Clarke's Crossing," and must have arrived there. In the publication of such "facts" the Globe certainly has the priority. Its only ground for its boasting is that it was able to announce the intention of the halfbreeds to rise in arms before they did so, if it chooses to boast of its intimate association with rebels and its possession of their confidence.

OBITUARY.

The Late Col. Kennedy.

The many friends of the late Col. Kennedy, in this town, mourn his death, not only as the departure of one valued in social circles, but regret that the country should lose such a public spirited man.

Wm. N. Kennedy was of Irish parentage, his father and mother coming from Ireland, settled early in Peterborough. The deceased was born in a house situated on the west side of Water street, about midway between Brock and Hunter streets, in this town. He was the eldest of a family of six—three brothers and two sisters. His father was a painter by trade, and for a time William followed in his footsteps. Fattening by the paint brush, he clerked for a time in a provision store. Turning from this, he became a law student, having pursued this vocation in the law office of Mr. D. W. Dumble. He was a member of the Peterborough Town Council for four years, from 1866 to 1870, inclusive.

All this time, from boyhood, he took an active interest in military affairs. At the time of the Trent affair his father raised a company of volunteers, in which he occupied the position of Lieutenant. He attended military school for a time, and at the end of the course graduated creditably. He served in the volunteer force in 1866, during the Fenian campaign, and in 1867, when the 57th Battalion was organized, he became Adjutant. In 1870 he took the position of Lieutenant of one of the companies that left this town to join Sir Garnet Wolseley's Red River expedition. He never returned to Peterborough as a resident, but settled in Winnipeg after the disembarkment. Growing up with the country, he took a leading part in public affairs, and at the same time acquired wealth.

He held the position of Registrar of Deeds, &c., for Winnipeg. He was also a member of the North-West Council. He was an enthusiastic Freemason and held the highest office in the Grand Lodge of Manitoba.

He organized the Winnipeg Field Battery and was for several years Lieut.-Col. of it. In 1884 he organized the 90th battalion. Last summer he went with the Canadian contingent of the Nile expedition as paymaster. His courteous manner at once made him popular with the men. While in Sudan he was attacked by that dread disease, smallpox, and succumbed to its effects shortly after his arrival in London, Eng.

In Winnipeg his loss will be keenly felt, for it costained no citizen more enterprising and public spirited.

For several years he was mayor of the city, and at the time of his death was closely connected with several Manitoba railway lines. The deceased, before leaving Peterborough, married Emma, daughter of the late T. Chambers. She, together with a large family, are left to mourn his loss.

The Late W. Bell, M.D.

The late W. Bell, M.D., whose death was announced this week, was a very old settler in Peterborough county. He came to Canada from England in June, 1837, and was a native of Whitehaven, Cumberland County. He went to London in 1837 and spent ten years in the metropolis in the study and practice of medicine, obtaining his diploma for England and Wales. After coming to this country he took out a diploma for Ontario. He resided a few years in Otonabee, during which time he held the office of municipal assessor. While discharging the duties of that office Dr. Bell had occasion to frequently visit the Treasurer of the Township, who lived in the house formerly occupied by Dr. Geo. Burnham on London street, and the road which it was necessary to travel on was a mere footpath. The subject of this sketch commenced business in 1841, in a store on Hunter street opposite where the Croft House now stands, having purchased the drug business of the late Dr. Geo. Burnham. He was also appointed Treasurer of the Peterborough and North Monaghan Gravel Road Company. In the year 1850 he entered into the saw mill business, and afterwards engaged in farming in North Monaghan for about eleven years. Returning to town, he resumed the drug business in 1856 and continued in it for ten years, when he retired from business. Dr. Bell was a member of the Episcopal Church, but for the last fourteen years identified himself with the Baptist denomination. Two sons survive him, one of them being Mr. F. E. Bell, who in his responsible position in the office of the Peterborough Real Estate and Investment Company, of this town, and other capacities, is so well known and respected. The elder son resides in St. Louis, Mo. The only daughter died before her father. Dr. Bell was 73 years of age at the time of his death, and enjoyed his health and strength till the time of his brief but fatal illness. He will be interred in the Little Lake Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

BOYS OF ENGLAND.

Adoption of the New Ritual Prepared by Mr. J. S. King, of Toronto.

At the session of the Grand Lodge of the above order held in Lindsay last February the ritual of the society was entirely changed, whereby the society was placed on a better footing, and a new ceremony introduced of imposing grandeur. The new ceremony was prepared by Mr. John S. King, M.D., of Toronto, and was brought into effect in Lansdowne Lodge, on Monday evening, May 4th.

There were present several prominent members of the order from a distance to introduce the new work. Among the visitors were Mr. J. W. Higginbotham, of Oshawa, Most Worthy Grand President; Mr. John W. Carter, Toronto, Right Worthy Grand Secretary; Mr. J. W. Kempling, Toronto, District Deputy; Messrs. H. Chester, J. Carver, S. Parsons, Lindsay; Messrs. J. P. Brundrett, Geo. Woodley, Wm. H. Wright, Port Hope, and others.

In the afternoon at three o'clock a meeting of the White Rose Degree was held, at which there was a good attendance, several candidates being initiated.

At eight o'clock in the evening a regular meeting of the Red Rose Degree was held with a full complement of members. After the regular routine of business had been transacted, light refreshments were served, followed by addresses from some of the visitors. The Most Worthy Grand President in a neat and spicy speech, complimented Lansdowne Lodge on their prosperity. It was only a short time since the lodge had been formed with barely enough to fill the office, and now it was in a prosperous condition, with a large membership. It was a noticeable fact that some 300 members of the order had taken up arms in defence of their flag in the Northwest Territory. The society was only a young one, but they were determined to make it a worthy one. It was extended as far west as Collingwood, and as far east as South Africa, where two lodges were in a flourishing condition. The order has now over 2,000 members, and had expended $3,000 in benefits during the past year. He reminded the brethren of their bond of union, and of their duty to their country and flag.

A recitation was given by Mr. T. W. T. followed by a few remarks from the Worthy Grand Secretary, who referred to the good the society was doing in different parts of the Province. He wished Lansdowne Lodge every success. It had indeed made rapid progress. He referred to the beneficiary department, setting forth the benefits to be derived therefrom. It was optional with the members whether they joined this department or not, but he would leave it to their serious consideration, and hoped all would enroll in it.

Mr. H. CHESTER, of Lindsay, gave a character recitation, after which Mr. J. W. Kempling, Toronto, spoke a few words in praise of Lansdowne Lodge. It afforded him much pleasure to visit them. In his capacity of District Deputy he would have the pleasure of visiting them often. He was glad to see them in such good standing, and wished them every success.

Mr. W. WHITAKER gave a song, and Mr. J. P. Brundrett, of Port Hope, gave a short address.

The brethren dispersed, after singing the National Anthem.

LAKELAND.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BOLTON'S SCOUTS.—A subscription list is being circulated throughout this village soliciting contributions to purchase some valuable and useful articles to present to Major Bolton, commanding Bolton's Scouts in the Northwest.

Our villagers wish to show the gallant major that the have not forgotten their old reeve and fellow townsman, and to express in a substantial manner their admiration of his pluck and dash during the engagement at Fish Creek, where he had two horses shot under him. A committee has been formed consisting of the following, to whom any in Peterborough or the county who wish to join in this movement may forward their subscriptions.—R. C. Strickland, Esq., Warden of the county, A. Bell, Esq., clerk of the village of Lakeland, John Dinwiddie, Esq., ex-Reeve, George Cochrane Esq., Government Inspector of Fisheries, W. H. Casement, Esq., post master, Lakeland.

Canadian Pacific Railway.

OTTAWA, May 4.—In reply to a cable inquiry from the British war office the Canadian Pacific railway officials have stated that they can undertake to transport at any moment torpedoes or other material for coast defences. They also say there will be no gaps to speak of for the Montreal garrison and artillery to cross in going west if there is not a completed road.

"Say, why is everything either at sixes or at sevens?" Properly, my dear nervous sister, because you are suffering from some of the diseases peculiar to your sex. You have a "feeling down" feeling, the back-ache, you are debilitated, you have pains of various kinds. Take Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" and be cured. Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists.

For lame Back, Side or Chest use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 Cents. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

TREE PLANTING.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As the Council has adjourned for three weeks without taking any action towards securing a supply of trees for planting, I beg to suggest that the Mayor call a public meeting for the purpose of taking the matter up. A committee of men who would take an active interest in it, could, I am satisfied, secure a supply of trees at a very low price in time for this season's planting, appoint an "Arbor Day," and the people generally would do their part. The expense of tree boxes need not be incurred, as the crows are now kept off the streets, and the cost of trees delivered should not exceed ten cents apiece.

Yours, etc., ELM.

Found on the Lake shore.

WINONA, Ont., May 2.—There was found this morning on the lake shore opposite J. W. Wilson's residence, the body of a young man, apparently English, about 25 or 30 years of age. He appeared to be a fair complexion, five feet six inches in height, medium build, and respectably dressed. The left side of his face near the eye, was very badly bruised, and opposite, on the back of head, slightly bruised. On his person was found a small piece of paper, with the names George Delighton and Maggie Albert, West Toronto Junction. There was also found in his pocket a carpenter's pencil and rule, a pocket-book, a stone, and some hard clay. On his handkerchief and collar was the name E. W. Ward.

The Epidemic at Plymouth.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 1.—The epidemic at Plymouth is now said to be of a much more serious nature than supposed. A hundred and thirty new cases were reported since yesterday, making in all over 600 persons prostrated with the disease. Although the majority of the sufferers are improving, this is attributed to the cold weather. The new cases are said to be milder in form. At Nanticoke the disease has made its appearance to a slight extent. Two deaths have occurred.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

"Our Favourite People" is said to be one of J. B. Gough's finest lectures. It will be held on Monday, May 18.

Board of Education. A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening.

Look out your seats for Gough's great lecture. Plan at W. J. Mason's store. No disappointment after your seats have been secured.

No. 1 Company. The company meets for drill this (Tuesday) evening, as usual. Preparations are being made for a general "march out" of all the companies, with the band, on Tuesday evening of next week.

The Golden Lion. Great activity in the mantle and dress making department. Fair, VanEvery & Co. are showing a large assortment of handsome materials, from which rich and elegant Mantles and Dresses are being turned out daily.

The Probationaries. The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south and west wind, mostly fair, milder weather, with local showers.

Excursion to Toronto. It is the intention of the Masonic fraternity of this town to make arrangements for holding an excursion to Toronto on June 24th, St. John the Baptist's Day. Brethren from neighboring places, and from the towns along the line, it is expected, will join the excursion.

See the beautiful lines in Ladies Lace and Muslin Trice at W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

The Grand Carnival to be held in Lansdowne roller rink on Monday, May 25th, will be noted for its many rare attractions. Mr. Ed. Brown, the active manager, is leaving nothing undone to make it a grand success in every respect. Go to it and enjoy yourself to your heart's content.

You good value in White and Printed Muslins go to W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

Personal. The Hayes Valley (San Francisco) Advertiser of April 26th contains a long account of a banquet tendered to Mr. John Edgar, of Elder Bros., merchants, and formerly of Peterborough, previous to his departure on a visit to the land of his nativity, Scotland. The banquet, the Advertiser states, was given as a token of their good will and respect for his enterprise and integrity.

V.E.C.A. Bible Class. This class commences this evening the study of the book of Joshua, having just finished the Acts of the Apostles. The plan is to study the old and new Testaments by books alternately. The many young men who have attended the class during the past months have been delighted with the able manner in which the Rev. Mr. Munro has opened up the Word of God. There should be a large attendance to-night to begin the study of the most interesting history.

A Letter from the Front. Mr. D. Belleghem has received a letter from one of his former employees, Mr. J. Hannan, now with the Peterborough contingent of volunteers in the Northwest. The letter is dated April 22nd, and was written at Swift Current. In his letter he speaks of the "stirring little town of Brandon, and its friendly citizens," but especially dilates on the good qualities of the ladies. The members of the force were greatly respected by the citizens of Brandon, but in return they were protected. He adds, also, that Canada may yet learn the value of her volunteers. Mousjaw was reached on the 20th, and here it was that our boys first beheld the red man in his war paint. At the time of writing those who left Peterborough were enjoying the best of health, and were well satisfied with the accommodation afforded.

Wire setting for poultry yards and fencing very cheap at Bethlehem's Hardware Store.

The Late Col. Kennedy. WINNIPEG, May 4.—The widow of the late Lieut.-Col. Kennedy received an official despatch to-day from Lord Lansdowne announcing the death of her husband in London. His Excellency concludes the message as follows: "Permit me to offer my sincere condolences to you, and to all who mourn his loss." He had policies in life insurance companies to the extent of $23,000 upon his life, of which $20,000 is covered by permits to undertake the campaign in Egypt.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Bazaar and Social Tea in connection with the Re-opening of St. Paul's Church.

On Monday evening a social tea was given in the school room of St. Paul's Church in aid of the building fund. There was a large number present. A sale of useful and fancy articles was also held in the lecture room.

At eight o'clock an adjournment was made to the auditorium of the church. Twenty-one vocalists took seats in the choir gallery, and Prof. Parker, of St. Catherine's, presided over the key board of the organ.

The Rev. Mr. Carmichael, of Norwood, led in opening prayer. "Turn Thy Face," an anthem, the first number on the programme, was sung by the choir.

Mr. J. J. Hall, sessional clerk, then made the formal presentation of the magnificent organ from the Ladies' Aid Society to the congregation, and on behalf of the congregation accepted it. He thanked the ladies on behalf of the congregation for the earnestness and diligence with which they had labored to accomplish this good object.

The Rev. Mr. TORRANCE, who acted as chairman during the evening, apologized for the absence of Miss Clara Clouston. She was to have assisted in the recital, but on account of sickness in the family, could not come.

The Rev. Mr. McKay, of Parkdale, gave a short address.

Mr. A. L. Davis sang that ever impressive, "Abide With Me," by Ambrose. Mrs. Chambers, who was to occupy the numbers previously allotted to Miss Clouston, sang, "Come Unto Me," by Cones, in the first part, and in number 4 in the second part, instead of the quartette set down, sang another solo, "Beneath the Ramparts," from Concone's "Judith." Mrs. Chambers on this occasion acquitted herself as she always does—admirably. In the measured sweetness of her first solo, or the spirit-stirring vigor of the second, she was equally at home, and each rendition served only to show a studious effort to intensify by the singing, the meaning of the words.

Number 6, in the first part, was a vocal duet, "The Messenger Bird," by Hemans, by Miss Wells and Mrs. Brodigan, of Lakeside. The duet was both well chosen and well executed.

The second part was opened by another organ solo by Professor Parker. Succeding this, Mrs. Brodigan sang that grand sacred solo, "I know that My Redeemer Liveth," from Handel's "Messiah."

The Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Toronto, delivered an address.

Number 8, in the second part, was an anthem "But the Lord," sung by the choir, the solo being taken by Miss Hanfata, and Number 7, the last number, was an organ solo, Handel's "Hallelujah," from the "Messiah."

The choir, considering the short time since its organization, acquitted itself well and the ensemble is very much improved since the first practice.

Prof. Parker drew forth the latest powers of the organ by a masterly hand. He filled Numbers 2, 4 and 7 in the first part, and 1, 3, 5 and 7 in the second part. The measured movement of "Pilgrim's Song of Hope," by Batiste (No. 4, first part), and the brilliancy of "G Major Fantasia," (No. 5, second part), were particularly well executed.

Before the closing the Rev. Mr. Torrance addressed those assembled. He was very glad, he said, to be able to meet with them in church again. It might be asked why the Presbyterians of Peterborough had gone to so much expense in restoring the church on such an extensive scale. It was to provide accommodation for the Presbyterians of Peterborough, and they certainly did not desire to make any encroachments on any other denominations. They had thought of extending and restoring the church for a number of years, but it was not until two years ago that they decided on the plan. He was thankful for those kind people from other churches who assisted in the singing, giving their help in the time of need. He was thankful to the ladies for the good work they had done, and to the congregation in bringing about the completion of the church. He thought the address of to-night had struck the keynote as to the success of the church. Let everyone consecrate himself to the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and let each one feel the responsibility that they must do something towards the advancement of Christ's cause. He verily believed that the success of the work of the minister depended as much upon the members of the church as upon the minister himself.

The Rev. A. H. Munro pronounced the benediction.

POLICE COURT. DEBARS. TUESDAY, May 5.—Three drunks adorned the prisoners' bench at the Court this morning, John Sullivan, an old bird in court crimes; Charles Davidson and Edward Daly. P. C. Adams charged the two first with the offence, and P. C. McGinlay, the latter. They were all allowed to go; Sullivan, on condition that he would appear no more in court in such a condition, and the others on account of his having been their first offence.

Collapsing of a Brewery. PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 3.—Wainwright's brewery on 30th street caved in with a heavy crash at 9 o'clock this morning. No person was in the building at the time. The structure was a four story brick substantially built. It was 10,000 of beer. The immense weight of the beer it is supposed caused the supports of the floor to give way. The building collapsed from roof to cellar. The beer barrels were crushed and torrents of liquor ran down the street. Loss $100,000.

THE OLD ESTABLISHED
OTONABEE MILLS
(LATE ROGERS' MILLS.)
H. A. MULHERN
Takes pleasure in announcing that he has started up the above well-known Flour Mills, and is now in complete running order.
Having at a large expense, put in the FULL ROLLER SYSTEM with the Latest Improvements in use, I respectfully solicit the patronage of all the old customers of this favourite Mill, and all others who may favour me with their trade.
As I have had a lengthened experience in the Milling Business, and with a Mill now so thoroughly equipped as this is, the public may depend upon being supplied with a Quality of Flour Superior to any produced in this District.
FAMILIES, HOUSE-KEEPERS, FARMERS, BAKERS and Consumers generally can have their orders filled with promptness and care. Orders left with Messrs. RUSH & ELLIOTT, W. J. MORROW & Co., and other Grocery Stores, and at G. W. MORGAN'S Drug Store, will be sent to the Mill by Telephone.
FARMERS' GRISTINGS will have special attention. Oatmeal exchanged for Oats. Highest Price paid for Wheat and Oats.
